GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, Tumors, Tubercles, Scrofulous Consumption, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
"THE LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are sweetened, laxative, and purgative. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Sick Headache, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Disturbed feeling about Stomach, Dark of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial powers of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are unsweetened and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The Proprietors may be audited, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche. This is the only form of treatment yet invented with which nasal medicine can be carried, much to and PERMANENTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the discharges or cavities communicating therewith, in which germs and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 152 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The wholesale Druggists, SHEPPARD, DOGGETT, & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced my twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & FLETCHER, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. It has done Anti-Fat and the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for those cases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the alleviation of disease incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning grace of my medical practice. In its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and consequently, of all those suffering under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which it is recommended, if fairly and fell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see printed wrapper.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Dyspepsia, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not claim all this merit for my "Favorite Prescription" unless it fulfills a sciglence of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all female diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in The People's COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of these affections.

brilliancy, stock, or other properties of the two products could not be discovered, and samples of each, in similar vessels removed from the view of several experts, who, upon their return were absolutely unable to tell which was Jones', or which was that of Carney, Lynch & Co. This is the result of the first two brewings, as matters of experiment, and as Mr. Most regards the Massabesic waters far better adapted to the manufacture of beer than any he has ever used for the purpose, he fully expects to make even better ale than he has yet done. A grand success has been achieved, the product has been placed upon the market, and the consumers are now judging its excellent merits,—the only true test for any product.

In this connection a word about the firm will not be out of place. It comprises the Messrs. Carney of Lawrence, Patrick Lynch of Lowell, and Daniel Connors of Manchester, all gentlemen of wealth and long experience in the business. These three firms make the largest sales of ale in New England. The Carneys' annual sale amounts to 12,000 barrels, and each of the other members of the firm sell 10,000 barrels per year. With their financial means, their long experience, and their immense trade and with unsurpassed facilities for manufacture in their new brewery, no one can doubt they will achieve a grand success in this business. —Lawrence American.

Portsmouth Chronicle

FRIDAY, JANUARY 24, 1879.

Cheap Economy.

The democracy in Maine desire to be thought economical, and propose a grand reduction in salaries. To cut down the salary of such a judge as John A. Peters, who is worth to the State five times the amount of salary paid him, is perhaps of no consequence; but to reduce the salary of the Adjutant General to $900 is simply ridiculous. As if any democrat could suppose that Gen. Leavitt, on a salary of nine hundred a year, can afford to treat every thirsty democrat that visits the capital!

The officers have been elected and have entered upon their duties, with the salaries therefor provided by law; and of course no one expects that the act reducing the salaries from January first can be passed, or if enacted would be of any legal force. But the democrats will talk it.

Southern "Loyalty."

During the discussion of the war claim bill in the House, Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Bragg of Wisconsin, a democrat, made a severe speech arraigning southern democrats for their raid upon the treasury for alleged loyal claims in the south, and warning them that it must be stopped or the democratic party in the north would be endangered. The speech gave great offence to the numerous ex-confederates in the House, and several sprang to their feet in great passion.

Mr. Ellis of Louisiana was recognized, and he attacked Mr. Bragg in a rough manner. He said that the southern claims were just, and that many of them were claims for the cotton tax which had been wrested from southern people by the hands of robbers. There were a few people south, during the war, loyal to the Union, but less than one per cent. The people were loyal to the south and its interests, not to the Union as it was. "It was," said Mr. Ellis, in "obedience to the teachings of the democratic party that we went to war, and it ill becomes the member from Wisconsin to talk about loyalty." Mr. Ellis spoke with much freedom, and his expression of sentiments of secession and devotion to the south above the Union was warmly applauded by the southern democrats.

Interesting Law Case.

A case which is attracting considerable attention, particularly among mothers and the legal fraternity, came up in Washington on the 18th inst. for a hearing before Justice Wylie of the District of Columbia Supreme Court. Charles H. O'Brien was convicted of murder in that District in 1872. His wife Mary assumed the care and support of their only child, (Mary Rose O'Brien, now aged seven years) on the father's conviction and sentence to be hanged. The sentence was subsequently commuted to life imprisonment. One year ago the wife applied for a divorce, but the bill was dismissed. Acting on legal advice she remarried, becoming Mrs. Hazle, and retaining custody of the child, it being held that O'Brien was legally dead. Last November he was pardoned, and released from prison. At his solicitation the child was permitted to visit him occasionally, at his mother's house. On a recent visit the father and his mother, it is charged, forcibly detained the child from returning to its mother. Through habeas corpus the mother now seeks to regain possession of the child, making O'Brien and his mother respondents. The grandmother, in her return to the writ, states that the father has legally transferred the child to her (the grandmother's) care and custody, by indenture. At the hearing on the 18th Judge Wylie instructed opposing counsel to make up the issue, and he would set a time to hear the case in chambers, remanding the child to its mother's care pending the hearing, without requiring bonds. It seems the father immediately left the District after indenturing the child to the grandmother. In response to the prayer of counsel that custody of the child be given the grandmother till a decision was reached, Judge Wylie put himself in accord with public sympathy by declaring he would not thus violate the better promptings of the heart at the behest of a runaway father, just out of prison with the odor of the highest crime known to our laws hanging about him. Another point of interest in the matter is the legal status of the mother. If O'Brien's conviction of a capital offense was equivalent to a divorce or his death, Mrs. Hazle has committed no crime in remarrying. Otherwise she is guilty of bigamy.

News and Notes.

In the case of Barley Hascall against the Illinois and St. Louis Bridge Company, to recover the amount of notes given to the Keystone Bridge Company of Pittsburg for construction, the jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff for $265,412.

When Captain E. B. Ward, the Detroit millionaire, died, an inventory of his property was taken and its value placed at $5,377,454.36, the debts of the estate being scheduled at $1,440,473. During the three years that have since elapsed the management of the estate has been in the hands of men of character and ability, but the process of bringing down to hard-pan has so affected the assets that they only amount to $350,014.40 as against liabilities of $640,984.56. Instead of leaving $4,000,000, Captain Ward was $290,000 behind. Iron and mining stocks to the amount of $700,000 are scheduled as fit only for the junk-dealer.

The prediction of Mr. Edward Atkinson and others that emigration from England to this country would presently set in powerfully, seems likely to be soon verified. The North Wales Slate Quarrymen's Union has offered premiums of £7 each to members who will emigrate to America. They offer £14, it is true, to those who will go to Australia, but the double premium shows the natural preference given this country.

The Bangor Commercial announces the decease of the Bangor Tribune, a greenback sheet which has been published there for several months. It says that the business manager left town several days ago and has not been there since.

Two unknown men accosted George N. Avery, a blacksmith, of Portland, Wednesday evening, and asked him if he served on the jury that tried one Prescott, who was convicted of murder some moths ago. On replying that he did they knocked him down and beat him very severely.

Mrs. Samuel Martin was found dead in bed at St. Petersburg, Va. She is said to have been frightened to death by the burning of a chimney.

While defending a literary society from roughs at Deerfield, O., a man named Fairchild was fatally wounded. The gang fled.

Within a fortnight five children have been killed in Pittsburg and Allegheny, Pa., by accidents from coasting, and six maimed for life. An effort is being made to stop the sport.

Wesley Bishop of Norwich, Conn., is to be tried first for the murder of Charles H. Cobb, Jr., and then, if acquitted, for poisoning his wife, his confession and testimony in Mrs. Cobb's trial being used against him. State Attorney Waller is certain he can convict Bishop for murder in the first degree in either case, and he may give him the option of hanging for killing his wife or Cobb.

Solomon Johnson, a young schoolteacher, was brutally murdered near Robinson's Creek in Pike county, Ky., Wednesday, by James Bently, who, failing to incite him into a quarrel, smashed his skull with a heavy club. Bently escaped.

The escaped Cheyennes from Fort Robinson were attacked in their entrenched camp on Wednesday by the cavalry under Capt. Wessells; 23 of the Indians were killed, nine wounded ones taken prisoners, and 27 are missing. Three soldiers were killed, and Capt. Wessells slightly wounded.

The Chinese Official Almanac.

The Chinese official almanac is issued annually in December, and is carefully prepared by the board of astronomy, an important body, imperially appointed, presided over by a prince of the royal blood, and equal in dignity to any other government body in the empire. The almanac is bestowed as a special act of grace by the Emperor on the Coreans, Loochoosans, Annamites and other tributary States. As this publication is so highly respected by the Chinese, it may fairly be considered as the representative of the highest state of astronomical science reached by them. A large part of the astrological portion of the almanac is intended for a "practical guide in the common affairs of life." A translation is given of the admonitions for the first days of the current year, as follows:

The first day is favorable for sacrifice and for entering school; at noon it is allowable to bathe. It is unfavorable for starting on a journey or changing residence.

The second day is favorable for sacrifice and bathing. It is unfavorable for starting on a journey, removing or practicing acupuncture.

The third day there are no indications.

The fourth day may receive or make visits and cut out clothes; at seven A. M., may draw up contracts, barter and make presents. May not go on a journey nor break ground.

The fifth day may visit, bathe, shave, and clean up. May not plant and sow.

The sixth day is favorable for sacrifice, conjugal union, visiting, taking on a new servant, starting on a journey, removing, marrying, repairing, building, breaking ground; at three A. M., may draw up contracts, open shop, barter, send presents, seal, test the soil and bury.

The seventh day may level roads, but must not start on a journey.

The eighth may sacrifice, memorialize, enter office, assume ceremonial clothes; at five A. M. may sit toward the southeast; also favorable for conjugal union, visits, weddings, taking on a new servant, starting on a journey, erecting uprights and putting on crossbeams, building, removing soil and burying.

The writer gives a few more items, and comments as follows:

And so it goes on for nearly every day in the year. Enough has been translated to show the excessive childishness and absurdity of this, the principal part of the imperial almanac. On the 17th one may be treated for illness and open caches of provisions. On the 22d it is allowable to pull down old houses and walls, but drains must not be opened or wells dug until the 27th. Arrests should be made on the 25th; this is the only favorable day in the month—a very satisfactory arrangement for criminals. There are four days in thirty on which one may cut out clothes, and the same number on which one may sweep and clean up. It is advised to shave on the 5th, 23d and 29th, and to bathe seven times in the month. Unfortunately the intervals between the bath days are unequal, and the believer in the almanac must wait from the 5th to the 13th and from the 14th to the 23d. Besides, on the 1st, bathing is favorable at an inconvenient hour, viz.: noon; the hour on the 29th (five o'clock) is much better.

These indications seem too silly to affect sensible men, yet while the Chinaman is not only sensible, but actually shrewd and keen, he guides most of his more important affairs by the almanac. The poorer classes watch the almanac carefully, and marry, bury and do other things only when it advises, and it is to be feared that the better educated do not start on a journey nor enter office except on favorable days, though it is to be hoped they bathe, shave and clean much oftener.—American Journal of Science.

—A very interesting series of walking and running matches took place last evening at the Hebrew Fair, between message boys of the Western Union and District telegraph companies. A large audience was present, attracted doubtless by the sight of a telegraph boy hurrying himself. —Boston Post.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Beware of low test powders sold with the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Decomposition of the Alum must take place in the food, and is dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. dtecp10

Prof. Goldberg, the magician, will give another entertainment in Music hall on Wednesday evening next.

The Manager presided with becoming dignity on Wednesday evening, and the little introductory speech was a success.

A number of the fishing vessels arrived on Thursday, with good fares, averaging from six thousand to twelve thousand pounds each.

Hon. C. V. Dearborn, of Nashua, Examiner of National Banks for the State of New Hampshire, is in town, making his usual examination of the condition of those banks.

Hon. Frank Jones has presented in the House of Representatives at Washington the petition of Mrs. Harriet Flagg for a pension in the right of her husband, who served in the United States navy.

Mr. Haven's second lecture at Miss Morgan's school will be given this evening. The closing lecture of the course, by Rev. Mr. DeNormandie, will be delivered in two or three weeks, due notice being given of the date.

Several parties about the city having been using Missionary Loyne's name to procure money, clothing and other articles, he desires us to say that he has never given them any authority to act thus, and will be glad to find out any of such imposters.

Col. Charles A. Sinclair is one of our busiest citizens, going to Boston daily to look after the extensive business of F. Jones & Co. The colonel remained in town on Thursday morning to kiss his third baby, a beautiful girl, which arrived at the Rockingham house bright and early, to the great joy of the happy father.

Mr. John K. A. Hanson is circulating for signatures the following petition to the City Councils: "We respectfully urge that you pass an ordinance permitting Puddle Dock to be used as a dump ground for coal ashes and other refuse not of a filthy or offensive nature, in order that said dock may be gradually made better, less offensive to the nostrils and less promotive of disease."

A very interesting planetary exhibition took place Thursday evening, being the conjunction of Jupiter, Venus and the moon; that is, the said conjunction was previously advertised to come off, but though we vigorously looked westward at the time appointed for the show to commence, all we saw was a miserably small allowance of moon, Venus and Jupiter having apparently failed to keep the appointment. The show was a swindle.

We have received the January number of The Original Chatterbox, a reprint of this celebrated English magazine for children. The publishers in this country (American News Co., of New York,) promise that this shall be an exact reprint of the original and genuine work. The volume when completed will contain over two hundred fine woodcuts and over two hundred pages of interesting stories, sketches and poems for children, printed on heavy tinted paper. Subscriptions received by Willis G. Myers, at his bookstore on Congress street. Price ten cents a number.

Capt. Thomas Sheafe Coffin, who died at his residence at Little Harbor this week, was the son of Charles Coffin, a former ship owner in Portsmouth. The senior Coffin, in connection with the late Samuel Sheafe and Horatio Coffin, all now deceased, (the latter a brother of Capt. T. Sheafe Coffin,) had built for them forty years ago by the late Geo. Raynes the fine ship Charles, of 486 tons, which was commanded by Capt. T. S. Coffin, and was always while owned at this port a trim and favorite ship. Capt. Coffin retired from the sea many years ago, married Miss Ann Cushing, daughter of the late Chas. Cushing of Little Harbor, and built the fine cottage on the banks of the river at Little Harbor where he spent his latter years.

THE VICINITY.

Mrs. Caroline Yeaton, an elderly lady of Newcastle, broke her right leg just above the ankle, Thursday, by falling on the ice.

The average attendance of pupils at Phillips academy, Exeter, in 1858, was 100; in 1868, 120; and now, 200.

The committee on railroads of the Maine legislature have voted to report a bill allowing the Boston & Maine railroad to discontinue two and a half miles of track in South Berwick.

The Dover Democrat announces an attempt by Miss Sherman to walk one hundred miles in twenty-seven hours, in American hall at Dover, commencing Wednesday evening, 29th inst.

On Wednesday morning of this week Mr. Thomas Rand of Newcastle found one of his cows dead, and another very sick with some strange disease. The animals were apparently all right when the barn was closed on Tuesday evening.

The Times of Thursday evening says: "On Tuesday Mr. James Jones, a man past middle age and sojourning in Rye, took a razor and deliberatly and badly maimed himself. He bled profusely, and speedily fainted from loss of blood. Dr. Parsons of Rye attended him, and later Dr. Hall of this city was also in attendance."

The stockholders of the Strafford national bank, at Dover, held their annual meeting last week, and elected the following directors: William S. Stevens, Charles Woodman, Timri S. Wallingford, John McDuffee, Jeremiah Horne, George Frank Hobbs, Charles H. Sawyer. As all the board elected were not present their organization was deferred. The bank paid two semi-annual dividends of five per cent each during the year 1878.

A meeting of the Boston creditors of O. M. Dow, dry goods, Biddeford, was held Monday. The committee of investigation chosen to go to Biddeford to look into affairs reported that they found that Mr. Dow had left the place "on account of his health," but they reported that Mr. Staples, a former partner of Dow, and a creditor to the amount of $2500, made the offer of fifty cents on the dollar, one-third to be in cash, one-third in notes at three months, and the balance in notes at six months, the notes to be satisfactorily endorsed. The committee, however, were empowered to investigate further, and to demand seventy-five cents on $1, and, in case of not getting it, to put the firm into insolvency. The committee say that in December last Dow bought $9400 worth of goods, against $5000 worth in the same month the year before, and they say the facts developed by the committee substantiate the suspicions entertained by creditors from the first.—Post.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Jan. 23; Bufford, J.

In the absence of Judge Batchelder at Exeter, Judge Bufford occupied the bench on Thursday.

The parties arrested on the previous day for fast driving in the compact part of the city were called up, Hon. Albert A. Fernald being the first; the evidence was deemed by the judge sufficient to sustain the charge, and Mr. Fernald was fined $1, costs being taxed at $5.76. Paid.

Dr. Samuel J. Donaldson, Mr. James R. Connell and Mr. Henry R. Stoddard were all adjudged guilty of the same offence, and each sentenced to pay a fine of $1, costs $8.04. Dr. Donaldson and Mr. Connell paid; Mr. Stoddard appealed, and was ordered to recognize in the sum of $100 for his appearance at the April term of the supreme court in Exeter.

McIntosh, who speculated unlawfully in a tent, was unable to procure $700 bonds, and was committed to jail to await trial before the supreme court.

A DISCREPANCY.

James M. Driscoll, the Portland pedestrian, went to Dover yesterday to make arrangements for Miss Sherman to appear in that city in a hundred mile walk. He stopped here for a few hours, but made no attempt to make a match with Mr. C. G. Locke, all reports and the CHRONICLE item to the contrary notwithstanding.—Times, 23d inst.

There is a discrepancy somewhere. Driscoll told us that he saw Locke, having called him out of an Odd Fellows' lodge, and offered to walk him either fifty or a hundred miles for $100 or more a side, but that Locke declined to make a match; Driscoll further said that Miss Sherman was ready to walk a fifty-mile match or a hundred-mile one with Locke, and that if the latter was in earnest in wanting to make a square match with Driscoll he could do so at any time by calling at Dennis Lynch's store. We are not particularly concerned in the matter, as we have never had any pecuniary interest, direct or indirect, in any pedestrian or match, and we do not see of what public benefit it can possibly be for a man to walk around a room until he is almost dead; but it is evident that either Driscoll or Locke lies like a trooper.

THE TAX LAW'S WORKINGS.

Two of the wealthiest gentlemen of Exeter have discovered that the air of that quiet town does not agree with them, and have notified the selectmen that they are residents elsewhere. One of these gentlemen has filled high political stations, and the other is noted for his liberal charities. But they do not feel like stating in detail the amount of their property, where it is situated and how invested, and giving all the information required by the new tax law.

Many people in the county are buying United States bonds to carry over the first of April. For this purpose called bonds are just as good as any, and there is a lively demand for these at the banks. If everybody would but hand in for what they should be taxed, as in the days of C. Augustus, and not dodge, probably the State tax would be quite small; perhaps there would be a little something coming back to some of us.

PORTSMOUTH STILL AHEAD.

We have received from the author, J. D. Hylton, of Palmyra, N. J., "The Bride of Gettysburg: an episode of 1863;" a poem in three parts, written in heroic—not to say foolhardy—measure, and making a book of 172 pages, neatly printed and bound.

The author in his preface says: "This book is only written for the perusal of true admirers of genuine poetry—those who can appreciate lofty imagination, grand conception and combination of ideas—graceful, fluent, flowing numbers * * * for such persons of exquisite taste and feeling of heart this poem is written. So, from those of an opposite bias of mind, the author hears praise without being elated, and ribaldry without being in the least degree depressed." This intimation that a failure to admire The Bride of Gettysburg will be regarded as a proof that the reader is not a person of exquisite taste and feeling of heart, will make the would-be critics very cautious as to what they say about the poem. But the pith of the preface is where the author says:

He is not so arrogant as to declare this the finest poetical production of the century, but if it has its equal in beauty of thought and expression, he will thank any one who will be so kind as to show it to him.

We have room for but one extract from this great poem, so we take the description (page 141) of the style in which the Union forces didn't do anything while they waited for the rebel attack:

'Sdeath! will they stand idle all day in their brilliant array,
As though they fear with their insulting foe to start the dread fray?
Like a vast crowd of school children who, on some beautiful day,
Rise to fight with an opposite crowd that chance to pass by their way,
But when they see how eager the challenged ones turn for a fight,
They suddenly become mute and weak in their knees at the sight;
And if not for this fact would instantly decamp in wild flight;
"If you hit me, I'll hit you;" they shout, with faces fearfully white.

There are many other passages in the book as beautiful as the one we give, and yet we cannot yield assent to the author's claim that this poem is superior in "beauty of thought and expression" to any other poetical production of the century. For Portsmouth, dear old Portsmouth, has a poet whom we consider at least the equal of the bard of Palmyra, though we do not know that he (or she) ever wrote more than one poem, and that was sent us for publication on the 16th of January, 1877. We did not publish it then, however, preferring to keep it for our private enjoyment; but the time has now arrived when we must give it to the world, and we fearlessly challenge a comparison between it and the Bride of Gettysburg. It is entitled

MOONSHINE LOVE.

Moonshine is the sun's reflection,
It shines in a brilliant scintillation,
It gives the heart a new creation,
It makes it live in future contemplation.

A lover's heart is by moonshine melted,
It only needs to be cemented,
For when the sun is in its blaze,
The lover finds himself deluded by its haze.

The love which moonshine does discover,
Comes and goes again at pleasure,
It never lasts until the daylight's dawn,
Unless it is from sunlight born.

Memory lingers around the light of the moon,
A lover felt it when the sun was setting,
It was of life's most sacred token
To remind of love that's made and broken.

The secondary of Nature's teachings,
Are but the salutary lessons of life's meanings,
That all things are in positive power created,
Everlasting essences never to be annihilated.

Naval Matters.

The Powhatan, the flagship of Rear Adm. Wyman, commanding the North Atlantic squadron, has taken in coal and provisions for a three months' cruise to the West Indies and the Gulf to look after American interests in New Grenada, which are menaced by the revolution.

Commander Richard Meade is ordered to take command of the Vandalia, lately returned from the European squadron, and now at the Boston navy yard; Lieut. Comdr. George F. Wilde is detached from the Boston yard, and ordered to the same ship as executive officer. Paymaster John McMahon is also ordered to the Vandalia.

Corporal William Stewart and Private John Morgan, gun sentries on board the Wabash, have been sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment, with bread and water, for allowing the side tackles of four guns to be cut and thrown overboard.

—Sleighing parties composed of several hundred sleighs are not unusual in the northern part of Pennsylvania. Fayette county is famous for such huge demonstrations.

A Dangerous Torpor.

Torpor or inactivity of the kidneys is seriously dangerous to those organs, since it is the precedent of diseases which destroy their substance and endanger life. This sluggishness may be overcome by stimulating them, not excessively, but moderately, an effect produced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a general invigorant and alterative, possessing diuretic properties of no common order. The impetus which this admirable medicine gives to their evacuative function counteracts any tendency to congestion which may exist in their tissues. Both they and their associate organ, the bladder, are invigorated as well as gently stimulated by Bitters, which exerts a kindred influence upon the stomach, liver and bowels, and by strengthening the system, enables it to withstand malarial epidemics, to which when exposed it might otherwise succumb.

PATERSON, N. J., April 17, 1877.

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

JOHN E. REGNER,
Chief of Fire Department.

WILLIAM H. HACKETT.

Political.

The Teller committee is now investigating the democratic frauds in South Carolina at the late election. On the 22d inst. the Palmetto engine house performance in Charleston was looked into, and notwithstanding the sworn statements of some of the democratic managers to the contrary, the stories previously published of the stuffing of the ballot boxes at that engine house with thousands of democratic "kiss-joke" ballots were proved to be true.

The trial of the case against John F. Arnold, late greenback candidate for lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, for obtaining money by false pretences, came to a sudden end at Pittsfield, Mass., by the court ordering a verdict of not guilty, the government attorney consenting. Only one witness was examined, and that one was the principal witness for the prosecution. The only reason the bottom did not tumble out of the case was that it had no bottom.

H. Baldwin, of Monroe City, Indiana, writes under date of Dec. 3d, 1877, that his wife used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with wonderful results. It effected her entire cure, after several physicians had failed. The many similar letters positively affirming that the Favorite Prescription had cured the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, induced Dr. Pierce to sell it under a guarantee. Ladies need no longer submit to useless and painful local treatment, as the Favorite Prescription is a safe, sure, and speedy cure. Hundreds who had been bed-ridden for years have been restored to perfect health by its use.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrate the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which they of no small expenditure and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and Southwest without change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.
Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Fever-sores, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever-Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it gets perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has accomplished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and highly injurious drugs. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations, Sudden Flushes, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blotches, Feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, thereby their being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharging into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be used with the nasal douche, or use one of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, prevents its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Abraham A. Physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Your bottle have reduced her weight from 193 pounds to 172 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOGLITTLE & SMITH of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Your Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLUMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report we receive from lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'I (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from 190 to 170 pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an entirely vegetable preparation, it promotes health, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to produce most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I feel warranted in claiming its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, for which it is set forth as the crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and speedy remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who makes USE of one of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE (for conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are some of the diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained: Leucorrhœa, Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single purpose, being the most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman, and I do not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 500 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats intimately of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

An Odd Fish.

An officer of the U. S. S. Pensacola thus describes a sea monster that was recently killed and beached in a harbor on the western coast of Mexico, by some of the crew of that vessel: "It required the united exertions of nearly forty men to accomplish this undertaking. A more formidable-looking monster than this devil-fish could hardly be imagined. It closely resembled an immense bat, measuring 15 1-2 feet in width by eleven feet in length; it was twenty-nine inches thick and weighed probably 2000 pounds. It had but one fin, unless the wing-shaped extremities by which it propelled itself can be considered such, or that at the base of a long thin tail, similar in appearance to a riding-whip, and which is preserved as a memento of the adventure. Its eyes were placed in flexible projections which seem to have been used to grasp and convey food to its mouth. The mouth, large enough to engulf a man whole, was destitute of teeth, but furnished with solid bone that, in the dying agonies of the fish, ground large pieces of coral as a stone-crusher would stone. The skin of the flesh was rough as a coarse file, and of a dark grayish hue on the back, with white patches toward the head, and pure white on the under side. Several Mexicans present viewed the capture with great satisfaction, as they affirm this creature is one of the most dreaded enemies of the pearl diver. The capture of a devil-fish seems to be an event of rare occurence. One was caught by the officers of the Narragansett several years ago in this very harbor, but, with that exception, none of the old salts on board had ever before seen one captured."

He Wouldn't Endorse It.

A Vallejo butcher was over in the mountain wilds of Contra Costa the other day, buying meat on the hoof. He found an old Missourian with a thousand cattle on a hill, living in all the beautiful simplicity of primitive life as it is generally discovered a thousand miles from the outposts of civilization. In appearance he looked something like the pictures one sees of Robinson Crusoe in the books, after the latter had worn out all his good clothes. But his cattle were fat and the Vallejoan bought what he wanted. When it came to settling for them he handed the Contra Costa Crusoe some greenbacks as part of the payment. The man did not seem to know what to make of such a kind of circulating medium, and it was found necessary to explain to him that they were government notes for the sums indicated. "Wall," said he, after much hesitation, "ef you'll agree to endorse them ar, I'll take 'em." But the Vallejo man not being in the business of endorsing Uncle Sam's paper, refused, and so had to pay him gold. And that man will have a chance to vote on the currency question and national banks next year!—Vallejo (Cal.) Chronicle.

A Droll Blunder.

A doctor who had one day allowed himself to drink too much, was sent for to see a fashionable lady who was ailing. He sat down by the bedside, took out his watch, and began to count her pulse as well as his obfuscated condition would permit. He counted: "One, two, three," then he get confused, and began again; "One, two, three, four." Still confused, he began again: "One, two." No, he could not do it. Thoroughly ashamed of himself, he shut up his watch, muttering: "Tipsy, I declare—tipsy!" Staggering to his feet, he told the lady to keep her bed and take some hot lemonade, to throw her in a profound perspiration, and he would see her the next day. In the morning he received the following note from the lady, marked "private:"

"Dear Doctor: You were right. I dare not deny it. But I am thoroughly ashamed of myself, and will be more careful in the future. Please accept the enclosed fee for your visit (a ten pound note), and do not, I entreat of you, breathe a word about the state in which you found me."

The lady, in fact, had been drinking too much, and catching the doctor's murmured words, thought they referred to her. He was too far gone to see what was the matter with his patient, and she too far to see that the doctor was in the same condition!

SATURDAY, JANUARY 25, 1879.

Another Federal Outrage.

In the United States Circuit Court at Jacksonville, Fla., on Thursday, Judge Settle presiding, the canvassing board of Brevard county, previously convicted of making false election returns, were sentenced, as follows: Lee, the county clerk, (and at present the State senator from Brevard county,) to three years in the Albany penitentiary; Wright, the sheriff, and Johns, a justice, to one year each in same prison. This is a most outrageous instance of radical persecution and federal outrage; it was only by the proper fixing of the Brevard county election returns that the republican candidate for Congress, who was elected by the people, was kept out of Congress and a democrat given a certificate in his place; so this action of the canvassing board was a democratic necessity—as it not only saved a Congressman to that party, but secured Florida's vote on the electoral question if the next election of President should be thrown in the House. And yet these patriots, after this magnificent service, and in consequence of it, are to be made State prison birds of by a tyrannical federal power! How long, oh, how long will the people stand such infringements on their liberties as this?

The Alabama Rebellion.

The more the recent insolent assumption of State Supremacy in Alabama is ventilated, the worse it appears. The facts are that certain democratic election frauds were on trial before the United States courts; in order to get the evidence against these democrats from before that court, a case was trumped up in a State court, and certain federal officials were ordered to produce in the State court the documents and ballot boxes already before the United States court, and then being used in evidence in a case actually on trial. The federal officials made return to the State court in due form, setting forth the facts and that the documents, etc., demanded had passed out of their control; on which the State judge instantly sent them to jail for contempt of court in not obeying his orders.

The point of special importance in this case is not that the State court of Alabama is prostituted to the protection of ballot-box stuffers, but that the State court of Alabama claims to be not merely the equal of but superior to the United States court—a claim which if once allowed would enable any one-horse municipal court to nullify the entire authority of the United States. The doctrine of the supremacy of any single State over the whole nation was never more openly insisted upon; and the fact that no democratic paper in the North dares utter even a word of remonstrance, shows that the northern wing of the democratic party is as subservient to the southern nullifiers now as it was to the southern disunionists in 1860—65.

Bibulous Statistics.

The trade in wines and liquors in 1878 is reported to have been bad. Only in the last quarter of the year was any activity in the business shown. We have exported vast quantities of alcohol, which has relieved our distillers of their surplus and largely increased the profits of the commission and exporting houses. The increase in clearances of alcohol is really startling. In 1876 not over 6000 barrels were exported. Last year the amount reached 99,936 barrels; and while two years ago most of the shipments were for South America, during the past year Europe has received over seven times as much as has been sent south.

During the year 1878 imports of still wines were 21,061 casks and 3,969 cases less than were received the year before. The importation of champagnes, however, increased 3556 cases over 1877. Last year there was a falling off of 222 packages of gin and 1314 cases. Foreign ales and beers foot up 32,558 packages, against 36,405 the previous year.

Our wine producers have learned to confine their productions to such kinds as the soil cultivated permits to grow properly. The increase of product of California wine is immense. 1,243,241 gallons came east to the Atlantic coast in addition to the quantity consumed in the west.

Instead of increasing our importation of foreign ale and beer, we are sending these abroad. John Bull, despite the celebrity of Barclay & Perkins, and like well-known brewers at home, shows the American ales, while in Germany the gambrinian brews of the United States are the favorites in the beer gardens. The awards of several medals at the French exposition to brewers in the United States shows that we are improving in this product, and the surplus quantity of ale and beer made in this country will be likely to find a market abroad. The hard times have tended to decrease the retail trade in liquors and wines in the United States, and very many who once, under the pressure of flush times, demanded spirits, now are satisfied with the more quiet drink of lager.

News and Notes.

A queer despatch came over the cable from London, Thursday, being the startling story received from the captain of a ship just arrived at London. Off the coast of Ireland he saw a ship on fire and guarded by a formidable looking steamer. The officers on the steamer warned him to keep on his course, or his ship too would be burned. A few hours later he was overhauled by the steamer and warned not to report what he had seen. This sounds very much like a story of a cock and a bull.

Advices from Frenchburg, Ky., report trouble brewing between friends of one Barnes, who is imprisoned for the murder of a man named Stevens, and a sheriff's posse. In event his release is attempted a fight will occur. The governor has been appealed to.

At Newark, N. J., Wednesday evening, Mr. Coleman, aged forty-six, struck his son Martin, aged twenty, on the head with a boot for disobedience. The son, being hot-tempered, stabbed his father in the arm with a penknife, severing two principal arteries. The father died, leaving eight children. The son escaped.

A special from Van Buren, Ark., says a party of Scott county ruffians are making things lively at the town of Salem. One was arrested, and appeared before the magistrate Wednesday for trial, accompanied by ten others of the gang. All were heavily armed; during the trial one of them assaulted a town official. An attempt was made to arrest them. A general fight ensued, and one of the Scott county men was killed and two others wounded. The party mounted and fled, followed by citizens. At Dayton two of the wounded were captured.

A Virginia newspaper, the Richmond State, objects to having the rivers stocked with fish on the novel ground that it will encourage idleness among the people, who, being furnished with free food, will neglect agriculture. And this is the same city which a few years ago refused to grant a manufacturing company a right to erect mills on the James river, because manufactories would bring mechanics there, and the Richmond people did not care to be further mixed up with the working class. The world moves.

In the State of New York there are about six thousand canal boats, and in addition to the adults that float in them in summer and live on board all the year round, there are from six to ten thousand children, who attend no school except for a portion of the time in the winter season. England has 100,000 people living in this way on board of canal boats, and in an unhealthful condition.

Compana, alias "Sport," the Bridgeport, Conn., pedestrian who took part with Leary in the bogus walking match in New York, has settled down in Waterbury, Conn. He put some of his profits of the New York match into furniture, and now has as well furnished a house as can be found in Waterbury. There are Brussels carpets on every floor—kitchen included.

What next? Here's an account of the swindling of a book agent! Next thing somebody will come along and swindle a lightning-rod man. A Connecticut newspaper says: "A smooth-talking and genial fraud, calling himself Richard Connell of California, has been imposing on Norwich people. He pretended to have $50,000 which he wished to invest in some paying business in the city, and began to fix up a grocery store in an extravagant manner. Now he has disappeared with $215, borrowed from a book agent, and smaller sums which others loaned him, while goods and fittings ordered for his store are unpaid for."

An aged negro, of local celebrity at Northampton, Mass., died curiously Thursday, being found in his own house, leaning back against the wall in a chair. He put the chair too far from the wall, fell back, and was unable to recover himself, and suffocated with his head bent to his chest.

New Hampshire Items.

Solomon Caverly has given a new bell, costing $500, and Jeremiah Kenniston a chandelier, valued at $65, to the Freewill Baptist society at Loudon.

Mrs. C. L. Aiken, of Franklin, who was made insane by the accidental killing of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, at Lowell, was sent to the asylum at Concord, and died on Monday.

Edward McNab of Manchester was on Friday sent to State prison for twenty-five years, for criminally assaulting his stepdaughter, nine years old.

The attorneys who have investigated the new city charter of Manchester hold that the officials elected by the people hold their offices two years, and those elected by the city government but one year.

William P. Buell, of Nashua, committed suicide Thursday evening by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. A note was left on the dressing table addressed to his wife, who is in Lowell, saying: "Good-by, dear wife and son. God forgive me; all are forgiven; send for Fred." Deceased was widely known among the higher orders of Odd Fellows and the Masonic fraternity and cotton manufacturing interests. Many years he was overseer on the Nashua corporation. He went to Lowell a few years since in the same capacity. By a change in the administration he was dropped from his position and returned to Nashua. A few weeks after he purchased a butcher's establishment. The loss of his position and change of business, which proved not so remunerative as was expected, caused depression of mind, resulting as above. He had been Past Grand Master of Odd Fellows, and Grand Representative of Royal Arch Masons.

The property left by the late Gov. Onslow Stearns amounts to about $300,000. It is a very solid and reliable estate, including a large amount of very choice stocks and good mortgage claims. The deceased did not leave a will, and his handsome fortune will go to his widow and five children.

The insurance people have at last come to it, and settled the claims for insurance on the Lancaster house at Lancaster, "adjusting" $2373.46 on the furniture and $8626.54 on the building — or in round numbers, paying eleven thousand dollars for the loss.

Gen. Mike Donahue was surprised on Thursday morning by receiving a ticket of leave as station agent of the Boston & Lowell railroad in Boston, and no questions answered. Mike was a gallant officer in the late unpleasantness, being colonel of the 10th N. H. Vols.; is a democrat of the first water, and a devout Catholic. For eight years he has presided over the rotunda of the B. & L. R. R. station, a position now filled by E. P. Thayer, an ex-conductor and a gentleman of good points; he formerly represented the town of Wilton in the legislature, and is a democrat of the most approved stamp. Mike will not be out of a job long, as he is smart and irrepressible.

—A lady eighty years old was out coasting with her grand-daughters in Burlington, Iowa, one evening last week.

—A gentleman connected with one of the banking institutions in Scranton, Pa., offered a young miss a $5 gold coin as a present. The young lady examined the unfamiliar piece furtively, and finally declined receiving it, remarking that she was not to be fooled "with a brass twenty-five cent piece."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Gra pe Cream Tartar imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so far further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Beware of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

Several vessels of the fishing fleet arrived Friday evening with good fares, and reported a strong breeze at sea.

Steamer James Sampson will start from the navy landing at the foot of Daniel street, on Sunday at about one o'clock, to convey to Kittery the Masonic brethren, to attend the funeral of the late Charles W. Parker.

Locke and Driscoll have settled the preliminaries for a fifty-mile walking match, and forfeit money was on Friday evening deposited in the hands of a disinterested party in this city. The final arrangements will be made next Friday.

The fishing schooner Franklin Schenk, of Rockport, Mass., while making a berth on Friday ran her bowsprit upon the end of Pier wharf, and hung there for some time, the tide being on the ebb. By coming up with the head gear she was cleared without serious damage.

The schooner Caroline Knight, which made a stop of several weeks at Rye beach on her way to this port with a cargo of coal, and was afterward gotten off and towed into this harbor, on Friday forenoon left for Rockland, Me., in tow of steamtug Hercules. The schooner was leaking freely when she left, but will be thoroughly repaired when she arrives at Rockland.

The Times says that a large company of Celestials are expected at Rye beach early in the spring. We infer that they are to come not as guests at this popular watering place, but as "help." According to the California lecturer at Music hall on the evening of the 22d inst., a large influx of Mongolians is an evil to be dreaded; but as long as the American girl does not incline to go out at service, and the Irish girls insists upon as high wages as when gold was at its greatest premium, while the compensation of everyone else has been reduced, it may be that some one will hazard the experiment of trying the heathen in our locality.

Brig. Gen. Thom, the officer of United States engineers who some time ago examined the obstructions in our harbor, has reported, recommending the removal of Gangway rock, between Beacon ledge and the navy yard, at an estimated cost of $85,200, and of Badger's island ledge, at a cost of $35,700; he also recommends the closing of the tide-way at the lower Newcastle bridge, at a cost of $12,600, but no attempt to clear away or smooth off the point of Beacon ledge is suggested. The removal of the obstructions as recommended will be a great improvement to the harbor, but of what advantage it will be to build a breakwater across the tide-way at Newcastle bridge we cannot see, as the only effect it can have will be to increase the velocity of the tide between that point and the narrows, where it already runs about as fast as is necessary.

The noticeable article in the Atlantic Monthly for February is the one on Limited Sovereignty in the United States, wherein some politico-literary fellow" announces as a discovery that voters are in Massachusetts controlled in the exercise of their franchises by employers. This may be new in Massachusetts, but in whatever State in which the writer may reside, he certainly has not been much acquainted with politics, which years ago by indirection caused mill operatives to vote for the tariff party, and today guarantees to the democracy a certain number of voters whose employers are engaged in the manufacture of various fluids for the protection of which one party more than another is relied upon. The article is interesting, but it furnishes only new examples of an old evil. The French duel by Mark Twain is a good story for a newspaper, but for a magazine issued right midst the culture of Boston, is perhaps somewhat infra dig. A poem by Albert Laighton is to be found in this number of the Atlantic.

THE VICINITY.

The schooner Creed, belonging to Laighton Bros. & Co., of the Shoals, has been thoroughly overhauled and put in good condition at the marine railway in Kittery.

George J. Abbott, United States commercial agent at Goderich, Canada, a native of Hampton Falls, where he was born July 14th, 1812, died at Goderich a few days ago.

The house, barn and outbuildings of David Blaisdell, at South Berwick, with the entire contents of the barn, including hay, farming tools, etc., were burned Thursday night. Loss $2000; insured.

Frank R. Fields of Saco, "champion walker of York county," on Wednesday evening, 22d inst., in Mousam hall, Kennebunk, walked twenty-five miles in four hours, twenty minutes and six seconds.

The York County Agricultural Society is $200 ahead on its last year's work. The society has elected Hon. John Hall of North Berwick president, Moses S. Milliken of Biddeford treasurer, and C. E. Sawyer of Saco secretary.

The citizens of Dover have in contemplation the building of two bridges, the first to cross Freshwater creek about a mile from the city, and the other to cross about half a mile above the mouth of the Newichewannick. This will connect Dover with Eliot, and give a shorter route to the York seashore for Strafford and Suffolk counties. South Berwick will fight against the scheme, as it would take a good part of South Berwick's trade to Dover.

On the evening of Jan. 17th, on board the schooner Annie H. Mason of York, being at the wharf in that town, two brothers, William and Albert Langfell, sleeping in the cabin, closed up the coal stove tight, causing the gas to fill the cabin. One of the crew came on board during the night, and by stamping the snow from his boots, providentially aroused Albert, who had strength enough to crawl to the cabin door, and with the assistance of the man outside managed to open it. They found William on the floor on his face, nearly suffocated. Alarming the crew forward, they bore him on deck, and succeeded by persistent efforts in resuscitating him.—Journal.

Mr. Henry Kimball, of Kittery Point, has recently been engaged in working for Mr. G. R. Mitchell, of Bra'-boat-harbor, and on Tuesday evening, the 21st inst., left work at the usual hour and started for home, where he never arrived alive. He called at Mr. Daniel Beadle's after leaving Mitchell's, but of his subsequent movements nothing is known. Not arriving at his home search was made for him, and on Thursday he was found lying face downward in a swamp opposite his father's house, dead, and frozen stiff. He was about thirty years of age, and leaves a widow and several children.

Sheriff R. M. Stevens, of York county, writes to the Biddeford Times that his position on the temperance question has been grossly misrepresented, and that the story that he has ordered his deputies not to seize ale or lager is a falsehood. He says: "In regard to orders, I wish it to be distinctly understood, that while the office of sheriff is held by me, no deputy shall be permitted to enforce any law for the sole object of making money. It is also my wish that any and all my deputies take hold of this matter, assisted by those who have the good of the temperance cause at heart, and ferret out those who sell the accursed stuff in violation of law, and bring the offenders to justice; and all evidence I wish to have reported to me, that proceedings may be taken according to law against the owners of buildings let for that purpose, or used for the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors by the knowledge or consent of the owners."

SUPREME COURT.

Jan. Term; Foster, J.

The equity suit, Woodbury vs. Swan and als., occupied the court on Wednesday.

Additional divorces have been decreed as follows:

Olive Burnham, of Newmarket, from Samuel D. Burnham; Mellows for libellant.

Susan L. Stone, of South Hampton, from Lewis G. Stone; Stickney for libellant.

Eliza A. Lee, of Epping, from Edward H. Lee; Leavitt for libellant.

The libel for divorce, Ambrose Card, of Newcastle, vs. Mary A. Card, was heard Thursday. Harriman for libellant, Hatch for libellee. Decision reserved.

ACCIDENTS.

Mr. Cornelius Sullivan, of the firm of C. Sullivan & Co., was severely injured on Friday by being kicked by his colt. Mr. Sullivan left home early in the morning to feed his horses, after doing which he commenced to harness the colt, and had nearly finished when the animal ran into the carriage house; and when Mr. Sullivan attempted to catch him he let fly his heels, one hoof striking Mr. Sullivan in the face and cutting and bruising it very badly, the other hoof striking his arm near the shoulder, fortunately without breaking the limb. Mr. Sullivan was knocked senseless and remained so for some time; on coming to he made his way to the nearest house, and was assisted by the inmates to the best of their ability. Dr. Potter was called and dressed the wounds.

Richard Williams of Brooklyn, N. Y., a seaman on board the schooner West Dennis, of Boston, Perry master, now loading apples at this port, on Friday fell from the foreboom to the tier of barrels in the hold, a distance of about eighteen feet; at first it was feared that he was fatally injured, but though his forehead was badly cut and his body somewhat bruised, no permanent injury will probably result. Dr. Jones attended the injured man.

A Dangerous Torpor.

Torpor or inactivity of the kidneys is seriously dangerous to those organs, since it is the precedent of diseases which destroy their substance and endanger life. This sluggishness may be overcome by stimulating them, not excessively, but moderately, an effect produced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a general invigorant and alterative, possessing diuretic properties of no common order. The impetus which this admirable medicine gives to their evacuative function counteracts any tendency to congestion which may exist in their tissues. Both they and their associate organ, the bladder, are invigorated as well as gently stimulated by Bitters, which exerts a kindred influence upon the stomach, liver and bowels, and by strengthening the system, enables it to withstand malarial epidemics, to which when exposed it might otherwise succumb.

The New Stock Speculations.

The new combination method of operating in stocks which Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., have inaugurated, is attracting unusual attention in financial circles, by reason of its remarkable success. B. F. Comstock, of Providence, invested nine times, and made over $5,000 in three months, by using from $50 to $500 capital. By this system, orders from thousands of customers, in various sums, are pooled into one immense capital, and operated as a mighty whole, thus giving to each shareholder all the advantages of vast capital and shrewdest skill. Profits are divided every 30 days. Any amount from $10 to $75,000 can be used in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations with equal proportionate success. $15 will make $75 profit in the month. $290 will return $1,600, or 8 per cent. on the stock, and so on as the market varies. The new circular gives "two unerring rules for success," and shows how any one can operate profitably. Mailed free. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

Revolution in the Dressing Room!

By the almost unanimous action of the parties interested,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

has replaced the old worn-out inventions for coloring the hair, which the bitter experience of years had proved to be ineffective and deleterious. Unlike the compounds that

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safeguard that protects the fibres from either under all circumstances and under all climes. PATERSON, N. J., April 17, 1877.

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

JOHN E. REGNER,
Chief of Fire Department.

WILLIAM H. HACKETT.

Children of the Commune.

On the suppression of the Commune of Paris, among the prisoners taken were 500 boys of ages averaging from nine to fifteen. Of the many atrocities committed during the time the communists held Paris, the most mischievous were those perpetrated by these lads. While the murders and incendiarisms were perpetrated by men during an attack of political fury, the assassinations committed by these boys were done solely out of a spirit of cruelty and mischief. The government, not liking to treat these lads as political criminals, sent them to the reformatory at Rouen, and shortly afterward two eminent physicians were requested to visit them, and report upon their mental and physical condition. They found out of the 500 youths, 337 were of delicate physical form and stunted growth. They were among the most mischievous of the whole, and all were children of drunken mothers.—Good Words.

H. Baldwin, of Monroe City, Indiana, writes under date of Dec. 3d, 1877, that his wife used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with wonderful results. It effected her entire cure, after several physicians had failed. The many similar letters positively affirming that the Favorite Prescription had cured the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, induced Dr. Pierce to sell it under a guarantee. Ladies need no longer submit to useless and painful local treatment, as the Favorite Prescription is a safe, sure, and speedy cure. Hundreds who had been bed-ridden for years have been restored to perfect health by its use.

—"One touch of Nature," observed the inebriate, as the ground rose and struck him.

—Quails are so cheap in Indiana now that the best people will not eat them on toast—in fact they are cheaper than the toast.

—New handkerchiefs have centres of white linen, borders of pink, blue or scarlet, and an embroidered figure in one corner.

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, Blotch, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mental Taints, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Tone Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Gates or Fitch Neck, and Fever Sores.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, bitterness of the stomach, coated tongue, loss of appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are expressed. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has established the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of drastic, crude, and bulky ingredients, since Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of kidneys, Internal Fever, Blinding feelings about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved uninjured for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, excoriating; in others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, rattling in throat, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche, which is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried into the nasal passages. It can be used by all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption, including Mercurial disease, Mercurial Rheumatism, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Fever-Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Unequaled by all preparations as an alterative, it permanently cures Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goiter or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat, chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only one of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the care of Lingering Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

No use of taking the larger, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of chaff, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the general health or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulder, Fullness after Eating, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to the Head, etc., Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, as a gland or tissue exists upon which their active impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and enclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in common wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

Getting at the Logs.

The Truckee, Nev., Republican says: A chute is laid before the river's brink up the steep mountain to the railroad, and, while we are telling it, the monster logs are rushing, thundering, flying, leaping down the declivity. They come with the speed of a thunderbolt, and somewhat of its roar. A track of fire and smoke follows them—fire struck by their friction with the chute logs. They descend the 1700 feet of the chute in fourteen seconds. In doing so they drop 70C feet perpendicularly. They strike the deep water of the pond with a report that can be heard a mile distant. Logs fired from a cannon could scarcely have greater velocity than they have at the foot of the chute. Their average velocity is over 100 feet in a second throughout the entire distance, and at the moment they leap from the mouth their speed must be fully 200 feet per second. A sugar-pine log sometimes weighs ten tons. What a missile! How the water is dashed into the air! Like a great plume of diamonds and rainbows, the feathery spray is hurled to the height of a hundred feet. It forms the grandest fountain ever beheld. How the waters of the pond foam, seeth and lash against the shore. One log, having spent its force by its mad plunge into the deep waters, has floated so as to be at right angles with the path of the descending monsters. The mouth of the chute is, perhaps, fifteen feet above the surface of the water. A huge log hurled from the chute cleaves the air and alights on the floating log. You know how a bullet glances, but can you imagine a saw-log glancing? The end strikes with a heavy shock, but glides quickly past for a short distance, then a crash like the reverberation of artillery, the falling log springs 150 feet vertically into the air, and with a curve like a rocket, falls into the water seventy yards from the log it struck.

A Dangerous Torpor.

Torpor or inactivity of the kidneys is seriously dangerous to those organs, since it is the precedent of diseases which destroy their substance and endanger life. This sluggishness may be overcome by stimulating them, not excessively, but moderately, an effect produced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a genuine invigorant and alterative, possessing diuretic properties of no common order. The impetus which this admirable medicine gives to their evacuative function counteracts any tendency to congestion which may exist in their tissues. Both they and their associate organ, the bladder, are invigorated as well as gently stimulated by Bitters, which exerts a kindred influence upon the stomach, liver and bowels, and by strengthening the system, enables it to withstand malarial epidemics, to which when exposed it might otherwise succumb.

Bainbridge Wadleigh.

Harper's Weekly says that Senator Wadleigh has been alluded to as "a weak Senator," which is not true. The Weekly says "he is rather indolent, but on the whole likes to be Senator, though he has not cared enough about it to exert himself to build up a high reputation in the Senate. He is of good repute among lawyers, being one of the best in New Hampshire. He is a man of great reserved mental force, and his attainments are far above the ordinary Congressional standard. He reads and writes in several languages, and possesses the finest private library in New Hampshire."

Senator Wadleigh is by no means an indolent man. He has done a vast deal of work in the committees on elections and on patents, and has during his term kept up his law practice and reading. He appears to be a lever of case, because he has not that apparent nervousness of some men who are always in a hurry. He is not industrious about his re-election,—perhaps not sufficiently so to satisfy his friends; but he is an honest, able, industrious and valuable Senator. In the shaping of bills before the Senate, and in his other legal capacities, he is in constant demand among his fellow Senators. He has no pet grievances or private aims that conflict with the discharge of his Senatorial duties. He is more of a statesman than politician, and will be apt to rely upon the good sense of the coming legislature to re-elect him rather than upon any efforts to that end exerted in his own behalf. He stands far better with his fellow Senators than with the newspaper men or the contractors.

It has been rumored that an effort will be put forth in certain quarters to re-elect a distinguished Ex-Senator who has filled the chair of the Senate, and done honor to the State at Washington, though it is not at all certain that he would incline to leave a present comfortable position for the honors of the Senate. In case such a result should be brought about, Senator Wadleigh might find the office of District Judge seeking him, as he did the Senatorship. Five months hence, however, the question will be solved. In point of labor in the Senate we think our New Hampshire Senator has a record second to none of his peers in that body.

Congressman-Elect Hull.

When the canvassing board of Brevard county, Fla., were at work making up the returns of the late election, the democratic candidate for Congress from that district, one Hull, telegraphed to them that one hundred and two voters were required from Brevard county to defeat the republican candidate, Bisbee, and asking if the canvassers could furnish them. The canvassing board could, and did; and Mr. Hull, in consequence of the fraud of the board, is now Congressman-elect Hull and also Lieut. Gov. Hull, but one of his tools, the chairman of the canvassing board, is under sentence of three years in the penitentiary, and two others for one year each. Now the canvassing board and two election inspectors of Alachua county have been arrested on a charge of violating the election laws they were sworn to carry out, and the evidence is very strong against them. But all this won't prevent the reform democrat, Hull, who is very bitter in his denunciation of all radical corruption and fraud, from taking the seat to which the people of the district elected another man.

A Boss-Bulldozer Testifies.

On Friday, before the representatives of the Tilden committee at New Orleans, M. J. Cunningham, a democratic member of the State legislature, testified as to the troubles in his parish, which is Natchitoches. He said there was no truth in the stories of democratic bull-dozing in his parish; all was peaceful, except what trouble the republicans, who were very bloodthirsty, made. The witness acknowledged that Blunt and the Bredas were hunted from the parish, but it was not on account of politics at all, but because they were bad men. This testimony should be taken as conclusive, for Mr. Cunningham was the "acting chief of police"—so he called himself—who led the gang of bulldozers that drove Blunt and the Bredas away, and terrified the colored men by murderous demonstrations the night before election.

Backed Down.

The Alabama nullifiers have backed down. The United States district attorney and marshal who were held for trial by the State court on the ground that they were guilty of contempt in not producing certain ballot-boxes which were already in evidence before a United States court, were released on Friday. The State attorney having been served with a notice of writs of habeas corpus by the federal court, hastened to release the imprisoned officials, thus avoiding a trial of the case. The southern nullifiers recognize the fact that democratic supremacy in national affairs is not yet so positively assured as to make it absolutely safe for an individual State to defy the legal authority of the nation, even for the purpose of covering up democratic frauds.

A Strange Experience.

At Charleston, S. C., Friday, the Teller committee encountered a strange experience, for one white democrat, C. H. Moise, called to rebut republican evidence of violence and fraud, said he was disgusted with the violence offered by the Democrats to Sam Lee, of Sumter parish, and frankly admitted that the Sumter ballot-box was stuffed with fraudulent tissue-ballots by the democrats.

S. J. Hanna, a republican supervisor, testified to his being assaulted and driven from his post at Kingstree, and Deputy Marshal Pendergrass related how a party of white democrats first assaulted him, and then filled the ballot-box with the dodgers by the handful. Three republican supervisors in Columbia parish gave testimony as to precisely similar frauds there.

More Bonds Called In.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued the eighty-fourth call for the redemption of 5-20 bonds of 1865, consols of 1867. The call is for twenty million dollars, the principal and interest to be paid at the Treasury on and after the 24th of April, interest to cease on that day. The following are the descriptions of the bonds:

Coupon bonds, dated July 1, 1867:

$50,	Nos. 53,601 to 64,000,	both	inclusive.
$100,	" 73,001 " 85,000,	"	"
$500,	" 55,001 " 62,000,	"	"
$1000,	" 73,001 " 88,000,	"	"

Registered bonds, redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after the 1st day of January, 1879, as follows:

$50,	Nos. 2,271 to 2,550,	both	inclusive.
$100,	" 16,401 " 18,500,	"	"
$500,	" 9,201 " 9,250,	"	"
$1000,	" 31,001 " 35,500,	"	"
$5000,	" 8,501 " 10,150,	"	"
$10,000	" 15,101 " 17,000,	"	"

News and Notes.

We have received No. 1, Vol. 1, of the Field Glass, a monthly publication "devoted to the interests of the army, navy, national guard, societies, and bands." The contents of the first number include articles on "Russian torpedoes in the late war with Turkey," by Gen. H. L. Abbott, U. S. A.; "American military music and bands," by P. S. Gilmore; "Elements of our military strength," by Gen. T. F. Rodenbough, U. S. A.; "Freemasonry," by J. W. Simonds, P. G. M.; and a number of other articles, Published by Schuyler, Hartley & Graham, No. 17 Maiden lane, New York city; $1 a year; single number ten cents.

President Hayes has signed the bill to present pension claim agents with $150,000,000 or thereabouts. He ought to be ashamed of himself.

The jury in the case of Ellison S. Keitt of Newberry Court House, S. C., against the New York Times, for $50,000 damages for alleged libel, Friday evening rendered a verdict for plaintiff of six cents.

Abagail Morris last week brought a suit at Freehold, N. J., against Capt. Leonard Seeley of Redbank, for damages for six breaches of promise of marriage, from 1870 to 1878, during which time three children were born of her and two suits for damages settled, and the jury on Friday awarded the plaintiff $1100.

Tuesday night of last week a newly married couple from North Brookfield, Mass., stopped in a hotel in Worcester. The next morning the groom left the bride for an hour, as he said, to attend to some business. He failed to return, and the bride of less than twenty-four hours sent to North Brookfield for her brother, who came down in the afternoon and took her home in anything but a pleasant frame of mind.

During the brief period between the close of the rebellion and the return of the confederates to power in Arkansas, the portraits of Lincoln and Grant were hung in the Senate chamber of the Statehouse. On Thursday of last week a resolution was introduced to remove the obnoxious portraits, and substitute for them the pictures of the rebel generals Lee and Jackson; but the motion was defeated by a vote of eighteen to nine, only one-third of the Arkansas senators being willing to go on the record as being in favor of exalting the two notorious traitors above the two great patriots.

A cat story comes from West Farmington, Me., and runs in this wise: Mr. Wade had a daughter married a few years ago, who moved to Weld village. She being very partial to a house cat of her father, he boxed up the cat and carried it to Weld, twenty miles from West Farmington, and let it out of the box; puss had not been seen by either party for three years until last Friday, when she appeared at the door of her old home, and seemed highly gratified to see her old friends.

—Marriage is no uneven game. It is a tie.

—A retired fireman might call himself an ex-spurt.

—The venerable wife of a celebrated physician, one day casting her eyes out of the window, observed her husband in the funeral procession of one of his patients, at which she exclaimed: "I do wish my husband would keep away from such processions. It appears so much like a tailor carrying home his work!"

Naval Matters.

Capt. John Irwin is detached from command of the Pensacola, and ordered to the command of the receiving ship Independence, at Mare island navy yard.

Master Wm. H. Scheutze is detached from the Michigan and ordered to the Powhatan.

The leave of Lieut. Comdr. C. M. Anthony has been extended two weeks.

The U. S. S. Constitution, having completed her repairs, was taken out of dry dock at Portsmouth, England, on the 24th inst., preparatory to starting for home.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that goes so much further and works much better than alternative, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. dtsep10

"THERE'S SKATING ON THE RINK."

"There's skating on the Rink!"
Amid our many foes,
Storms and frequent snows,
What power words like these Have the young hearts to please—
"There's skating on the Rink!"

"There's skating on the Rink!"
The pretty girls are there
With flowing hair,
And what a joy they feel
As they buckle on their steel—
"There's skating on the Rink!"

"There's skating on the Rink!"
It makes the young heart bound—
Leap like a hound;
Not the chocolate they drink
Can give them cheeks so pink
As "skating on the Rink!"

"There's skating on the Rink!"
Then lay aside your books
With happy looks;
'Tis the safest thing, I think;
If you break, you cannot sink
When "skating on the Rink!"

THE CITY.

We are indebted to Senator Rollins for valuable pub. docs.

Five thousand dollars of Portsmouth, Gt. Falls & Conway new 4 1-2s were sold at auction in Boston on Saturday at 72 3-8.

The schooner Cocheco, Seawards master, of this port, is frozen in at Newcastle, Delaware, having been caught when the ice first made there.

Cornelius Sullivan, who was on Friday severely injured by a kick of his colt, we learn is insured by Morse & Lisley, in the Travellers Accident Insurance Company, and his weekly indemnity will be ten dollars.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Wm. A. Loyne went to Agamenticus to enquire into the actual condition of the community there, reported to be very destitute and actually suffering for lack of food and clothing. He will give a report on his return this afternoon.

The schooner E. R. Emerson, from this port with apples, arrived at Baltimore Jan. 22d; she was loaded by Cyrus L. Brown & Co. The schooner T. J. Trafton, Hoyt master, with 2360 barrels of apples shipped by the same firm, sailed from this port on Saturday, also for Baltimore.

George Prince, the man who didn't command a company in the 8th Maine cavalry to any alarming extent during the war, but who has run a private pension agency since the war on his own account, drawing all the pensions himself, and was arrested for that same by Sheriff Kent a few days ago, had a box at the post office in this city, as well as in other places.

"Lucy Carter," whose fashion letters from New York to this paper for a year or more past have been so well received by the ladies, has formed a buisness connection with the Lamar Purchasing Agency in New York, and gives personal supervision to answering letters of enquiry and the forwarding of samples. Her card will be found in another place.

On Saturday night the fishing schooner Rover's Bride, of this port, Shields master, while running into Pier dock at the foot of State street struck the end of the building on the wharf, and had her bulworks carried away from the knightheads to abaft the fore rigging. It was very dark and blowing a gale at the time, and under the circumstances the vessel was lucky to escape so easily.

Prof. Goldberg, in his entertainment on Wednesday evening, will give an entirely new programme, including magical wonders, mental experiments, second sight, etc. As an illusionist he is remarkably successful in puzzling everybody, and he does many things which no other conjurer has ever attempted. There will be plenty of fun as well as food for wonderment, at Music hall Wednesday evening. See advertisement.

In Saturday morning's CHRONICLE we gave an account of the fishing schooner Franklin Schenk running her bowsprit on top of Pier wharf while making a landing on the previous day, subsequently getting off unharmed by coming up with her head gear. On Saturday another fishing schooner, the Hattie M. Reed, of Gloucester, tried the same game, running her bowsprit on the wharf exactly in the mark made by the other vessel's; but the Hattie M. Reed did not escape so luckily as the Franklin Schenk, as her bowsprit was carried away.

THE VICINITY.

Joseph Langton of Kittery has been appointed a deputy sheriff for York county.

Nine hundred and eight postal money orders were issued at the Exeter post office in 1878; the whole number issued up to Jan. 1st, 1879, was 8800.

Jeremiah Marston, brother of Gen. Gilman Marston of Exeter, died at Clarendon, Arkansas, a few days ago, at the age of fifty-one years. He was born at Orford, N. H., and graduated at Dartmouth. Subsequently he studied law in the office of James K. Polk in Tennessee, and afterward edited a paper for several years in Alabama. When the war of the rebellion commenced he was a resident of Hannibal, Mo., owning a plantation with seventy-five slaves.

Almost without exception those former engineers of the Boston & Maine railroad who lost their positions through taking part in the ill-advised strike, have until within a brief period been unable to get other situations; but since the elevated railroad in New York commenced running trains, many of them have secured engineers' billets there. Six more of them obtained such situations last week, among them David Smith of Exeter.

The Young Men's Christian Association commenced a series of meetings in the Methodist church at Epping, on Friday afternoon. Allen Folger of Concord has charge, assisted C. J. Jackson of Danville and O. E. Brown of Sanbornton. Meetings are held at ten o'clock A. M., and two and seven o'clock P. M., each day. The meetings have commenced under favorable auspices, with a good attendance, and the interest is increasing with each meeting.

The railroad commissioners of Maine in their report say the Boston and Maine railroad is maintained up to the highest point of efficiency. The Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad, operated by the Eastern company, shows a real businesslike improvement; a general air of thrift and thoughtful management is observed the whole length of the line. The Lewiston Journal says that there "is a movement to take the management of the Maine Central out of the hands of the Eastern road and place it under the control of Maine men, where it properly belongs, by securing the passage of a bill prohibiting the representation at meetings of stock owned by any 'foreign railroad company.' There is to be a committee hearing at Augusta on this question."

The Biddeford and Saco Game and Fish Protecting Society organized on Thursday evening last, with George F. Calef as president, Ferguson Haynes as vice president, Dr. Thomas Haley as secretary, and C. F. S. Blake as treasurer. The object of the society is to enforce the laws of Maine as they now exist, they being considered sufficient to effect their end if fully carried out; if found insufficient, then the legislature will be asked to act further. The chairman in his remarks said that at one time the Saco river teemed with salmon, and black and striped bass. So abundant were salmon that by the by-laws of Pepperellboro' masters were forbidden giving salmon oftener than stated times during the week. Formerly from Goose Fair brook could be taken salmon weighing four pounds, and there is no good reason why these at present expensive fishes should not be in the markets in abundance, at a moderate cost.

SIR THOMAS MORE.

The lecture on Friday evening at Miss Morgan's school was given by George W. Haven, Esq., who selected for his subject a sketch of this celebrated Lord Chancellor of England, who was beheaded in the Tower of London in 1535. The orator of the evening was listened to with great attention by his audience, while he gave many illustrations of the character of his subject, showing his unswerving integrity as a judge, his loyalty as a subject, his noble life and heroic death. The lecturer confined himself to a description of Sir Thomas as a lawyer, a citizen, a jurist and a subject of the king, without touching upon his literary fame, as the hour he so pleasantly spent would not permit a recital even of the varied accomplishments of this celebrated scholar, lawyer and wit. The lecture was admirably written and happily delivered, the audience evincing their appreciation by liberal applause.

The closing lecture will be given three weeks from Friday evening, by Rev. James DeNormandie, upon "Thomas Jefferson."

A ROUGH EXPERIENCE.

The crew of the schooner Berlin, of Kennebunk, had a hard time of it when they lost their vessel some two weeks ago. When the Berlin was about twelve miles from Chester river, Chesapeake bay, she was struck by floating ice, which injured her to such an extent that she shortly after sunk in twenty fathoms of water. The crew, seven in number, took to the boat and pulled eight miles through the ice, or until they were frozen in. The ice was too thick to allow any movement of the boat, and too thin to bear up the men, so they had to remain in the boat until the ice had frozen sufficiently thick to hold their weight. It was some twelve hours before they dared to venture on the ice. They then crawled over half a mile on their hand and knees, in single file, before the ice was thick enough to allow them to walk the remaining seven or eight miles to terra firma. Luckily a house was near at hand, where they found shelter and food, but their condition was such that at the end of four hours they concluded to start for Baltimore. The man of the house kindly carried them to the nearest depot, three miles distant, where they took the cars. After reaching the city they were taken to the hospital, from which several of the party will never depart alive, on account of being so severely frozen. The mate, who gives this account, froze both his ears and hands, besides being entirely prostrated from over-exertion. He remained in the hospital seven days and then started for home.

Wednesday: State vs. Frank Leonard, carrying tools into jail to aid a prisoner in escaping. State vs. William McIntosh, charged with keeping a saloon within the prohibited limits of the Hedding camp-meeting grounds.

SKETCHED FROM LIFE.

The subjects of the following sketch (which we clip from the Biddeford Times) will be instantly recognized by many of our friends just across the river:

One day while the 27th Maine was stationed in Virginia, a little boy of perhaps ten years, impish and ebony as possible, was brought into camp. An officer, who was also a physician of the first rank, took charge of the little waif, and when the regiment returned brought him with him to his delightful home not many rods from the Piscataqua. He went to the same school with the officer's little daughter, and took as kindly to the restrictions of the school-room as could be expected from one who had known no more restraint than the wood-thrush. When the officer joined another regiment, (32d Maine,) the little fellow, wishing much to do so, returned with him and remained until his good friend was wounded and obliged to return. By and by when old enough he learned the blacksmith trade at the navy yard near, but at his seniority, business being dull, or having no taste for this vocation, he sought other employment, understanding the while, that he would always find a welcome in the home of his childhood, or at least the first real home he had ever known. Now may be seen a gentlemanly, efficient porter on the night Pullman from Boston to Bangor—the once little boy of our sketch.

[Written for this paper.]

A MEMORY OF CHILDHOOD.

The writer has always had a most happy recollection of visiting a then pleasant old home at the south part of the city, at a period so early in his history as to make the event seem in later time quite as much like the impression of a dream as reality. It was the residence of three sisters, a fourth, in marriage, having her own elsewhere. Visitors for an afternoon and evening did not then wait until the afternoon was over before reaching the home of their friends, but were expected to make their appearance as early as three o'clock, so that some hours of chat could be had before the hour for tea arrived. When the much-enjoyed meal was over, of which old hyson, good and strong, dip-toast both white and brown, warm mince pie, and cake in abundance and variety, formed the ingredients, all adjourned to a spacious room in the rear of the dwelling, where a bright fire was burning upon a hearth wide enough for the wood to be used at full length as it came from the forest or the wharf, and in front was a high-back settle, with a bracket in the centre to support a light when desired, and of dimensions sufficient to admit half a score of sitters. Several good singers were of the party, and among the songs with which they enlivened the time were Moore's melodies, then in the hey-day of their popularity, but most of which are now as nearly forgotten as if they had never existed. Of the topics of chat was "The Children of the Abbey," though far from being a new book, that all had read if not their mothers before them. Each young lady wished herself an Amanda Fitzallen, and that she had as an admirer a Lord Mortimer; "Camilla," too, was discussed, in which the heroine of the same name, and Edgar Mandelbert, her lover, were exalted to the seventh heaven of admiration. A reminiscence of the former volume was related, where one of the handsomest of the young gentlemen had given to the most popular of young ladies of Portsmouth, in taking his departure for India, the familiar lines associated with it, commencing thus:

"Adieu, sweet girl, a last adieu,
We part to meet no more;
Adieu to peace, to hope, to you,
And to my native shore.

I go to India's sultry clime,
Ah, never to return,
Where, 'neath some low, embowering shade,
Shall be thine Edmund's urn."

There's sentiment, pure and simple, such as we don't get now-a-days; nor do we have the Amanda Fitzallens or the Edgar Mandelberts, over whose tribulations, from the shafts of Cupid, so many sympathetic tears were shed, and for whom fond mothers were wont to name their children. While others of the young gentlemen who received such ambitious names may have become all their ma'mas hoped for them, a "Howard Mortimer" is known to have reached the eminence of "Bones" in a New York minstrel corps, as well as a position of permanence in the Sing Sing prison for taking a money-letter from the post office that did not belong to him; and an "Edgar Mandelbert" arrived at the no less lofty post of Peter Funk, or by-bidder, in a Broadway mock-auction shop; as appeared by the police reports when the party were arrested. The young gentleman referred to above did "return" from "India's sultry clime," and gave his name to another C. than the young lady to whom he gave the lines; who in turn bestowed her hand most happily upon another swain. Older members of the social gathering served to keep the happy occasion in the memory of him who recalls it, or it might have taken its place, like them, with the past.

The sisters survived for many a year, and then but one remained in the cheerful home of the elder and widowed sister, —one of those of her sex who have the happy secret of growing old gracefully, spreading meanwhile sunshine to others in their pathway until they cease to be seen, but still are held in affectionate remembrance. The fourth and last of them all remained to see the seasons come and go of more than four score years, and though the friends of her youth had all departed, enjoying to the last the kind attentions of those of later years, loving and being loved as she was alike by the young, the old and the middle-aged. Now that she has gone, but two, the youngest of all at the time, survive of the little gathering of long ago, and her early home, where she first saw the light and lived for many a year, is a sad wreck, neglected as it has been and abandoned for much of the time in later days. The snug barn that once afforded shelter for the horse and vehicle of out-of-town friends has gone; the fences have fallen to the ground; and ruthless destroyers, to whom a seasoning at Brentwood or in the cells of the old bastile, with its stone walls and iron bars, in Islington street, might prove a public benefit, have broken the windows and inflicted other damage upon what was once, dilapidated though it is, a bright and cheerful dwelling, the scene of many a happy time. Through the broken windows in the rear, on either side, a view is presented of the room that forms mainly the scene of this sketch; the wide fireplace, upon the hearthstone of which burnt the bright wood-fire, and before which stood the settle with its gay circle of visitors, and where many a cheerful hour was spent on winter nights, still remains, though hid by a fireboard from sight. Wretched and dilapidated as it is, it seems as if the very rats would desert so cheerless a shelter, and that if not disposed of soon, little will remain are long for such a purpose but the foundation, and the ground on which it stands. The benevolent ladies who removed to a comfortable home its latest occupant, can seldom have performed, among many others to which they are accustomed, a kinder act; as it seems scarcely possible she could otherwise have survived such a winter as we are having, with its almost daily storms of snow. Like things have been done before by Portsmouth ladies; once in providing homes in town for two aged women, whose little place of shelter on a south-end cross-road, though remembered as once bright and cheerful on summer days, would soon have fallen about their heads from age and decay. Such quiet deeds of charity, though the world may hear little of them, confer moral worth upon any community, as well as giving pleasure to those who perform them.

PATERSON, N. J., April 17, 1877.

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

JOHN E. REGNER,
Chief of Fire Department.

H. Baldwin, of Monroe City, Indiana, writes under date of Dec. 3d, 1877, that his wife used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with wonderful results. It effected her entire cure, after several physicians had failed. The many similar letters positively affirming that the Favorite Prescription had cured the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, induced Dr. Pierce to sell it under a guarantee. Ladies need no longer submit to useless and painful local treatment, as the Favorite Prescription is a safe, sure, and speedy cure. Hundreds who had been bed-ridden for years have been restored to perfect health by its use.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week. Its phenomenal success has induced the public to a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to do so, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to Cincinnati for a dozen more for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writes: "I received from Providence, R. I., eight "Fat bottles" have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 148 pounds, and there has been a great improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOUGITTE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. FOWLE & FERRETT, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'If the Anti-Fat had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.' Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, cures dyspepsia, and is also a specific remedy for rheumatism." Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity mailed on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROPRS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for all these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases peculiar to the organism of woman, thought it not as the clinic or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the purposes for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Nervous Irritability, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Inability to Bear Healthy Children, Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exhibit this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single one of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats intimately of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of their affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough Blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, or Eruption, including Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a complete renovation established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced, but as a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it clears perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians prophesize it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, and other diseases caused by Bad Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Dullness of the Head, Stomach, Flesh of Blood to Blood, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Are often not larger than pepper corns. Price of the Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of treatment yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and FAR BACK, to reach all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprr. Feline Interruptions at Theatres.

In the Academy of Music one evening last week, during the performance of "Robert le Diable," just as Mdlle. Lido began singing the aria, "Robert, toi que j'aime," the attention of the audience was attracted by the appearance of a cat on the stage. Pussy looked at the prima donna, calmly surveyed the house and then, walking down to the footlights, after blinking at Signor Arditi, began the tour of the orchestra hall. An usher, who had been watching pussy's progress, stood at the foot of the left aisle, and amid the titter of the house, waited to receive her. As she reached the end of her journey, he caught her in his arms and triumphantly carried her out of the house.

The wonder is that cats do not intrude upon the stage more frequently than they do, as there is no theatre without them. In most theatres several are kept as a protection against the ravages of rats that infest the buildings. The best behaved theatre cat in New York is Reddy, at Wallack's. As soon as the curtain falls he makes his tour of the stage, but when the bell rings for it to rise, he needs no reminder of the fact that his presence is not needed. He understands his business thoroughly, and has never given the management the least cause for uneasiness.

This is a very valuable trait in a cat; for if pussy once manages to catch the attention of the audience, it is almost impossible to save the performance from ridicule.

When Barry Sullivan was playing "Hamlet" at Liverpool a few years ago, a cat came upon the stage in the middle of the scene wherein the ghost first appears, and insisted upon rubbing herself against the ghost's legs. The house of course, was convulsed, and the entire act was ruined.

Clara Morris at one time was playing "Camille" in a Cincinnati theatre. In the last act "Camille" rises from her lounge and staggers to the mirror. She regards her sunken cheeks and wasted form, and says: "Ah, how changed I am. The doctor has promised to cure me. I will have patience." While speaking these lines the actress was horrified to see in the mirror the reflection of a cat purring but a few feet behind her. She realized that something must be done before the audience should take in the situation, or the entire effect of the scene would be lost. She turned quietly around, so as not to frighten the cat, and took her in her arms. She stroked her gently, and, with tears in her eyes, exclaimed: "Poor pussy! how soft and warm is your beautiful fur! It is many weeks, is it not since, I held you like this in my arms? Some one else may soon take my place. And pussy, you will not have your mistress long." With these words she walked toward the wing and set the cat free. The audience supposed that she was only speaking the lines of the play, and the scene passed off without any accident.

Macready was playing Macbeth in Dublin, Christmas, and the tragedy was to be followed by the inevitable pantomime. Among the properties for the latter was a live pig, which got loose while Macready was making his great speech in the banquet scene, and ran across the stage squealing with all its might and main. The whole house was convulsed, and Macready was obliged to join in the general merriment. The curtain was rung down, and there was no more peace for Macbeth that night.

In E. L. Davenport's first engagement in this country there was a most unexpected introduction of the cat element into the Shakespearean drama. He was playing Hamlet to a crowded house at the Walnut street theatre, Philadelphia, and in his soliloquy, as he was deliberating whether or not he would bear "the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune," a fellow in the gallery literally slung a cat at him. It bounded upon the stage, slightly grazing the actor in its descent, and escaped unhurt, with the traditional luck of cats.—N. Y. Sun.

Good Democratic Testimony.

The Potter committee, at Washington, on Friday had the committee's former deputy sergeant-at-arms, Mr. St. Martin of Louisina, on the stand as a witness. He told how the Louisiana sub-committee crammed the witnesses before-hand, and specified the amounts paid them for swearing as required. St. Martin and Weber found out how much witnesses could be bought for, and then Mr. Maddox, one of the investigators, was told, and the money was forthcoming. He was told by Maddox that it was Tilden's money. He referred the Potter committee to Gov. Nichols, to the attorney-general of Louisiana and to the sheriff of New Orleans, as to his social standing in Louisiana. In further examination he stated that Weber told him that there was no such thing in existence as the Sherman letter; also that Weber stated that he would swear to the destruction of the Sherman letter if he could make more on that side, and tried to persuade St. Martin to swear to witnessing the destruction of the Sherman letter. The thousand dollars paid Weber, the latter told St. Martin, was from Carter and Maddox. Witness said that every witness who testified before the Potter subcommittee in Louisiana was previously posted by Weber and himself and watched by them all through.

Shocking Tragedy.

At Montville, Me., Saturday evening, John McFarland, a respectable farmer, his wife and granddaughter, were murdered by one Rowell, an insane man. Mrs. McFarland was shot with a gun and the others were killed by having their brains beaten out. The murderer was afterwards shot and killed by a neighbor whom he attacked.

Farce and Tragedy.

When the democrats in the House were endeavoring to establish the Potter-Tilden-fraud committee, Alexander H. Stephens warned them that their scheme would result either in a terrible tragedy or a ridiculous farce. Had he told them it would turn out both he would have just hit the mark, for up to this time the "investigation" of the potterers has been the most ludicrous farce on record, the efforts of the frauds one day being directed solely to proving their pet witness of the previous day a stupendous liar—in which efforts they have always succeeded. Red-headed Anderson, Weber, Mrs. Jenks, and now St. Martin! A beautiful set, indeed. The democrats now say the latter is even a worse liar than the night editor with the auburn locks; but no one will credit this assertion, as nobody could lie more powerfully than Anderson. St. Martin is, however, according to his own showing, a liar of the first class, utterly unworthy of credence, and beneath contempt; but at the time he was a trusted official agent of the Potter committee, and swearing away—or trying to—the reputation of republicans of the highest worth, he was a "southern gentleman of the highest respectability, and entirely reliable." The ridiculous farce part of the fraud committee's performance is about played out; the tragedy (for the coparceners,) is about to commence, in the examination of the cipher despatch business—that is, unless the democratic members of the committee suceed in turning this examination also into a farce, as they will undoubtedly try to do.

No Rest for the Weary.

The State of Maryland has just built a work-house for tramps near Baltimore, at a cost of $324,000, upon a plot of ground 260 feet long and 300 feet wide, surrounded by a high wall. The interior is made up of workshops and cells. The statute for commitment reads: "It shall be the duty of every justice of the peace of the State to cause to be arrested and, on due proof, to commit any vagrant or habitually disorderly person, not insane, to this institution for a period of not less than two nor more than six months." It is expected that this will very soon rid the State of Maryland of the tramp nuisance.

News and Notes.

Edward Donovan, of South Boston, who killed his brother-in-law with a knife some time ago, has arrived at the Concord, Mass., State prison, where he is sentenced to spend ten years.

Benjamin West, a colored man, formerly a slave of Ex-Gov. Bowie of Maryland, died in Baltimore on Jan. 25th. He was supposed to be 109 years old.

"Sport" Campana, the Bridgeport, Conn., pedestrian, just married, has been fined $100 for choking his bride. "Sport" charges her with stealing money from a bureau drawer—$100 or more.

The Locust Gap coal mines, between Mount Carmel and Shamokin, Pa., were on Friday night discovered to be on fire at a depth of 300 feet, and on Saturday the fire was gaining, rendering it probable that only flooding the mine would save it. The 250 men and boys employed in the mine all came out during Friday night. If the mine is filled with water, it will require six months to pump it out, and seven months before work can be resumed.

B. B. Cooley, a milk peddler, of Whitinsville, Mass., has eloped with a Miss Cortis, his wife's niece, who was living in his family. Cooley is thirty-five years old and his companion nineteen.

Clarence Monell, alias Harry Palmer, a young man of dramatic aspirations, absconded from New Bedford last week with the receipts of the Theatre Comique, three gold watches and a gold chain, a nice overcoat, and Miss Nellie M. Harding, none of the goods taken belonging to him.

Gus Phillips, known in theatrical circles as "Oofty Goofi," was probably fatally shot at his home in New York, Friday, by his mistress, "Minnie Hooper," who was formerly the wife of Henry Potter of Boston, and after Potter obtained a divorce from her was married by Wm. E. Hooper, who left her on account of her bad habits. About a year ago she created quite a sensation in Brooklyn by stealing jewelry, etc., from a Mrs. Delaney, with whom she was stopping, for which she was sentenced to imprisonment, but escaped through some legal quibble; and immediately after this she went to live with Phillips, whom she has now shot. She is a highly educated, accomplished woman, very beautiful, and formerly of high social position; but she is a drunkard. After she shot her paramour he beat and kicked her so that she is likely to die. Both were drunk at the time of the fight.

There was a fatal shooting affray Friday in Wayne county, Miss. There was a misunderstanding between three negro men, Riley, Thomas and Dennis Alexander, and three white men, Presley, Thomas and Walter Gamblin, brothers, about the possession of land. A personal collision was imminent, and both parties, prepared with weapons, met Saturday noon near Red Bluff, on the Mobile & Ohio railroad. The Gamblin brothers were ambuscaded by the negroes and fired upon, wounding Presley Gamblin and fatally injuring John Gamblin, who died. The Gamblins returned the fire, killing Riley and Tom Alexander on the spot. Dennis escaped.

Fishermen will be interested to know that a lighthouse has been erected on the highest point of Isle au Haut, Bay of Fundy. The light is an intermittent white one, showing forty seconds in each minute; it is elevated 365 feet above high water level, and in clear weather should be seen twenty miles. The lighthouse, which is almost hidden by trees, is a wooden one, painted white, and consists of a square tower, fifty-three feet high from base of building to vane on lantern, with a keeper's dwelling attached.

Nine of the nineteen leaders of the noted Clarke county, Ohio, Ku-Klux, against whom indictments were found by the last grand jury, were arrested on Saturday on the charge of murder and kidnapping. The other ten have fled to parts unknown. Three of the parties, who were arrested a month ago, have been sentenced to the penitentiary, and the remaining five will probably plead guilty of kidnapping.

The Missouri State Lunatic Asylum, near St. Joseph, was destroyed by fire Saturday morning. The patients, about 250 in number, were safely removed. The building cost $190,000 and was not insured.

Lillie Reed and Annie Maxwell, two very pretty girls about seventeen years old, were arrested in New York last week for stealing money and clothing in Southbridge, Mass., where they belong. They arrived in Boston on Saturday, in custody of an officer.

New Hampshire Items.

Angie L. Eastman and sixty-five other ladies of Oxford, N. H., as the Congressional Record has it, want polygamy suppressed. Mr. Blair has presented their petitions. The fair petitioners probably live in Orford, as there is no Oxford in this State.

Of 7587 persons in business in New Hampshire in 1878, 111 failed, with liabilities amounting to $854,739.

Jerry B. Martin of Haverhill claims to have invented a motor of incredible power. He says he has successfully applied it to gang ploughs and road wagons, which move with wonderful rapidity under its influence. It can be applied to any kind of machinery, and the cost of running it is insignificant.

Mrs. Pearson, wife of Hon. John H. Pearson of Concord, died instantly Saturday afternoon. She was preparing to ride out, and, while sitting in a chair arranging her wraps, she without warning passed away. Mrs. Pearson had been in delicate health for several years.

Late Rulings of the Post Office Department.

To alter a figure in a price list will subject such a list to letter postage.

Currency cannot be sent in sealed transparent envelopes, unless at letter rates.

Wrappers of packages containing old manuscript matter will subject the package to letter rates of postage.

Only first-class matter may be sent in the mails to its destination when deposited in a post office with only one full letter rate prepaid thereon.

Prepaid letters must be forwarded from one office to another at the request of the person addressed without additional charge of postage.

The forwarding of letters without the additional payment of postage is confined strictly to letters which have not left the custody of the postal officials.

A mail carrier has no right to carry an unsealed communication outside the mail. All written communications so carried must be in sealed government stamped envelopes.

A letter or a postal card, which has been transmitted in the mail in accordance with the address, may at the request of the party addressed, be forwarded to another post office, without the payment of additional postage, provided the same has not left the custody of the postal officials.

Samples, having tags affixed with the price stamped thereon with a hand stamp, can only be sent in the mails at letter rates of postage.

The words "please forward" on the address side of a postal card, or any other writing except the address, renders it unmailable except at letter rates of postage.

Anything whatever pasted, gummed or attached to a postal card, renders it unmailable; it only can be transmitted at letter rates.

The following named articles are unmailable, viz: Cement, confectionery in any form, eye-glasses or spectacles, glass, jewelry having pins attached, salve, sewing machine needles, soap, steel pens, stove polish, sugar, tin dishes, tooth powder.

Postmasters are exempt from militia duty.

Married women are eligible to the office of postmaster.

A duly commissioned postmaster is authorized to administer the required oath to mail carriers.

Postmasters are strictly forbidden to sell postage stamps less than their face value.

Private individuals cannot send any communication in the mails free of postage, no matter to whom it may be addressed.

Political.

The Washington Post, the national democratic organ, says: "Gen. Bragg, of Wisconsin, cracks his whip too often and too loud. If the democratic party has to choose between the one hundred and thirty-eight votes of the Solid South and the three occasionally obtained from Wisconsin, Wisconsin will have to go." The Post rebukes Gen. Bragg in this manner because of his speech in the House against the payment of the southern war claims; but Gen. Bragg was one of the patriotic democrats who fought against the confederacy in the field, and couldn't help it.

Philadelphia, according to a popular democratic phrase, is a "very sink of republican corruption"—has been called that at every election for twenty years, by nearly every democratic paper in the country. And yet, in spite of this, the credit of the city is much better now than it was when the democrats ruled it. In 1855—good old democratic days—Philadelphia's city bonds were worth eighty-three cents on the dollar. In 1873—panic year—they sold for 100 cents on the dollar; and now, with resumption assured, they are worth 116 cents on the dollar, and in demand at that. These are the prices for six per cent. bonds. How very, very sad are these results of radical rule.

THE CITY.

Lieut. Wm. I. Moore is ordered to report at New York, Feb. 5th, for duty on board the U. S. S. Marion, now at that port.

The flagstaff on "Rundlett's Mountain" was overthrown by the gale of Saturday night, being broken off some four or five feet above the ground.

The choir of St. John's church in this city will sing at the festival of the Christian church of Rye in the town hall of the latter place, on Wednesday evening, if the weather is favorable.

Miss Parlea, the celebrated instructor in cooking, is engaged in giving before the young women of Lasall seminary at Auburndale, Mass., a course of "object lessons in cookery," somewhat similiar to those given by her at Miss Morgan's school in this city last year. The young women at Lasall seminary also have opportunity to learn dressmaking and millinery,—these branches, as well as the study of cookery, being optional.

THE VICINITY.

Willis T. Emmons of Saco was on Saturday admitted to practice at the York county bar.

Mr. Horace McIntire, of York, whose fox hunting exploits in previous winters have furnished us numerous items, isn't doing any fox hunting this winter. He got married not many weeks ago.

The national House of Representatives has passed a resolution directing its committee of ways and means to report a bill abolishing or suspending all ports of entry that are not self-sustaining, which include York and Saco.

Hampton had another town meeting on Saturday, at which it was voted to prohibit the sale of ale, lager beer and cider in that town. It was also unanimously voted to continue the lawsuits against squatters on the beach.

A young couple at Kittery Point who got married several months ago, have lived on opposite sides of the road with their respective parents ever since the ceremony was performed, and have not spoken to each other since that time.

It is reported that the Cape Neddick house has been sold to a relative of the "Ma'am Freeman" who kept it for so many years and made it such a popular place of resort, and that the old house is to be removed and a large hotel in modern style erected on its site.

The Great bay smelters not meeting with very good success in day fishing, are trying the novel method of fishing at night, using lanterns and torches. The light attracts the fish, and several good catches have been made. On Friday night of last week there were some twenty fisherman experimenting in this mode of catching smelts.

George Jacob Abbott, the native of Hampton Falls whose death at Goderich, Canada, where he was commercial agent for the United States, has already been noticed in these columns, was private secretary to Daniel Webster at the time of the decease of the great statesman at Marshfield, Mass., Oct. 23d, 1852. Mr. Abbott wrote the brief but well expressed dispatch announcing Webster's death, which was carried from Marshfield to Boston by horse express and published in the Sunday Morning Gazette, upon the reception of which news minute guns were fired upon Boston Common.

A correspondent sends us the following: "Fox skins are in great demand for overcoats and linings for ladies' circulars, and Capt. Ellery Garland, of Boston, is stopping at Newington for the purpose of shooting them. He has with him several English fox-hounds and several valuable guns; one from the well-known maker, Hammond of Winchester, is valued at $350, and its superior we have never seen. He has already shot five foxes, and recently killed fifteen partridges, seventeen rabbits and eight gray squirrels, in one day. We understand that he is to shoot a match with Mr. Charles Card of Eliot, fifteen birds each, for $50 a side." Unless our correspondent has himself been doing some big shooting with the long bow, Capt. Garland must be a capital sportsman; we didn't suppose there were half so many partridges and rabbits in Newington altogether as our correspondent says were killed in one day.

PROF. GOLDBERG,

The illusionist, will appear at Music hall to-morrow evening, when we are promised that an entertainment will be given compared to which that of last Wednesday evening, which was so well received by the audience, was but a mere priming. The Boston Gazette says of one of his performances: "We can unreservedly state that we have never witnessed any such clever and baffling sleight-of-hand performances from even the best masters of the art who have ever visited us. The tricks of this artist are entirely original, and are done with most extraordinary skill and neatness." The Boston Post a few days later said: "The programme was a varied one, and produced the Davenport mystery, candle illusion, a series of astonishing card tricks, and the wonderful second sight." The programme to-morrow evening will include a number of the Professor's choicest and most pleasing feats, ending with "apple-snatching," which has occasioned uproarious merriment wherever performed. Tickets at Preston's. See adv't.

SUPREME COURT.

Second Week; Foster, J.

The Court came in at half-past two o'clock P. M., Monday, when case State vs. George Roberts, charged with burning a building called a shoe factory and store situate on Salem turnpike, February 16th, 1878, between one and two o'clock in the morning, was commenced.

The case was opened on behalf of the State by Mr. Page, and one witness, the divorced wife of the respondent, Mary E. Roberts, was examined.

The trial is to be resumed this morning, and will probably consume the day.

A VERY PRETTY QUARREL.

Mr. R. M. Stevens, the sheriff of York county, Me., apparently does not find official life altogether a rose-water affair. Soon after he assumed office it was said the liquor dealers would not be disturbed, as the sheriff had ordered his deputies not to seize ale and lager, and not to put themselves out much to detect dealers in stronger beverages. Then the temperance people of Saco and Biddeford had a sort of an indignation meeting, and roundly denounced the sheriff. Then the sheriff's friends "went for" the temperance people several times, intimating that only the radical prohibitionists who blindly follow the lead of Neal Dow are opposed to his course, and that "the real consistent temperance people have confidence in Sheriff Stevens, and believe he is doing right."

The sheriff himself then demanded to be counted in as a party to the fight, and wrote a letter to a Biddeford paper in which he bade the "true friends of temperance" to "take courage," denied that he ordered any of his deputies not to seize lager or ale, and said that if any deputy reported that he did give such order he would be at once removed, for two reasons, viz.: "Because it is a falsehood," and "because it must be detrimental to the cause of temperance."

Then comes "S. C. H.," and in the Biddeford Times says that since the sheriff wrote his letter one of the deputies assured him (the Times correspondent) that Stevens did give the order as stated—which gives cause for a suspicion that there is a discrepancy somewhere. The correspondent also calls the sheriff's attention to a statement that "there are twenty-five licensed rum-shops in Biddeford to-day, all of which have got their licenses and commenced to sell since he was made sheriff."

The quarrel is a very pretty quarrel as it stands; whether the parties will "only spoil it by trying to explain it" remains to be seen. One thing is certain, however, and that is that the seizures of liquor and beer in Biddeford and Saco, which were reported almost daily while Grant and Durgin were deputy sheriffs, have entirely ceased since they went out of office, whether the new sheriff is enforcing the liquor law or not.

A BAD JOB.

Mr. James M. Haynes, ex-collector of taxes in Dover, is said to be indebted to the city in a large amount, estimated at $6000 by Mr. Haynes himself, who says that neither the city nor his bondsmen shall lose a cent by him, as he can and will square up to the last penny, after the accounts are thoroughly overhauled. It seems that the tax-collector of Dover is not required to settle his accounts at the end of each year, and Mr. Haynes, who was several times re-elected, never settled at all. The Democrat says:

He collected the money diligently and successfully and turned it promptly into the treasury, as he thought, or says he thought, and as nobody had reason to doubt. It was understood that he collected and turned over to the city as much in proportion to the whole as any collector ever did. Everybody had the utmost confidence in his honesty and integrity, and not a doubt in this respect was ever raised by any body so far as we know or ever heard. Still the unsettled accounts were allowed to run on from year to year, meanwhile Mr. Haynes doing what he could to bring the delinquents on his several lists, to time, and realize what he could from that sort of assets. So things went until a few days since, when the present mayor in looking into the city books and examining the accounts, discovered the unsettled condition of Mr. Haynes' tax-lists, and caused notice to be given him that settlement must be made. It was then that Mr. Haynes, as he says, first discovered that he was in arrears. He admits that such is the fact from his own examination of his tax-lists. The amount, he says, is about $6000 which he cannot account for. He says he has kept no cash accounts whatever, either in his own private business or his public business with the city. He knows he has spent no money foolishly or dishonestly, but has endeavored to be square in all his transactions, and honestly intended to account for every dollar, and thought he had accounted for it, until an examination showed this deficit. Yesterday he seemed to have settled in his own mind that he was about $6,000 short, but some of his personal friends advised that all his affairs be critically examined by some competent and cool-headed accountant, not only the tax books, in his own hands, but all the records in the city clerk's office in any way connected with his business as tax-collector for a series of years, with the view to ascertain the exact truth. It is possible that the apparent deficit may be an error in some computations, or in making out his tax lists before they came into his hands, or that he has himself made blunders in his footings of columns. All of us, who have long and favorably known Mr. Haynes, certainly hope so, while at the same time we cannot approve the evident loose way of doing business which he admits to have been his practice, without intending the least dishonesty in the world. Consequently, in pursuance of this advice a competent gentleman is now engaged in a thorough audit of all matters since Mr. Haynes' first election as collector. It may require a few days to do it. Meanwhile the public had better suspend judgment, or at any rate not too hastily condemn a man, than whom no one ever stood better in this community.

—"This is a hard year," as the fellow said who felt up and found his ear frozen stiff.

—A man at Vandalia, Ill,. has taken out a writ to replevin his arm, which is in the possession of the doctor who amputated it. He desires to introduce it in evidence in an action to recover damages for alleged malpractice. It's pretty tough to cut off a man's arm, and then keep it to conceal malpractice.

—Louis Phillippe was paying a visit to a rural burg where his affable manners so enchanted the mayor that that worthy magistrate exclaimed in rapture: "Ah, Sire! after all, one thing is lacking; why, O why, didn't you fetch your wife along?" "Well, you see," blandly replied the citizen-king, "some one had to stay at home and look after the house."

A Dangerous Torpor.

Torpor or inactivity of the kidneys is seriously dangerous to those organs, since it is the precedent of diseases which destroy their substance and endanger life. This sluggishness may be overcome by stimulating them, not excessively, but moderately, an effect produced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a general invigorant and alterative, possessing diuretic properties of no common order. The impetus which this admirable medicine gives to their evacuative function counteracts any tendency to congestion which may exist in their tissues. Both they and their associate organ, the bladder, are invigorated as well as gently stimulated by Bitters, which exerts a kindred influence upon the stomach, liver and bowels, and by strengthening the system, enables it to withstand malarial epidemics, to which when exposed it might otherwise succumb.

PATERSON, N. J., April 17, 1877.

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

JOHN E. REGNER,
Chief of Fire Department.

WILLIAM H. HACKETT.

The Rich California Banker.

When it became known that one of the richest California bankers had left the Pacific Coast and transferred his base of operations to the New York Stock Exchange, all the shrewd financiers watched his course with keen interest to see how he would succeed. The result has emphatically proved the wealthy banker's sagacity. Besides having a much wider and more promising field to operate in, he is known to have been in several stock combinations that paid immense profits. By the combination method of operating in stocks Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., unite orders of thousands of customers, in different sums, into one vast capital, and operate them as a mighty whole, dividing profits pro rata among shareholders every 30 days. Capital in any amount from $10 to $100,000 can be used with great success in these pools. $25 would pay $100 profit. $500 would make $5,000 or 10 per cent. on the stock during the past month. Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular (mailed free) gives "two unerring rules for success," and full particulars, so that any one can operate in stocks, and make money. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York.

H. Baldwin, of Monroe City, Indiana, writes under date of Dec. 3d, 1877, that his wife used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with wonderful results. It effected her entire cure, after several physicians had failed. The many similar letters positively affirming that the Favorite Prescription had cured the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, induced Dr. Pierce to sell it under a guarantee. Ladies need no longer submit to useless and painful local treatment, as the Favorite Prescription is a safe, sure, and speedy cure. Hundreds who had been bed-ridden for years have been restored to perfect health by its use.

THE

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. Its track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are in the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improve ment and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed, a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Your bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 160 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change of diet or exercise, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four pounds and not a pound has been lost since." Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOLLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. HOWARD & FITZHUGH, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "To THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat: 'I (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unrivalled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for those diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases peculiar to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Indigestion, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of these diseases peculiar to females, and is a most valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ringworm, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternate, loss of appetite, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Scrofula, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. ANNA CAROLLA.

A group of girls stood at the stage door of the Grand opera-house, in Vienna, talking or exchanging words with the employes who passed in, keeping the while a sharp lookout for the manager. One of these chorus singers, a young and beautiful Italian girl, standing just within the extreme entrance, with her mantle wrapped close about her throat, suddenly remarked:

"We must sing our best to-night, for the emperor is coming."

"Is he? how do you know? who told you so, Anna Carolla?"

"One of the band," answered Anna Carolla, quietly. "Carl Rosenfeldt. There he comes with his violin."

With some others of the opera band there approached a tall, handsome young Hungarian, who paused to answer the girls' eager inquiry, "Had he said the emperor was coming?"

"Yes; the imperial guards have just passed by to take up their place at the grand entrance. The house will be crowded."

Then passing inside, he stopped to whisper a word Anna Carolla, with a smile in his deep blue eyes. "Anna, I lead the violins to-night—Stendgal is ill."

She put her hand in his, with the sweet, perfect trust of one who knows she is loved.

"I am sorry for him; but for you, Carl, my heart must be glad."

"Here they come, together!" cried the girl outside. "The manager and chef d' orchestre. Away."

The new leader of the band hurried away as the chorus trooped in, and Anna Carolla followed them into their dressing room. There she soon donned her stage dress, and slipped away to watch the house filling, and, above all, to hear every note of the exquisite overture to "Oberon."

How fast every place was filling from floor to gallery. The auditorium was one blaze of splendor; and as she gazed, the poor, friendless chorus-singer—whose dramatic talent and splendid voice ought, if she had only the fortune to get the first lift, to place her high in the lyric stage—wondered sadly if such chance would ever come to her; if not, Carl's father would never consent to their marriage. And now the whole house rose as the emperor entered his box, splendidly dressed, glittering with jewels of rarest value, which flashed a thousand rays as he bowed right and left with his usual courteous grace. Then the band struck up the overture, and with the last bar the curtain drew up.

Flitting here and there during the performance, with eyes and ears for everything, the manager noticed the imperial visitor indicating to a gentleman beside him some one in the chorus. It was Anna Carolla, whose beauty had attracted his eye, whose rich voice his ear had caught above and through all the others.

The first act went splendidly, and the second act soon commenced; but the fate had decreed that it should never be played out that night. Half way through, as the manager, pleased and complacent, was quietly standing in one of the wings, he suddenly felt his arm grasped, and turned sharply to see Anna Carolla's lovely face, so full of determination and character, at his side.

"Hush!" she said, very low and quietly; "make no exclamations, but go and see before it gains or is discovered. The theatre is on fire somewhere back of the green-room. The company can leave by the stage door. Go!"

"But, child, if there is the least hint of alarm, look at that house! They will be crushed to death in their terror and crowding to get out."

"Listen," said the Italian, in the same calm, self-contained manner. "Send the call-boy to tell the door-keeper to order each one as they pass out to depart quickly. I will clear the house quietly."

"You will do that?"

"Yes. Here is the boy; send him and clear out the company; I will do my part."

The manager blindly obeyed the strong will and steady purpose of the master mind; as people in emergency generally do, whatever their relative positions in the world.

Anna Carolla passed on to the stage, and, advancing at once to the footlights, stood for one moment, her tall commanding form and beautiful head drawn erect, unflinchingly facing that crowd, meeting full even the astonished gaze of the emperor himself, and the wondering look of her lover in the orchestra below her.

Then she said, in a voice not loud, but clear as a bell, with cool, steady authority, in every measured accent:

"I am here by the manager's orders. His imperial majesty has been robbed of a rare diamond, and the thief is in the house. Every one," and the speaker's dark eyes swept the audience from gallery to pit, "is at once to withdraw quietly, and any one attempting to remain will be arrested. The band will also retire at once." Even as she spoke, her ear, painfully strung for the sound, could hear the warm hum of the flames from the back; but unmoved she stepped back, swept a deep obeisance to the audience and the emperor, and the curtain fell.

The emperor instantly left his box, whispering to the gentleman to whom he had before pointed out Anna Carolla, "There is something behind all this. I am not robbed. Send Col. Bergmann round to summon the manager to our carriage door."

Meanwhile the vast crowd filtered rapidly, in quiet order and in safety out, only learning at the door, as they were hurried away, the awful death by fire or crushing from which the brave and quick-witted girl saved them. The last few to leave the auditorium smelt the fire and heard the crackling of flames, and hurried out, spreading the alarm. But the terrified "fire" came too late to do mischief, and once outside, the police and soldiery, under the cool directions of the emperor himself, kept order. And though the flames mounted at first, Anna's timely discovery, and the energetic measures taken, forced the fire under. In less than an hour and a half it was completely drenched out, and the mutilated opera house left in charge of the police.

Then, and not till then, did the emperor dismount from the horse he had used and return to the carriage. As he did so, he paused suddenly.

"Bergmann, see! There goes that Italian girl herself, leaning on the arm of the young fellow who led the band so splendidly to-night. Go see who and what they are." Colonel Bergmann departed to obey the order, and the emperor drove off.

The next day the whole story was in the government organ, with an intimation, "inspired" of course from that source, that his imperial majesty had graciously caused inquiries to be made about the young chorus-singer.

A few days later, old Herr Rosenfeldt received an official intimation that his gifted son Carl, and his fiancee, Anna Carolla, were both under imperial protection, and their marriage was desired to take place as immediately as possible, the emperor dowering the bride. The manager also received an intimation through Colonel Bergmann, that his late chorus-singer was to be brought forward and advertised for the reopening of the opera as Madam Carolla-Rosenfeldt.

Once more the elite of gay Vienna crowded the opera house to witness the debut of the new singer, as Agatha, in "Der Freischutz." The moment she came on she was received with a furor which might well make Carl Rosenfeldt proud of his beautiful young wife; and if for royalty was her grateful glance and sweeping salute, for him was the smile in the soft dark eyes that met his for one second.

When the curtain fell, the new star was called for and showered with bouquets from many a distinguished hand; but from the imperial box was flung one in which nestled a costly bracelet, in the centre of which blazed a diamond of rare value and beauty.

"That fire has made our fortune, Carl," his young wife said, smiling, as they drove home.

"Nay, Anna, your own courage and quickness," answered Carl Rosenfeldt. "That was a diamond rarer than the imperial gift."

And he was right.—London Argosy.

Portsmouth Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1879.

Benj. H. Hill, Patriot.

Senator Hill of Georgia made a notable speech in the Senate on Monday, on war claims, and took high ground against all of them. He called attention to the fact that most of the pretended loyal claimants are not the real sufferers of the south; he urged the democratic party to oppose war claims of all sorts, and claimed that he has the support of nearly the whole south in taking this ground.

This is all very nice, and very patriotic; but so long as the confederate brigadiers in the House continue to vote en masse in favor of everything in the shape of southern war claims, and get into such a fearful rage when a northern democrat like Gen. Bragg of Wisconsin denounces such claims, the people of the north will not place implicit faith in Hill's assertion that nearly the whole south is opposed to the payment of the southern claims!

The secret of Ben. Hill's new-born patriotism undoubtedly is that he and some others of the southern leaders are beginning to realize the great damage which the Solid South has done to the democratic prospects for 1880, by its premature "bounce" and open laying of plans for a southern democratic raid on the national treasury.

Senator Hill would probably be more successful in convincing an incredulous north, if he were to announce that almost the entire south was opposed to the theory that a State is superior to the Union, as only three States, viz.: Virginia, South Carolina and Alabama, have recently declared to the contrary through their legislatures or courts.

Persecution of Democratic "Reformers."

At Belvidere, N. J., on Saturday, Chief Justice Beasley of the State court imposed the following sentences on the previously convicted democratic county officials: Ex-Clerk Mattison, four years in State prison; Ex-Director Strader, two years; Ex-County Collector Cummins, two years; Ex-County Collector Teel, two years; Ex-Freeholder Bulgin, eighteen months; Freeholder Cox, eighteen months; Freeholder King, one year; Ex-Attorney Givens, eighteen months; Councilman McDermott, one year. All at hard labor. Contractor Sliker, six months in county jail and five hundred dollars fine.

In the United States Circuit Court at Baltimore the jury on Monday gave a verdict of guilty against J. J. Gude and Walter Tucker, judges of the late Congressional election in the fourteenth ward of Baltimore. They were found guilty of hindering the United States supervisor in the discharge of his duties by refusing to admit a special deputy United States marshal to the polling room, and with stuffing the ballot-box. They were remanded for sentence.

The United States Constitution Attacked.

In the Admiralty division of the High Court of Justice at London, on Monday, an action was brought by the owners of the steam tug Admiral against the United States ship Constitution, to recover £1500 sterling for salvage. Two hundred pounds had been tendered to the owners of the tug, but rejected. The plaintiffs asked leave to serve a notice of the motion upon the captain of the Constitution and the United States consul at Portsmouth. The application was granted; but the judge stated that he could not allow any order to issue upon the captain. He would be prepared to hear the argument on the question Wednesday next; meantime he would communicate with the government.

News and Notes.

Marshall S. Pritchard, town collector of Cherry Valley, was mysteriously murdered at Rockford, Ill., Sunday. His body was found in the outskirts with pockets rifled, a ball in the head from a revolver which lay beside him, and a deep gash in the temple. Several parties are under suspicion.

W. J. Frank, of St. Louis, a clerk in his father's store, stole $10,000 from his sire, spent it in riotous living and was ejected from the paternal mansion. He subsequently secured access thereto through a fond mother's connivance, and while his father, who was brought home with a broken leg, was being repaired, the young scamp took $2,000 from the old gentleman's coat and decamped. That was the last straw, and the father told the police.

Another illustration of the folly of accumulation. E. B. Ward, of Detroit, left $10,000,000 behind him when he died. His will was contested, and with so much success that the estate is now declared insolvent. His family is poor, while half the lawyers in Michigan are revelling in affluence.

Benjamin Crumpelman and Jack Crowley, aged respectively thirteen and fourteen years, were drowned at Covington, Ky., Sunday, by the upsetting of a skiff.

William Reot of Springfield, Mass., a ball player, was arrested for drunkenness Monday night and hanged himself with his shirt in a cell in the police station. He was a member of the Springfield base ball club early last season, and later of the Hudsons.

A man, found badly frozen at Lowell, Mass., on Sunday morning, died Monday. He proves to be Michael Morris of Chelmsford, and has a wife at Lawrence. With several companions he had been to Lowell on Saturday night on a spree, and was too intoxicated to care for himself, and so lay in a shed all night.

Caleb Cushing's will was probated on Monday. It is dated Madrid, March 2d, 1876, and gives all his property to the children of his two brothers, John N. and William. It is not known how large an estate he has left. He returned $80,000 as taxable in Newburyport last spring, and in addition he was interested largely in lands south and west. There are eight heirs to the property.

A tornado struck the town of Lockport, Texas, Sunday evening, demolishing forty buildings.

Dave Anderson (negro) fatally cut J. Moore (white) in a dispute over a tenent piece at Louisville, Sunday, while gambling. No matter.

Ida Lewis has been made keeper of the Lime Rock light, her mother's old position, at a salary of $750, Secretary Sherman conferring the appointment "as a mark of my appreciation of your noble and heroic efforts in saving human lives."

After Mrs. Kate Cobb has been convicted and sentenced for poisoning her husband, sworn evidence appears that her husband was in the habit of using arsenic. This agrees with her own statement and accounts for the finding of poison in his system. The law is hardly honored in the life imprisonment of Mrs. Cobb on the evidence of the self-confessed wife-poisoner and adulterer, Bishop, whose only hope of avoiding the gallows was in throwing the crime upon his alleged accomplice, Kate Cobb. A new trial is in order.

Naval Matters.

Lieut. Comdr. Charles Cook is detached from the Plymouth, and ordered to Annapolis.

Lieut. E. A. Field is detatched from the Wabash, and placed on waiting orders.

Capt. K. R. Breese is ordered to the command of the Pensacola.

First Lieutenant E. E. Robinson, U. S. M. C., is ordered to the command of the marine guard on the Vandalia.

The British barque Diadem has been sunk by collision with the American storeship Supply. The crew were saved and landed at Funchal, Madeira.

The flagship Trenton and the steamers Gettysburg and Enterprise of the European squadron were at Villa Franche Jan. 6th. The Alliance was at Smyrna.

New Hampshire Items.

Dr. Ezra Carter, one of the most prominent citizens of Concord, died very suddenly Tuesday afternoon in his stable, probably of heart disease.

Burglars made a very nice haul in Milton, Sunday night. Mr. Station Agent Corkery at Three Ponds is a dealer in corn and flour, and is allowed by the managers of the Great Falls & Conway railroad to use one of their buildings for a store house. In the still hours of Sunday night, the mercury ten below zero, somebody went to the stable of a neighbor, stole a team, drove over to that store house and cleaned it all out, took every barrel of flour and all the grain, and left for parts unknown. They evidently loaded too heavy, because Monday morning five barrels of flour were found dumped in the snow several rods from the store house, to lighten the load probably. Who did this thing our informant had not learned, but it will be strange if he is not soon caught. The stolen property is of a kind that cannot be easily hidden away.—Dover Democrat.

—First friends—young men sowing their wild oats.

—"Oils and pomade are no longer used on the hair." This is a sensible edict of fashion. Hereafter a young man can help a young lady to say nothing in particular on Sunday evening without having his vest soiled.—Norristown Herald.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar—imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that goes so much farther and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 20. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. dtsep10

THE CITY.

By an advertisement in another column it will be seen that oysters have been reduced to the old prices, at Freeman's.

Prof. Goldberg gives his drawing-room seance of magic, etc., at Music hall this evening. Programme entirely different from last Wednesday evening, and much enlarged. See advertisement.

The mail train from Boston was about an hour late in arriving at this city Tuesday evening, owing to an accident to the engine at Rowley, Mass. The eccentric rod got adrift and knocked a hole through the boiler, disabling the machine entirely.

Mrs. Kent, wife of Col. J Horace Kent, met with a painful accident Tuesday afternoon, by falling on the ice while walking from the door of her residence to the front gate. She fortunately escaped without breaking her arm, but is suffering from a severe sprain.

It is reported on what we regard as reliable authority that Hon. Frank Jones has nominated a son of Mr. William H. Dennett, who lives on Newington road at the north part of this city, for a cadetship at West Point, and that the examination for admission will be made in June.

Schooner T. J. Trafton, Hoyt master, of and from this port for Baltimore with a cargo of apples, was ashore about a mile and a half north of Billingsgate light, near the entrance to Wellfleet, Mass., harbor, on Monday. She was lying in about eight feet of water at high tide, and was expected to come off without much damage.

THE VICINITY.

A picture of the Isles of Shoals, by M. F. H. DeHaas, was sold in New York on Monday for $110.

At the recent session of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine at Saco the case of George Bowden vs. School District No. 15 of York was defaulted for $200 and interest from date of writ, and legal costs.

Since the organization of the Odd Fellows' Mutual Relief Association of Strafford county, Nov. 14th, 1870, sixty-seven deaths had occurred up to Jan. 1st, 1879. The number of members Jan. 1st was 1249, including between 200 and 300 members belonging in this city.

The schooner B. F. Lowell, Pinkham master, of Saco, at New York 10th inst., from Havana, reports that during the voyage the captain had his ears frozen, the mate his nose, and two of the sailors their hands and feet. In a gale on the 5th inst. the schooner lost her stern boat and davits.

The annual "New England supper" of the 1st Christian society of York will be given at Sea Cottage, York beach, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 4th, under the charge of mine host Grant and wife. A good time is warranted, as the many patrons of these suppers in the past will not need to be assured.

The Supreme Judicial Court of Maine adjourned at Saco on Monday, after a twenty-one days' session. This has been the shortest term since 1858. There were cleared from the docket 169 actions, leaving the docket larger by forty-three cases than at the opening of the court. Eleven divorces were decreed. There were nine jury trials and no disagreements.

Deputy sheriffs Stuart and Marr, of Saco, on Monday took out several search warrants; they captured from Charles Day considerable ale and lager, from James Essenter two quarts of whiskey, and from Frank Clough a quart of whiskey. All the parties were notified to appear at court next day. These were the first seizures in that city since Sheriff Stevens assumed office.

At the annual meeting of the Epping savings bank the following officers were elected for 1879: President, Joseph C. Burley; Vice President, Joseph Stearns; and the following board of trustees: James. L. Rundlett, Wintrop N. Dow, William R. Bunker, David Stickney, John H. Pike, Joseph N. Silley, James H. Bartlett, Alfred T. Rundlett, Benjamin W. Hoyt, Dudley D. Harvey, Hosea B. Burnham, John Leddey. George S. Rundlett was chosen secretary and treasurer by the board of trustees. This bank was incorporated in 1875, and since that time has met with no losses whatever.

Sheriff Stevens of York county, Me., requests the Biddeford Times to say that he does not know where there are twenty-two rum shops in Biddeford, and if "S. C. H." does, it is his duty as a temperance man to inform the proper officers. Sheriff Stevens also says that he will give "S. C. H." an opportunity to testify before the grand jury at the next term of court. "S. C. H." is the correspondent who in a letter to the Times gave Sheriff Stevens the lie direct concerning the latter's order to his deputies regarding the seizure of ale and lager.

VISIT TO AGAMENTICUS.

Mr. Wm. A. Loyne, the volunteer city missionary, gives the following report of his visit to Agamenticus to investigate the condition of the people in its neighborhood:

"Saturday afternoon, in company with Mr. G. W. Putnam, I started for the mountain; at five o'clock P. M. we arrived at York, where the evening was spent at the Putnam homestead. At eight o'clock A. M., Sunday, with the mercury at one above zero, started for the mountain, arrivring at Mr. John Frank Plaisted's at 9:50. During the day we conducted three services in the little "Red school-house;" at the evening service we had sixty-five persons present, respectable and well behaved.

It was agreed during the day that we should climb the mountain on Monday, and accordingly at eight o'clock in the morning we started, though most of the farmers thought it impossible to make the ascent on account of the deep snow with no crust on it. We found the track broken part way, after which almost every step was a plunge of thirty inches in the snow, and in some places three feet by actual measurement. At nine o'clock we reached the summit, and as might be expected the sight was one of the grandest. Boon island light, Ipswich bay and other noted places could be plainly seen by the naked eye. We found the mercury to indicate six above zero. The descent was even more difficult than the ascent.

At the base of the mountain, and scattered all about in the woods, may be found the families so often represented as very needy. We visited nearly all these families during the early part of the day. Many of them we found to be destitute of the common blessings of life, and a number of them struggling against poverty with a courage worthy of praise. The neighbors appear to be doing what they can to help the needy, yet there are many things still that might be done to better their condition. Friends desiring to know more about these people will gladly be informed at the Mission Rooms, No. 64 State street, where any articles of use may be left, and will be given those most needy. WILLIAM A. LOYNE,

Volunter City Missionary

SUPREME COURT.

TUESDAY, Jan. 28; Foster, J.

In case State vs. Roberts the evidence for the prosecution was concluded at the adjournment Tuesday evening. Trial to be resumed Wednesday morning.

State vs. Perry is to be tried this week. Several witnesses from Deerfield are in attendance.

DON'T SIGN, FARMERS.

Gangs of sharpers, claiming to represent a firm in Syracuse, N. Y., are canvassing in Maine, making so-called commission contracts with responsible farmers for the sale of "Eureka scythe grinders," to be paid for when sold; but the document they ask the farmer to sign is so nicely worded that the moment he puts his name to it he becomes responsible to them or some one else for about $200. This document will come back for collection through a bank, and if the farmer does not have to pay it, it will at least cost him a good deal money for defence. These sharpers have been, and possibly are now, canvassing York county. One would naturally suppose that after the experience the Maine farmers had with Mr. "C. B. Mahan, agent of the Granite Agricultural Works at Lebanon, N. H.," they would light very shy of anything in the shape of a travelling agent of newfangled patent agricultural machines, spring beds, lightning rods, etc., but the sharpers must continue to find dupes, or their business wouldn't pay. These travelling "agents" are excellent persons for farmers to have nothing to do with; but if the farmer will play with fire by talking to them, he should resolutely refuse to sign his name to anything whatever, even though he should be asked merely to put down his address. He who signs is in for a lawsuit, if not for a dead-sure swindle.

A Parrot's Piety.

Capt. James Etenberger vouches for the following bird story. Several years ago, when in Honduras, in command of the bark Eldorado, his wife, then accompanying him, was presented with a parrot, a sprightly bird and a fluent discourser in the Spanish language. The bird was brought to this city, where, after being domiciled in the household of the captain's family, it soon acquired a knowledge of the English tongue. The next-door neighbor of the captain was a garrulous woman—an incessant scold—forever quarreling with some one or something. Polly being allowed full liberty, was pleased to take an airing on the yard fence, and in a short time had learned to mimic the scolding neighbor to perfection, and finally became aggressive. Polly not infrequently rued her impertinence by being knocked off the fence with a broomstick. This brought forth a torrent of abuse from her injured feelings upon the head of her assailant. Finally the bird's language became so abusive that the captain was obliged to send it away, and Polly was transferred to a good Christian family in the country, where in course of time she reformed, and became to some extent a bird of edifying piety.

Some time ago, while she was sunning herself in the garden, a large hawk swooped down and bore the distressful parrot off as a prize. Her recent religious training came to her assistance, as at the top of her voice she shrieked, "O Lord, save me! O Lord, save me!"

The hawk became so terrified at the unexpected cry, that he dropped his intended dinner and soared away as fast as his wings would carry him. Polly still survives, and is a tolerably pious bird in her old age.—Baltimore Sun.

Theological students reason that if there be counterfeit money, there must be genuine; so, if there be infidels, there must also be Christians. If this be true of money and religion, will not the same rule apply to "put up" medicines? Do not the cheap and worthless nostrums prove that there are genuine and meritorious "put up" medicines? The great popularity of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has resulted in the manufacture of many shoddy alterative and tonic remedies, but one after another these have disappeared, the proprietors having found that, no matter how loud they advertise, success depends upon merit. In South America, as well as in this country, the Discovery is the standard remedy for all scrofulous and eruptive diseases. It acts promptly on the stomach, liver, and blood, toning up, regulating, and purifying the system. It speedily allays all bronchial irritation, and cures the most stubborn cough or cold in half the time required by any other remedy.

—The meanest man this season lives in Cincinnati. His wife hung up her stocking and he filled it with Old Farmers' Almanacs.

—"Can you tell me where wicked boys go who fish on Sunday?" asked a sober-looking gentleman of a little chap who had worms and rod. "Yes, some of 'em goes to the river, and them as is very wicked go to the lake. I'll show you the best place at the lake."

—The following atrocious paragraph appears in an exchange: "Dorothy Williams, of Wyoming, started to walk three miles to church the other Sunday and they found her torn into about fifty pieces, the result of meeting a bear whose moral character was at a low state."

—When a young tobacco chewer, who boasted that his father used the weed up to the day of his death, was asked if he didn't think it shortened his days, replied: "Not at all. Each one of his days was twenty-four hours long, just the same as if he hadn't used tobacco."

—A Rutland lawyer, in referring to some prisoners, addressed the jury as follows: "I tell you their knees shook as shook the knees of Beltheezer, when Paul said unto him: 'Thou art the man.'" And a Biddeford advocate, blushing at the conduct of his opponent's client, shouted in open court, "Tell it not in Gath, publish it not in the streets of Jerusalem!"

The National Complaint.

Dyspepsia is the national complaint. Almost every other man or woman you meet has it, and the result is that the number of pseudo-remedies for it is as numerous as Pharaoh's hoe. There is, however, a searching eradicant of this distressing and obdurate malady, one whose genuine merits long since raised it to a foremost place among the staple medicines of America. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters extirpates dyspepsia with greater certainty and promptitude than any known remedy, and is a most genial invigorant, appetizer and aid to secretion. These are not empty assertions, as thousands of our country men and women who have experienced its effects are aware, but are backed up by irrefragable proofs repeatedly laid before the public. The Bitters also promote a regular habit of body and give a healthful stimulus to the urinary organs.

A Merchant Up Town went without his overcoat, took a hard cold and was cross, most sick, when one of his clerks prevailed upon him to try a little of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Three doses cured him.

Chronic Catarrh is easily cured if you will use Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tfeb25

The success which so frequently attends the investment of a couple of dollars in the Louisiana State Lottery is becoming the subject of general comment, and everywhere the laudable ambition of people to add to their wealth stimulates a trial of luck which can be accomplished by no evil result, and oftentimes has a very happy termination. Revolution in the Dressing Room!

By the almost unanimous action of the parties interested,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

has replaced the old worn-out inventions for coloring the hair, which the bitter experience of years had proved to be ineffective and deleterious. Unlike the compounds that upon the health of the hair, and dry up and consume the juices which sustain it, this mild, genial and perfect dye is found to be a vitalizing as well as a coloring agent.

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safeguard that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by I. CRISTADORO, No. 83 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tfeb15

We give the following letter to show the absolute freedom of Devoe's Brilliant Oil from any inflammable vapor, and as a curious incident:

PATERSON, N. J., April 17, 1877.

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

JOHN E. REGNER,
Chief of Fire Department.

WILLIAM H. HACKETT.

Political.

St. Martin, the Louisiana witness who last week was engaged in making the Potter-Tilden fraud committee so uncomfortable, is a precious scoundrel on his own evidence; but then he was good enough to be appointed to a responsible position under the pottering frauds, and his influence in the party of true reform was great enough to secure him the place.

Southern Congressmen say that the tobacco tax must be reduced, and that if the "arears of the pension" bill makes it necessary to have more revenue the income tax can be revived.

That the cipher despatch investigation is not expected to result satisfactorily for the democrats is evident from the fact that at the close of the first day's enquiry the announcement was sent by them all over the country from Washington that while there is no doubt the republicans sent as many cipher despatches as the democrats, or even more, "Of course all despatches injurious to republicans have been destroyed, and nothing certain is to be gained in that direction."

The Virginia legislature has passed a resolution declaring the whole system of tobacco taxation oppressive and unjust. Of course; anything is oppressive and unjust that makes the south bear a part of the expenses of the government.

—Moscow has just acquired another monster bell. It has been consecrated in the church of the Redeemer in that city, and weighs about thirty tons.

—According to the Elmira Gazette, "a woman takes her nightcap, looks in the glass, and jumps into bed; the old man looks in the glass, takes his 'nightcap' and —generally stays up all night." A distinction with a decided difference.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 8 to 5 pounds a week.
In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—I my anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so encouraged by the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S druggistore for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 189 pounds to 152 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writes from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOLITTLE & SMITH, of Hoston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "To THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for constipation. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet and Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of these diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and as one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of any female (shall lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not recommend this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, postpaid, for $1.50. It treats plainly of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

much as on that morning.

From Land's End to the Thames, which is 330 miles, is a constantly changing and interesting picture viewed from the deck of a passing steamer. Cornwall, the great mining district, with its cliffs over 200 feet high, presents a grand front to the coast. The veins of copper, tin and chalk, with the sun shining on them, reminded me of Sinbad the sailor of Arabian Night's stories; all that was wanting was the powerful genl in his misty cloak hovering near. We passed in plain sight of the Isle of Wight, Portsmouth, and Brighton, the great place of summer resort for Londoners, which reminded me of Rye Beach with the exception of the reddish cast in the sand. We arrived off Dover just before dusk. It is said to be the greatest fortification in England; it certainly looked impregnable. All along the coast for two or three miles are chalk cliffs over 600 feet high, perfectly perpendicular. The government keeps ten thousand men stationed there. Across the strait the French coast is plainly visible. About dark we arrived at the mouth of the Thames and anchored for the night. Bright and early next morning we were steaming up the river. We stopped at Thames Haven, the great cattle station, to put off the cattle. They expressed in every way but in words their pleasure at once more being on "terra firma." They showed weakness in the knees as they were driven ashore, some of them falling to the earth. Standing for fifteen days in the same place, without a chance for exercise, must be very trying. It seems to me that Mr. Bergh and the S. P. C. A. might find a field for labor in that direction. On our steamer, twenty or more of the cattle were penned up on deck where every big wave that dashed over the steamer swashed through their pens, as they were only railings, and not made to keep out either wind or water. In very cold weather of course they must suffer. Now, Mr. Bergh, and ladies and gents of the society with the big name, here's a chance. Investigate the matter and see if the steamship companies cannot be made to provide steamers that are so arranged as to give all the comfort possible to the thousands of dumb animals that are taken across the ocean every year.

Thames Haven is between twenty and thirty miles from London. After leaving there I began to be aware that I was approaching the great city. Steamers and sailing crafts of all sizes and shapes almost covered the river. I thought New York harbor and docks presented a lively and busy scene, but it is not equal to the Thames near London. Twenty miles from London I should have thought by the general appearance of the country that I was in New England. The traveller is soon made aware however of his vicinity to London by the bane of the great city, smoke and fog. After stopping in London nearly two months it seems to me that an appropriate sign to erect on the Thames about five miles below the city would be, "He who enters here must leave hope behind."

Portsmouth Chronicle

THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1879.

The South and Its War Claims.

Hon. Clarkson N. Potter, democratic Congressman from New York, having openly announced that he should vote against the payment of any and all war claims, occasioned a feeling of gravity in the southern democratic ranks. Then Gen. Bragg of Wisconsin, a fighting war democrat on the Union side during the rebellion and now a member of Congress, talked still more plainly than Potter in opposition to the war claims. And then Gen. Ben. Hill, a fighting war democrat on the confederate side during the rebellion and now a United States Senator, announced himself also as opposed to the payment of any war claims whatever, and said the great body of the southern people were with him on that point.

On the other side, the democratic journals of the south, of all stripes, from the most rabid to the most conservative, are after Gen. Bragg with very sharp pens for daring to oppose the payment of the southern war claims. The New Orleans Times says he "fills a want long felt"—that of "an artistic standard by which to measure idiots." The Charleston News calls him an ass. And the Augusta Chronicle, in an article headed "Bragg and Bluster," says if the northern democrats think they can get along without the Solid South, they had better try the experiment. The northern democrats, however, don't think any such thing; the Washington Post, the national organ of the democracy, snubs Gen. Bragg in good style for his indiscretion, and notifies him that Wisconsin is a small consideration with the democratic party when compared with the Solid South; and not one northern democratic paper that we have seen or heard of has had the hardihood to commend Gen. Bragg, or even defend him, for his bold utterances. It will take more than the everywhere-contradicted assertion of one southern Senator to convince the north that the south is opposed to the payment of the enormous war claims made by residents of the south.

The Pension Arrears Law.

One point in the pension arrears bill will probably be referred by the Interior Department for construction to the Department of Justice. The new law says the arrearages of pensions shall be paid at the rate at which the soldier was originally pensioned. As Congress has changed the rate several times and the latest applicants have originally received the largest pensions, the man who gets pensioned now gets a heavy sum in coin arrearages. The totally disabled man originally got $8 per month; now he gets $72. The question then, in the case of a totally disabled new pensioner, is whether he should be paid arrearages at the rate of $72 or $8 per month. The Commissioner of Pensions will ask Congress at once for an appropriation to carry out the law, and that it be made immediately available. The additional evidence needed in the cases of those now to receive pensions will be very slight. The commissioner will ask a small increase of clerks, and that the present pension agencies be re-districted without an increase of force.

Congress.

The Senate on the 28th inst. refused to allow the Warren Mitchell claim bill to have a third reading, by a vote of thirty to seventeen. The republicans generally refrained from voting.

The House passed a bill restricting to fifteen the number of Chinese that may be imported into this country by any one vessel, the vote being 155 to 72.

A bill providing that all soldiers who had become totally blind in the service of their country should receive a pension of $72 a month, was introduced in the House.

The Cipher Investigation.

In the cipher despatch examination, on the 28th inst., Wm. E. Chandler testified that it was he who put the cipher telegrams in Gen. Butler's room when Butler was not there. Assistant Postmaster Brady testified that he gave Chandler the despatches which the latter gave Butler, and that he sent another lot of the messages to Whitelaw Reid, of the New York Tribune. The first two days of the investigation were directed solely to the finding out of how the despatches became public.

News and Notes.

Dr. Henry R. Linderman, director of the mint, died on Monday.

Runners from Sitting Bull arriving at Standing Rock agency, Dacota Territory, say the warrior wants to return to Standing Rock, as his tribe, the Uncapapas, stop on that reservation. The Bismark Tribune publishes this message from Sitting Bull to the Uncapapas: "Once I was strong and brave and my people had hearts of iron, but now I am a coward and will fight no more forever. My people are cold and hungry. My women are sick and my children are freezing. I will do as the Great Father wishes. I will give my guns and my ponies into his hands. My arrows are broken, and my war paint thrown to the winds."

Dr. E. M. Baldwin of Springfield, Mass., has been arrested at the instance of Mrs. Thomas H. Smith, for procuring an abortion upon her. She charges her husband with commanding and assisting in the operation. He too has been arrested. Baldwin is said to have had great practice in that line. He boldly distributed cards about the city himself, handing them to women and soliciting their attention.

Opium eating and laudanum drinking are increasing at New Haven, physicians of that city say, and alcoholic liquor drinking is going out of fashion; the regular opiate purchasers average from five to ten for each of the thirty or more drug stores in the place.

The trial of Rev. Mr. Hayden, for the murder of Mary Stannard of Madison, Conn., assigned for Feb. 10th, has gone over to the April term of the superior court, as State Attorney Platt, elected United States Senator, will resign his former position March 4th, and would not be able to finish the case.

It is announced that a clue has been obtained to the murderer of J. Wilson Barron, late treasurer of the Dexter, Me., savings bank. Two detectives and the county attorney are in consultation, and startling revelations are expected in a few days. The suspected murderer moves in the highest circles of Dexter. The clue was obtained by a called bond sent to Washington, the former property of Mr. Barron, and which has been traced back to the suspected party.

New Hampshire Items.

The ninth annual meeting of the New Hampshire Fire Insurance Company was held at Manchester on Tuesday of this week. Ex-Gov. Straw was re-elected president; Ex-Gov. Weston, vice president; John C. French, secretary; George B. Chandler, treasurer. The cash assets are $507,616.90; net surplus, $127,697.39. The receipts exceed the disbursements $27,413. There have been 253 losses paid during the year, amounting to $101,000.

The Keene brass band has been appointed by Col. D. M. White the regimental band of the New Hampshire Second Regiment. The band has had an active organization for twenty-three years.

Denman Thompson, with his company playing "Joshua Whitcomb," visited Swanzey, the scene where the play was laid, on the 28th inst. They were met by a large party of sleigh-riders and escorted to the Cheshire house, where the party dined.

In May, 1877, Francis Chase of Wilmot sued W. F. Mastin of Sutton to recover a claim of $15 for pasturing cattle, to which claim defendant filed an offset for certain alleged damages. The case has been repeatedly postponed on account of law questions arising, until Monday, Jan. 27th, when it came to trial, and Judge Dana of Concord gave plaintiff a verdict of ninety-eight cents and costs, taxed at $60. Defendant appealed to a higher court.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

Rev. Samuel Hoyt, of Newington, is to preach at the Vestry of the Pearl street church this evening at 7:30; the public are invited.

A despatch was received in this city on Wednesday from Wellfleet, Mass., stating that the schooner T. J. Trafton was still ashore near that place.

Mr. Robert Varrell, of Rye, was driving along State street on the 29th inst., when his sleigh was broken and himself and two ladies thrown out, by the sleigh going into a "cradle-hole," the horse afterward running away. No person was injured. Mr. Varrel made a claim on the city for damage done to the sleigh.

The case of Howe Call, Esq., against the city of Portsmouth, which has been in the courts for some years, has been settled by Judge Smith, the referee, awarding Mr. Call $10.50 damages and $30 costs, his claim being for $63 and costs. The claim was for the making out of warrants and other legal services rendered during Mayor Goodrich's administration. The city's defence was that George E. Hodgdon, Esq., then city solicitor, and Israel Marden, then city marshal, were personally responsible to Mr. Call; and this view was admitted by Judge Smith except in those cases where money was received by the city as costs.

"Spiritual Songs, with Music for Church and Choir," is the title of a new hymn and tune book selected and arranged by Charles S. Robinson, D. D., to furnish a service of song in which Christians of every name can heartily unite. This volume, although containing some of the choicest verses of nearly three hundred different authors, is not at all bulky, but of convenient size and very attractive in appearance, being printed on fine linen paper and having a binding of gros grain silk with gilt edges. This edition is strictly undenominational, but separate editions are soon to be issued adapted to the different denominations of Christian churches; one of these, for use in Baptist churches and entitled "The Calvary Selection of Spiritual Songs," is now ready. Published by Scribner & Co., 743 Broadway, New York; price, from $1.50 to $2.50 according to binding.

THE VICINITY.

Mr. Stephen E. Grant, who owns and "runs" the Cape Neddick house in York, says the rumor that he has sold his place is not true.

Mrs. J. P. Bartlett will on Tuesday evening next, Feb. 4th, deliver a lecture on "Mrs. Scott-Siddons, the queen of tragedy," in the town hall at Greenland.

Durgin, the Kittery pedestrian, completed a walk of one hundred miles in twenty-five hours on Wednesday night, with four minutes to spare. The walk was done in Trefethen's hall.

Joseph H. Locke, a prominent citizen of Terre Haute, Indiana, who died recently of apoplexy, was born in South Newmarket, and was a son of Simeon Locke. For several years he was engaged in the shipping business in Boston, and after going West was successively located in Chicago, Cincinnati and Terre Haute. He was a thorough business man and successful in mercantile affairs. The deceased left a widow and children at Terre Haute, and a brother and two sisters at South Newmarket.

The burglars who robbed the grain and flour store of Mr. Corkery, at Milton, on the night of Jan. 26th, stealing every barrel of flour in it, have been caught by Sheriff Chick of Great Falls, and most of the stolen property recovered. The enterprising thieves were two in number, and their names are George Whitehouse and Richard Pine, both of Great Falls. They took a pung with them and stored their plunder therein, but the concern broke down under the heavy load when but a short distance from the store. They then stole a sleigh from a barn near by, but it would not hold all the load and the thieves had to leave five barrels of flour in the road, where they were found next morning. Messrs. Whitehouse and Pine have secured a good long job for themselves this time.

SUPREME COURT.

Jan. Term; Foster, J.

The following is a list of petit jurors for the second and third weeks of the term: Asa S. Dutton, Thomas A. Palmer, Candia; Benjamin E. Sanborn, Oscar J. Chase, Deerfield; George I. Choate, Harvey P. Hood, Derry; Jonathan P. Sanborn, David E. Folsom, Epping; Geo. W. E. Mitchell, Jewett Swasey, Exeter; Charles R. Frost, Jonathan W. Peabody, Londonderry; Freeman Sanborn, Geo. F. Savage, Newmarket; J. H. Hurd, Lowell Jenness, D. L. Randall, C. A. Neal, (ward two,) Albert Leach, Edward Smith, (Ward four,) Portsmouth; Amos N. Webster, David Duston, Salem; William Beckman, Francis Beckman, Seabrook; John Furber, Benjamin S. Hoyt, Newington; Levi M. D. Clough, George S. Durgin, Newton; Nathan Knowles, Simon H. Leavitt, North Hampton.

Divorces have been decreed as follows: Olive Burnham of South Newmarket from Samuel D. Burnham; Susan L. Stone of South Hampton from Lewis G. Stone; Eliza A. Lee of Epping from Edward H. Lee; Ambrose Card of Newcastle from Mary A. Card; Bryon L. Hill of Hampton Falls from Persis P. Hill.

CORRECTIONS.

Our amiable and reliable neighbor, the Times, on Wednesday evening got in a covert dig at the non-reliability of the CHRONICLE, as follows:

Mr. Stephen E. Grant, the present owner of the well-known Cape Neddick house ("Marm Freeman's") at Cape Neddick, is indignant at the unfounded report published by the CHRONICLE of Tuesday, that it is to be removed and a large hotel erected on its site.

We are smitten with grief over our giving publicity to the report, which though unfounded was nevertheless current in Kittery, and a part at least of York; we also bow in meek humility to the implied reproof of our infallible mentor.

In the same issue (Wednesday) the Times says that a lady of this city only sprained her wrist by a fall, instead of fracturing it as reported in that paper the previous day. Also, that "Commander F. M. Bruce is ordered to take command of the Marion," and that "Lieut. W. J. Moore, Paymaster M. B. Cushing and Past. Assistant Surgeon J. H. Hall are detached from that vessel on February 5th." There are no such officers as Commander F. M. Bruce and Lieut. W. J. Moore in the United States navy; and Lieut. W. I. Moore, Paymaster Cushing and Passed Asst. Surgeon Hall are ordered to join the Marion Feb. 5th. We do not know if the three latter-named officers are "indignant" at being detached before they have had a chance to join their vessel, or whether Commander F. M. Bunce and Lieut. W. I. Moore are indignant at the unasked alteration of their names.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 29; Batchelder, J.

Edward Goodwin, better known as "Eppy Doodar," was before the court on a charge of assaulting Michael H. Gregg. The evidence was all one-sided, even the defendant admitting the assault, and Goodwin was fined $5, costs $8.04.

Naval Matters.

Commander Robert F. Bradford is detached from command of the Marion Feb. 5th, and ordered to duty as inspector of ordnance at this navy yard Feb. 10th.

Commander Frederick M. Bunce is ordered to command the Marion, Feb. 5th. Paymaster Milton B. Cushing and Passed Asst. Surgeon John H. Hall, are ordered to the Marion same date. Lieut. Edward A. Field, detached from the Wabash, is also ordered to the Marion.

Lieut. William F. Low and Surgeon J. R. Tryon are ordered to the Vandalia Feb. 5th.

Commander Mortimer L. Johnson is ordered to hold himself in readiness to take command of the Ashuelot, on the Asiatic station.

Assistant Engineer John D. Sloan is ordered to the Plymouth.

In the Admiralty court at London, Jan. 29th, the motion to arrest the U. S. frigate Constitution and cargo on a claim for salvage was argued. Counsel for the ship claimed that she and her cargo were not under the jurisdiction of a British court. The counsel for the Crown also opposed the motion, and said that the granting of the application might even result in a war. The motion was dismissed.

A bill was introduced in the Senate by Mr. Rollins, Jan. 29th, to reduce the number and fix the relative rank of civil engineers; referred to the committee on naval affairs.

The bill for promoting the efficiency of chaplains in the navy was passed by the Senate, Jan. 29th. It provides that no person less than twenty-five years or more than thirty-five years of age shall be appointed as chaplain in the navy, and fixes their relative rank as follows: four to rank as captain, eight as commander, and all others as lieutenant commander. It also provides that the whole number shall not exceed twenty.

—The experiment has been tried often enough to prove that a button-hook is not a night-key.

Alaska.

Major William Gouverneur Morris, special agent of the Treasury Department, says the resources of Alaska are beginning to be appreciated on the Pacific coast, and that there will be a large emigration there next spring, attracted by the promise of rich discoveries of gold. Just before Major Morris left San Francisco he saw at the mint 800 ounces of placer gold, which had been recently received from that country, one nugget of which was worth about $250. He says a quartz mill has been built at Sitka, but the enterprise has not proved a success so far on account of bad management of the mine, though some of the ore yields $25 a ton. The water-power at that point is sufficient to drive 400 stamps. The chief industry developed thus far on the mainland and in Alaska, he says, is the canning of salmon, there being now two establishments employing 150 men each. About 536,000 pounds of canned salmon were shipped to San Francisco the past season.

The Boston Marine Insurance Co.

This company is one of the most successful because best managed corporations of its kind. It has made eight semi-annual five per cent dividends out of its average annual earnings of 14 93-100 per cent on its capital. Its assets to each 100 of risk are $18.27,—a larger percentage than that of any other New England company,—while its marine premiums receipts for the past year exceed those of all other stock companies in Massachusetts combined. The present assets of the Boston Marine are $1,092,081.61; and the net surplus over all liabilities, including re-insurance fund of 100 per cent on all undetermined risks, is $144,500.88. Since it began business in 1874, the aggregate of losses incurred has been $1,909,982, or about 55 per cent of the amount of premiums. This company writes marine risks only. Its form of policy is very liberal, and the company is always ready to discount adjusted losses before their maturity.—"New York Journal of Commerce," January 23, 1879.

The National Complaint.

Dyspepsia is the national complaint. Almost every other man or woman you meet has it, and the result is that the number of pseudo-remedies for it is as numerous as Pharaoh's host. There is, however, a searching eradicant of this distressing and obdurate malady, one whose genuine merits long since raised it to a foremost place among the staple medicines of America. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters extirpates dyspepsia with greater certainty and promptitude than any known remedy, and is a most genial invigorant, appetizer and aid to secretion. These are not empty assertions, as thousands of our country men and women who have experienced its effects are aware, but are backed up by irrefragable proofs repeatedly laid before the public. The Bitters also promote a regular habit of body and give a healthful stimulus to the urinary organs.

A Merchant Up Town went without his overcoat, took a hard cold and was cross, most sick, when one of his clerks prevailed upon him to try a little of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Three doses cured him.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tfeb25

Revolution in the Dressing Room!

By the almost unanimous action of the parties interested,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

has replaced the old worn-out inventions for coloring the hair, which the bitter experience of years had proved to be ineffective and deleterious. Unlike the compounds that upon the health of the hair, and dry up and consume the juices which sustain it, this mild, genial and perfect dye is found to be a vitalizing as well as a coloring agent.

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safeguard that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by L. CRISTADORO, No. 35 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tfeb15

DEVOE'S BRILLIANT OIL!

Just received and for sale at reduced price by

DEVOE'S BRILLIANT OIL

1st. Is absolutely safe.
2d. Gives a powerful, brilliant white light.
3d. Does not smoke, nor smell, nor crust the wick.
4th. Is the most economical oil, because it gives the most light in proportion to its price.

We give the following letter to show the absolute freedom of Devoe's Brilliant Oil from any inflammable vapor, and as a curious incident:

PATERSON, N. J., April 17, 1877.
DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.
Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

JOHN E. REGNER,
Chief of Fire Department.

Lively Stock Operations.

The current of recent events has given great impetus to business in Wall street, and many successful turns are reported where immense profits are made in short periods. The most successful way that we have heard of yet for operating in stocks is by the Combination Method of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, New York. By this system thousands of orders in various sums are pooled into one vast capital and operated under the most experienced and skillful management, thus securing to each shareholder superior advantages and profits, not possible in any other way. Profits are paid at end of 30 days. J. Jones, of Boston, made $747.30 on an investment of $100. Many others are doing as well or better. Capital in any amount from $10 to $100,000 can be used with equal proportionate success by this Combination or Co-opera tive Method. $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent on the stock; $100 would return $900, or 9 per cent during the month, and so on, according to the market. The new circular contains "two unerring rules for success" and full information, so that any one can operate with profit. Stocks and bonds wanted. Deposits received. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. city.

—A young man with his first goatee may be said to have a tuft time of it.

—In 1875 a Georgia man took out a license to marry, but was sent to the penitentiary before the event came off. Having served his term out, the released convict produced the well worn license and was married a few days ago.

—A newly-married couple in Springfield, Mass., spent the first night of their honeymoon dancing until four in the morning, and the husband was in the shop at his work next day as usual.

—The ladies who bang their hair have encouragement from an unexpected quarter. Chief Joseph, of the Nez Perces, wears his coal black hair banged on his forehead and braided behind. Joseph is a fine specimen of the savage.

THE

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. Acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 149 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "About special change of attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOGGETTE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. FOWLE & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unsurpassed laxative, it promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for accumulation. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for those diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of the high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical character. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Sleeplessness, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not advertise this medicine as a "cure-all," but it is admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those seeking further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by the Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases arising from bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without derangement to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to the Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being therefore preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

BY H. L. H.

About four o'clock and high tide we were at the gates of Victoria Dock, one of London's great shipping depots. It extends into the land four miles. The gates are only open at high tide for the admittance of steamers and ships, which keeps the water in the dock always at the same depth and greatly facilitates the loading and unloading of freight. Such a forest of masts I never saw before. After an overhauling by the custom house officials we were allowed to go ashore. Like the cattle, we were all very much pleased to leave our fifteen days' home, and take up our abode where things were level. I found that it took quite a number of days and nights to satisfy myself that the hotel I was in was not rocking, as I frequently awoke in the night under the impression that the house was about to ship a big wave, and if I did not hold on to the bed I might leave it unceremoniously.

The Victoria docks are surrounded by a high board fence, and before we were allowed to pass through the gates we were taxed fifteen cents per package for all our luggage. Even a shawl rolled up with a strap round it was taxed. From the time I arrived in England until I left, it seemed to me I was paying a tax or fee for something unreasonable. At times my Yankee blood would get to working so that if I could have been accommodated with a small-sized Englishman who was an advocate of the system I could have (as the boys say) warmed him with a great deal of satisfaction. A prolonged stop in London would make a bad man of me, I fear. My first experience in a restaurant opened my eyes as to the abominable feeing custom of the country. I ordered a meal from the bill of fare, and after finishing paid the waiter the price marked on the bill, and was leaving when he informed me that he was the person who had attended to my wants. I thought this information a little singular, as my eyesight was good and I was was perfectly aware of the fact; but taking into consideration that the fellow had been attentive, I informed him that I appreciated his good qualities, and would call again. I did not understand why it was necessary for him to stand with his mouth open in astonishment, until I was out on the sidewalk, and informed by the friend with me (after he could control his laughter,) that it was the custom to fee the waiter at every meal; and that instead of receiving pay of the proprietor, he was obliged to pay for the privilege of the position and get his wages out of the customers in fees! I immediately bought a "guide-book to London," for I began to be alarmed, and feared if I inquired the way I should have to fee, until there would be danger of my funds getting so low that I should have to send to my friends to get money to leave the benighted city.

As I rode from the docks on the train up into the city I was struck with the compactness of the buildings, and the fact that every inch appeared to be in use. It seemed as if the railroad had been built from the docks across the city with the idea of introducing the traveler to London, as we would first be running along on a level with the streets, and then dive underground for a time and out again as if by magic, to find that we were among the chimneys and roofs. A smallsized book might be written upon London roofs and chimneys. To an American, the tiles of which the roofs are constructed look odd enough, but the chimneys take the premium. If I had not been a temperance man I should have thought myself under the influence of liquor, there were so many crowded together, and such odd-looking affairs. I do not wonder that the city is troubled with smoke, for if all the chimneys that I saw smoked at once it is not surprising that the sun has no chance to look into the streets for days at a time. The soft coal which is almost universally used is the cause of the immense clouds of smoke which are held down by the fog, and at times has the appearance of pea soup in the air. The buildings are covered with soot from foundation to roof. The white marble buildings, of which there are a great many, have been so blackened by the smoke that were it not for their bases and sometimes a portion of their cornices being white, they might be supposed to be of black marble. The columns in front of St. Paul's Cathedral are densely black, and so is most of the vast structure. If a pot of black paint was poured over the dome it would scarcely be noticed, so black has it become. When one takes into consideration that London covers an area of 122 square miles, it is easy to understand that even in taking a flying trip across in the steam cars much can be seen that is interesting.

I stopped at a hotel situated on the northern bank of the Thames. Bright and early in the morning I was up, and commenced the no small task of seeing London. The Thames divides the city into two unequal parts. The northern part contains the Houses of Parliament, the palaces, parks, principal docks and public and private buildings. The southern part consists principally of manufactories, warehouses, shops and private dwelling. The river is from 800 to 1000 feet wide, and is one of the dirtiest streams I ever saw. As I looked at it my mind went back to the bright and sparkling Piscataqua, and if by any "hocus-pocus" I could have turned that irrepressible stream into the Thames I should have enjoyed watching the cleansing which is so sadly needed. The banks of the river on either side are lined with wharves and docks. On the northern side for about three miles is an embankment of masonry, which if ever completed on both sides will make of its shores two of the finest promenades in the world. So far there has been over twelve million dollars expended in its construction. Like the bridges over it, the Thames embankment is made in a very thorough manner. I was told that an American engineer remarked that the bridges over the Thames were worth a voyage to Europe to examine. The Black Friar's bridge is one of the finest. It has five grand arches of masonry, the middle one of 152 feet span; there are many large pillars of red Scotch granite, highly polished, used in its construction. The London bridge is also a noble structure of granite, fifty-six feet wide. Some idea of the traffic over it may be realized from the fact that not fewer than 8000 foot passengers and 900 vehicles pass over each hour of the day. That reads rather large, I will allow, but I think if any doubting person could stand for one hour where they could get a good view of the bridge, their doubts would be removed as mine were. Perhaps a few facts that I gleaned from different sources as to the population would settle any doubt as to there being enough people in London to spare that number every hour. In the first place there are over four million people in the city; over 7000 musicians, 5100 surgeons and physicians, 2409 Protestant ministers, 286 Catholic priests and 1104 preachers, 1872 barristers, 3364 attorneys, 874 dentists, 3760 apothecaries, 2625 actors, 20,556 schoolmasters, 8893 hotel keepers, 11,338 sailors, 20,054 printers, 4906 watchmakers, 23,516 tailors, 30,691 shoemakers, 73,240 dressmakers, 13,044 bakers, and 12,250 butchers. A curious calculation has been given in the Journal of the Statistical Society, which, adjusted to the present population, would be as follows: On the hypothesis that the metropolis was surrounded by a wall, having four gates, each of which was of sufficient width to allow a column of persons to pass out freely four abreast, and a presumptive necessity requiring the immediate evacuation of the city, it is calculated that this could not be accomplished under about thirty-one hours, by the expiration of which time the head of each of the four columns would have advanced about ninety-five miles from their respective gates, all the people being in close file, four deep. One of the London papers is responsible for the statement that on a single day, between eight o'clock in the morning and noon, 3415 vehicles and 18,775 pedestrians passed the Mansion House on the average every hour.

The Mansion House is the official residence of the Lord Mayor, and is situated in the heart of the city, near the Bank of England. In this part of the city, where two streets cross each other there are policemen stationed whose duty it is to stop the carriages on one street and allow them to cross from the other, and vice versa, through the day. A person should be an eye-witness in order to appreciate the magnitude of the traffic through the business centre of London, for no pen could begin to picture it. In watching the trucks, express wagons, private carriages, and the odd, cumbersome-looking omnibuses with three horses side by side, which are said to travel in the year more than fifteen millions of miles, and carry more than fifty millions of passengers; also the London hansom cab, with the driver perched up behind, I noticed that they all turned to the left in passing each other. Now why is not that the best thing to do, as the driver sits on the right and can see how near he is running to the vehicle going in the opposite direction, and thus avoid a great many collisions which it seemed to me must happen in such a crowded thoroughfare? In talking with one of the omnibus drivers he expressed his surprise that the Americans should drive to the right. What is the matter with us? Are we behind the times in this direction? Americans do not like to confess it, but I am afraid we shall be obliged to in this case. To change the custom of "keep to the right as the law directs" would be a difficult thing, no doubt; but we could sit on the left, which would mend the matter as far as as keeping an eye on the side most likely to collide is concerned.

Portsmouth Chronicle

FRIDAY, JANUARY 31, 1879.

News and Notes.

Marshal MacMahon, not being able to run things just as he would like, has resigned the presidency of the French republic.

The store of M. Wittikine at Leary, Ga., was burned Jan. 29th. The body of Wittikine, burned to a crisp and with the skulled crushed, was found in the ruins. A pistol was found near by.

The pilots report that part of the wreck of a vessel lies embedded in the sand on Newburyport bar, projecting some four or five feet from the bottom. It lies directly in the track of vessels going out or coming in with the lights in range, and is a dangerous obstruction which should be removed at once.

Considerable excitement exists in Winchester, Ind., over a fight between J. M. Carver, a teacher in the public school, and several male scholars. Carver was whipping a small boy when several large boys assaulted him with clubs, some of them drawing knives. The boys were expelled by Superintendent Butler, but were immediately reinstated by the school board, whereupon Butler and Carver tendered their resignations.

An indictment has been found by a New York grand jury against Richard K. Fox, proprietor of the Police Gazette, for libel in publishing an illustration and describing a scene at the death-bed of Ebenezer T. Smith, a Boston millionnaire. The accused is held for trial.

Mrs. L. Avery of Montgomery, Mass., was arrested Jan. 29th on a charge of knocking down and dragging on the floor Mrs. Betsey Wright, a town pauper, aged eighty, whom she had taken to board, from the effects of which she died. It is claimed that Avery found the old woman more trouble than she expected when she took the contract.

A delegation from Gloucester, Mass., representing the fishery interest, were in Washington Jan. 29th, and urged, in a conference with Secretary Evarts, the abrogation of so much of the treaty of Washington as relates to the fisheries.

A despatch from Ottawa, Ont., says the agent sent to investigate the alleged existence of rinderpest among cattle in the United States reports that within a circle of ten miles around Washington pleuro-pneumenia exists in its worst form.

The City island station of the New York Maritime Association has been made a government station for the display of the storm signals. City island is to the eastward of Hell Gate, and the display of the signals there will be a great advantage to coastwise vessels bound eastward through Long island sound. Large fleets are frequently anchored at City island roads, and their captains have heretofore had to depend upon their own judgement to forecast the weather.

On the 25th of October Joseph R. Moore of Andover, Mass., was committed to the house of correction. He left a good home, and a family consisting of a wife and four most lovely children. On the 29th of January he left his prison life and returned home; but it is not the home he left three months ago. Week before last malignant diphtheria entered that already unhappy household, and in one week's time all four children had died and left the hearth desolate.

Three boys, named Daniel Carry, Richard Gibbons and Thomas Burns, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Merrimack river, at Lawrence, Mass., on the afternoon of Jan. 29th. They were on a floating cake of of ice, and did not notice where they were going until nearly in the middle of the stream. Burns jumped, and succeeded in reaching the shore. The others were borne down the river a quarter of a mile, when the cake struck a mass of floating ice and disappeared. The lads by jumping on another cake, at times sinking to their armpits, succeeded in reaching the shore, thoroughly chilled and frightened. A large crowd gathered on the banks of the river, and for a time the excitement was intense.

The papers of thirty-three applicants for pensions were sworn before the clerk of the central district court at Worcester, Mass., Jan. 28th, nearly all of them coming under the new law.

A letter from Geneva, Switzerland, says: "American coals are beginning to sell. They are slightly cheaper than French and German coals, and much superior to them. An American locomotive, burning anthracite coal, is running at Geneva. An amateur regatta with special races for university oarsmen of all countries is contemplated to be held here, probably in August. A committee has been appointed to sound English, American and continental boating clubs. Some Austrian and German clubs have already consented to enter."

Saortly before the arrival of the mail train from Harrisburg at York, Penn., on the 28th of January, a pile of stones and break blocks was discovered on the track a short distance above the station, which had been placed there by a party of tramps, thirty of whom were arrested.

New Hampshire Items.

The case of Stella M. Woodman of Manchester against E. K. Rowell and Mrs. E. H. Hobbs, for injury occasioned from a snow slide from a building owned by these parties, has been settled by the payment of $750 to the complainant.

The Lake Village Times says: "Mr. Batchelder, living over in Gilford, was engaged in 'doing his chores' about the barn-yard, several days ago, when his attention was attracted by the appearance from under the barn of one of the strangest looking animals Mr. Batchelder's lot had ever thrown him into company with. Such a vicious looking nose, and such a tail. Well, he headed off the stranger, cornered him, and rapped him on the nose until he gave up the ghost. Later he brought the strange animal down to the village, where he was promptly recognized as a genuine old Virginia 'possum. Doubtless he had, sometime and somewhere, escaped from some individual who brought him north as a pet or curiosity."

Active gold mining at Lisbon continues. Whitman Howard of Milford, Mass., has just obtained control of the large gold mill in Lisbon village of John B. Paddock of St. Johnsbury, Vt. It has the best mill and water power in that section. Howard immediately developed the Lisbon gold mine, which assays $17 a ton: he recently produced an $85 bar of gold from a ton and a half selected ore from this mine. The quarrel over the Dodge mine has been settled.

The Water-Spider.

The insects that frequent the water require predaceous animals to keep them within due limits as well as those that inhabit the earth; and the water-spider is one of the most remarkable upon whom that office is devolved. To this end her instinct instructs her to fabricate a kind of diving-bell in the bosom of that element. She usually selects still waters for this purpose. Her house is an oval cocoon, filled with air and lined with silk, from which the threads issue in every direction, and are fastened to the surrounding plants. In this cocoon, which is open below, she watches for her prey, and even appears to pass the winter, when she closes the opening. It is most commonly, yet not always, under water; but it inhabitants has filled it for her respiration, which enables her to live in it. She conveys the air to it in the following manner: she usually swims on her back, when her abdomen is enveloped in a bubble of air, and appears like a globe of quicksilver. With this she enters her cocoon, and displacing an equal mass of water, again ascends for a second lading, till she has sufficiently filled her house with it, so as to expel all water. How these little animals can envelop their abdomen with an air bubble, and retain it till they enter their cells, is still one of nature's mysteries that has not been explained. It is a wonderful provision which enables an animal that breathes the atmospheric air to fill her house with it under water; and by some secret art to clothe her body with air, as with a garment, which she can put off when it answers her purpose. This is a kind of attraction and repulsion that mocks all inquiries.

—Sleighing item—A fashionable tailor has a cutter that costs him fifteen hundred dollars a year.

—The inhabitants of Madagascar are dying to get hold of an American ship captain who has sold them ten thousand quart cans of tomatoes as a new kind of gunpowder.

—There was an exhibition of tableaux in Fond du lac, Wis., and the small boy was present. A scene was presented—"The Execution of Mary, Queen of Scots,"—Mary kneeling, her head on the block, the executioner standing with uplifted axe, poised for the death-blow amid breathless silence. Suddenly, in a loud whisper, the small boy exclaimed: "Pa, why don't he chop?"

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. dtsept19

THE CITY.

There was some lively racing on Richards avenue, Thursday afternoon. Fast teams were numerous, and spectators also.

Mr. George David, who was so terribly injured by a gas explosion on Star island, Isles of Shoals, some time ago, died on Thursday.

An exciting race was trotted from the Plains to the Creek, Thursday, between a horse belonging to Woodbury Locke and one owned by Stoddard Brothers, the latter coming in ahead. The race was for $10.

The following named persons were on Thursday evening drawn from ward one to serve as jurers at the present term of the supreme court, now in session at Exeter; Samuel D. Foye, William H. Allen, Frank Horrocks.

The trustees of the permanent fund of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals acknowledge the receipt of three hundred dollars from Rear Admiral Parrott, to be added to the permanent fund of the Society.

The first of Mr. Riddle's course of Shakespere readings occurs this (Friday) evening at Miss Morgan's school. To hear Romeo and Juliet as thoroughly well read as it is sure to be by Mr. Riddle, will be indeed a rare treat. Single tickets can be procured at Myers' and Rundlett's.

The ship William H. Marcy, of this port, Marcy master, which has been lying in San Francisco harbor for some months waiting a charter, was taken up on Monday, Jan. 13th, for a wheat cargo to the United Kingdom or the continent, at £1 12s. 6d. per ton to Liverpool or Havre, or £1 15s. to Cork.

A number of workmen in the bureau of construction and repair at the navy yard were discharged on Thursday. Work will be suspended in that department during the last two days of the present week. On Monday the men who were suspended Dec. 1st will take the places of the discharged men. The larger portion of the workmen will resume work on the Lancaster.

Mrs. Bartlett requests us to say that she has no lecture on Mrs. Scott-Siddons—a lady more noted for beauty than for histrionic power, and who is a descendant of the great Siddons born in 1755, the most distinguished tragic actress the world has produced, and the subject of Mrs. Bartlett's lecture on Tuesday evening next in Greenland town hall.

As the fishing schooner Ev Nichols was picking up her boats in the bay, Thursday afternoon, as she neared two of the dories that were close together she was hailed by the men in them, one shouting for the schooner to go one way, and the other the opposite. Owing to this division of counsels the vessel ran down one of the dories, manned by Mr. Isaac Pridham of Newcastle, and sank her with her load of fish and all her gear. Mr. Pridham caught the schooner's head gear, and climbed on board unhurt.

The Dover Democrat having copied from this paper an item on "How the tax-law works," with comments thereon, "Ex-assessor" writes to that paper as follows: "The city of Dover for three years past has demanded a statement under oath from all its tax-payers of all their personal property, and more personal property has been taxed in Dover for the past three years in proportion to the amount liable to be taxed in the State than in any other town or city in the State. In fact, so convinced was the State Apportionment Board of 1876 of the honesty and integrity of the tax-payers and assessors of Dover, that they reduced the valuation of Dover $1,200,000, and added $1,000,000 to the valuation of Portsmouth because they did not tax the personal property of its citizens; and to-day Dover is paying but $14,000 State tax for its honesty, while Portsmouth is paying $20,000 State tax for its sharpness in non-assessment."

THE VICINITY.

A new greenback club was formed in Saco this week, with John S. Furber as president.

E. B. Blood of Great Falls owns and rides in a high-backed sleigh which once belonged to the unfortunate Willey family of the White Mountains.

About one hundred and fifty volumes of books selected from the library of the late Daniel Austin have been added, by purchase, to the Public Library at Kittery.

George Bowden of York, and Abner Oakes of South Berwick, have been appointed trial justices by Gov. Garcelon of Maine. Willis T. Emmons of Saco, and H. H. Hobbs of South Berwick, have been appointed justices of the peace.

A Saco man who had ordered a bar just before the new daty sheriffs made their first raid on liquor dealers, which was done on Monday, Jan. 27th, on Tuesday morning countermanded the order, evidently satisfied that there was not to be any "free rum" in Saco after all.

In default of $2000 bail each, George Whitehouse and Richard Pine, of Great Falls, have been committed to jail to await trial before the supreme court for stealing a sleigh, harness and robes from George H. Jones, and a quantity of flour and grain from Daniel Corkery, at Milton.

The first jury in attendance upon the recent court in Saco was a remarkable one. On one case the jury was out until five o'clock in the morning, and the truly wonderful fact came out that not one of the twelve men, drawn at random from different sections of York county, either smoked or chewed tobacco or used intoxicating liquor. We never heard of such a jury as that before, and never expect to again.

Mr. J. Stark Hayes, a former collector of the city of Dover, writes to the Democrat that he is "informed that there is a report in circulation that he is owing the city of Dover several thousand dollars for taxes committed to him to collect," and says that "if the gentlemen who started that story" will call on him he will "give him a good dinner, and convince him by documents from the city clerk and city treasurer, that his accounts with the city as collector of taxes were all adjusted years ago."

At the annual meeting of the members of the Union Five Cents savings bank at Exeter, held at the bank on Jan. 27th, the following board of officers was elected: President, William B. Morrill; Vice-Presidents, Charles Burley, John A. Blake; Treasurer and Secretary, Geo. E. Lane; Trustees, William B. Morrill, Charles G. Conner, Winthrop N. Dow, John G. Gilman, Frank P. Cram, Thomas Conner, Charles Burley, George E. Lane, John A. Blake, J. W. Sanborn, John F. Thompson.

The Portland Argus says: "It is a pretty conclusively established fact that Rev. Mr. Webber of Saco was indicted for abultery by the grand jury of Androscoggin county at their recent session, and subpœnas have been served on witnesses in Saco and Biddeford to appear in court the 3d of February. Rev. Mr. Webber left Saco on the first train west Monday morning, and has not yet returned, and it is intimated that his bondsmen were fully cognizant of the fact that he was to depart. His bonds are only $500."

The Biddeford Times of Jan. 29th says: "A man named Manuel, of Saco, received a sound horse whipping yesterday. He was riding on a street in Saco when a man came up with whom he was acquainted. Manuel stopped and the two had some conversation, when the man in the street took the whip from Manuel's sleigh and beat it (the whip) up about Manuel. After this he went before the judge, entered complaint against himself and paid his fine. Those who are acquainted with the circumstances believe Manuel did not get any more than he deserved."

A young man of Dover sent to one of the many swindling concerns in New York, in answer to a "confidential" circular, for some undetectable "counterfeit money" which he was to pay $12 or $13 for when it was delivered by the express. The box came, he paid, he opened the box, and he then saw the swindle and a little wooden image packed in sawdust. He then got out a writ and attached the money in the hands of the express company, which was a sensible proceeding; one would hardly have expected such an exhibition of prompt shrewdness, from a person idiotic enough to be taken in by one of the transparent frauds which are constantly entrapping those who do not read the papers.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Jan. 30; Batchelder, J.

William Howard, for drunkenness, was assessed $9.90, fine and costs. Brentwood in default.

Edward Goodwin, convicted on Wednesday of an assault on Michael H. Gregg, and ordered to pay $13.04 for his fun, was sent to jail on Thursday in default of payment.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

On Thursday afternoon two men in the employ of Charles Hayes & Son, named Frank Kimball and Francis Hurley, were driving out of town with a loaded sled, both riding and both somewhat intoxicated. When near the powder-house, Kimball, who was driving, jumped off, and was walking some little distance ahead of the team when some person called to him that a man (Hurley) was was under the the runner of the sled. Kimball stopped the team, and the sled was drawn back off the man by the oxen, but he was dead before he could be extricated.

A later statement is that Hurley was not intoxicated, and that he was dragged beneath the sled for a considerable distance.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening:

The hearing on the alleged nuisance on Hancock street was had.

Communication was received from Samuel P. Treadwell, requesting the board to increase his salary.

Bills of Jas. Moses for collecting taxes, and other matters relating to the same, were referred to committee on accounts.

City marshal's and chief engineer's reports were announced correct and placed on file.

Mayor reported to the board that B. F. Webster had declined to take the amount of land damages awarded to him by the former board and was ready to receive any other proposals from the city. Referred to a special committee, consisting of Ald. Hodgdon, Barri and Mugridge.

Voted that Dr. Whittier be allowed to withdraw his bill for services as coroner.

Voted that the part of the city solicitor's report relating to the account of F. W. Rogers be referred to committee on claims.

Voted that Mr. N. K. Raynes be allowed the use of gas free so long as he continues his school in the court house.

Voted that the inspector of petroleum notify all persons who refuse to have their kerosene inspected by him to report the same to the city marshal, who will inform the parties of the penalty, and in case of their not complying to proceed to prosecute them according to the law.

Voted to allow John J. Pickering the sum of $110.50, for sidewalk expenses instead of $100, as previously voted.

An ordinance was offered by Ald. Laighton for the better protection of traders doing business in the city and to license all peddlers and transient persons. Passed its first reading and referred to the committee on bills on second reading.

Committee on city land and buildings asked for further time to investigate the matter relating to the arsenal on South street.

Adjourned.

SUPREME COURT.

THURSDAY, Jan. 30; Foster, J.

Jury came in at six o'clock on Roberts case; reported him not guilty.

The National Complaint.

Dyspepsia is the national complaint. Almost every other man or woman you meet has it, and the result is that the number of pseudo-remedies for it is as numerous as Pharaoh's hosts. There is, however, a searching eradicant of this distressing and obdurate malady, one whose genuine merits long since raised it to a foremost place among the staple medicines of America. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters extirpates dyspepsia with greater certainty and promptitude than any known remedy, and is a most genial invigorant, appetizer and aid to secretion. These are not empty asserttons, as thousands of our country men and women who have experienced its effects are aware, but are backed up by irrefragable proofs repeatedly laid before the public. The Bitters also promote a regular habit of body and give a healthful stimulus to the urinary organs.

A Merchant Up Town went without his overcoat, took a hard cold and was cross, most sick, when one of his clerks prevailed upon him to try a little of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Three doses cured him.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tich25

PATERSON, N. J., April 17, 1877.

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

JOHN E. REGNER,
Chief of Fire Department.

Sulphur for Diphtheria.

Mr. John S. Wiles, a surgeon of Thorecombe, England, writes to the London Times that after two cases of malignant diphtheria out of some eight or ten he had been called to attend had proved fatal, the mother of a sick child showed him an extract from an American paper concerning a practitioner who used sulphur to cure the disease. Accordingly he used milk of sulphur for infants and flowers of sulphur for older children and adults, brought to a creamy consistency with glycerine; dose—a teaspoonful or more, according to age, three or four times a day, swallowed slowly, and application of the same to the nostrils with a sponge. Result: he did not lose a case there or elsewhere, and he succeeded in saving life when the affection had almost blocked the throat.

Theological students reason that if there be counterfeit money, there must be genuine; so, if there be infidels, there must also be Christians. If this be true of money and religion, will not the same rule apply to "put up" medicines? Do not the cheap and worthless nostrums prove that there are genuine and meritorious "put up" medicines? The great popularity of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has resulted in the manufacture of many shoddy alterative and tonic remedies, but one after another these have disappeared, the promises having found that, no matter how loud they advertise, success depends upon merit. In South America, as well as in this country, the Discovery is the standard remedy for all scrofulous and eruptive diseases. It acts promptly on the stomach, liver, and blood, toning up, regulating, and purifying the system. It speedily allays all bronchial irritation, and cures the most stubborn cough or cold in half the time required by any other remedy.

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is perfectly vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing the ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions, and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 190 pounds to 160 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health. Another, a resident of Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat have reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOCKITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. HOWELL & PLUMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "If (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from my face, I gave five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, cutting off dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp. WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, I have treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women. I have been enabled to perfect a most grateful and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal experience. I have, while without a rival for positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the chosen ex ponent of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatening Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Prostration. We do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single specific purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats upon all of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

BY H. L. H.

But to return to the Thames. A person to get a good view of the river and its bridges should take one of the little steamers that run from London bridge every few minutes up the river as far as Chelsea, stopping at intermediate stations. Near the Waterloo bridge I noticed the famed Cleopatra's Needle, the observed of all observers, which was one of six gigantic granite obelisks which more than 3,000 years ago stood in pairs before the entrance of the grand Temple of the Sun at the city of On in ancient Egypt. The undermining operations of the sea through ages caused, it is believed, the obelisk which the people of London are now admiring to fall prostrate several centuries ago, leaving only one standing to mark the spot where so much vastness, magnificence and grandeur once existed. The following interesting account I took from a London paper:

In 1798 Egypt was invaded and conquered by a French army, under the first Napoleon, who made prizes of war the fallen obelisk and other interesting Egyptian antiquities. In 1801 the English forces, led by the brave Sir Ralph Abercrombie, conquered in turn the French, compelled them to relinquish their plunder, and every man in the British army and navy subscribed several days' pay to a fund for raising the fallen Needle and conveying it to England. But on attempting to move it, it defeated their efforts. After the soldiers and sailors, aided by a great number of hired Arabs, had expended a week of heavy labour, they only moved it the marvellous distance of six inches, and gave up the work in despair. In the course of years it became buried in the sand of the sea-shore, and the immense turtle, of bronze metal, inscribed with hieroglyphics, recording, it is supposed, particulars of the persons who erected it and its consorts, and the period of their foundation, which once supported and ornamented its base when in an upright position, through some inscrutable cause, disappeared; probably stolen by a tribe of wandering Arabs for the value and utility of the heavy mass of brass, whereof it was composed. In 1820 the most famous of Egypt's modern rulers, Mehemet Ali, again brought the prostrate obelisk under public notice by offering it to the British government as a token of his friendship towards our nation; but the estimated expenses and difficulties of its removal and conveyance to this country prevented the attempt, and doomed it to be longer buried in its sandy bed, till other more propitious times, and other more enterprising and clever men should arrive to accomplish its removal. The year 1877 beheld the presentation of Cleopatra's long looked for Needle, renewed at the request of Her Majesty's Ministers by Ismail Pacha, Egypt's present enlightened Khedive, and accepted on behalf of Professor Erasmus Wilson, and John Dixon, Esq., who zealously and liberally offered to defray the costs and take all the trouble upon themselves. When Mr. Dixon's friend, Mr. Wilson, offered to subscribe £10,000 toward its removal from Egypt and erection in the British metropolis, he joyfully assumed the risk and responsibility of getting it to the spot where we now behold it, probably on its last resting place, towering in all its majestic proportions and giant strength; a mighty monument of man's handiwork and skill in ancient and modern times; telling of the grandeur and civilization of past far distant ages, and looking down upon all the present and future stupendous creations of human genius, until the advent of the yet unborn, but surely approaching time, when it and the land whereon it stands, and the ancient, life-teeming, wealth-laden Thames shall sink out of sight, and the British Empire be no more. Mr. Dixon's engagement to supplement Professor Wilson's handsome offer with any further sum which might be required, and his energetic and skilful efforts have been crowned at last with the most glorious success. To convey the needle to England the Thames Iron Ship Building Company were instructed to prepare a wrought iron cylindrical pontoon vessel, divided by bulkheads into eight water-tight compartments, ninety-two feet long, by fifteen feet in diameter, one of the ends being fitted with a rudder, while the opposite end tapered gradually into the vessel's bow. Resting on a wooden frame connected with these bulkheads, the Needle was designed to pass through them with some proportion of elastic movement. This strange vessel when completed was named the Cleopatra, and in pieces was conveyed to Alexandria, and then built up underneath, and all round the obelisk as it lay in its bed of sand. The various iron plates, in closely-fitting, air-and-water-tight segments, were riveted around it as the sand was dug away, till its enclosure was securely completed. Four inches beneath the centre the Needle was firmly placed; concrete, completely solidified, to prevent the vessel capsizing, was used to fill up the fore and aft compartments above the centre line of the vessel. A channel was then cut to the sea, and the water let into it, which floated the vessel, of about 700 tons, with its heavy freight of granite stone in one piece 180 tons weight, and safely rolled the entire mass without any mishap into the sea. The whole construction of this novel craft was ingeniously contrived, and its buoyancy and sailing qualities for encountering the severest of ocean storms, by the trials it has undergone have been proved to be of the highest order. Fitted with a deck-house, a mast and every requisite convenience for a long sea voyage, a crew of eight Maltese seamen under Captain Carter were engaged, and the Olga tug steamer, commanded by Captain Booth, bound for Falmouth, was employed to tow her. On the morning of September 21st, 1877, the two vessels, at the speed of seven knots an hour set sail, and the voyage promised to be a prosperous one, till the evening of Sunday, October 4th, when a storm came, turning to a terrible tempest, against which the Cleopatra's crew battled for many hours, till she was hove by a heavy sea on her beam ends, and a large number of iron rails taken on board as ballast rendered futile all efforts to right her, by their breaking loose after repeated attempts to secure them. In reply to the signal from the helpless Cleopatra at one o'clock the next morning, "we are foundering," the captain of the Olga sent a boat to take the crew off, which, after many vain attempts to throw a rope on board, they succeded in doing, while six of the brave sailors in the darkness drifted away in a boat, and were thought to be lost, after many hours steaming about in search, and finding no trace of them. Suppesing, therefore, that they were drowned, and that the Cleopatra had gone down, the "Olga," sailed for Falmouth, where she arrived with the mournful tidings, which rapidly spread through the country and excited the sorrow and compassion of many thousands for the missing sailors, and for the supposed loss of the anxiously expected Needle. Mr. Dixon, notwithstanding, had a firm faith in the seaworthiness of the singularly constructed vessel, and that she was yet afloat in the Bay of Biscay. His confidence proved to be well-founded. Intelligence soon arrived that she was picked up the English steamer "Fitzmaurice" after tossing about the Bay some sixty hours, near the spot where the "Olga" left her, and was towed into Ferrol, on the coast of Spain, where a lien on her was placed for salvage by the captain of the "Fitzmaurice." After many weeks detention her salvage was settled for, and she was taken "out of pawn" by the "Anglia," sent from England, and was safely towed without any further mishap from Ferrol Bay to the Thames, and finally moored in the East India Docks in the first month of 1878. The Needle's last venture on the water before her erection on the ground chosen for her in her new home took place at an early hour on the morning of Saturday, Feb. 2d, when two tugs, preceded by a launch having on board Admiral Ommaney, gaily dressed with flags and amid the firing of cannon and the cheering of the crowds, took the Cleopatra from the dock and towed her to a point in the Thames opposite the Houses of Parliament. The Needle and its former five companions were hewn in the famous quarries of Syene, on the northern border of Egypt. Its height is nearly sixty-eight feet and a half; its width at the base from seven feet, ten inches, to seven feet, five inches; and it gradually tapers upward to a width of between four and five feet; and then terminates in a summit called the Pyramidion, from its being formed like a small pyramid, seven feet, six inches high. It is supposed the obelisk was chiselled into shape and polished before taken from the quarry. Each of the four sides show three columns of hieroglyphic inscriptions. The middle column tells us of King Thothmes III., by whom it was erected, while the side columns speak of King Rameses II. During long ages the key to the reading of them was lost, and so they remained an inscrutable mystery to all who gazed on them, till the labors of Champollion, Dr. Young and others at the beginning of this century, helped to decipher them. The strange characters were discovered not to be expressive of objects as had been supposed, but were really alphabetic letters of the ancient Egyptian language. The hieroglyphics proclaim little besides the titles of the monarchs and the praises of their gods. The following is a specimen interpretation by Dr. Birch of the British Museum. "The Horns, the powerful bull, beloved of the Sun; the King of the south and north, Menkheper-ra; his father Tum has set his name up to him, in the palace attached to Heliopolis, giving him the seat of Sab, the dignity of Kheepera, the Son of the Sun, Thothmes III., true ruler, beloved of the Benu of An, ever living." Besides Dr. Birch's quotation above, which appears in the middle column of one side of the obelisk, the sides and lateral columns show an appeal to the Sun by Thothmes III., the third Pharaoh, with his offer of gifts. In his hand he holds the symbol of eternal life; the fan and dog-headed sceptre of dominion; the hawk, and the king's standard with the sacred bull below, and an arm with a weapon. The hawk symbolizes the sun, and its double crown upper and lower Egypt, and the bull denotes power. The bee, an emblem of royalty, is also seen, and an oval with the royal seal. The circular hollow in the oval beneath the emblems of majesty represents the disc of the sun preceding a turreted bar and beetle. Underneath is a second oval with two figures, preceded by an Ibis for the family name of King Thothmes. King Rameses II. is referred to in the side columns. The hieroglyphics of two other sides also mention him in similar ovals, which makes three sides that have been deciphered; but the fourth side has not yet been interpreted. The city of On and its temple of the sun was near Palestine, where Jacob's sons were settled under Joseph. Abraham may have seen this temple when he "went down into Egypt." Joseph, who married the daughter of Potisphera, priest of On, probably saw the erection of the very obelisk we now behold in London. Jeremiah, who at a later period was carried a captive into Egypt and lifted his prophetic voice against the temple of the sun, had also probably been a visitor there. The idolatrous monarchs of that country claimed to be descended from the sun, and the people worshipped it as their principal god. Moses lived among them about the same time, prophesied against the powerful Egyptian monarchy, and led the exodus of the Israelites when they were dwelling under it as a horde of slaves. Ezekiel, Isaiah, and Jeremiah uttered similar predictions of its downfall, which have been fulfilled. The glory of its greatness has departed forever.

Since the above was written the Needle has been removed from the pontoon Cleopatra and placed on the Thames embankment, a little below and on the same side with the Houses of Parliament. Every time I passed the Needle during my stay in London there was a crowd examining it and the strange characters cut in the stone.

Two Precious Thieves.

Daniel Robinson was president and D. Thomas Vail was vice-president of the Merchants & Mechanics bank, of Troy, N. Y., recently closed by orders of the Attorney-General; they were also president and treasurer of the Troy & Boston railroad, and managers of a woolen mill near Troy. It turns out that they stole the bank and railroad, and both concerns are utterly ruined. The railroad borrowed $700,000 from the bank on notes signed by employes of the company. It has been shown, in the examination of the affairs of the defunct bank that Robinson, or his co-workers, deposited in the bank, in exchange for good money, notes drawn in round sums of $40,000, signed by the telegraph operators, the station masters, train despatchers, and even the switchmen and other employes, few of whom had a second suit of clothes to their back. These notes were endorsed by Robinson or Vail, and discounted as good business paper, but all such notes Robinson abstracted from the bank vault and mutilated, just before the concern was closed up and its effects turned over to the United States officials. Vail, who claims that he was but a tool for the boss thief, Robinson, has been indicted by the grand jury, and is under arrest; Robinson is yet at large.

An Idol Overthrown.

It is now stated that the detectives who have been working up the case of the supposed murder of Cashier Barron of the Dexter, Me., bank, have come to the conclusion that he committed suicide by taking morphine, instead of being murdered, as the theory was, by burglars to whom he refused the combination of the lock, after having closed the door of the safe. The detectives declare that the position in which Mr. Barron was found in the vault, hand-cuffed and gagged, with the double doors of the vault locked upon him, could have been caused by himself. This has been demonstrated by actual trial, the whole being accomplished in less than five minutes time by one of the detectives. The cause would naturally be supposed to be a deficiency in his accounts, or a misapplication of the funds of the bank. Whether this is the case or not the bank officials decline to say.

That Cipher Investigation.

The Potter committee, at the end of a week's "investigation" of the cipher despatches," arrived at a knowledge of how the Tribune got hold of the ones it translated and published. Instead of the Potter frauds endeavoring to find out the bottom facts about the matter, and calling Tilden, Nephew Pelton, Smith Weed, Woolley, Coyle, Moses Manton Match Marble Mobble, and the other coparceners, to explain the telegrams they sent and why they sent them, not a man of the whole tribe was called. On the other hand, Whitelaw Reid and various republican officials were put on trial for aiding in giving publicity to the cipher despatches, or for not preventing such publicity. It looks as though the majority of the committee propose to keep pottering along without doing anything until the present Congress ends, when the committee's powers will end.

The New President of France.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

Schooner Caroline Knight, which left this port some days ago in tow of steam tug Hercules, arrived at her destination, Rockland, Me., Jan. 29th.

Mr. Tobias D. Foss, formerly a schoolteacher in this city and vicinity, is keeping a hotel at Tilton. He says it pays better to feed the bodies than the minds of people.—Weekly.

During the last fiscal year the customs receipts at this port footed up $14,324; collection expenses, $5,387; leaving a balance to the United States treasury of of $8,937.

Mr. J. S. Lowell, telegraph operator at the Eastern depot in Newburyport, formerly occupying a like position at the depot in this city, has left for Denver, Colorado, to become superintendent of a new telegraph line.

The sum of $40,000 is realized by the United States as taxes on the rum manufactured at Ward's distillery in this city. This, together with the amount realized from the breweries and for special taxes, will foot up a total of nearly $200,000 collected in this city.—Journal.

Mayor Sise has had a large hole dug in the south mill-pond, near the bridge, to serve as a reservoir for use by the engines in case of fire in that vicinity, thus furnishing an additional protection to that neighborhood at a cost not worthy of mention when compared to its possible value in an hour of need.

The 23d Regiment of Infantry, U. S. A., to which First Lieutenant Fred L. Dodge of this city is attached, has been ordered from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to take post at some point in the Indian Territory to be hereafter named. Three companies with the major and band left by rail on the 21st of January for Fort Dodge, Kansas, and will thence march to Fort Supply in the Indian Territory.

The cases of Ozro J. Hobbs and several other of the police officers under Mayor Goodrich's administration, against the city, to recover witness fees which they claimed to be due them, have been heard before William H. Rollins, Esq., as referee, who has rendered his decision to the supreme court. His decision gives the officers pay in all cases in which the city recovered money as witness fees; in cases in which the city did not recover money as witness fees the claimants cannot recover from the city.

On Friday a horse attached to a pung loaded with empty barrels took fright on Spring hill at ice and snow falling off a roof, and ran down Ceres street as far as the alley opposite Mr. Ladd's house, up which he turned, capsizing the pung and clearing himself from it, throwing out and bruising Samuel J. Horton, the driver, and scattering the empty barrels all along the street. The horse then ran home to his stable. No great harm was done, judging from the fact that the team was on the street again with the same driver in an hour or two. The turn-out belongs to C. L. Brown.

THE VICINITY.

Ice eighteen inches thick is being housed for the Pepperell Manu. Co. of Saco.

A revival at the Advent church at South Eliot is in progress, the meetings being in charge of Rev. George Brown.

Hon. Joseph Titcomb of Kennebunk has been appointed bank examiner by Gov. Garcelon, in place of W. W. Bolster, removed.

Miss Fannie Garland of North Berwick, an employe in the woollen mill, had her left hand badly injured Thursday, rendering amputation necessary.

The schooner Oliver Dyer, Walker master, arrived in the lower harbor on Thursday and reported the loss of head sails and one anchor during a gale. She is owned in Saco.

Portsmouth Grange, and Patrons of Husbandry generally are invited to attend a social gathering of Hampton Falls Grange at the town hall, Thursday evening, Feb. 6th.

The Exeter Gazette says: "Few smarter old ladies can be found than Mrs. Dollie Leavitt of North Hampton, who, at the advanced age of ninety-three years, is able to attend to house-hold duties."

In the supreme court at Lewiston, Me., in the case of H. C. Young vs. the Boston & Maine railroad, being an action for damages for putting the plaintiff off of a car and injuring his knee at Old Orchard, the jury gave a verdict for $200.

The St. James hotel in Boston, under the management of Doyle & Mead, is having a successful season. Mr. Mead will be remembered by many of our citizens as the successful caterer at the Oceanic, at the Shoals, since its start.

From March 1st, 1877, to August 10th, 1878, (when the tramp law went into effect,) between five and six hundred tramps were fed and lodged at the Greenland town farm. Since the last named date only three vagrants have been cared for, one woman and two men.

Mr. J. F. Patch, of Kittery, has about completed on Barney's point, near Fort McClary, a tasty cottage for Dr. J. W. Barney of Concord, who will occupy it next summer. Gen. J. N. Patterson, also of Concord, who owns an adjoining lot, will probably build before another season opens.

The Boston & North Hampton and the Lynn & Hampton milk companies have completed arrangements with the Eastern railroad company to transport their milk by passenger train, commencing February 1st. Two fine new cars are now being built for this purpose. The railroad company is to receive $7000 a year for transporting the two cars.

The people of Biddeford and Saco, instead of sympathizing with William Manuel, who received a severe horse-whipping on the public street a few days since, say he was served just right. He has cleared out, and will hardly be induced to return by the generous promise made of a suit of tar underclothing and feather outside garments in case he comes back. What Mr. Manuel has done to merit the displeasure of the people is not stated.

The Newmarket Advertiser says: "Fanny Tattersall, formerly of Newmarket, died recently in England. She had returned to her native country only a few years before her decease, having lived in this country for a long time previous. She was well known in Newmarket, and her death will be deeply mourned by many. Her voice was often heard in prayer or exhortation in the meetings at the Baptist vestry, and she was a constant attendant at church."

BODY FOUND.

The body of Reuben Frisbee of Kittery Point, who has been missing since the night of December 9th, when he started from this city in a boat at a late hour for his home, was found on Friday forenoon floating in the water under Adams & Co's lumber wharf, by a Mr. Staples of Eliot. The remains were taken to the police station, and Frisbee's friends and the authorities of Kittery were notified of the recovery of the body.

The Kittery selectmen declining to do anything toward disposing of the remains, Mayor Sise ordered a decent interment on this side of the river, and after prayers by Rev. E. M. Grant, the body, which had previously been decently prepared, was laid in the tomb. But while the services were in progress Mrs. John Safford of Kittery point, by whom the deceased has at times been employed, arrived, and informed the mayor that the unfortunate man's body would at the earliest opportunity be removed to the Point and laid in the cemetery there, and the city reimbursed for any expenses already incurred.

THE ICE HARVEST.

Mr. Cyrus L. Brown has contracted with Messrs. Laighton Bros. & Co. to supply the hotels at the Isles of Shoals with three hundred tons of ice, which will be cut from Marston's pond, North Hampton, near S. L. & W. Chesley's store. The ice will be hauled to North Hampton station and brought by the Eastern railroad to their wharf at Noble's island in this city, and there put on board a Gloucester steamer for transportation to the Shoals. The ice is said to be of superior quality.

SCHOOL CHANGES.

The school taught by Miss Nellie Chesley, at the upper part of State street, will be suspended until some arrangement can be made to accommodate the pupils attending it. The building, which was leased by the city for five years at an annual rental of $125, has been found unsuitable for the purpose, for the reasons that it is situated on low, wet ground, and though raised some distance above it, has no cellar, so that there is no protection either from dampness or from the cold winds which blow under the building. It is said that many parents would have withdrawn their children from the school rather than longer risk their health in this building.

On Thursday evening Alderman Hadley called the attention of the Board to the matter, and two plans were suggested in remedy, one to partition off the room occupied by Mr. Kidder, and the other to make room for Miss Chesley's pupils in the State and Cabot street schoolhouses, and transfer the scholars with reference to their nearness to either school. The subject was referred to the committee on schoolhouses, to report to the Board.

WILLIAM B. LOWD.

Mr. William B. Lowd, whose sudden death on Thursday night has been announced, was for many years the only book-binder in Portsmouth, and was noted for the faithful and skillful manner in which he performed all work entrusted to him. He was at work but a little more than twenty-four hours before his death. He was a pleasant, unassuming companion, strictly honest in his dealings, industrious at his business, a devoted husband and father, and a good citizen.

U. S. COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

Charles Jones, of Wakefield, was brought before Commissioner Hackett upon two complaints, one for illegally selling malt liquors without a special tax, and the other for selling cigars without such payment. The district attorney said that this was a case of a notorious violation of the law, and he had had his attention called to it by several citizens of Wakefield. Jones admitted selling a little, but claimed that his was a new establishment and that he gave away more than he sold. The commissioner held him to answer at the May term of the circuit court, and in default of bail he was committed to jail by Marshal Patterson on Friday evening. Friday was evidently an unlucky day for Charles.

SUPREME COURT.

Jan. Term; Foster, J.

The case of Chas. W. Martin, of Haverhill, Mass., vs. L. G. Towle, of Exeter, an action to recover damages for injuries received on account of the overturning of a barge at Hampton beach in the summer of 1877, will come up for trial during this session of court. The case was tried one year ago, the jury disagreeing, standing ten for the plaintiff and two for the defendant.

The National Complaint.

Dyspepsia is the national complaint. Almost every other man or woman you meet has it, and the result is that the number of pseudo-remedies for it is as numerous as Pharaoh's host. There is, however, a searching eradicant of this distressing and obdurate malady, one whose genuine merits long since raised it to a foremost place among the staple medicines of America. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters extirpates dyspepsia with greater certainty and promptitude than any known remedy, and is a most genial invigorant, appetizer and aid to secretion. These are not empty assertions, as thousands of our country men and women who have experienced its effects are aware, but are backed up by irrefragable proofs repeatedly laid before the public. The Bitters also promotes a regular habit of body and give a healthful stimulus to the urinary organs.

A Merchant Up Town went without his overcoat, took a hard cold and was cross, most sick, when one of his clerks prevailed upon him to try a little of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Three doses cured him.

Chronic Catarrh is easily cured if you will use Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tfeb25

Reflect that in every cemetery ½ of the silent tenants are the victims of neglected Coughs and Cold; and if you are thus afflicted, avoid their fate by resorting at once to Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar, an immediate, agreeable, and certain means of cure. Sold by all Druggists. tfebl

By the almost unanimous action of the parties interested,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

has replaced the old worn-out inventions for coloring the hair, which the bitter experience of years had proved to be ineffective and deleterious. Unlike the compounds that upon the health of the hair, and dry up and consume the juices which sustain it, this mild, genial and perfect dye is found to be a vitalizing as well as a coloring agent.

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a refreshment that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. PATERSON, N. J., April 17, 1877.

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

JOHN E. REGNER,
Chief of Fire Department.

A Fatal Fishery Excursion.

The Concord correspondent of the Boston Journal says that on Friday, Jan. 24th, three men of Laconia—G. Rowe, Lieut. Harrison Swain and Odel Sanborn—started up Winnisquam bay fishing. They went about a mile and a half to a fish house, where they unloaded their provisions, which consisted mainly of rum, to the amount of two gallons and a pint. They set their lines near by but immediately neglected them and gave their whole attention to the rum and a pack of cards. As near as Rowe and Swain can remember it was about the middle of the afternoon on Saturday when they tried to rouse Sanborn up to take another drink, and discovered that he was dead. Rowe at once started for home, and Swain, who was so intoxicated as scarcely to be able to realize that one of his companions was dead, sunk into a stupor, and some time during Saturday night awoke to find himself alone with the corpse. Badly frightened at the situation in which he found himself, he started for home Sunday morning without hat or coat, and on the way his feet and ears were badly frozen. Sanborn's body was carried to his mother's house on Sunday, and the funeral occurred on Monday. Swain was a lieutenant in a New Hampshire regiment during the rebellion war, and was a faithful and efficient officer. He is now suffering greatly from his frozen limbs, and it is feared that he will lose one of his feet.

—An Ithica girl has painted fifty black buttons, to ornament a dress for herself, with a pretty design, either a bit of wheat, a bee, or a dainty flower, while around the cuffs and down the front of the dress from throat to hem run interlaced clusters of lilies of the valley, with here and there a humming bird, in color and form as natural as life. A necklace made in the same manner is also worn. The painting is all on groundwork of black satin, and is delicately and deftly done.

The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 152 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or alteration in diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SHUMAN, COOLTTER & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. FOWKLE & FLEMING, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat: "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most special and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this remedy a special specific, I have named it

WITHOUT CHANGE,

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while treating the positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, thought it not in the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, I offer and sell it under A WRITTEN GUARANTEE (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.25. It treats intimately on those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

BY H. L. H.

The Houses of Parliament, or the New Palace of Westminster, is situated on the northern bank of the Thames and covers eight acres of ground. It is said to be the largest and finest gothic edifice in the world, and cost above ten millions of dollars. I had a view from the middle of Westminister bridge. It is constructed of Yorkshire magnesian limestone, which is beautiful and close grained. The first stone was laid the 27th of April, 1840. I noticed on a close inspection that the stone showed signs of deterioration, and the thought passed through my mind that perhaps London had a ring as well as our great city of New York. I understand that several ingenious means for its preservation have been tried with varying success. It will hardly stand and hold its own as long as the noble Cleopatra's Needle. The river frontage of the Palace is 900 feet in length, raised upon a fine terrace of Aberdeen granite and is adorned with statues, heraldic shields, etc., carved in stone. The carcasses of the entire building including the roof are fire-proof, no timber having been used in its construction. The interior is perfectly magnificent, with its lofty apartments, finely proportioned windows, massive beams, and sculptured ornaments. The House of Peers is a lofty-seven feet by forty-five, and forty-five feet high, richly gilded and ornamented. The House of Commons is sixty-two feet by forty-five, and forty-five feet high, but not so elaborately finished. Besides great numbers of corridors, lobbies, courts, and halls there are the Clock-Tower, the Victoria Tower, the Royal Staircase, the Guard Room, the Queen's Robing Room, the Royal Gallery and the Court, the Princes' Chamber, the Speaker's Residence, various libraries, and innumerable committee rooms. The Victoria Tower is a magnificent structure seventy-five feet square and 340 feet high, at the base of which is the Queen's State entrance, a noble arch. The Clock Tower is forty feet square and 320 feet high, in which is "big Ben," an immense bell of thirteen and one half tons weight, upon which is struck the hour. The grandest musical tone I ever listened to it seemed to me came from that bell and Tower. It can be heard in most every part of London on a clear day. The clock has four dials twenty-two and one half feet in diameter. The minute hand is eleven feet long. The weights hang in a shaft 175 feet deep and are wound by steam power. The pendulum weighs 700 lbs. and the shaft is fifteen feet long. The clock reports its own time to Greenwich twice a day, and has varied less than a second in eighty consecutive days. The whole building stands on a bed of concrete twelve feet thick. The materials used include hundreds of thousands of tons of stone, twenty-four millions of bricks, and several thousand tons of iron. Closely connected with the Houses of Parliament is Westminister Hall, said to have been founded by William Rufus in 1097; but it was rebuilt in its present form by Richard II., who in 1399 kept his Christmas here with great magnificence, the number of his guests amounting to 10,000 each day. It is said to be the largest apartment in Europe unsupported by pillars. Its length is 270 feet, its breadth seventy-four feet, and its height about ninety feet. The roof, which principally consists of chestnut wood, is very curiously constructed, and adorned with angels supporting shields, charged with the arms of Richard II. and his patron saint, Edward the Confessor. The coronation feasts have been held in this Hall for ages. Courts of justice were held here in very early times in which the sovereign himself was accustomed to preside, and the ancient stone bench, whereon the monarch sat, is said to be yet in existence beneath the pavement in the upper end. The last coronation dinner held there was that of George IV. Opposite the Hall is Westminister Abbey. For me to even attempt a description of that ancient and grand building seems like presumption. The feeling is the same that came over me when I found myself inside the walls. A sort of awe which compelled me to take off my hat and move very softly from place to place. The thought of being in a church founded way back in 616, and said by the monkish legends to be miraculously consecrated by St. Peter himself, its patron saint, and also the last resting place of so many kings, queens, statesmen, poets, and distinguished men and women, seems to me should be able to lift a man's hat and make him walk softly, if anything in the world could. Strange as it may seem, the relic hunter has been at his mean work even here, for all through the venerable building I noticed that bits of marble and stone have been chipped off from pillars and monuments by persons who should be confined in the crypt beneath the floors with the remains of those whose tombs they have desecrated until their minds (if they have any) were brought to a realizing sense of the wrongs they had committed. To a person whose church-going, like mine, has been mostly in comparatively small wooden buildings, the service is indeed grand, or rather the surroundings, for I must I apologize to the rector, as I do not remember a word he said; and the only part of the service that recalled me from the building with its wonderful arches, pillars, and windows, besides the recumbent effigies of kings and queens, was the choir of fifty or more of men and boys, who did the chanting in a most beautiful and effective manner. No need of any minister. If I had the arranging of services in the Abbey I should not allow a word to be spoken, but would have the choir and surroundings for a sermon of about one hour's duration. The Abbey was once a Benedictine monastery, and is situated on a spot originally surrounded by the waters of the Thames, and called Thorney Island, now included under the name of Westminster. It is in the form of a Latin cross in the pointed style of architecture. The length is 416 feet, breadth of transept 203 feet, height of towers 225 feet. To its eastern extremity is attached the chapel of Henry VII., who founded it as a royal burying place for himself and succeeding sovereigns and princes. The view of the interior from the west entrance is uncommonly grand, and many other points might be mentioned where the various divisions and ornaments of the buildings range in very beautiful perspectives. The west window is enriched with full length paintings on glass of Moses and Aaron, the Patriarchs, etc. The large and elegant rose window in the north transept is embellished with similar paintings of Christ and the Apostles. The marigold window, in the south transept, was erected in 1814, and is still more elaborate in design than the one just mentioned. The choir is winscoted and neatly fitted up with stalls, seats, etc., and a fine organ. Immediately behind the choir is the very interesting chapel of Edward the Confessor, in the midst of which stands the shrine in which the ashes of that sovereign lie entombed. Here also are the coronation chairs, in the framework of the most ancient of which is the famous stone which Edward I. brought from Scotland, traditionally said to have been the very pillow on which Jacob reposed when he had his beatific vision in the Holy Land. Round the chapel are the tombs of Henry III., Edward I. and Queen Eleanor, Edward III. and Queen Philippa, Richard II. and Anne his first Queen, and Henry V. The south transept is generally called "Poets' Corner," in which are the monuments of Chaucer, Spencer, Shakespeare, Camden, Ben Jonson, Milton, Sir William D. Avenant, Dryden, Butler, Gay, Thompson, Rowe, Gray, Addison, Handel, Garrick, Goldsmith, Sheridan, Campbel, Macaulay, and other distinguished dead. I think I could have passed at least one week profitably in the Abbey, but as my time was limited I was obliged to deny myself.

I found after being in London a little over a week that if I stopped at a hotel my expenses would necessitate a shorter visit than I wished, so I began to look about me for a more economical manner of living, and found that one can live well in London for a very small sum per week. It was my intention to stop in London one year and pursue the study of music if I found better teachers and facilities than in America. I joined the Royal Academy of Music, which is the best institution of the kind in London, for one half-term, and satisfied myself that only in one particular was it better than those at home, and that was the large orchestra connected with the Academy, in which all the students that wished to make orchestra players had every advantage that could be obtained. Taking into consideration the terrible depression I felt most of the time from the everlasting smoke and fog, I did not think it worth while stopping. In the month of October for thirteen days the sun was not seen in London, although the weather was reported fine outside. I found it necessary to light my lamp in order to read in the middle of the day. Now that would never do for a person brought up in New England. I am almost a fire-worshipper, I think so much of that grand orb, the sun, and do not wish to lose its pleasant rays half of the year. Rather would I saw wood the rest of my days, with the sun shining on me, than be at the head of the Bank of England and confined in London the year round. While it is the most interesting city of the world, at the same time to me it is the most disagreeable. I shall never be sorry that I was allowed the privilege of looking at its wonderful buildings and ancient relics. I would advise every young man who can get the money together to take a trip across the Atlantic and do likewise. It will do two things for him, broaden his ideas of life and the world, and he will make a better citizen on his return. I am inclined to think that it would almost pay Uncle Sam to run a steamer to London and take over free of charge all those who are dissatisfied with their country, and leave them a month or so. They would return better citizens and would shout for the Union and "Star-spangled banner" with a better appreciation of the benefits such a country as ours gives. For the benefit of those who, like myself, are not overburdened with funds, and would like to see London, I will open my cash book and reveal its secrets. I was greatly indebted to a student in the Academy who came from New Zealand, for a great deal of information. He had been in the city over three years. He introduced me to his landlady, who let me a room for a dollar and a half per week. It was up three flights and of course was not adorned with costly furniture, but was a clean and comfortable apartment. A great many such places can be found in the best part of London. The papers are always full of advertisements of rooms to let, and if a person will take the trouble he will find that he could hardly go a half-mile past dwelling houses in any part of London without seeing in the windows and over the doors of more than a dozen places a card with "Apartments to let" printed upon it. I took my meals at a Welsh restaurant near by. It was understood that feeing was not a custom of the establishment. The food was plain and wholesome. They had a regular custom of about 500 per day. It cost me $10.79 for my meals for four weeks, and I do not think I denied myself. I wish it was the good fortune of all the world to have as much. My washing was done at a laundry and would average about thirty cents per week; shirts done up in good shape for six cents, and other things in proportion. My whole bill for four weeks amounted to $17.19. It would not average twenty dollars a month the year round.

—A New Haven man who wanted to shuffle off this mortal coil had hard luck recently. He attempted to hang himself, but the rope broke. He lay down on the railroad track, but the train stopped just before it rescued him. He then determined to try strychnine, but the druggist wouldn't sell it to him. He has changed his mind now and intends to live, whether or no.

—Mrs. Peter Bouck, wife of a Boston and Albany railroad engineer, gave birth to a son on Wednesday night weighing twenty-two pounds.

News and Notes.

The oyster schooner Adamantine, bound from Potomac river to Baltimore, was found on Friday sunk in the bay. The captain's dead body was found lashed to the topmast, and the bodies of nine men composing the crew were found lashed to the deck, which was several feet under water.

Mrs. Rebecca Baker, aged eighty-four years, who lived with her son, D. W. Baker, in Liberty, Me., was burned to death January 22d. The old lady was helpless on account of paralysis, and was sitting in a chair near the fire. The son's wife went into a neighbor's on an errand, leaving the old lady alone, and on returning found her clothing in a blaze, and she was burned to a crisp before the flames could be put out.

Unusual excitement was occasioned in the thickly settled portion of Manchester, on Friday, by a hot chase after a young desperado named James Mahon, by J. C. Ray, superintendent of the State reform school. Two years ago Mahon escaped from Ray at the depot, in that city, while en route to the Concord State prison, under a sentence of five years. During his absence he served a short sentence in the Connecticut State prison, and recently returned. Ray saw him on Friday, and gave chase and captured him, after firing four shots from a revolver, each of which took effect. Mahon is a desperate character and an inveterate burglar. Ray took him to the State prison in the afternoon.

Naval Matters.

Ensign William Winder is detached from the receiving ship Wabash, and ordered to the Vandalia.

Boatswain Francis Butland and Carpenter Henry R. Philbrick are detached from the Marion, and placed on waiting orders.

The orders of Surgeon Thomas Hiland to the Lackawanna are revoked and he is placed on waiting orders.

Capt. John Irwin, late in command of the Pensacola, is returning home on account of family affliction.

The Army and Navy Journal says: "The recent inspection of the Vandalia, commanded by Commander H. B. Robeson, and Marion, commanded by Commander R. F. Bradford, show those vessels to be in an efficient and clean condition. The extremely cold weather was unfavorable for many of the exercises and drills, but such as could be gone through with indicated that the discipline of the vessels had been fully maintained.

Congress has before it a resolution authorizing the President to appoint Surgeon J. Rufus Tryon a medical inspector in the navy, for distinguished services during the yellow fever epidemic at Pensacola in 1874, when he left a northern station for temporary service at Pensacola after the surgeon and passed assistant surgeon on duty there had died of the disease.

The total of salvage claims made against the Constitution on account of her recent grounding, principally by the tugs that pulled her off, was £4,200, of which $1,330 was paid. The remuneration offered was accepted in every case save one, and that was the case of the tug Admiral, which demanded £1500 and was offered £200.

The Ticonderoga arrived at St. Vincent, Cape de Verdes, Jan. 5th, and sailed Jan. 8th for the coast of Africa.

The Senate has before it a bill appropriating $150,000 to pay bounty to officers and men of Flag Officer Farragut's fleet at New Orleans.

—Many years ago a certain New Hampshire judge was travelling in company with his nephew, a young aspirant for legal fame. They occupied a room together at a country inn one night, and in the morning, as soon as he was awake, the young man asked the judge what time it was. "Seven o'clock," responded the judge, without consulting his watch. "How do you know?" asked his nephew. "I assume it," answered his uncle; "if I say it is seven o'clock I may be right; if I say it is anything else I may be wrong." Logic is logic.

Theological students reason that if there be counterfeit money, there must be genuine; so, if there be infidels, there must also be Christians. If this be true of money and religion, will not the same rule apply to "put up" medicines? Do not the cheap and worthless nostrums prove that there are genuine and meritorious "put up" medicines? The great popularity of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has resulted in the manufacture of many shoddy alterative and tonic remedies, but one after another these have disappeared, the proprietors having found that, no matter how loud they advertise, success depends upon merit. In South America, as well as in this country, the Discovery is the standard remedy for all scrofulous and eruptive diseases. It acts promptly on the stomach, liver, and blood, toning up, regulating, and purifying the system. It speedily allays all bronchial irritation, and cures the most stubborn cough or cold in half the time required by any other remedy.

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

THE CITY.

Miss Mary E. Joy fell on the ice on Washington street, Thursday evening, and received painful injuries to one of her arms.

The cantata of "Belshazzar's Feast, or the fall of Babylon," is in rehersal, and will probably be produced some time in March.

Among the charters reported last week is that of a schooner to take three thousand barrels of apples from this city to Philadelphia, at fifteen cents a barrel.

The schooner Satellite, Adderton master, on her last trip from this port to Boston, which was made last week, carried a cargo of hay taken on board at Eliot.

On Thursday of last week the steamer James Sampson, Stevenson master, was chartered by Mr. Leavitt, keeper of Boon island light, to take him out to the island, and made the trip out and back in four hours and fifty-five minutes, including the time taken up in landing two boat-loads of provisions and stores.

The price of gas in Portsmouth is $3.25 per thousand feet. The price in Manchester has been reduced from $2.50 per thousand feet to $2, though the coal from which the gas is made has to be transported from this city. In Concord the price has been reduced to $3, from $3 20, with a discount of ten per cent if paid in ten days, and five per cent if paid in thirty days from maturity.

When Israel Marden, late city marshal of Portsmouth, was elected to that office, the salary was $800 a year, which after he was sworn in was reduced to $700. Mr. Marden brought suit against the city for the other $100, claiming that such reduction was illegal, and the case has recently been decided by a referee, whose decision is that Mr. Marden is entitled to the amount claimed, with interest.

Damon Lodge, Knights of Pythias, celebrated the eighth anniversary of its organization by a banquet held in the hall of the lodge on Friday evening. A large number of persons were present, including many invited guests; and speech-making, singing, etc., occupied the time up to a late hour, to the satisfaction of all whose good fortune it was to be present. The lodge since its institution has been steadily increasing in numbers, and has now a membership of one hundred and twenty-five, with a large permanent fund well invested.

THE VICINITY.

The Kennebunk Eastern Star says it is George W. Bowdoin of York, and not George Bowden, who has been appointed a justice of the peace for York county by Gov. Garcelon of Maine.

Ex-Collector Haynes of Dover last week paid over to the city treasurer about $4000, which was deposited in one of the banks to the credit of the city. How much the total deficiency in Mr. Haynes' accounts was has not been made public

The Great Falls Journal says: "Mrs. C. E. Bartlett has a chair over two hundred years old, brought from Scotland by Robert Maclin, who settled at Portsmouth, N. H., and was baker there for many years. He afterwards removed to Wakefield, in this State, and died there, as Belknap says in his History of New Hampshire, at the ripe old age of one hundred and fifteen years. He claimed to be one hundred and twenty-five. The late Daniel Ham told this anecdote of him: He wanted a smart wife, and gave notice if two women would come out and fight, he would marry the winner. The challenge was accepted; he kept his promise."

MR. RIDDLE'S READINGS.

Mr. Riddle's course of Shakespeare readings opens on Friday evening with "Romeo and Juliet." The best commentary we can make on it was given by a lady in the audience, who exclaimed, "There! it seems as if I had never heard Shakespeare read before." The dramatis personæ spoke for themselves so plainly that it was unnecessary to mention the name of the supposed speaker, and the play was far more vividly presented than is often seen and heard upon the stage. The rendering of "As You Like It" on Saturday morning, though the piece affords much less opportunity for display, was equally artistic. Mr. Riddle certainly is an artist in the best sense of the word. On Friday next he gives the beautiful "Midsummer Night's Dream," which the Boston Transcript pronounces the best presentation offered in Boston since Fanny Kemble's readings; and at the Saturday matinee, "Macbeth."

SUNDAY MISHAPS.

Capt. Edward Jamieson, of the schooner E. V. Fichols, was thrown out of a sleigh Sunday afternoon, and had one leg broken below the knee.

Mr. Frank Muchmore stepped out of a sleigh in which he had been riding, Sunday afternoon, when the horse took fright and ran up Daniel, Congress and Vaughan streets to Cochrane's stable, where he belonged. The sleigh was badly broken, and the horse received several severe cuts on the legs.

Two other sleighs were capsized on Water street, but without serious damage.

GOVERNOR'S ISLAND.

We have seen two deeds, both in the handwriting of the late Hon. William H. Y. Hackett, and each dated April 28th, 1827. One is from Andrew W. Bell, and recites that it conveys "a certain island with all the buildings thereon standing, commonly called and known by the name of Governor's island, lying and being situate in Piscataqua river near the pool, so-called," which island Ephraim Amazeen conveyed to Mr. Bell in 1818. The description in the other deed is the same, save that Amazeen (who married Mr. Bell's sister) says the island was conveyed to him by Reuben Shapley, March 13th, 1818. The latter deeds were to the late Capt. Thos. E. Oliver, whose heirs now own the island. Newcastle bridge was incorporated in 1821, and the right of way across the island was stated in said deeds not to be considered as an incumbrance. These deeds locate the island as in the river "near the pool," but do not give the town.

This seems to prove that the island which was bought by Mr. Amazeen, and cleared of its bushes and made a fish yard; which has on its northeast corner the famous Pull-and-be-something point; which the United States coast survey twenty-five years ago put down on the charts as "Goat island," and which for a still longer period has been indifferently called Goat island or Amazeen's island, was half a century and more ago "commonly called Governor's island"—a name to be preserved.

The pool (which is nearly surrounded by Shapleigh's, Governor's, Pest, Leach's and Salter's islands,) was visited by a fleet of seven English ships in the year 1665, for the purpose of loading with pine timber to be used as masts and deck plank for the ships of the English navy. The lumbermen made annual voyages across the ocean for many years, often under the convoy of a man-of-war to protect them from the cruisers of other nations with which England was constantly at war. One cold morning in January, 1744, the "Astrea," a twenty-gun ship, was burned at her anchors while lying here, and her charred remains found a resting place at the bottom of the pool. The water in a portion of the pool near the second bridge is about four fathoms deep, shoaling abrubtly on all sides except toward the bridge; and it makes an excellent winter harbor for small vessels, four or five of which are at the present time lying at anchor there. Though the neighboring islands have changed names about as often as they have owners, the pool is still "the pool."

THE ENTERTAINMENT.

From the notices of the press of the leading cities of the Union we are led to believe that the entertainment of the Rockingham Course for Wednesday evening will surpass in excellence any preceding night. The Press of Philadelphia says:

The original Swedish Lady Quartette surpassed all expectations. Such marvelous blending of human tones has seldom before been heard, and never before have such exquisitely sweet planissimo strains been wafted to American ears. At times their music seemed more like the sighing melody of autumn winds among the distant pines than the public singers, and then in the fortissimo changes the volume of sound would fill the vast hall like a swelling sea.

Mr. Carrington, in drum solos, has everywhere delighted the audiences assembled to witness him. In more than sixty of the principal cities of the United States he has never failed in receiving enthusiastic encores. The novelty of this specialty, its wonderful execution as well as its originality, arouse an enthusiasm of admiration wherever he goes. The manager certainly has given us a varied entertainment, and we feel assured that the verdict upon the coming programme will be one of generous approval.

DARK DEEDS.

On Saturday two colored persons appeared before Judge Batchelder, one of them being Jefferson Buchanan, who was charged with assaulting Mary Mitchell and with using lewd and profane language; the other was Mary Mitchell, charged with assaulting Mr. Buchanan. The evidence shew that Buchanan dunned Mary for payment of a debt, which Mary declared she wouldn't pay; then there was a lively war of words, in which the disputants called each other all the hard names they could remember, and invented a large assortment of new ones; and then, as Jefferson was going out of the door, Mary threw at him a pretty kettle of fish which had been standing on the stove for a hour or so, hitting him on the back with the salt fish and hot water, but missing him with the kettle. Jefferson then procured an axe with which to burst into the house and bang Mary, and when the axe was taken from him went away for a few minutes and came back with a brickbat in one hand and a big stone in the other, probably with intent to break Mary's shin; but the missiles also were taken from him before he could carry out his fatal design. After a little more skirmishing the battle ended, to be renewed on Saturday in the police court. The magistrate, after patiently listening to the details, adjudged both parties guilty of all the offences charged against them, but suspended sentence during good behavior.

AN OCEAN NONDESCRIPV.

The strange sea-monster mentioned recently in this paper as having been killed by some of the crew of the U. S. S. Pensacola on the coast of Mexico, recalls to memory one that was captured in former years, outside of Boston harbor, by some fishermen, and which was long on exhibition at Greenwood's New England Museum in so well-preserved a state as to give a perfect idea of the creature as he appeared when living. Like the later animal mentioned, though much smaller, it was bat-shaped in form, and for want of a better name was called "the *vampyre of the ocean." At each side of its huge mouth were projections a couple of feet in length, having eyes at their extremities as big as saucers, and which, in its preserved form, being supplied with those of glass, gave the creature a hideous aspect. No one had ever heard before of the capture of such an animal, nor could any record be found of its existence among the tenants of the sea. If it be the same as the dreaded enemy of the pearl-divers told of by the Mexicans who saw the one recently captured, it must be about as fearful to encounter in the ocean's depths as the hideous "hundred-limbed creature," the polypus of the ancients, referred to so fearfully as seen by the youthful diver "beneath the howling Charybdis," in Schiller's thrilling poem of "The Golden Cup," who, tempted by the offer of the King of the hand of his daughter in marriage as well as the cup, lost his life in attempting to recover it for the second time

"From the endless and pitiless world of the deep,
Roaring up to the cliff, roaring back as before,
Whence no wave ever brought the lost youth to the shore."

With the evidence of the present existence of such monsters of the deep as the one referred to above, we shall begin to believe in that of the krakin, of which such wonder-exciting tales were related by the old-time navigators, and that they sometimes mistook for a floating island; especially as we are aware, from their bones, that there were animals not less marvellous upon the land in some far-off time; such as the vertebræ, in the attic of our Athenæum, of a delicate creature, who would have had no difficulty in eating a brace of elephants for his breakfast, and drinking up a brook, at least, at a draught. J. H. B.

[*This "vampyre of the ocean," or devil-fish, is familiar enough to whalemen who have cruised in the central and southern Pacific, under the name of "diamond-fish" or "big skate." It is very similar to the common skate in appearance, but is broader in proportion to its length, and very dark in color; it swims—or flies, for the movements of its enormous, bat-like wings are exactly similar to the motions of a bird's wings—near the surface, and on sunny mornings often "breaches" from ten to twenty feet clear out of water, causing the whaler's masthead lookout to excitedly report "there's blackskin!" or "there she breaches!" and the ship to be headed for the hoped-for sperm whales, only to induce a grumbling chorus of disparaging remarks when the lookout shortly after reports to the captain, "It's only some —— diamond fish, sir!" The fish grows to a very large size, often apparently from twenty to twenty-five feet "from tip to tip;" but the whalemen never attempt to take it, as it is worthless, and the whalemen's tradition is that the diamond-fish, if harpooned, will breach into the boat and flatten out boat and crew together—though what ground there is for the tradition other than the monster's habit of breaching in sport, we cannot say.

†A correspondent of the Traveller, writing from St. John's, Newfoundland, under date of Jan. 17th, gives an account of the capture of two gigantic "devil-fish," or "big squids," as the Newfoundlanders call them, similar to but much larger than the huge octopus that was in this city last summer. The body of the "Equi-curricium" monster was ten feet long from the beak to the end of the tail, whereas one of the recently taken ones measured fifteen feet and the other twenty feet in length; the tentacles of the former were thirty feet in length, but one of the latter had tentacles forty-eight feet long, the tentacles of the other being thirty-five feet long. Both these monsters were thrown ashore within a few miles of each other, one at Southern Arm, Green Bay, and the other at Thimble Tickle.—The Ed.]

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEYSHIP.

The prospect of having the office of District Attorney for New Hampshire one of remunerative consequence, with a respectable salary attached, has recently aroused several lawyers to the fact that it is a position of great respectability. The present salary is two hundred dollars, with the fees for attendance at court and for trial of causes. The new bill provides for a salary of two thousand dollars,—hardly likely to become a law at present, however.

The office has, it is said, also attracted the attention of several lawyers to the fact that although Mr. Wheeler of Dover has a fine set of autographs on file in the Department of Justice at Washington, yet it appears that Dover has already furnished its quota of incumbents for federal offices. That city has had the district attorneyship for five years, and the collectorship of internal revenue for as many more; the Boston naval officer comes from Dover, as do clerks in the Boston custom house,—and Dover a city, too, where Mr. W. E. Chandler controls the politicians. No, no! the "administration" don't see it in that light, and at present inclines to the patriotic fire that "Burns" on the banks of the Souhegan rather than to the accumulated responsibilities of the politicians on the Cocheco.

SUPREME COURT.

Case State vs. the Beans was given to the jury Saturday forenoon, and a verdict of not guilty was returned in the evening. The elder Bean was not tried.

Judge Foster will commence the third week to-day. On the coming in of the court this afternoon the new docket will be called.

The trial of case State vs. Matilda Perry of Deerfield will commence Tuesday. County Solicitor Harriman appears for the State; Frink for the deft.

The National Complaint.

Dyspepsia is the national complaint. Almost every other man or woman you meet has it, and the result is that the number of pseudo remedies for it is as numerous as Pharaoh's hosts. There is, however, a searching eradicant of this distressing and obdurate malady, one whose genuine merits long since raised it to a foremost place among the staple medicines of America. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters extirpates dyspepsia with greater certainty and promptitude than any known remedy, and is a most genial invigorant, appetizer and aid to secretion. These are not empty assertions, as thousands of our country men and women who have experienced its effects are aware, but are backed up by irrefragable proofs repeatedly laid before the public. The Bitters also promote a regular habit of body and give a healthful stimulus to the urinary organs.

A Merchant Up Town went without his overcoat, took a hard cold and was crook, most sick, when one of his clerks prevailed upon him to try a little of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Three doses cured him.

Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. —Good for a cold—about zero.

—A shrewd resident of Springfield rather overdid one of his tricks before the snow storm. He had a wagon stolen from his barn one night, and to save his carriage from going subsequently, he adopted a modification of the idea of locking the door after the horse was stolen, by turning the nut off from one axle, so that when the anticipated thief started off in it the wheel would run off and upset him. No thief appeared, but the citizen having occasion to ride himself a day or two later, rolled out his carriage in good shape, hitched up and started off. The result to his person and feelings may be imagined.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rail of the heaviest section, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Take according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to do this, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writes from a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 159 pounds, and there is a perceptible improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOLLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POTTER & PLUMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "To THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'At the Anti-Fat had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.' Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, cures dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity on receipt of stamp.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon a personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon a personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases peculiar to the organism of woman, sought it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has perfect cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not cite this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats intimately of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those delicate cases.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

BY H. L. H.

I lodged near Hyde Park, which is rightly called one of the lungs of London, as it affords an opportunity of breathing good air. Great pains have been taken and a vast deal of money laid out to beautify and ornament the grounds for the public good. The park covers a space of about 400 acres. In it is a large sheet of water of about fifty acres, called the Serpentine on account of its shape. Early in the morning in the summer months it is much frequented by bathers, upwards of 12,000 of whom have been known to indulge in the luxury of a bath in one day. Opposite the Piccadilly entrance is the grand statue of Achilles, inscribed by the women of England to Arthur, Duke of Wellington, and his brave companions in arms. It was cast by Westmacott from ordnance taken from the enemy during the Peninsular war, and the cost of its erection was entirely defrayed by subscriptions raised by women, which amounted it is said to fifty thousand dollars. In the park is the famous Rotten Row, where thousands of the nobility and gentry are to be seen on a fine afternoon, driving, or riding on horseback. On the south side of the park is the Albert Memorial, erected in memory of the late Prince Consort. It cost over six hundred thousand dollars, and is said to be the finest memorial erected to any one person in the world. It was designed by Sir Gilbert Scott. The following is extracted from the description of his design which Mr. Scott prepared for the information of Her Majesty the Queen and the executive committee:

"The idea which I have worked out may be described as a colossal statue of the Prince placed beneath a vast and magnificent shrine or tabernacle, and surrounded by works of sculpture illustrating those arts and sciences which he fostered, and the great undertakings which he originated. I have in the first place, elevated the monument upon a lofty and wide-spreading pyramid of steps. From the upper platform rises a podium or continuous pedestal surrounded by sculptures in alto-relievo, representing historical groups or series of the most eminent artists of all ages of the world; the four sides being devoted severally to painting, sculpture, architecture, and poetry and music. The figures are about six feet high. This forms, as it were, the foundation of the monument, and upon it is placed the shrine or tabernacle already mentioned. This is supported at each of its angles by groups of four pillars of polished granite, bearing the four main arches of the shrine. Each side is terminated by a gable, the tympanum of which contains a large picture in mosaic; and its mouldings are decorated with carving, and inlaid with mosaic work, enamel, and polished gem-like stones, thus carrying out the characteristics of a shrine. The intersecting roofs are covered with scales of metal richly enamelled and gilded, and their crestings are of gilt beaten metal in rich leaf-work. The whole structure is crowned by a lofty spire of rich tabernacle work in partially gilt and enamelled metal, terminated in a cross which reaches to a height of 180 feet above the surrounding ground. Beneath this vast canopy, and raised upon a lofty pedestal, is placed the statue of the Prince, sitting. Besides the sculpture already described as surrounding the podium, there are on pedestals projecting from each of its angles groups illustrating the industrial arts of agriculture, manufactures, commerce and engineering. Above these, against the pillars, and also in the angles of the gables, are statues which represent the greater sciences, and in the tabernacle-work of the spire are figures of angels and of the Christian virtues. At the angles of the pyramid of steps from which the monumement rises are four large pedestals, bearing groups allegorically relating to the four quarters of the globe and their productions; thus referring indirectly to the International exhibition of 1851." * * * The statue is cast in gun metal granted by the government from the stores at Woolwich, and it is gilt with gold of triple thickness. It seemed to me that I should never tire looking at this memorial. Most every time that I walked in the morning I would stroll across the park and look it over, always finding something new and interesting. Although a great deal of credit is due to the men whose minds were capable of originating and carrying out such a grand and beautiful piece of work I could not help thinking what a vast deal of suffering such a large sum of money could prevent in England, where so many lack even the comforts of life.

Hyde Park is said to have been successively used as a race course, a duelling-field, a private park, a place of resort for the fashionable, and better than all, a place of meeting for all nations in the great exhibition of 1851. I was very much interested in the beautiful landscape gardening. It was in the month of September, and the walks on either hand were adorned with wonderful figures made of fall plants of different colors. They looked like Turkish rugs and velvet carpets of every conceivable pattern. One could spend an afternoon in looking them over, there were so many different designs. I shall always remember Hyde Park as London's bright spot, and one of the redeeming features of the dark city.

While in London I visited that wonderful building, St. Paul's Cathedral, a number of times. Like Westminster Abbey it impresses one with its venerableness, although the present building is not as old. It stands on the ashes of many churches. First there was a Christian church here, belonging to the very earliest times of the Christian religion. It was destroyed during the persecutions of Diocletian. The second was raised by way of restoration, in the reign of the great Constantine, the Roman Emperor. The early Saxon heathen destroyed this. The third structure dates as far back as 610, in which year Sebert, the sub-king of Ethelbert, sovereign of Kent, and the first Saxon monarch who was a Christian, rebuilt a church on the old site. This church was destroyed by fire with a large part of the metropolis in 1083. Immediately after this, Bishop Mauritius set about the fourth and still finer cathedral, commonly called "Old St. Paul's," the vast fane which was destroyed in the great fire of 1666. The present or fifth church took thirty-five years in the building. The first stone was laid in 1675. The cost, which amounted to $8,738,770, wat defrayed by a small tax on coal; one architect (Sir Christopher Wren) and one mason (Mr. Thomas Strong) only being employed in its construction. On the first Sunday that I visited the cathedral I was fortunate in getting a seat directly under the vast dome. It seemed like gazing into the sky to look up. The service is the same as at Westminster Abbey. I did my best to listen to the sermon, but it was hard work. The text was one of the many that have been hammered and mauled the world over by ministers since the day the Bible first made its appearance, - "Ye cannot serve two masters, God and Mammon." There evidently was something the matter, as it seemed to me a very feeble discourse. Perhaps the building and surroundings affected me the same as the Abbey, and for that reason I expected too much and was not a competent judge. The choir of men and boys was very fine. During the service the big bell in the tower struck eleven; the solemn tones were in keeping with the building, although not quite equal to "Big Ben" in the clock tower of the Houses of Parliament. The cathedral bell is only tolled on the death of one of the royal family, the Archbishop of Canterbury, or the Bishop of London. In the body of the building are many monuments of illustrious persons; and in the crypt beneath lie many bodies of famous Englishmen, including those of Lord Nelson and the Duke of Wellington. The curiosities are the geometrical staircase, which hangs without any visible support; the model-room, containing Wren's original and favorite model of St. Paul's, and a model of St. Peter's at Rome; the whispering gallery, in which the slightest whisper at one end is heard as if close to the ear, at the other end 150 feet away, and in which the clapping of a door sounds like a discharge of artillery or a roll of thunder. In front of the western entrance is the statue of Queen Anne, which the smut from the smoke has given anything but a royal look. The thoroughfare around the cathedral is known as St. Paul's Churchyard. The longer side is called the Bow, and the shorter one, which is open only for foot passengers, the String, — the two avenues taking somewhat the form of a bended bow with the string rather loose.

Our New York Fashion Letter.

COOKING CLUBS.

If you want to be fashionable, you must forthwith learn how to cook. In other words you must join a cooking club. Such notable society consists of from four to six young ladies, usually, but not always, unmarried. They meet at each other's houses every week or fortnight, where the young lady hostess is expected to have in readiness a supper prepared by herself. Sometimes the supper may be cold, again it is warm, and as may be imagined a demi-toilette is considered quite dressy enough. Now comes in a chance, too, for the wearing of enchantingly pretty little aprons, and 'tis an opportunity which is not neglected. The bill of fare is arranged in this wise. Each member writes out one on a menu card, and deposits the same in a box, from whence it is afterwards drawn out at random, and the supper is prepared according to the card drawn. Every lady has, furthermore, the privilege of inviting a gentleman, and altogether these little affairs are as interesting and as profitable as may be imagined.

WALKING CLUBS.

Again we find it quite as fashionable to walk as to cook. The club being formed of both ladies and gentlemen, on certain days they meet at an appointed rendezvous and set out on a tour of so many miles. Morning is the usual time for these walking matches, and a stout luncheon ordered in advance is prepared at some country hotel or farm house. Those who are unable to return by foot, have carriages in waiting. Perhaps the comfortable and decidedly strong-minded-looking ulsters of gray or brown which are now so fashionable have had something to do with the present fancy for walking; perhaps 'tis the fancy for walking which brings about the demand for ulsters; at any rate, they are greatly patronized, and as a practical garment I can hardly say too much in praise of them. They seem just the things in which to do battle with the slush and snow, and besides this they are economical, for one can wear a dress whose best days have departed, and who is to know anything about it, for the ulster covers it all up? So do the circular wraps of thick woolen cloth, but then a wrap deprives one of the use of one's arms, and is a bulky garment for all slender figures. Still a wrap is so easily thrown off or on, that it must therefore be regarded as very convenient. Writing of street costumes reminds me of a tasteful outfit recently worn by Miss W—— of Madison avenue. The design was the Carita princess dress with Athelinе jacket, made up in dark green plaid trimmed with black velvet. Her younger sister, a pretty school girl still in short dresses, wore a dress of figured wool combined with brown velvet made with Elfin overskirt and Barbara jacket. A walking costume worn by Mrs. A——, of Thirty-third street, deserves mention. The skirt of course was short, with plaited flounce of garnet satin, and with this was worn the Lucinde polonaise made in combination style of garnet satin and brocade. The bonnet was a garnet felt trimmed with satin ribbon and ostrich tips.

NO FLOWERS.

One may walk a long distance on Broadway or Fifth avenue, or may survey an entire assemblage at a theatre or concert, and see not a flower upon bonnet or hat; yet one large rose, or a bunch of roses or violets at the throat, gives an exceedingly womanlike finish not only to an indoor toilette, but to the masculine ulsters just mentioned. The adoption of tulle strings, brought under the chin and tied in the most becoming of bows, is another way in which we show that inclination for delicacy of finish which grows spontaneously in the female heart. There is a rage for them, and they are attached to bonnets of all kinds—even dark colored felts or velvets. Veils of white tulle are also quite fashionable, and sometimes the two ideas are united by bringing the veil over the face, crossing it at the back and tying the ends in a bow under the chin. Breton lace of fine quality is also used on bonnets, giving a softened finish to the severity of a winter costume.

EXTRAVAGANCIES.

In a mention of some extravagancies, I said nothing of ribbon at $30 the yard. Yet such an article is shown by a leading house. Furthermore, I have been shown a pair of garters marked $100, and am told that a pair has been made to order and sold for $1500! Whence such costliness? it may be asked. Solely in the gold wrought or jeweled clasp, for the remainder is but plain elastic, albeit of the finest quality. But as any one may see, if jewels are once brought in, there is really no limit to the possible cost. Should any of my readers desire further information on topics mentioned here, or any other subject indeed, I will be happy to reply to letters of inquiry. Address can be furnished by your editor.

News and Notes.

In the Ebenezer Smith will case, which has been heard before the probate court of Suffolk county, Mass., wherein was sought to be set aside the proof of a will admitted to probate in November, 1864, the judge has decided against the petitioners and dismissed the petition. From this decision an appeal is taken to the supreme judicial court. The arguments of A. D. Chandler, Esq., the counsel for the petitioners, have been printed, making a pamphlet of fifty-six pages. The petitioners contend that the alleged will was not executed according to law, and is not a will but a forgery, and that the petitioners having made out a prima facie case the respondents should prove the will anew, which it is claimed by the petitioners cannot be done. The estate which was settled under the will is quite large.

The detectives who were first employed in investigating the Barron homicide (or suicide) at Dexter, Me., and a Boston gentleman who was formerly associated with Mr. Barron in the bank at Dexter, join with the dead cashier's friends in scouting the theory that he committed suicide. Many of the statements of the last set of detectives are pronounced incorrect, and others to be merely guesses.

Albert Grant of London has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of £681,993.

Three brothers named Hemrich were drowned in the river near Louisville, Ky., on Sunday, by the overturning of a skiff.

Annie Cox, of Clarence Hollow, near Buffalo, N. Y., became enamored of a man named Taft, and poisoned Taft's wife and three children with arsenic. Mrs. Taft and one child have recovered, but the other two children will die. Miss Cox is under arrest.

Mr. Hayes, as Roscoe delights in designating him, sent a brief but telling message to the Senate on Friday, in which he gave his views upon the policy of having the New York custom house managed for political purposes, and controlled by a single Senator, when the business of the entire country had an interest in its good management. The effect was to induce several Senators, republicans as well as democrats, to consider their responsibility in the present exigency, and as far as the subsequent votes indicated, the result was to make Mr. Conkling the under dog in the fight.

The Woodsville Lumber Company's steam mill was burned on Sunday morning. Loss $5000: insured. Cause of fire, incendiary.

Law and Order in Kentucky.

At Frenchburg, Kyi, about a year ago, Thomas Stephens, a farmer, had some trouble with a noted desperado named Barnes, in which the latter came off second best. A few days later Barnes went to Stephens' farm, where the latter was at work, and without a word of warning shot him dead. He was arrested and jailed at Mt. Sterling, and his adherents on two occasions set fire to the town, hoping to secure his release. Barnes was finally removed to Lexington for safe keeping, and afterwards taken to Frenchburg for trial, and the jury on Friday found him guilty and fixed his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for ninety-nine years. Threats of a rescue are freely made by Barnes' friends, who declare that they will kill all engaged in the prosecution. The sheriff has fifteen men guarding the jail, and a reserve of thirty-five men in readiness.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tarta imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. dtsept10

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

THE CITY.

Concord has exactly the same number of street gas-lights as Portsmouth; but as soon as the ground thaws out Concord is to leave this city in the rear, by putting up two new ones.

Driscoll of Portland and Locke of this city at one o'clock to-day commence a walk of fifty miles, for $50 a side, in Franklin hall. They will walk on separate tracks, and Mr. John S. Treat will act as referee. Several professional walkists will be here.

Speaking of the Oakland (Cal.) Radiator, of which Mr. John O. Hanscom, formerly of this city, is business managre, the San Francisco Golden Era says: "When the Radiator first appeared, the other Oakland papers, the Times and Tribune, agreed to ignore its existence, and so its name did not appear in the columns of either. This is all right, but it so happens that the Radiator is more quoted from than both its local contemporaries."

A correspondent of the Boston Globe, writing from Augusta, Me., says: "Considerable interest is manifested in the appointment of a man from this place to a position in the Kittery navy yard. New Hampshire having got the lion's share of the offices, a movement has been started among some of the machinists here to have Senator Blaine, who is on the committee on naval affairs, see to it that the position of foreman iron-plater in the construction department, which rightfully belongs to this section, is restored by the appointment of some Maine man to the position."

A vessel lately built at Kennebunk, Me., by Messrs. Thompson & Titcomb, was purchased on Saturday last by parties in this city, Boston, Eliot and Kittery. Those interested in Portsmouth are Captain John G. Moses, Captain Henry Libby, Mr. Thomas E. Call, Hon. Daniel Marcy, Hon. John H. Bailey and others, the first named three being the largest owners. She is barque rigged, is of about eleven hundred tons, and rates A 1 for thirteen years. She is expected to be in New York on the 22d of this month, having been chartered to take an assorted cargo to Melbourne, Australia. Captain John G. Moses is her agent, and Captain Henry Libby her commander.

THE VICINITY.

Hon. Edward C. Moody, of York, was one of the speakers at a grand powow of the Augusta, Me., greenbackers, one evening last week.

On Thursday of last week Mrs. Robert Threlfall of Kennebunkport fell down the cellar stairs of her residence, and had an arm broken in several places, besides receiving other injuries which it was feared would prove fatal.

The Biddeford Times says: "The lobster business is quite lively at Cape Porpoise, and some of the fishermen are making from twenty to thirty dollars a day. This is fortunate, as fish are hard to get, and bring only a trifle in the market when caught."

The proprietors of Sawyer's Woollen Mills at Dover, where clothing is manufactured from the raw material, the wool being made into cloth and the cloth then made up into suits, have found such a demand for their productions that they are compelled to work extra time, and the mills are now run until ten o'clock every night.

Early last week a boy named John Roach, son of Mr. Dennis Roach of Dover and about thirteen years old, started to go to school one morning and up to Saturday afternoon had not been heard of. The only reason given for his clearing out—that is if he has run away—is that his school teacher on the day before he left sharply corrected him for chewing tobacco in school. When a child of thirteen years has reached the tobacco-chewing stage of "manliness" it dosn't much matter where he goes.

THE CONCERT.

Concerning the singing of the Swedish Ladies' Quartette, the Boston Traveller says: "Nothing better can be asked for than their performances." The Journal: "Their voices are fresh, pure, and very sweet, and are blended with perfect art even in the most delicate passages. Their unity is perhaps the wonderful feature of all, and the precision and evenness of tone maintained through every variety of shading down to the softest pianissimos, constitute an inexpressible charm." The Herald speaks of "their incomparable singing," and the Globe says that "their voices seem to blend together in all their songs with a perfection of harmony that has seldom if ever been surpassed upon our concert stage." The papers of other cities are equally complimentary, and there is no doubt that all who attend the concert to-morrow evening will enjoy a musical feast.

Mr. Carrington, the drum soloist, is spoken of by the press of places where he has performed as a wonderful drummer, who brings far more out of a common snare drum than it would seem could be in it, or than anybody else has ever managed to do. He knows what the points of war are, having served as a drummer all through the civil war, enlisting at the age of eleven years.

Tickets for the evening—reserved seats, 50 cents; gallery 35 cents. See advertisement.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Feb. 3d.

Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week were favorable for the festival of the Christian society, and the bright moonlight and good sleighing combined to bring thereto a large crowd on both evenings. The hall was tastefully decorated with bunting and evergreens, and appropriate mottoes were displayed. The entertainment part of the festival consisted of tableaux, singing, recitations, etc., in addition to which the St. John's choir from Portsmouth were present and sang one quartette, and Mr. Newell and Miss Edith Wendell sang solos, which were received by the crowded audience very enthusiastically. Miss Wendell was made the recipient, subsequently, of an elegant jewel case. A table well filled with fancy and useful articles occupied one side of the room, while on the other was another table filled with confectionary, cakes, pies, and other things to tempt the appetite. Down stairs, refreshments were served up hot, and business was good in that department.

It seems as though it was a settled thing that errors should appear in about all the papers, in regard to matters in this town. Among the latest is the item going the rounds about Mr. Joseph Philbrick, which claims for him (in years ninety-two) an ability to do a day's work right along, and strength to enjoy a walk of one and a half miles to church every Sunday. That he is ninety-two years old is correct, and that until very recently he has been able to keep about and do more or less work, is also true; but that he has ever been in the habit of walking to church unless perhaps occasionally to the Advent, which is about half a mile away, is not correct. He has been a member and almost constant attendant of the Christian church at the Centre, for many years; and as he has a farm, and has always kept a horse, there never was any earthly need of his walking the three miles which are between his house and that church, and probably he never did.

And in the Statesman of last week, among the list of "centenarians and nonagenarians" who died in New Hampshire in 1878, are the names of Jonathan Foss, aged ninety years and four months, and Robinson Frye, aged ninety years, set down as having died in Rye. Nobody here ever knew of any such individuals. Mr. Robinson Foss, aged ninety years, died here last year; but no other person of that age was known to have departed this life in this town.

Then again, the papers have got the Chinese question going the rounds. Better not get scared. The "horny-handed sons of toil" in this vicinity are in no danger, at present, of being overrun with the "degraded creatures," even if the legislature don't meet in extra session to pass a law to prevent them from landing on Rye beach. If they should, even a whole colony of them, be imported by the hotel keepers, to do the work hitherto done by Sambo, Patrick, Bridget & Co., how in the name of common sense is that going to interfere with or in any way injure the inhabitants of this or the neighboring towns, whose means of support do not depend upon the employment that is given by hotel keepers during the few weeks in July and August each year? Let them come if they want too; they can't be any worse than the other foreigners that have been employed for years past at the beach.

Rev. Mr. Holbrook of St. John's church, Portsmouth, conducted an Episcopal service at the Christian church on Sunday evening, Feb. 2d. The church was crowded, and the service was undoubtedly new to most of those present.

Mr. E. J. Riggs, of the senior class of Andover Theological Seminary, preached at the Congregational church the same day.

Concerning the great tornado of last August—a visit to the "south end" tells the story in vast piles of cord-wood on the sides of the road and in the woods, and hundreds of logs at the saw mill. David Jenness, Esq., alone has 240 cords of pine wood, besides considerable hard and apple tree.

A turn over and a runaway horse, near Mr. Oren Drake's, early Friday morning after the close of the festival, may result in a bill of damages against the town. The roads in some places are in rather a bad state, but then there is a big pile of snow, and it is badly drifted in some places.

NAT.

YORK LETTER.

YORK, ME., Feb. 3d.

Mr. Editor: There is not a great quantity of news to write you. I notice you are advised of the mortality of our vicinity by some one else; for that favor I am thankful, as it is unpleasant for me to attend to that branch of reporting.

Your readers are well aware of the numerous fires in this town within the year last past, footing up, it is said, over $20,000. At this rate of "disaster" it seems that insurance is a fraud and a myth, and why? The companies—or by their agents—are ready and willing to place any sum upon any building so long as they get their per centum. Such things are a gross outrage upon the class who pay honorably and conscientiously, and suppose they are insured.

If a man's property is over-insured and accidentally (?) burns, the first thing to be done is to say, "it was not insured for a dollar." How true. I can cite the companies to several cases of over-insurance now standing in this town. I know of a fire not long since, where there was an insurance of $1000 upon the house; the whole farm, house and all would not have sold for $600. Four houses better than that could be built for $1000.

I don't intend to insinuate that any persons burn their buildings; but it is strange that those that are burned are, as a rule, heavily insured, and those lightly insured or uninsured stand the test of wind, water and fire!

The Baptist society have held a series of meetings for nearly three weeks, day and evening, but from some cause the spirit don't move to any extent. There is somebody from the east—who has been living on the fat of our land for the past three weeks, and a part of the time on some poorly able to feed him and who can hardly get their own living, and can't pay their bills at that. He tells awful stories about himself—therefore he can't be accused of egotism—but it looks to the writer that however bad a man may have been, it is quite unnecessary for him to go into a strange place and tell it before an audience. If a man has really experienced religion and is desirious for the salvation of his fellow-beings, is it not enough for him to tell those two facts to his audience, without frightening the young class of people with fearful stories of gutter-drunkenness, of stabbing affrays and all the attendant consequences of such a fearful career, embracing every crime in the vocabulary of crimes, save murder? Your correspondent fails to see how such talk can create any interest before an intelligent audience. One of the pillars of the church told me that this man came here, and on the first evening told the audience that he came "with the whip," but it seems he did not find a heathenish people, and therefore the whip was "no goot!"

As the old lady said, "Troubles never come alone;" in addition to tramps (of various kinds) we have had much sickness, and very many deaths (mostly of aged people) in the town during the winter. Business remains very quiet. The day of resumption we heedeth not.

I notice that Messrs. Moulton Bros., at the Corner, are filling their ice house with the handsomest ice that has been cut in York this season. Hope they will remember the writer with a piece on a lemon next summer.

P.

Executions in Spain.

Since the restoration of 1875 nearly fifty persons have been executed in Spain. The public executioner is a bull-fighter named Hernandez, and the instrument of death is the garote vil. Forty-eight hours before the sentence is to be carried out the condemned man is placed in the prison chapel, with the clergy, who without intermission exhort him to repentance, and read to him the masses for the repose of his soul, so that when the time arrives for him to march to the patibulo he has already had a foretaste of death. The execution is in public, the condemned being seated in a chair with the clamps of the garrote about his throat; at the signal the executioner whirls round the heavy handle that turns the screw, and the man's throat is instantly compressed, while an iron projection at the back is squeezed with resistless force into the nape of the neck. The body remains in view for some hours, surrounded by praying monks in penitential garb. The last public execution in Madrid revolted popular feeling, and the press unanimously protested against the scandal of these public exhibitions.—N. Y. World.

—In a case before the recorder at Montreal, the other day, a witness for the defence, in giving his evidence, observed: "The whole affair, your honor, did not amount to a row of pins." Counsel for the prosecution: "What is the value of a row of pins?" Witness: "That all depends upon the extent of the row." Counsel: "I have no more questions to ask this witness."

The National Complaint.

Dyspepsia is the national complaint. Almost every other man or woman you meet has it, and the result is that the number of pseudo-remedies for it is as numerous as Pharaoh's host. There is, however, a searching eradicant of this distressing and obdurate malady, one whose genuine merits long since raised it to a foremost place among the staple medicines of America. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters extirpates dyspepsia with greater certainty and promptitude than any known remedy, and is a most genial invigorant, appetizer and aid to secretion. These are not empty assertions, as thousands of our country men and women who have experienced its effects are aware, but are backed up by irrefragable proofs repeatedly laid before the public. The Bitters also promote a regular habit of body and give a healthful stimulus to the urinary organs.

A Merchant Up Town went without his overcoat, took a hard cold and was cross, most sick, when one of his clerks prevailed upon him to try a little of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. Three doses cured him.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. feb25

The Way Vanderbilt Succeeded.

When Commodore Vanderbilt was running steamboats, he beat all rivals by crowding on steam to the utmost, and even running down his enemy if necessary, to accomplish a triumph. When he went into railroading, he adopted a much shrewder and more successful way by uniting vast lines and their tributaries under his own management, thus capturing all rivals, by snaring with them the immense pool of profits that were made by his skillful manipulation. Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., accomplish a much greater success in stock operations by their new Combination Method of dealing. By this system the orders of thousands of customers are pooled into one vast sum and co-operated under the most experienced management, thus giving to each shareholder all the benefits of large capital and best skill. Profits divided monthly. Any amount from $5 to $25,000 can be used with great success; $15 will make $75 profits; $80 would return $720 or 9 per cent. on the stock during the month, according to the market. The new circular (mailed free) has "two unerring rules for success" and full explanations, so that any one can operate profitably. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

—A Dubuque, Iowa, man advertised in a Massachusetts paper for a lady correspondent. Among those who answered the request was a young lady of Springfield, "just for the fun of the thing," as she expressed it. She represented herself as a rich young widow; in fact, she was never married, and was a proper needle girl. They corresponded some time, exchanged photographs; the Dubuque man came to Springfield, and was so shabbily dressed and looked so antiquated that his further addresses were refused. Afterwards the girl repented (having learned from clergymen and various persons in Dubuque of the good character of her former lover) and wrote him. The correspondence was resumed and they are now man and wife. It turns out that the Iowa man was disguised when he came to Springfield and is really a fine-looking man, one of the leading and wealthy citizens of Dubuque.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rail, laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.
In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Your Anti-Fat reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 192 pounds, and there is a general improvement in her health." A gentleman of Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, I was induced by a friend to try Allan's Anti-Fat, reduced my four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOUGLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The bottle of Anti-Fat you gave me has reduced Allan's Anti-Fat. "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds, and feel no need to repeat what I have had." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, strengthens and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Prepaid on Office receipt of stamp.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the chiefest or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and will fulfill a POSITIVE GUARANTEE (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty and rapidity never attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowings, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Leading-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a diagnosis of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and through blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a good constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goiter or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, but have no active, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Scrofulous, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians announce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compposed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Side, Back and Limbs, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Region of the Kidneys, Internal Fever, Disturbed feeling about the Stomach, Rush of Blood to the Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping the sanative influence. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive. Air passages, nasal passages, obstructed, more in the morning on rising, with difficulty of breathing; voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total loss of smell and taste, hearing, dullness, weakness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, disturbed sleep, and many other symptoms. Few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be emulsed, or be applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easy. Druggists, with the instruments accompanying each instrument, Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

BY H. L. H.

A visit to London would hardly be complete without seeing and hearing the great preacher Spurgeon. The Metropolitan Tabernacle is in Newington, on the southern side of the Thames, and was built for Rev. C. H. Spurgeon and opened in 1862. Early one Sunday morning I climbed to the top of one of the London 'buses at Hyde Park which was marked, "Over Westminster Bridge to Newington." It is a little over three miles from the park to the Tabernacle, and on a clear day is a pleasant ride. One of the best ways to view London is from the top of a 'bus, where you can gain a good idea of the streets and buildings and their general aspect. I found the drivers always very civil and communicative and I am indebted to them for a great deal of information. They all seemed to be very much interested in America and Americans, and as it is pleasant to give an equivalent I would exchange information with them. From the Park we went through Oxford street to Regents Circus, which is the junction of Oxford and Regent streets. We turned down Regent street, which is the Broadway of London. Here on a fine afternoon may be seen the fashionable young ladies shopping, as most of the establishments that are devoted to silks, drapery, millinery, and all things relating to feminine attire of the latest fashion are situated on this street. Here also the young men can get in the fashionable tailor's establishment the "Regent street cut" which is said to be "A 1" as to price and fit. Lines of stylish carriages are continually in waiting before the doors of the leading stores, where the attendant footman stands sunning his calves. The next place of any importance is Charing Cross. The name is said to be derived from the village of Cimaring, though tradition has it that the place was so called after Eleanor, the queen of Edward I. At any rate, it was here that he set up the handsomest of the nine crosses erected to her memory. Near by is Trafalgar square, where the Nelson column stands. Near the pillar is the equestrian statue of George IV.; also the bronze statues of Sir Charles Napier and Major General Havelock. We were soon on the magnificent Westminster bridge, from which looking south is seen St. Thomas' hospital at the southern end of the bridge and directly opposite the Houses of Parliament. It is the largest hospital in London and will accommodate upwards of 600 patients. It is said to be one of the finest in Europe, consisting of seven separate buildings connected by corridors, and is nearly a quarter of a mile in length.

I arrived at the Tabernacle full three-quarters of an hour before the services commenced, but none too soon to get a good seat. The building looked to me more like an immense court-house than a church. It was built by subscriptions obtained by Mr. Spurgeon, by preaching in Surrey music hall. The Tabernacle has two deep galleries around the interior, which is somewhat in the style of a concert room with a raised platform instead of a pulpit. It is well adapted for hearing. It will seat 5000 people, or 6500 sitting and standing. On entering the gates I was presented with a small envelope on which was printed an invitation to put something inside, and deposit the same in a box near the door for the benefit of the church. I went up into the first gallery on the right near the platform, and was invited into a pew by an old lady who was very attentive in handing me the hymn book, bible, etc. Every stranger is sure to be noticed, and it struck me that in that respect other churches might copy to their credit, and do a great deal more good. It certainly would make the churches more attractive. Before the services began every seat was taken, and a great many persons standing round the walls. I noticed that the congregation was made up mostly of plainly dressed people and that show was not uppermost in their minds when they built their Tabernacle, for all the surroundings were plain. Even on the platform there was only an ordinary table and chair for the minister. At precisely the hour and minute set for the service to begin Mr. Spurgeon came on the platform, followed by six deacons who sat at the rear end of the stage. He with the deacons were good specimens of hale and hearty Englishmen. Mr. Spurgeon is a man of medium height, very thick-set and powerful-looking, with a very large head set on broad shoulders. He wears full whiskers, and small mustaches. Should think he weighed nearly if not quite 200 pounds. He is in the neighborhood of fifty years of age. His voice is rich and powerful. From the time he begins to talk until he finishes he seems to have the audience under a magnetic control, for the 6000 people hardly moved during the sermon. He never rants or tears his sentences, and although he uses no notes, does not lack for words in which to convey his ideas in the most forcible manner. I believe him to be a sincere and good man. They have no organ in the church, nor choir. The singing is led by a precentor whose voice is equal to the no small task of leading the congregation. I did not intend singing when they commenced, but soon found myself impelled to join with the rest by the irresistible influence of so many voices around me. Such congregational singing I never heard before; it was inspiring. Mr. Spurgeon would first read a verse, and then the congregation would sing it, and so on through the hymn. It seemed to me the most impressive way of singing a hymn that I ever listened to. I do not blame them for preferring congregational singing. I was told that the church is always full on Sunday unless the weather is very unfavorable. Before leaving the church after the service I was asked my opinion of the sermon by the old lady and very cordially invited to come again, which I certainly should have done if my stop in London had been longer. On my way back I questioned the driver of the 'bus as to his opinion of Spurgeon, and his answer was that the Rev. gentleman and his society were more charitable and relieved more suffering than all the rest of the churches put together. It was a strong statement, but from what I learned from other sources I have every reason to believe that there was a great deal of truth in it. "Why," said the driver, "Spurgeon can have all the money he has a mind to ask for. Only a little while since he asked for a collection to fix up the chapel; about $300 were wanting, and the congregation put $1700 in the boxes. He told them that the extra amount should be laid out for the benefit of the poor and suffering. That's what I call a first-class society and minister." I agreed with him.

To me the sight-seeing in London seemed to have no end, and I have no doubt that one could spend all of one year profitably and have a constant change each day. I would give descriptions of other important places that I saw if it were not for the reason that I was obliged to hurry over them, and therefore could not do them justice. On the first of November I left London for Glasgow on the train called "the flying Scotchman" at nine o'clock in the evening and arrived there at seven o'clock the next morning. About 400 miles in 10 hours. Glasgow, although not quite so disagreeable as London, is very smoky. I visited the famous Glasgow Bank that failed for nearly 50 millions of dollars. The government clerks were overhauling the accounts and trying to get at the exact condition of the concern. The air of the place seemed freighted with gloom, as if some awful crime had been committed and the bank was a hall of justice and the scratching of the pens were signing the death warrants of hundreds. Indeed I suppose it will hurry a great many out of the world. Human nature seems to be about the same the world over after all, and apparently solid institutions in the "Old Country" fall as on our side of the water. In the afternoon I took the train for Greenock, which is about 30 miles from Glasgow, on the river Clyde. The passengers were taken off in a tag to the steamship Devonia, which was anchored in the stream. At ten o'clock we started on our return voyage. The moon was shining bright and everything looked propitious for our journey. There were 26 cabin passengers and about the same number steerage. The Devonia is a first-class steamer in every respect. She is 420 feet long and 40 feet wide; 4,000 tons register, with an engine of 1,059 horse power. It takes sixty-five tons of coal per day to run her. She seldom is over ten days in crossing. Early next morning we put into Moville bay, Ireland, and took aboard a few more steerage passengers. The scenery along the northern coast of Ireland is very fine. We passed a number of old castles and could see the snow on the mountains quite plainly. It is a very wild looking coast, and I do not wonder sea captains dread being near during a storm. About noon we passed Tory island, which was the last land we saw until we arrived off New York harbor. We had on the steamer two ministers, and as both Sundays we were on the ocean were pleasant, services were held in the saloon, and the steerage passengers invited to join. The doctor of the ship played the organ, and I had the honor of leading the singing. The last four days of our voyage the wind blew a gale and the Devonia although she was 420 feet long and immense to look at from the dock was tossed about like a match upon the waves. Fortunately I was not sick once on my return voyage and was at my place at the table every meal. When the blow came I could hold my soup plate and not spill a drop, with the best of them. About 400 miles from New York the captain called all the passengers on deck, that were not sick, to see a pilot who was a mile off signaling his intentions of boarding us. The waves were running very high and it did seem almost an impossibility, but he was equal to it. It was rather risky, however, for when he got into his small boat with only two men to row, they were tossed about in a fearful manner. They would first be on top of an immense wave, and then disappear entirely, but at last he was on board and all right. It seems that "first come first served" is the rule in the piloting business, and that accounted for his being so far out. I asked him if he did not consider it rather rough and windy. He smiled and said fairly so, but he had been on a steamer as large as the Devonia that went back 25 miles a day for several days with full head of steam on! Now that, young man, you may call a blow. I had nothing more to say, but thought I should rather be in a comfortable house on the land near a warm stove and read about it than to participate. We arrived in New York harbor on Sunday night, Nov. 10th. It was a beautiful moonlight evening. The passengers all came on deck and we joined in singing "America," and, "Home, Sweet Home." This ended a journey long to be remembered.

The Custom House Fight Ended.

The fight between Senator Conkling and the national administration over the New York custom house appointments was ended on Monday, when the Hayes-Sherman appointees were confirmed by a vote of thirty-three to twenty-four. Twenty-seven democrats and thirteen republicans voted yea; twenty-three republicans and seven democrats voted no. Both Massachusetts Senators voted for the administration; Rollins of this State voted no, and Wadleigh did not vote though he was present and not paired.

Senator Bayard of Delaware marshalled the democrats in opposition to Conkling. Conkling conducted his own fight, and in answer to the charges of President Hayes and Secretary Sherman that the custom house was run as a political machine for the benefit of personal and political friends, read letters from Sherman to Collector Arthur asking the appointment of the personal or political friends of himself and President Hayes. At the end of the struggle Mr. Conkling moved to make all the proceedings of the executive session public, but the proposition was finally voted down. This looks as though Conkling was notso much afraid of "the bright sun light of publicity" in this matter as the supporters of the administration are. Silly service reform is a great thing.

News and Notes.

A fire in Lee, Mass., Monday, destroyed almost the entire business part of the village, causing a loss of nearly $100,000. Waunakee, Wis., and Kikeny Station, Minn., both small villages, were nearly destroyed by fire on the same day.

Mrs. Barron, widow of the Dexter bank cashier, asks a suspension of public judgment while desiring a most thorough investigation.

The Maine legislature has refused to pass the bill putting cider, ale, etc., outside the prohibitory law; the bill for the protection of lobsters, and the proposition for secret ballot.

A hearing was commenced at Rutland, Vt., Monday, on the petition for a new trial for John P. Phair, who was convicted at the September term of the Rutland county court in 1874 of the murder of Mrs. Anna Frieze on the night of June 9th of that year, and sentenced to be hanged. A mass of testimony was taken, which apparently proves that much of the evidence upon which Phair was convicted was false, and that some of the witnesses who testified against him were hired purjurers.

The ravages of the plague in Russia are increasing, in spite of the most radical measures being taken to confine it to the localities where it has already appeared.

Mrs. Anna Markle, a widow, was found dead in the cellar of her residence at Schenectady, N. Y., Saturday evening. Her head was badly crushed by an axe, which was found under the body. There is no doubt that she was murdered.

Ex-County Engineer Samuel P. Bowles of Cincinnati has been arrested for forging and raising Hamilton county bonds for the construction of avenues and bridges to the amount of $22,000.

The city of Elizabeth, N. J., is bankrupt. The interest on the city's bonds was defaulted Saturday, and the school-teachers, policemen and other employes are not paid. Millions of dollars have been squandered in extravagant schemes of public improvement. The total debt, Jan. 1st, was $5,820,865, with nominal assets, mainly in the shape of unpaid taxes, of $2,819,771.

The number of vessels belonging to or bound to or from ports in the United States, reported totally lost and missing during January was 63, of which 28 were wrecked, 18 abandoned, 2 burned, 1 sunk by collision, 7 foundered, and 7 are missing. The list comprises 5 steamers, 9 ships, 18 barks, 11 brigs and 23 schooners, and their total value, exclusive of cargoes, is estimated at $1,749,000.

In the number of Littell's Living Age for the week ending Feb. 1st is an address on "The Historical Aspect of the United States," by Dean Stanley, given at Birmingham, England, onthe 16th of December. This is followed by "The Logic of Toleration," by W. H. Mallock, author of "Positivism on an Island;" an article on "George Henry Lewes," first editor of the Fortnightly Review, by Anthony Trollope; an instalment of "Sir Gibbie" by George MacDonald, and of "A Doubting Heart" by Miss Keary; Insectivorous Plants; Dreams; Heather; and several choice poems, and miscellany. For fifty-two such numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,000 pages a year,) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Gay, Boston, publishers.

New Hampshire Items.

The Boston Herald says that Hon. John G. Sinclair of New Hampshire is soon to remove to Florida, to which place he will take out machinery to establish a factory for the production of starch from the cassava root.

Richmond C. Angell, a farmer, of Sunapee, died Monday morning from the effects of a blow on the head, struck by Henry Hayes, a neighbor, who went to Angell's house early that morning, when a quarrel ensued, Hayes striking Angell with a stick of wood, as he says in self-defence. Hayes gave himself up to the authorities.

Political.

The House of Representatives had two propositions before it on Monday to raise the money called for to pay arrears of pensions, one introduced by Mr. Cutler of New Jersey appropriating $100,000,000, the other, by Mr. Burchard of Illinois, to issue $40,000,000 of four per cent bonds. The latter was voted down, and the appropriation bill is likely to meet the same fate.

South Carolina's Governor and Senator-elect, and one of her present Senators, are one-legged men. Governor Nicholls of Louisiana has lost an arm and a leg, Governor Marks and Treasurer Polk of Tennessee are one legged, and the Comptroller, Colonel Gaines, has lost an arm. None of these limbs were lost in defending the Union.

Naval Matters.

A board of naval constructors, of which Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn is the senior member, has been ordered by the navy department to meet at Chester, Pa., immediately, make examinations and report on the work of the United States iron-clad Miantonomoh, nearly completed at the works of Messrs. Roach & Son.

It is understood that the naval court martial recently in session at New Orleans to try Lieut. Comdr. Kells, recommends his dismissal from the service.

The flagship Powhatan of the North Atlantic squadron, bearing the flag of Rear Admiral Wyman, sailed from Norfolk, Va., Feb. 1st, for San Juan, Porto Rico, St. Thomas, Santa Cruz, Santiago de Cuba, Havanna, Key West and Port Royal. She will return to Norfolk about the first of April.

Business Failures.

Lack of judgement causes fully fifty per cent. of all business men to fail, earlier or later. Do not an equal proportion of physicians fail to cure from the same cause? At the Grand Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, through the skill attained by his several specialists, each having devoted years to a special department of medical science, is able to cure a large per cent. of cases hitherto considered incurable. Many physicians, in view of the superior advantages of this model sanitarium, bring there stubborn, obscure, complicated, and surgical cases for examinations, operation, and treatment. Full particulars given in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated work of over 900 pages. Price, post-paid, $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ The Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. eptl0

DEVOE MANUFACTURING CO.

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in sending this unsolicited recommendation of your Kerosene Oil.

At the great fire in this place, which destroyed Norwood's Paint and Oil establishment, and other buildings, on the 13th inst., your Oil stood one of most severe tests that Oil could be put to; for four [4] hours the Oil was in the hottest part of the fire, and such a fire as only Varnish, Turpentine, Oils and Paints can make, and in all that time there was no explosion of your Oil, and the cans containing the Oil were in very near the same condition after the fire as before.

I take great pleasure in recommending this Oil, as in my opinion it is the safest Oil for sale in the market. I remain, very respectfully,

THE CITY.

The Swedish Ladies' Quartette and the champion drummer Carrington at Music hall to-night, in the Rockingham Course. See advertisement.

The regular quarterly meeting of the "Associated Mechanics and Manufacturers of the State of New Hampshire" was held at the reading room on Tuesday evening, but no business of importance came up.

Mr. Wm. A. Fernald of Kittery has been reduced from the position of leader of shipwrights in the bureau of construction and repair at the navy yard, and Mr. Moses Plumer of this city appointed to the place.

We are informed that there is not the slightest foundation of truth in the despatch from Augusta, Me., to the Boston Globe, relative to a movement in favor of the removal of the present foreman ironplater in the bureau of construction and repair at the navy yard, and his substitution by a Maine man.

Driscoll of Portland and Locke of this city started on a fifty mile walk at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and walked until about quarter past nine o'clock, at which time Driscoll left the track, he being then on his 34th mile, and Locke on his 35th. Driscoll says he will walk Locke in Portland next week.

The Portland Press says: "Architect Fassett examined the Normal school building [at Gorham, Me.,] on Saturday for the last time. The building was found to be satisfactory, and the contractors found their long and tedious undertaking, at last, finished. The contractors were Messrs. Giddings Bros., of Portsmouth, N. H. Hundreds of persons have visited the building during its construction and since it was finished, and the elegance of the building, both inside and out, elicited nothing but praise, and reflected credit upon the builders."

The greenbackers of Saco are having a little family squabble among themselves as to who shall be the "recognized leaders" of the new party.

There are large quantities of barrelled apples in the county waiting a market. Moderate sales are being made at $1 to $1.10 per barrel for choice baldwins. A market to save any profit for the growers must come quickly.

John Huckins, who escaped from Exeter jail a short time ago, reached his home at Newmarket on Saturday night, and was promptly carried back to jail quarters by his father. He is now taking lessons on bread and water.

Rev. Thomas Tyrie, for three years or more pastor of the Free Baptist church of Saco, resigned his pastorate on Sunday last, to take effect April 13th. Mr. Tyrie's resignation was a surprise to his parishioners, with whom he is very popular, but he feels the parish work too heavy for him to longer continue.

Vice President, Herman Manson;
Treasurer, Samuel S. Fletcher;
Secretary, William S. Hazel.

The fund of the association amounts to $1572.85, which is well invested.

N. H. S. P. C. A.

A monthly meeting of the directors of the S. P. C. A. was held on Monday. The report of work accomplished during the past month showed the following cases attended to during that time:

Overdriving and beating, three; abandoned animals, one; neglected, eight; using old and worn out horse, one; insufficient feeding, three; acts of cruelty to dogs, two; old and worthless horses killed in a humane manner, in different parts of the State, five.

The thanks of the society were voted Mr. Harriman for his services in behalf of the society.

Mrs. Pickering reported the receipt of three hundred dollars from Adm. Parrott; and it was voted that the thanks of the Society be tendered Admiral E. G. Parrott for his donation to the permanent fund.

SUPREME COURT.

At the opening of the court, Tuesday morning, it was announced that Judge Foster was sick, and the court was adjourned to Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, when if Judge Foster is able to attends the case State vs. Matilda C. Perry, for cruelty to a child, will commence.

SHE WILL MAKE HER MARK.

The Boston Traveller gives the following complimentary "send-off" to a young lecturer who is a native of this city:

Miss Annie Jenness delivered her lecture on "Conventionalism," in Wesleyan hall, last evening, to a large and intelligent audience. This was the lady's first appearance in Boston, although she has lectured in other places. Her appearance is very much in her favor. She is hardly over twenty-two years of age; is gifted with a remarkably fine presence, a clear, round, full voice, sufficiently strong to fill the largest hall, and in the language of the day, she made a "hit." With a less rapid delivery, there would have been nothing to which one could have taken exception. She was dressed in black velvet, and had the good sense to avoid all unnecessary show. Her lecture was aimed at the social follies of the day, and nobly did she defend the good and the virtuous of both sexes. She claimed for woman the same educational advantages with men, the same opportunities for general information, and said that in this way only she could be a real companion for her husband. She used very strong language in favor of the home influence of the wife and mother, and believed in constant progress for woman, if she would hold her place in society. Miss Jenness was very frequently applauded, and held her audience closely to the end. It is evident that she is to make her mark in the world.

Petersons' Counterfeit Detector.

After an existence of twenty-one years Petersons' Counterfeit Detector has become indispensable to the financial and commercial communities of the United States and the Dominion of Canada. For the ensuing year it has increased its facilities for placing before its readers the earliest intelligence concerning counterfeit U. S. and national bank notes and coins. The resumption of specie payments has already given an impetus to the nefarious work of making bogus silver and gold coins. All the worthless imitations of specie that have thus far appeared have been promptly noticed. In this renewed department of its usefulness to the business community, the Detector receives additional and diligent co-operation in all the monetary centres of the country.

All its miscellaneous well-established and approved features will be maintained at a high standard of excellence. The lists of banks and bank officers, the semi-monthly reviews of the money market, and stock tables, will be furnished with the old-time care, punctuality, and impartiality. Now is the time to subscribe. Terms of subscription to "Petersons' Counterfeit Detector and Bank Note List:" Monthly, per annum, $1.50; Semi-monthly, per annum, $3. Subscriptions may commence with any number, and payable in advance. Canvassers wanted in every county; good wages can be made. Address, T. B. Peterson & Brothers, No. 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Ships Racing from San Francisco.

The remarkably short and regular voyages between New York and San Francisco made by the ships Three Brothers (formerly the steamship Vanderbilt) and the David Crockett render it difficult to decide which is the better of the two vessels, consequently great rivalry exists between the captains and the owners. The Three Brothers left San Francisco on October 11th, and the David Crockett sailed eleven days afterward. The Crockett arrived in New York day about three hours ahead of the Three Brothers on Thursday, thus beating the latter about eleven days.

The Crockett has made twenty-four round voyages between New York and San Francisco, the shortest of the outward passages being 103 days, and the longest, 136 days. The shortest homeward passage was made in ninety-four days, and the longest in 115 days. The last trip took 100 days, which is considered good time at this season. Her best sailing has been 316 miles in twenty-four hours, and 620 miles in forty-eight hours. The Crockett has never cost the underwriters one dollar.

The Three Brothers is said to be the largest sailing vessel in the world, her length being 331 feet, depth of hold 29 feet, beam 48 feet 8 inches; 2,972 tons burthen; and drawing, when loaded, 24 feet 8 inches of water. She was built in 1855 as the steamship Vanderbilt, and during the rebellion was the flag-ship of Admiral Wilkes, when in command of the West Gulf squadron. In 1873 she was rebuilt and sparred as a sailing ship, and named by the three Howe brothers, her owners, the "Three Brothers." Her first trip was from San Francisco to Havre in 110 days, then to New York, and from New York to San Francisco in 132 days. Her later voyages have not varied much from this. Her area is 27,008 square yards, and she is full ship-rigged up to royals. The top of her foremast is 208 feet above the load line, main-mast 211 feet above, and mizzen-mast 177 feet above the load line.

A Different Jones.

Congressman Frank Jones of New Hampshire lives at the Riggs house. At the same house lives another Frank Jones, but not a Congressman. A few days ago a friend of the latter Jones wrote him a letter, making an appointment to visit some ladies. By a strange mishap, too frequent in this vale of tears, the letter was sent to the room of Congressman Frank Jones. He not being in, his wife, under the apprehension that the letter might be on a matter of business needing prompt attention, opened it. The business it disclosed rather astonished her for a while, but like a sensible woman she finally settled down to the conclusion that it couldn't be intended for her Frank Jones, and returned the letter to the clerk's office to be delivered to the other Jones. The moral of this is—but let every one deduce his own moral.—Washington Star.

How the Senators Look.

Leaving Conkling out of the question, a glance at the Senate will show many good-looking men, dignified, well-dressed, high "dome of thought," well-filled stomach, but very few with pretensions to beauty.

You often see Burnside's form and face in the fashion-plates in tailor stores, alongside of the Marquis of Lorne, and he is a man of fine appearance. He is the best-dressed man in the Senate, as Clarkson Potter is the best-dressed man in the House, only Potter looks like a swell—a cockney—and Burnside looks like an emperor. No man in the Senate looks wiser than Burnside. No man was ever so wise as he looks; but appearances are often deceptive.

Ferry, Allison, Booth, Dorsey, Jones of Nevada, Eustis, Don Cameron, Spencer, Windom,—the young men of the Senate—are good-looking, that is, they are up to the standard of manly beauty, such as you will see among the business men in New York or Chicago.

Bayard, Morrill, of Vermont, Stanley Matthews, Whyte of Maryland, Cameron of Wisconsin, and some other of the older looking Senators have the appearance of ability and profundity, and may be said to look impressive.

Lamar looks like a man with a great remorse. His head is bent down, his hair uncut, and his hand trembles.

Christiancy's appearance suggests the same idea. He growing old very fast, and his habit of pacing the floor behind the Senator's chairs, with his hands clasped under his coat tails, is more noticeable. "They say" there is trouble on the old man's mind.

Blaine's appearance is familiar, only he hasn't a black hair left.

Hamlin looks like an old New England parson, and Kirkwood like an old-fashioned country doctor.

Edmunds' likeness to the picture of St. Jerome is well known.

Morrill looks like Charles Sumner, except his frame is not so massive, nor his bearing so noble.

McCreery, of Kentucky, looks like Mr. Pickwick.

Eaton, of Connecticut, like Uncle Pumblechook, in "Great Expectations." I never see Eaton talking to a page without thinking of Pumblechook and Pip, and expecting to hear him turning to Thurman, who is his seatmate, and saying, "Now, mum, with respections to this boy."

Garland, of Arkansas, looks like one of the priests in Vibert's pictures.

Ben Hill looks like Joseph Medill.

Rollins, of New Hampshire, is the smallest man in the Senate; Davis, of Illinois, the largest. Ferry has the most hair on his head, and Cameron, of Wisconsin, the least. Grover and Jones, of Florida, are the tallest men, Hamlin and Merrimon habitually wear swallow-tail coats, and McDonald wears an old-fashioned cloak, like the toga of a Roman Senator.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Quicken the Circulation.

Don't let the blood stagnate in your veins. You can prevent its doing so by increasing its volume and purity, by stimulating the digestive organs, and encouraging assimilation, with that matchless vitalizing agent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. People not afflicted with any organic or incurable disease, grow wan and haggard simply because their blood is thin, watery, deficient in nourishing properties and so meager in quantity that the extremities are very imperfectly supplied with it, and the superficial circulation extremely feeble. Hence the bloodless appearance of the countenance. But when the Bitters are used to enrich and quicken the blood, the rosy hue of health returns to the cheek, the frame acquires substance as well as vigor, the appetite improves, and no digestive qualms interfere either with its gratification or the subsequent tranquility of the stomach.

Your Voice is gone and it is because you let that cough run when you might have cured it by using D. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

She was threatened with lung-fever, so the doctors said, but a half of a bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup relieved her immediately and in less than a week she was all right.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tfeb25

Revolution in the Dressing Room!

By the almost unanimous action of the parties interested,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

has replaced the old worn-out inventions for coloring the hair, which the bitter experience of years had proved to be ineffective and deleterious. Unlike the compounds that upon the health of the hair, and dry up and consume the juices which sustain it, this mild, genial and perfect dye is found to be a vitalizing as well as a coloring agent.

MAKE WAR

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safeguard that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 53 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tfeb15

The Unknown Passenger.

It was on board a good ship in mid ocean. Suddenly there arose the dreadful cry of "A leak! a leak!" At once all was terror and confusion. "To the pumps!" roared the captain. Bravely did the ship's company work, but over there arose the despairing cry of the carpenter, "The water gains upon us!" The captain's face was knotted with the agony of emotion. "Oh, for an extra pump!" he groaned.

"An extra pump, do you say?" eagerly enquired one of the frightened passengers.

"For three more pumps I would give my fortune," moaned the captain.

"Then, courage!" exclaimed the passenger, "below deck I have a dozen of the best pattern; let them be used."

With insane eagerness the blessed pumps were brought upon deck, and by their aid the hitherto doomed ship was kept floating as buoyantly as a duck, until her destination was reached. Then the overjoyed passengers crowded around their deliverer, and overwhelmed him with thanks.

"Who are you?" at length enquired the captain, pressing his hand; "We have never known you. Why had you so many pumps with your baggage?"

"Gentlemen," responded the unknown passenger, uncovering his head and making a profound bow, "I am a Massachusetts milkman, en route to the Sandwich islands to establish myself in the same business."

And while the astonished passengers were gasping for breath, he disappeared over the side and was rowed ashore.—Rockland Courier.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on cross sleepers, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed:
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form a

ANTI-FAT
ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. It can be taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions, and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writes from Providence, R. I., as follows: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 160 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced my fat and one-quarter pounds. The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOUGLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. FOWLE & FLEMING, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen—The following report from a lady has been sold Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a prime remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity mailed free by stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a medical system of positive remedy for those diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have witnessed marvellous results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the chief or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it in any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions from natural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, Sterility, and Female Weakness. It does not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single class of peculiarly the most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and a vigorous constitution and healthy complexion established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have a sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated with a dirty white or yellow, Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Sick Headache, Constipation, Costiveness, Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the Side, Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative is indicated, these Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. This is the remedy that may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried upward, and FREELY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cured recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. The Sermon.

The Watchman tells this sermon stealing story of a young man who stood before a Presbytery in Scotland asking ordination. Principal Robinson was moderator. The young man was rigidly examined, and asked to preach. The examination and sermon were both satisfactory. The candidate retired and the moderator said: "I feel compelled to say that the sermon which the young man has just been preaching is not his own. It is taken out of an old volume long out of print. Where he found it I do not know. I supposed the only copy of the volume to be found was in my library, and the candidate has no access to that." The young man was called in and asked if the sermon he had preached was his own? "No," he frankly said; "I was pressed for time, and could not make a sermon in time. The sermon I preached was one I heard Principal Robinson preach some time ago. I took notes of it, and liked it so well that I wrote it out from memory and have preached it to-day." Nothing was said; there was nothing to be said.

The Silent Stranger.

A stranger sat in the corner of the car, in easy attitude, his feet upon a large black trunk. The gentlemanly conductor, going his rounds, at the first station politely informed the stranger that the trunk must be put in the baggage car; to which the stranger said nothing. At the second station the displeased conductor, more decidedly, told the stranger that he must put the trunk in the baggage car; to which the stranger nothing replied. At the third station the vexed conductor more imperatively told the stranger that he must put the trunk in the baggage car, or it would be put off the train. To which the stranger nothing replied. At the fourth station the conductor had the trunk put off and left. At the fifth station the mollified conductor, addressing the stranger, begged him to remember that he had done what his duty required, and that he had only done it after repeated warnings, and that it was solely the stranger's fault. To which the stranger laconically replied: "Don't care; 'taint my trunk."

—Two balls were recently given at Atlanta, Ga., in honor of Gen. Sherman. He was down there some years ago, and an unlimited number of balls were prepared for him.

—Professor Wise, the veteran balloonist, says balloons may be built of boiler iron, if built large enough. When the surface is doubled the cube is quadrupled, and a balloon 400 feet in diameter, of copper plate, would lift up a man-of-war vessel and sail away with it.

—When a young tobacco chewer, who boasted that his father used the weed up to the day of his death, was asked if he didn't think it shortened his days he said; "Not at all. Each one of his days was twenty-four hours long, just the same as if he hadn't used tobacco."

—A railroad engineer at Harrisburg, having been discharged, applied to be reinstated. "You were dismissed," said the superintendent, austerely, "for letting your train come twice into collision." "The very reason," said the other party, interrupting him, "why I asked to be restored." "How so?" "Why, sir, if I had any doubt before as to whether two trains can pass each other on the same track, I am now entirely satisfied; I have tried it twice, sir, and it can't be done, and I am not likely to try it again."

A Mystery in Nashua.

Much interest has been caused in Nashua by the death of a young woman in childbed, and the heartless conduct of the man who passed as her husband. The man went by the name of George M. Straw, and his conduct and that of the woman has been strange throughout; both concealed their identity, for it is shown that the accounts they gave of themselves were false all through. After the woman's death the husband had her body put in a tomb without any services, and left town, as he said to make arrangements for her burial at Haverhill; but he took away all her jewelry, papers, etc., leaving nothing by which she could be identified, and has not since been heard of. The woman died on Monday night, the 3d inst.

The "Black Death."

The plague, or "black death," which is now ravaging Russia and terrifying all Europe, is said to be the oldest-known as well as the most fatal of all diseases. In the year 1017 B. C. it carried away 70,000 persons in Palestine; 452 B. C. swept off half the the population of Rome. One hundred years later 10,000 died daily in the seven-hilled city; 126 B. C. 800,000 perished by it in Numidia, and 200,000 in Carthage. From 265 to 250 B. C. it spread all over the world, and in A. D. 1005, historians estimated that it carried off one-half the entire population of the then inhabited world. In 1347 and '48 it ravaged Italy, France, Spain and England. In Florence 60,000 died; in Venice, 100,000; in Marseilles, in one month, 16,000; in Siena, 70,000; in Paris, 50,000; at St. Denis, 14,000; in Avignon, 60,000; in London, 100,000. In 1665 the "plague in London" written of by Defoe, occurred. The season had been unusually rainy. From Christmas until midsummer the storms were incessant. Inundations followed and large bodies of stagnant water were standing all over the surface of the country. In June the deaths were 590; in July, 4129; in August, 20,046; in September, 26,230; in October, 14,373; in in November, 3449, and in December the mortality was less than 1000, showing that the cold weather acts as a check on the disease; yet the plague is unknown tropical countries. It is estimated that 68,596 were carried off in London and 40,000 in the Neapolitan territory during that year.

Hines' Trowsers.

The following is a copy of a bill passed by the national House of Representatives Jan. 24th; and in the Senate read twice and referred to the committee on military affairs, Jan. 28th:

An act for the relief of private William Hines, Company F, Eighteenth United States Infantry, who lost his trowsers and blanket by fire at Aiken, South Carolina.

Whereas private William Hines, Company F, Eighteenth United States Infantry, on or about the eleventh day of October, eighteen hundred and seventy-six, at Aiken, South Carolina, did lose his trowsers and blanket by fire; and

Whereas a gratuitous issue was suggested by a board of survey, and afterward made to said Hines, which issue appears to have been unauthorized by law or regulation; and

Whereas the said Hines, relying upon said suggestion, did accept and wear said trowsers and use said blanket, contrary to the statute, and in consequence the money value of said articles has been charged to him: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby, authorized to credit private William Hines, of Company F, Eighteenth United States Infantry, with the sum of eight dollars and fifty-five cents, being the money value of the trowsers and blanket issued to him in consequence of loss by fire, and which amount has been charged against him.

News and Notes.

By a report made to the Maine legislature it appears that the State has expended during ten years past, for the defence of criminals, $6528.30. Counsel for Wagner got $812; it cost $765 to defend James M. Lowell, the Auburn murderer, and $1000 to defend E. W. Reed, the Bangor murderer. Lucy Mink's counsel got $250, and Gordon's $400.

A man named Balson, who was recently executed in a western State, confessed that he murdered two men, Hartly and Crane, whose charred remains were found in the burning cinders of a camp in the town of Trescott, Me., about thirty years ago.

Mrr. John Dyer, living near Fort Wayne, Ind., died suddenly a few days ago. She was recently married to Dyer, and possessed property that had been willed to Dyer in the event of her death. Dyer's premises were searched and a quantity of strychnia found in his trunk. The body was exhumed and poison found in the stomach.

A new form of the temperance work in New York is "The Business Men's Society for the Encouragement of Moderation." It proposes to encourage moderation in the use of alcoholic beverages by inducing persons to take their choice among the society's three pledges; one promising total abstinence for a year, the second engaging not to drink in business hours, and the third not to drink intoxicating liquors at the expense of another, or to pay for drinks for others.

Six men have been arrested at Lebanon, Pa., charged with the murder of a man last December whose life was heavily insured.

A bill has been introduced in the United States Senate by Mr. Rollins, proposing to relieve all enrolled or licensed vessels engaged in the coasting trade or fisheries from the operation of any State law requiring compulsory employment of pilots or payment of pilots' fees.

William K. Douglass, formerly a resident of New Haven, Conn., writes to friends that he was the only white man in Dry Grove, Miss., who survived the yellow fever. His wife and daughter died, and his three associates in business. His eldest daughter was exposed to the contagion, but escaped it.

The President has approved the finding of the naval court of inquiry in the case of Lieut. Comdr. Kells, tried on the charge of selling pay vouchers and afterwards collecting money thereon. The order is signed that he be dismissed from the service.

Blackwood's Magazine for January has been republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay Street, N. Y. It is somewhat later this month than usual, the receipt of the early sheets having been delayed by the westerly gales. The leading article, entitled "The Elector's Catechism," is a satirical squib upon the Liberal party, which will be amusing reading to those versed in English politics. In "The Haven of Carmel" we find a description of the sea-coast of Palestine, and speculations upon the possibility of developing the resources of the country under English administration. "A Medium of Last Century" commences a little family narrative, in which an old negro witch or soothsayer is a conspicuous character. The scene is laid in Jamaica. Other articles are, a continuation of "John Caldigate," "The Novels of Alphonse Daudet," and "The Afghan War and its Authors."

The same house has issued the reprint of the British Quarterly Review for January. The first article is on "London Gas." The gas question has long occasioned serious complaints both in England and this country. This article describes the present state of matters, and the leading provisions of London gas legislation as settled in 1876; and also shows the remarkable effect which the prospect of the use of the electic light has had upon the value of gas property. A brief biographical portrait is given of Daniel Manin, the leader of the Venetian struggle for independence in 1848. A condensed statement of the "broad church theory," and of the arguments by which it is sustained, is given. "Restorations" describes the work which has been going on in English mediæval buildings; and there are other interesting and valuable articles. The periodicals reprinted by The Leonard Scott Publishing Co., are as follows: The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews, and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the publishers.

New Hampshire Items.

A wrestling match was arranged to take place in Concord on Tuesday night, 4th inst., between Patrick McGinn Fitzwilliam and an "unknown" from Manchester, for $100, collar and elbow, but the mayor forbade its taking place.

The referee case of John G. Sinclair against the Waumbek Lumber Company closed at Plymouth on the 4th inst., the referees awarding Mr. Sinclair $123,000. Much to the surprise of everybody the counsel for the defence withdrew from the case. It seems that the owners of the property, who are mostly Providence parties, are unwilling to back the counsel up, and none of the other creditors will do anything in the matter. Mr. Sinclair's claim will be settled.

An East Concord man who had money in the Concord savings bank, where it was cut down ten per cent, drew the balance and deposited it in the Warner savings bank, where there was a cut down of thirty per cent. What was left be put in the Penacook savings bank, at Fisherville, where it was again scaled down.

Political.

The editor of the Progressive Age, a Maine newspaper, has been very loud in demanding a reduction of government expenses. His demand has been complied with to some extent, an $1100 inspectorship in the Belfast custom house having been abolished. This office was held by Mr. Eugene Rust, whose father is editor of the Progressive Age.

Representative Hewitt, after a thorough investigation, says he is thoroughly satisfied that he did Secretary Sherman gross injustice by his late speech in the House, and that the Secretary has not violated any law in his funding operations, and that the large deposit of funds in the national depositories is strictly lawful.

The Mirror sums up the work of the Potter-Tilden fraud committee as follows: "The Potter committee has been engaged in a laborious investigation for about a year. It has made way with the $20,000 originally appropriated to pay its expenses, and is well under way with the other $10,000. Up to date its discoveries are these: That Anderson and St. Martin, two leading democratic witnesses, are the worst liars on earth; that Agnes Jenks is too many guns for Ben Butler or any other man; that the republicans made arrangements to spend $10,000 in Indiana in the campaign of 1876; that William E. Chandler is the frisky boy who slid the cipher telegrams into Ben Butler's inner office, unbeknownst to anybody. And that's all."

The United States Circuit Court at Baltimore has sentenced Thomas Perry, Robert B. Perry, and William S. Wilkinson, judges of election in the eighth district of Anne Arundel county, who were found guilty of holding the last Congressional election at a place other than that selected by the county commissioners, to pay a fine of $50 each and costs of suit. The costs amount to $600.

THE CITY.

Miss Francis N. Shackford has resigned the position of assistant teacher in the Haven school.

The first of a series of subscription dances came off in Congress hall on the evening of the 4th inst. The number present was not large, but those who were there enjoyed themselves greatly. The next dance in the course will be on Tuesday evening, the 18th inst.

The name of the new barque built by Mr. Nathaniel Thompson at Kennebunkport, and recently purchased by Capt. Moses, Capt. Libby, Hon. Daniel Marcy and others, is "Furness Abbey." She registers 1082 tons, and is classed 3 | 3 A 1 | 1 for twelve years. She is not chartered, as first stated.

Free lecture this evening at the Mission Rooms, over the ninety-nine cent store, corner State and Pleasant streets; entrance No. 64 State street. For a number of weeks past the rooms have been open (one hour) Thursday evening for a free lecture, on subjects of importance to young men. A cordial invitation is extended. Lecture at a quarter to eight o'clock.

The schooner Henry M. Clark, Smith master, formerly one of Doane's fishing vessels but now hailing from Essex, Mass., reached Halifax, N. S., on the evening of the 31st ult., having left Boston on the 23d bound to St. Pierre. She reported having had a hard time from Sunday morning, Jan. 26th, up to the date of her arrival at Halifax, having had the foresail blown away, mainsail torn and split, and jibboom carried away by a sea; was at one time badly iced up, and had to lay to for thirty-six hours under bare poles. She made an inch and a half of water an hour after arriving in Halifax harbor, and went on the marine railway on the 3d inst. for repairs.

Another very large and refined audience assembled at Music hall Wednesday evening, for the fourth entertainment in the Rockingham Course. The Swedish Ladies' Quartette fulfilled the very high expectations of the audience; they sing with much expression, have musical and highly cultivated voices, and won the liberal applause they received. Mr. F. J. Eustis, of Boston, performed several piano solos in an artistic manner. Mr. A. R. Carrington, the drum soloist, created quite an enthusiasm with his "rim solo;" and he, as well as Mr. Eustis and the ladies, was encored. His "points of war" was quite exciting, though we do not think the fire-cracker attachment at the end an improvement; he is certainly a remarkable drummer. The entire entertainment was a success.

THE VICINITY.

A number of painters were discharged from the navy yard on Wednesday.

The President has nominated Jefferson W. Sargent as collector of customs for Kennebunk.

Capt. Robert W. Huntington, U. S. M. C., is ordered to duty at the marine barracks at this navy yard.

Mrs. J. P. Bartlett read to a large and interested audience at Greenland on the evening of the 4th inst.

The will of Mr. Gibbs of Dover, over which there has been some contest, has been admitted to probate.

The counsel for Wagner, the Isles of Shoals murderer, received from the State of Maine the sum of $812 for defending that heartless wretch.

An "Advent praying band" from this city visited York Corner last week, and much interest was manifested in the services by the people of that locality.

The house and outbuildings of Aaron Burnham, of Biddeford, were burned on the morning of the 4th inst. The furniture was mostly saved. Insured $1000.

The First Christian society of York had their annual supper at Sea Cottage, York beach, on the evening of Tuesday, 4th inst. The supper was gotten up under the charge of Mr. Grant and his wife, and was one of the best. The York cornet band furnished music. Prof. Foye, Miss Mary E. Mitchell and others, played and sang, and Mr. George Chapman gave some vocal music. Over two hundred persons were present, and a very pleasant evening was passed by all. The greatest eater it is said was a man from Kittery Point.

A county officer of York county, living in Alfred, in view of the proposed reduction in salaries took an economical turn, procured a divorce at the last term of court, adjusted his bond for the faithful performance of his duties, and before court adjourned married a Biddeford woman. One trip covered the whole.

Henry Joslyn, of this city, attempted to walk a hundred miles in twenty-four hours at Kittery, commencing at ten o'clock P. M. on the 4th inst. He nearly accomplished the feat, but dropped on the track when on the 94th mile, having then, it is said, plenty of time to finish could he have kept on at the rate he had been going. A generous purse was made up for him.

The number of arrests in Saco during the last municipal year was eighty-seven, of which twenty-nine were for drunkenness, three for single sales of liquor, four under the "search and seizure" provision of the prohibitory law, and one for being a common seller of liquor. The number of lodgers at the police station during the year was ninety-one. The amount of money used for school purposes was $13,206.

THAT WALKING-MATCH.

The fizzle in which the Locke-Driscoll walking-match of fifty miles for $50 a side resulted, was simply ludicrous; and the general impression among those who took interest enough in the matter to be present at the walk, seems to be that it was a cut-and-dried affair, all arranged beforehand—a "skin," as we understand such an affair is called "professionally," for the purpose of swindling outsiders. If nobody took more interest in such exhibitions than we do, the walkists might travel around in a circle until they wore their legs off clear up to their waists without gathering in a cent of gate-money, or money of any other kind. Mr. Dennis O. Leary, who backed Driscoll and has no doubt that that artist in heels sold out before commencing to walk, requests us to publish the following:

Mr. Editor: Having heard that rumors are in circulation that I had knowledge of an agreement for a dishonorable walk in Franklin hall yesterday, I wish, through your columns, to most emphatically deny that I had any knowledge of any such agreement and challenge any party to prove to the contrary.

DENNIS O. LEARY.

The next walking-match here will not create any irrepressible enthusiasm, we think.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 5; Batchelder, J.

Frank Watson and John Harvey, two drunks, were each assessed $9.90, fine and costs. The pair went to Brentwood.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

The regular meeting of the Board of Instruction was held Wednesday evening; present, Messrs. Gardner, Locke, Knight, May, Hoyt, Pender, and Mrs. Wilson.

Sundry bills were approved.

The resignation of Miss Frances N. Shackford was accepted, and the committee of district three authorized to make promotions from the lower grades to fill vacancies.

A communication from the board of aldermen was received and referred to the committee of district two.

The report of the masters on the revised course of study was received, and referred to a special committee, consisting of Mrs. Wilson and Messrs Hoyt and Sherburne.

Adjourned to Wednesday evening, Feb. 12th.

[Communicated.]

A WISE MOVE.

We see by the Boston papers that plans are on foot for creating an "Association of Charity," comprising all the charitable organizations in the city, public and private. Its objects are to investigate every case of poverty in the city, and to obtain help for deserving objects, while every effort will be made to prevent pauperism and imposture. Some central office will be appointed, at which all applications for relief are to be registered, and where information can be obtained regarding every case.

Some such plan as that proposed is absolutely essential to wise and careful charity, and must prevent in a great measure the real harm done by injudicious alms giving. Why cannot something of the kind be undertaking here in Portsmouth? It could be done with comparative facility in a city no larger than this, and would it not be of the greatest use. A FRIEND OF THE POOR.

SUPREME COURT.

We were informed on Wednesday evening that the case State vs. Matilda C. Perry of Deerfield, for alleged cruelty to her adopted child, has been compromised—whatever that may mean; that 'tis settled, anyway, and will not be brought to trial.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Feb. 4th.

The festival of the Christian society at the town hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week, was a great success. The weather being very favorable Wednesday evening, the hall was filled to overflowing. The room was finely decorated with flags and streamers, and pictures, by Messrs. J. W. Hearne and Thomas Gathrop of the cable staff, and Charles W. Spear, our well-known fancy painter. In front of the gallery was a transparency with the words "Guard the faith" in gilt letters, which was made by Mr. Gathrop, and was much admired. The Rye cornet band were present and gave some very fine music. The exercises were directed by Hon. Emmons B. Philbrick, who made brief remarks, and was followed by Rev. Mr. Jones in prayer. Then came a tableau. "The fairies' offering to the Queen of May," followed by a song of welcome composed for the occasion, and very creditably sung by Miss Ida Jenness, nine years old; recitation, "Clergyman and peddler," by Miss Lizzie Foss; then a finely given song by Miss Edith Wendell of Portsmouth, which was well received; song, "Birdie's ball," by Miss Annie Delaney; dialogue, "What ails the boy?" by Willie and Josie Philbrick; singing by Messrs. Sabine, Newell and Taylor, of Portsmouth, with organ accompaniment by Mr. E. A. Tilton; recess of a few minutes; tableau, "Columbia's union party," which was very fine and loudly applauded; tableau, "The spirit of religions;" recitation, "Troublesome neighbors," by Ida Jenness; tableau, "The old woman who lived in a shoe," by Sadie Caswell and others. During the evening Miss Wendell, Mr. Newell and Mr. Sabine sang several solos; and near the close the St. John's (Portsmouth) choir sang "Good night." It was estimated that five hundred people were present during the evening, and the fancy articles and refreshments went off well.

Thursday evening the hall was again well filled. After music by the band was a tableau, "Fame," followed by singing by Ida and Etta Jenness; recitation, "Dr. Jalap," by Bertie Drake; singing, "Star of Bethlehem," by the Foss family; recitation, "Scolding men and scolding wives," by Rosa Caswell; charade, "Begone, dull care;" pantomime, "The magic mirror;" tableau, "Prize second;" recitation by Ida Jenness; dialogue; singing by Prof. Foye of Middleboro', Mass., —very fine, and well received; "Columbia's union party," repeated by request; recess; recitation, "Wreck of the Hesperus," by Estelle Delaney; singing by Ida and Etta Jenness; tableau, "Europe, Asia, and Africa;" song, "Nancy Lee," by Charles M. Rand and Alba Foss; recitation, "Guilty or not guilty," by Sadie Caswell; singing by Prof. Foye; dialogue by Annie Marden and others; song, "The two bad men," by Jere. Shaw and J. E. Leavitt; song, "Over the hills to the poorhouse;" and two beautiful flute solos by Mrs. Cornelius Philbrick.

In connection with the festival the telephone was exhibited by Messrs. Wilmot and Blake of the cable staff, the wire extending from the house of Mr. A. H. Hodgdon, across the road to the hall. An electric battery was also exhibited, and many took a dose of electricity at five cents. During the festival the wife of Rev. Ira S. Jones was presented with a large loaf of cake by the Portsmouth visitors, and Miss Edith Wendell was presented with an elegant silver jewel-case, Hon. E. B. Philbrick making the presentation speech. The very best of order prevailed all through the festival, which is called one of the best ever gotten up in town; it was a success every way, the receipts being about $400 and the expenses not much over $100. The balance is to be used to finish a vestry under the Christian church, and to put a chandeliers in the church, etc.

Mr. John Mowe, who drives a bread cart, is seriously ill at his house.

Mr. James H. Perkins is to put up an ice house and wood house. SCRIBE.

The Library Magazine, the first number of which has just reached us, is unique in form and typographical appearance. Its pages present a varied array of choice selections from the latest foreign magazines and reviews. Sir, Erskine Perry, discusses "The Future of India;" Richard A. Proctor treats of "Supposed Changes in the Moon;" T. Adolphus Trollope writes of "The Homes and Haunts of the Italian Poet, Guarini;" there is a learned and entertaining article on "The Phœnicians in Greece;" and for lighter articles there are: "Theatrical Makeshifts and Blunders;" "The Happy Valley"—a picture of life in India; "An Imperial Pardon," which gives a wonderful picture of peasant life in Russia; "Some Gossip about Leicester Square;" "A Woman's Love"—a Slavonian story; "Christmas in Morocco," etc. Not the least attractive feature of The Library Magazine is its low price, $1.00 a year, or ten cents a copy. Published by The American Book Exchange, 55 Beekman street, New York.

Dr. Isaac I. Hayes, the famous Arctic explorer, now a legislator, contributes to St. Nicholas a story entitled "An Adventure on an Iceberg." The scene is laid in Greenland, upon the western coast, and one of the illustrations will form the frontispiece of the March issue of the magazine in which the story is to appear.

—A Nevada woman scolded her Chinese servant for not properly cleaning a fish, and, going into the kitchen, soon after, found him washing it with brown soap.

—The bicycle mania does not seem to have diminished in England, and a company to manufacture those machines has just been organized with a capital of $175,000.

—A Parisian told his boarding-house keep that the coffee had only one great merit and one great fault; the merit that it had no chicory in it, and the fault that there was no coffee in it.

Quicken the Circulation.

Don't let the blood stagnate in your veins. You can prevent its doing so by increasing its volume and purity, by stimulating the digestive organs, and encouraging assimilation, with that matchless vitalizing agent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. People not afflicted with any organic or inorganic disease, grow wan and haggard simply because their blood is thin, watery, deficient in nourishing properties and so meager in quantity that the extremities are very imperfectly supplied with it, and the superficial circulation extremely feeble. Hence the bloodless appearance of the countenance. But when the Bitters are used to enrich and quicken the blood, the rosy hue of health returns to the cheek, the frame acquires sustance as well as vigor, the appetite improves, and no digestive qualme interfere either with its gratification or the subsequent tranquility of the stomach.

Your Voice is gone and it is because you let that cough run when you might have cured it by using D. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tieb25

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

has replaced the old worn-out inventions for coloring the hair, which the bitter experience of years had proved to be ineffective and deleterious. Unlike the compounds that

"The Furry in Stocks."

Always means an opportunity for some shrewd and lively operator to make a handsome profit. Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., have established the new combination system for operating in stocks, so that capital in any amount from $5 to $50,000 can be used profitably at any time that may suit the customer. By pooling the orders of thousands of patrons into one immense sum, and operating them as a mighty whole, under the most experienced skill, vast profits are made, which could be gained in no other way. These are divided pro rata among shareholders—monthly. An investment of $10 returns $50, or 5 per cent. on the stock. $100 pays $500, and so on, according to the market. J. M. Lyon, St. Louis, made over three hundred per cent. on an investment in October by the combination method. Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular (mailed free) has "two unerring rules for success," and full information so that any one can operate with profit. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

—The Louisville News is responsible for this ambiguous paragraph:—"Lotta Crabtree is the real name of the little actress who plays here this week. Her first appearance in Louisville was at the old Fulton Opera House in 1866. She was then seventeen years old. She is now about eighteen."

—The usually accepted theory of the "dew-fall" has been that the dew was water condensed from the air by coming in contact with the colder surface of the plants and soil, and the ice pitcher has been the favorite illustration. But recent observations and experiments prove that the dew is water evaporated from the soil and condensed by coming in contact with the colder air. A familiar proof of this theory will be found in the moisture which collects so profusely on the inside of hot-bed windows at night.

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Takes according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, one of which the following from a lady of Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions, and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately went to ALEXANDER'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Your bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 139 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds. The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOGLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWERS & WEMPLE, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—Two follow-up reports from the lady mentioned Allan's Anti-Fat. "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, cures dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have succeeded in perfecting a most potent and positive remedy for those diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while vouching for its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a potent, safe, and effectual remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under an EXPLICIT GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Wakefulness, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exhibit this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those desiring more full information of these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those afflicted.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a good constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by foul blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a general rule, for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, drastic, bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them, to avoid exposure or disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation.

For Sensitive, Bilious, Costive, Dyspeptic, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blotched Skin, Sick Headache, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, dull, heavy pain, generally falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. Eyes, a dryness, or feeling of worry, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, discharges, some of which are severely painful, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be purchased of druggists, and by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and FARTHER APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the most offensive discharges proceed. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. Attacked by Grizzlies.

Several weeks ago, in the neighborhood of Hettenshaw, a very remarkable bear hunt occurred. It appears that Dr. Sanley, while on a visit to Hettenshaw, expressed an earnest desire to go bear hunting, and accordingly, one morning, he started in company with Green French and George Burgess and Joe Lightfoot. On arriving at a thicket, the dogs gave notice of their near approach to a bear, and the party decided to station themselves at certain points and let the dogs go in and drive the bear out.

This was done: but the doctor, becoming impatient, entered the thicket himself. The heavy undergrowth made his progress slow, but he fought his way ahead until he came to a fallen tree lying in a little gulch. Helping himself along by the limbs, he arrived at the upper end just in time to be confronted by a huge grizzly bear. Retreat was impossible, as it had been with the utmost difficulty that he had advanced so far; there was no tree in convenient distance, and as the grizzly showed fight, there was nothing left for him to do but shoot.

Taking deliberate aim with his Henry rifle the doctor fired, and the bear fell mortally wounded. Another load was sprung from the magazine into the rifle, and the doctor, looking up, was surprised to see another bear in the same spot. This he shot also, and, quickly reloading, was yet more astonished to see a third bear in the same place where he had shot the other two.

Again the lever moved, and a fresh charge went into position and again the doctor looked up and discovered a fourth grizzly coming toward him from the same opening in the bush. Whang! went the gun again, and down went bear No. four.

By this time the doctor had got warmed up and excited, and he kept moving the lever and firing into the bodies of the bears until the sixteen shots in the magazine were exhausted. Meantime his companions, hearing the shooting, and presuming the cause, made their way to where the doctor was, with the intention of assisting him, but found him on top of the largest bear, with the others strewn about, swing his hat and shouting lustily. One was an immense grizzly, so large that the hunters could not handle him, and the other three were good-sized grizzlies, probably about two years old. The shooting of four bears by one man, without ever changing his position, is something hitherto unheard of, even in the most highly-colored annals of the western wilds.—Trinity (Cal.) Journal.

Laziness as a Disease.

Laziness, says the Lady's Journal, is a bad disease, and, like many other kinds, is often self-imposed. In the case of many individuals it is an inherited malady, and consequently hard to oust from the system. But it is oftener the case that the distemper is brought on persons by their own deliberate selfishness—by a vastly discreditable disposition to shirk the inevitable burdens incident to living a decent life. Laziness of this kind is one of the cardinal sins, and should submit the obnoxious offender to the discipline of the treadmill. More particularly is laziness offensive to the young and healthy. To learn to work, and work cheerfully, is the central lesson of life. Begin to learn early—eschew laziness as the most disgusting of all faults, and one that will surely end in hopeless misery; for depend upon it, none can be so insensible through laziness as to be in the end incapable of suffering. Nature is, in the event of a not-payment of her demands, a stern and merciless creditor.

Important to Pensioners.

The Commissioner of Pensions has promptly issued a circular to all pensioners who will have claims under the recent arreages law, in which they are distinctly informed that all correspondence in relation thereto will be with the pensioners themselves, and that no claim agent will be recognized in such claim. A letter addressed to the Commissioner of Pensions, Washington, signed by the person who was in receipt of the pension at the date of the passage of the bill, and two witnesses, in the presence of a magistrate, will be the only application required, and is all that is necessary to adjust every claim. The pension certificate should not be sent to Washington, but must in every case be exhibited to the magistrate who attests to the letter. The Commissioner suggests the following form for the letter:

"To the Commissioner of Pensions:

I, ... a pensioner under pension certificate No. . . . hereby apply for the arrears due me, under the Act granting Arrears of Pensions, approved January 25, 1879. My post office address is—[here insert the name of the post office, and if the claimant resides in a city, the name and number of the street and residence must also be given.]

Two witnesses. Name of Claimant.

News and Notes.

Capt. Geo. Prince, of Bath, Me., who was arrested on the 19th of last month by Col. J. Horace Kent, charged with defrauding the government by obtaining fraudulent pensions, on Thursday pleaded guilty at the U. S. District Court at Portland, and will be sentenced in a few days. Thirty-two witnesses were present from Ohio, Washington, Baltimore, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine, and the testimony appearing so overwhelming the gallant (?) captain thought discretion the better part of valor, and "came down." Col. Kent is entitled to great credit for the excellent manner in which he has worked up this case. He has been highly complimented by the government officials. He believes that the government will recover the $18,000 fraudulently secured by Prince.

Miss Strickland, seventeen years old, daughter of George Strickland of Early Springs, Texas, was requested by her father to write a letter to her lover declining his further attentions. Instead she wrote a letter to her father, telling him that she intended quitting the world. She then took from a medicine case in a room adjoining her own several grains of strychnine, and putting the poison in a glass with water, went in the presence of the family and drank the potion, saying as she did so that it was soda. In a moment she was in convulsions, and when her father sprang to her side, asking if she was ill, she said, "Strychnine, father, strychnine," and in half an hour she was dead.

Portland is to have another European steamship line. The Clyde Company will have three steamships to run between Glasgow and Portland direct. These steamers are the Eirene, Capt. Rollo, 2150 tons; the Colina, 2000 tons, Capt. Murray; and the Cybele, 1800 tons, Capt. McMullan. They are all new and fine boats, with good passenger and freight accommodation. The Eirene is now due at Portland.

Mr. William B. Elliott of Glenburne, Me., was murdered near Bangor on the 5th inst. He was found by the side of the road with his head crushed, and a broken sled-stake near him. The murderer is supposed to have been a man who was seen riding on Elliott's team with him, and who afterward drove up to the railroad station in Bangor with the team, and left it there.

Dwight Foster and William H. Trescott, counsel for twenty of the Gloucester fishing vessels driven from the herring fishing ground by the mob of Newfoundland fishermen, in January, 1878, have filled with the Secretary of State claims for damages, ranging from $37 to $8600 per vessel, according to the expense and anticipated profits of the voyage. They quote from the British arguments before the Halifax Commission, the depositions of Newfoundland fishermen, and the colonial laws, to establish the justice of the claims and show that if treaty rights can be abridged by local legislation, their privileges acquired by the award of five and a half millions are of questionable value.

The Comptroller of Currency reports that the total amount of bonds held by the National Banks as security for circulating notes, on the 1st of February, was $348,939,200, of which $67,961,650 were 6 per cents., $184,856,300 were 5 per cents., $42,578,550 were 4 1-2 per cents., and $52,542,700 were 4 per cents. The National Bank circulation outstanding on the 1st inst., was $322,930,849.

At Goliad, Texas, two men named Henderson and Lockhart quarrelled, and both drew revolvers. Lockhart caught Henderson's arm and fired six shots into him, killing him instantly. Henderson's brother rushed at Lockhart with a pistol. They closed in a struggle, and Henderson emptied six chambers of the revolver into Lockhart's body, causing instant death.

At Shabonier, Ill., on the night of the 4th inst., Fred Malcho went to the residence of August Rubin, compelled the latter to take a drink and then shot him dead. The family ran for safety, but Malcho fired three balls into the body of the eldest daughter, mortally wounding her. The cause is unknown. Malcho has not been captured.

At Wrightsville, Ill., Monday, 3d inst., Dr. Charles McAuliffe and James Havner, uncle of the doctor, had a dispute, ending in Havner being killed. On Tuesday night a constable started with the doctor for Carrollton jail. When half a mile from town a mob overpowered the constable, and seized the doctor and hanged him.

During 1874 there were 709,705 bushels of grain exported from Portland; in 1875 there were 991,674; in 1876 it reached 1,536,453 bushels, and in 1877 there were 1,112,271; in 1878 there were 1,994,736 bushels. During the same years the receipts were 13,228,781 bushels of grain and 1,642,947 barrels of flour.

William Talbot of Fall River, who was bitten by a dog several months ago, is suffering terribly from hydrophobia. He barks and growls precisely like a dog, and is in great agony. He will not recover. The owner of the dog, a man named Coffey, was badly bitten at the same time and is in great fear. They were trying to kill the dog, which they supposed was mad.

In Gloucester, Mass., on the 1st inst., a boy named George Marshall was thrown from his sled while coasting, and injured so badly that he died on the 4th. A little daughter of Sidney Gardner, of Gloucester, while coasting in the street on the 4th, ran into a stone post and was very badly hurt. Mrs. Isaac D. Clough of Gloucester was struck by a sled on the 4th inst., and remained unconscious a long time. A blood vessel was broken in her ear and her head was injured.

Principal Cushing, of the Grammar School at Warren, Mass., while coasting was thrown from a "double-ripper" against a stone post, badly fracturing his right knee-pan.

A little boy, four years of age, son of Alfred Case of Millbury, Mass., while sliding on the Blackstone river Tuesday evening, the 4th, slid into a hole and was drowned. His playmate gave the alarm, but his body was not recovered until Wednesday morning.

A strange story comes from New Haven of the bequest of $750,000 to John E. Skinner, a typo, by Antoine Mercer of St. Thomas, whom Skinner befriended some years ago.

Wade Hampton has not only had to give up his intended trip to Florida, but has taken to his bed again. He will probably have to undergo another amputation of his leg, and he is despondent about the result.

At Moorhead's cattle ranche, on the Niobrara river, Nebraska, Jan. 27th, Frank Moorhead and Mr. Ashbaugh, well-known cattle men, and two herders were killed by Indians, supposed to be part of Little Wolf's band. Eighty head of horses were run off and a number of cattle killed.

The supreme court of Vermont, after carefully sifting the new evidence in the Phair murder case, and listening to the arguments of counsel, has decided that there is no reasonable cause to doubt that Phair murdered Mrs. Frieze, and that the law must take its course. Phair will be hung on the 4th of April next.

The great Windsor hotel in New York has been sold under a foreclosure of mortgage, and brought $351,000.

The fishing schooner Cunard, Garrett Galvin master, with a crew of sixteen men all told, sailed from Port Mulgrave, N. S., for the Banks on the 20th of October last, and has not since been heard of; it is supposed she is lost, with all hands. At least three widows and eight orphans are left.

A quick-minded correspondent of the Boston Advertiser thinks that the mystery of the remains found in two barrels near the Charles river, some years ago, is now explained, in view of the Barron affair. Some person, evidently bent on suicide, dismembered himself, packed his arms and legs in one barrel, and his body in the other, and then rolled them both down to the riverside, where they were found. This seems improbable.

Of the Barron murder case, says the New York Herald: "Insurance companies, whose agents have sharp eyes, did not doubt at the time that this was a case of murder, and the public will not, with all the facts before it. But who has tampered with those accounts, and whose good name is to be saved at the expense of this calumny of the dead?"

A fiend who puts his two little motherless boys to torture without any interference at all from the town authorities, is reported from West Suffield, Conn. He married an excellent woman, who survived his abuse but a few years, and to make her dying hours more sorrowful, he dragged one of her children into her room and flogged it severely. The relatives of the little sufferers are not allowed to see them, and they are left in the power of a tyrant who knows no mercy.

Water-Proof Boots.

It is not always desirable that boots should be absolutely water-proof, as whatever keeps out water will keep it in, and whoever has worn India-rubber boots for any length of time, knows that retaining the perspiration of the feet soon puts them in a very unpleasant, half par-boiled condition that is not desirable. Still, water-proof boots are useful in an emergency, to be worn for a short time—as in doing the chores in bad weather. A pair of good rubber boots will answer this purpose, or a pair of common cowhide boots may be made water-proof after the method of the New England fishermen. These people, exposed to all weathers, have for a century used the following compound: Tallow, four oz; rosin and bees-wax, one oz. each; melt together, then stir in neats-foot oil, equal in bulk to the melted articles. The boots are warmed before a fire and this composition is rubbed into the leather, soles and uppers, by means of a rag. Two applications will make the leather quite water-proof.—Amer. Agriculturist.

—Judge, severely: "How do you know the defendant is a married man? Were you ever at his house?" "No, sir." "Do you know him personally?" "No, sir." "Did anybody ever tell you they were married?" "No, sir; but when I see a man and woman come to the same church regularly for three years, occupy the same pew, and have a hymn-book apiece to sing out of, I don't want to see no marriage certificate from them. I can swear to their relation all the time." Verdict for plaintiff.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tarts imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Manufacturers of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 25. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

The board of assessors met on Thursday afternoon and organized by the choice of Rufus K. Oxford as chairman, and Daniel J. Vaughan as clerk.

In Boston, on the 5th inst., three shares of the New Hampshire national bank of this city were sold by auction at 98 1-2, and one share of the Rockingham national bank at 115.

There is no truth in the report that the admirers in this city of Driscoll, the walkist, are having a gold medal prepared to present him, as a token of their appreciation of his late brilliant performance.

At the last meeting of the board of engineers, Col. Josiah G. Hadley, a former chief engineer of the city, presented the board with a handsome portrait of himself. A vote of thanks was passed for the gift.

Charles Jones, who was committed to jail upon a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Hackett for selling liquors and cigars without a license, procured bail on Thursday and was released from Kent's hotel.

The Weekly says: "Gas is, to be sure, $3.75 in Portsmouth, and only $2 in Manchester; but Portsmouth with its rocky foundation, and one-third the population, is a much harder road to travel for a gas company."

The Washington correspondent of the Traveller says that on Thursday a telegram was sent to M. Parry Kennard of Boston, tendering him the position of sub-treasurer. Mr. Kennard is a son of the late Oliver P. Kennard of this city.

As some people have mistakenly inferred from changes in the old stores adjacent, that Messrs. Charles Robinson & Son have relinquished business, we are pleased to announce that this old and always reliable firm still continues to deal extensively in flour and grain, at the same old location on Bow street.

Elder Arthur W. Waite, from Sandy Hill, New York, will hold a series of gospel meetings at the Advent chapel on Hanover street, commencing Sunday afternoon. The Wednesday and Saturday afternoon services will be for the children, and illustrated by "chalk talk" as it is called, which has been received with great favor elsewhere.

Mr. Editor: The CHRONICLE of Thursday morning states that the general impression among the spectators of the walking match which took place in Franklin hall on Tuesday between Mr. J. M. Driscoll and myself was, that it "was a cut and dried affair all arranged beforehand for the purpose of swindling outsiders." Any such impression, in so far as I am concerned, at least, is utterly unfounded. I entered into the match with Driscoll in good faith, did not make any "bargain" of any kind or description, went on the track to beat him if in my power, and did beat him and got the money. It is anything but pleasant, these stories that the match was a "skin," and I wish it distinctly understood that if there was any sell-out on the part of Driscoll I had no part in it and was not cognizant of it. C. G. LOCKE.

Shakespere has been called the English Wizard, and surely it is no misnomer for him who can by his magic raise and allay the Tempest, teach the sea monster Caliban human speech and feeling, and call from the realms of air the "dainty Ariel;" who can transport us in a twinkling from rugged New England to the Italian skies of Mantua and Verona, and thence to the forest of Arden, "under the greenwood tree;" who can in the depths of winter give us a Midsummer Night's Dream; who can thrill us with Macbeth, make us weep with Juliet and Ophelia, and laugh immoderately with the drunken Stephano, the "motley fool" Touchstone and Nick Bottom. But for his witchcraft to exercise its full power he needs a worthy and able interpreter and familiar, and this he has found in Mr. George Riddle. This week Mr. Riddle reads Midsummer Night's Dream, Friday, and at Saturday's matinee, Macbeth. Tickets for the four remaining readings, $2; single tickets 75cts. **

THE VICINITY.

A pair of gray horses belonging to Capt. Young, the present commandant of the navy yard, took fright Wednesday while being returned to their stable, and gyrated around the yard at a higher rate of speed than the regulations allow, pretty effectually demolishing the sleigh to which they were attached.

Dr. Jonathan Fogg, a native of Saco and for more than forty years a physician in successful practice there, died at Brockton on the 4th inst. of heart disease, at the age of seventy-five years.

On Tuesday evening, at about half-past seven o'clock, the house of Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin at Greenland was entered, and an ulster, with a pocket-book in one of the pockets, was carried off. The family were in the adjoining room at the time.—Times.

Deputy Sheriffs Marr and Stuart on the afternoon of the 4th instant made a raid on the drinkery of Martha Haynes, on Main street, Saco, and captured two quarts of whiskey and a gallon of rum. The woman was next day fined $50 and costs.

The case of Matilda C. Perry, for assault on a child, was settled by Mrs. Perry's payment of a fine of $25, with costs of prosecution. Over one hundred witnesses from Deerfield and vicinity were in waiting on the court, so the bill of costs must have footed up a handsome sum.

The Cape Ann Bulletin says: "The desk and book-case used by Daniel Webster is now the property of Edwin Fernald, Esq., editor of the Great Falls Journal, and is in use in his sanctum. Webster's family carriage is owned by L. Beach, Jr., of Lawrence, Mass."

Dennis Roach of Dover has found his son John, who ran away from school and home a number of days ago, as previously mentioned. The young chap went off to Boston on the cars, and it appears that he was about to go aboard a ship for sea but sent home by somebody after a suit of clothes he left behind, whereupon his father went to Boston and returned with the runaway.

A girl seventeen or eighteen years old, calling herself Etta Tasker of Dover, went to the boarding house of Mrs. O'Connor in Great Falls and engaged board, saying she was going to work in the mill. She stopped at Mrs. O'Connor's one night, ate breakfast the next morning, and then left. A dress, a sacque, pair of gold sleeve-buttons and $2 in money left at the same time. None of them have been seen since.

The reason why William Manuel of Saco was horsewhipped in the street recently has been made public. It seems that Mrs. Frederic Scammon, the wife of a highly respected citizen of Saco, has been for some time receiving frequent calls from Manuel during her husband's absence; and it was the injured husband who thrashed Manuel in the street. Mr. Scammon has taken legal proceedings against Manuel.

The Rockingham Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company held its 46th annual meeting in Exeter on the 3d inst., and elected directors as follows: William Conner, Exeter; George B. Webster, Kingston; John S. Hobbs, North Hampton; Harrison G. Burley, Newmarket; John A. Blake, Kensington. The board of directors then re-elected William Conner president, and George W. Wiggin secretary and treasurer. All these directors and officers are practical, working farmers, and the affairs of the company are in a sound, healthy and vigorous condition.

The actual walking time of Henry Joslyn, who attempted to walk a hundred miles in twenty-four hours at Trefethen's hall in Kittery, this week, was nineteen hours, forty-two minutes and thirty-four seconds; rests, three hours and three minutes; leaving one hour, fourteen minutes and twenty-six seconds in which to walk six miles, as he was withdrawn from the track at the end of his 94th mile. Joslyn sprained his ankle some time before his walk ended, which interfered somewhat with his speed. The spectators of the walk raised money enough to give Joslyn about $20 after paying all expenses, and took good care of him during the rest of the night after he left the track.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Feb. 6; Batchelder, J.

John Cassidy; drunk; $9.90; no money; Brentwood. Superintendent Scott will have quite an assortment of "help" for the spring work on the farm, judging from present appearances.

CITY COUNCILS.

In the Board of Mayor and Alderman, Thursday evening:

In the absence of Mayor Sise, Alderman Hodgdon was chosen temporary chairman.

City Solicitor Foster appeared and read the decision of William H. Rollins, referee, in regard to claims of Israel Marden and others against the city. Voted to refer the matter to the committee on claims, to confer with the solicitor in regard to the amount of costs, and report to the board.

Voted that the monthly report of Volunteer City Missionary Loyne be referred to the Mayor.

Michael Palvin asked permission to occupy the corner of Market and Daniel streets, for the purpose of selling candy. Referred to the mayor with power.

The resignation of James A. Rugg as assessor was received and accepted. It was voted that the board meet the Common Council in convention next Thursday evening to fill this vacancy and any other that may occur.

John Smith asked the privilege of using the south ward room on the night of Feb. 11th, for his benefit. Referred to committee on city land and buildings, with power.

Voted that Mr. Moses, tax collector be invited to appear before the board at the next meeting and explain some things in his bill against the city.

Bill of Albert R. Hatch for services was referred to committee on claims.

The monthly bills were presented by the committee on accounts, and ordered paid.

Voted that Cyrus L. Brown be notified by the city clerk to discontinue the use of the buildings on Hancock street as a slaughter house.

The subject of erecting a partition in the upper room of the Cabot street school house for the accomodation of the scholars of Miss Chesley's school was taken from the table. The question was discussed by the aldermen, and laid over for one week.

SUPREME COURT.

In case State vs. Perry, a plea of guilty of an assault was accepted by the county solicitor on Wednesday, and a fine was imposed. Harriman for the State; Frink and Page for the defendant.

The court, by reason of the indisposition of the judge, on Thursday adjourned over to Monday afternoon at half past two o'clock.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 177.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

At hand is an arithmetic published in 1795. The author was Phineas Merrill, Esq., of Stratham. It was printed at Exeter, as is stated at the bottom of the title page. The following shows who the printer was: "By Henry Ranlet, and sold at his office."

The book is not large, there being but about one hundred pages. It has such rules as, besides the Rule of Three, the addition of Double Rule of Three, Position, Duodecimals and Cross Multiplication, regarded unnecessary now. Arithmetics were not numerous then as to systems by different authors. Mention is made of one by Dilmouth. He was an English author, and produced a spelling book, used in this country.

It appears that this was the second edition of this work by Mr. Merrill, in which the author states, corrections and improvements had been made. How long before the first had been issued, I cannot state. He was at the date of this book but twenty-seven years of age. He was a native of Stratham, a school teacher, land surveyor, and several years representative of the town in the legislature. He died in the midst of usefulness, Dec. 31st, 1814, aged 47.

Mr. Merrill in his last years was engaged in preparing another book. It was a Gazetteer of New Hampshire. Nothing of the kind for this State had been published. One by Morse contained mention and some particulars of the towns in several States. Mr. Merrill was assisted in this work by his brother, Rev. Eliphalet Merrill, ordained pastor of the Baptist church in Northwood, Dec. 30th, 1804. In advanced life he retired from the ministry, but continued in the town until his death, after 1840.

In consequence of the death of Phineas Merrill, the publication of the Gazetteer was delayed, perhaps two or three years. It was issued by Rev. Eliphalet Merrill, the surviving brother, in 1817. A copy of the work is at hand. It has about 220 double-column pages. Besides the account of the several towns, (then 217, now, 229), there are valuable statistical tables. In the accounts of Indian depredations in some of the towns the authors were much indebted to Belknap. In later Gazetteers, additional researches by that industrious antiquarian, John Farmer, Esq., make the account of the towns more complete in this respect.

The coroner's inquest on the Angell murder case at Sunapee closed on the 5th inst., the jury finding Henry H. Hayes guilty of the murder of Richmond C. Angell, and Charlotte C. Angell, wife of said Angell, accessory to the murder before and after the fact.

He sails March 12th.

A lock of Washington's hair has just been presented to a lodge of Freemasons in Virginia—the lodge in which the great Virginian was initiated, passed and raised. Only one other lock of his hair is known to exist; this, it is said, is owned and kept in a golden urn by the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts.

—Horace A. Saunders of South Norwalk, Conn., calls himself the great American pickle-eater, and wants to eat half a barrel of pickles or a barrel of apple sauce for $100 a side, with any man in Fairfield county. Such contests should be encouraged as fool exterminators.

Quicken the Circulation.

Don't let the blood stagnate in your veins. You can prevent its doing so by increasing its volume and purity, by stimulating the digestive organs, and encouraging assimilation, with that matchless vitalizing agent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. People not afflicted with any organic or inorganic disease, grow wan and haggard simply because their blood is thin, watery, deficient in nourishing properties and so meager in quantity that the extremities are very imperfectly supplied with it, and the superficial circulation extremely feeble. Hence the bloodless appearance of the countenance. But when the Bitters are used to enrich and quicken the blood, the rosy hue of health returns to the cheek, the frame acquires sustance as well as vigor, the appetite improves, and no digestive qualms interfere either with its gratification or the subsequent tranquility of the stomach.

Your Voice is gone and it is because you let that cough run when you might have cured it by using D. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

She was threatened with lung-fever, so the doctors said, but a half of a bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup relieved her immediately and in less than a week she was all right.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tfeb25

The East winds are trying to the throat. Keep Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup at hand to ward off trouble.

My wife had a terrible cough and cured it by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Revolution in the Dressing Room!

By the almost unanimous action of the parties interested,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

has replaced the old worm-out inventions for coloring the hair, which the bitter experience of years had proved to be ineffective and deleterious. Unlike the compounds that upon the health of the hair, and dry up and consume the juices which sustain it, this mild, genial and perfect dye is found to be a vitalizing as well as a coloring agent.

MAKE WAR

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safeguard that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 83 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tfeb15

Political.

A New York paper says that Secretary Sherman has ordered a wholesale removal of employes in the New York custom house, and that over two hundred of Conkling's supporters will be replaced by "administration men." We don't believe it.

Smith M. Weed, one of the Tilden "copareners," was before the Potter committee on the 5th inst. He conceded the substantial correctness of the Tribune's translation of many of the cipher dispatches. Weed's testimony indicates that Mr. Tilden was not ignorant of the projects on foot for buying up a returning board, but he states that Tilden refused to be a partner in any such proceedings. The indications are that Nephew Pelton is to be made a scapegoat.

Business Failures.

Lack of judgement causes fully fifty per cent. of all business men to fail, earlier or later. Do not an equal proportion of physicians fail to cure from the same cause? At the Grand Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, through the skill attained by his several specialists, each having devoted years to a special department of medical science, is able to cure a large per cent. of cases hitherto considered incurable. Many physicians, in view of the superior advantages of this model sanitarium, bring there stubborn, obscure, complicated, and surgical cases for examinations, operation, and treatment. Full particulars given in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated work of over 900 pages. Price, post-paid, $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and vestibuled accommodations, safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, O., is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I put it accepting to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so delighted over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Your patient have reduced her weight from 189 pounds to 160 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, I have taken two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat and lost one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOUGLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "If (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds, I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes health, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, simply let it out as the chance or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Prolapsus, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of women. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats upon all those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Pustule. Fever-Sores, Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swelling, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and a sound constitution is evidence of the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE of PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of clean, crude, and bulky ingredients. The Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seed. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulder, Side and Back, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to the Head, etc., take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escapes their sensative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and hermetically sealed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden boxes, pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

NEVER-FAILING RELIEF

AFFORDED BY

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

IT is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimonials ever offered in favor of any proprietary medicine, that the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH does in every case afford instant and permanent relief. No matter how long standing, or how severe the disease, the first dose gives such evidence of its value in the treatment of Catarrhal affections the confidence is as complete in its ability to do all that is claimed for it. The testimony of physicians, druggists and patients is unanimous in this respect, and the accumulating evidence is in point of respectability superior to any ever before obtained in favor of a popular remedy. The proprietors, therefore, may justly be proud of the position the RADICAL CURE has attained and believe it worthy of its reputation.

10 YEARS A SUFFERER.

From Hon. Theo. P. Bogert, Bristol, R.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Feeling thoroughly convinced of the efficacy of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, I am induced to drop you a line to say that although I have been sceptical of all the nostrums advertised as "radical cures," I have never found anything that promises such relief and ultimate cure as that of SANFORD'S.

I have been afflicted with this dreadful disease for more than ten years, and not until recently could be induced to persevere with any until I read the letter of Mr. HENRY WEED, and can truthfully say that after using five or six bottles I am thoroughly convinced of its curative properties. Hoping that others similarly afflicted like myself will be induced to make the trial I am, gentlemen, very truly, etc.

THEO. P. BOGERT.

An Anecdote of Caleb Cushing.

When Cushing was first elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives he came in as a young, cultured and ambitious lawyer, eager to exhibit his abilities upon the floor of the House. There was in that body an old farmer by the name of Emmons, representing the town of Hinsdale. He was a whig like Mr. Cushing, but unlike him was uncultured and a good deal of an oddity. He had been in the House several years, however, and had got in the habit of debating in a dogmatic and dry way.

Members generally were rather disposed to defer to his quaintness. Caleb Cushing saw chiefly his uncouth qualities, and seized upon them as an object on which to exhibit his wit. One day he began an attack upon the old gentleman, whom he elaborately ridiculed. Emmons listened in indignant amazement while he was undergoing this experience. He was observed to be restive, but kept his seat until Cushing had got through. Then the sturdy veteran rose, and walked strait over to the seat of Mr. Cushing.

The members started at this unwonted exhibition, and were anticipating a personal attack, when Emmons paused in front of his antagonist, extended his hand, shook it in the face of Cushing, and ejaculated: "What do you mean, young man, by abusing me in this way? If you don't look out, we won't have you here, speaking your pieces." This was all, but the last three words were delivered with an air of such ineffable contempt, and were so palpable a hit upon Mr. Cushing's style, that the house roared and the triumph was altogether with the bucolic champion.

Screens in Drinking Places.

The proposition that has been brought before the Board of Aldermen, to require that all screens, blinds and curtains shall be removed from doors and windows, as a condition of the future granting of liquor licenses, excites a good deal of interest among all parties concerned. Though by no means a new idea, it has not of late, at least, been proposed in a definite form. That such an interference with private matters is justifiable on the same principle that justifies any liquor law, is very plain. The purpose of a license as well as of a prohibitory law being to check an admitted evil, this measure as an accidental feature stands on the same basis. Clearly, if the law may dictate that a saloon keeper shall not sell liquor to minors, or after 12 o'clock at night, it is only in accordance with it to require such conditions of observance that with ordinary care it may be known whether it is lived up to or not. Moreover, the nature of the evil is such that publicity affords probably a more valuable check than the law itself. The great difficulty with the measure before the aldermen appears to be in enforcing it. The temperance people are agreed that it would be a good thing, though skeptical as to feasibility. The liquor sellers with one accord condemn it as an unwarrantable interference with the liberties of their traffic.—Springfield Republican.

An Income Without Care.

By the combination method of operating in stocks a handsome income can be secured without care. Capital in any amount, from $10 to $50,000, may be used with equal proportionate success. By this system Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., pool the orders of thousands of customers, of various sums, into one vast amount, and co-operate them under the most skillful management, dividing profits monthly. Each shareholder thus obtains all the advantages of the largest capital and experienced skill, and the percentage of profits is very great; $20 will pay $100 in 30 days; $250 will return $1,825, or 7 1-2 per cent on the stock, and so on, as the market varies. P. D. Drake, Esq., publisher Rock Island (Ill.), Daily Argus, made $104.15 on an investment of $20, in October. Hundreds of others are doing even better. Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular has "two unerring rules for success in stock operations" and full information, so that any one can deal in stocks. All kinds of bonds and stocks wanted. New Government bonds supplied. Deposits received. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

The Dexter Mystery.

Rev. Dr. Warren, editor of the Christian Mirror, a Congregationalist organ, has investigated the Barron affair, at Dexter, Me. He finds the alleged defalcation by Mr. Barron to consist of an entry of $2000, charged to no particular account, but made good by his note, protected by his life insurance and a bond of $500, which the robbers are supposed to have secured. The alteration on the books were only to include that note, which he had omitted in the assets when the examination occurred.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 5th.

Are we destined to write day after day until the session closes, "All quiet in the cipher investigation?" That threatens to be our fate. For more than two weeks, each day we were going to have some facts relative to that prolific sensation, but not one of the men involved has yet been called, and it is said that at the meeting last night Mr. Potter and others tried to delay action until all the despatches could be copied, seeming to go upon the supposition still that the manner in which the despatches were first exposed and the genuineness of them are points more important than the evidence of those who are charged with their authorship. The new sub-committee I suppose are now in New York, the first appointees, having objected to serving. The new men are Hunton, (chairman) Springer, Stenger, Hiscock and Reed. It is understood that Mr. MacMahon, of Ohio, peremptorily declined to act as chairman "for political reasons." I don't see how any more trigs can be placed in the way of this investigation, and it is to be hoped that it will be got rid of soon, for it has been as much in the way of business as the New York nominations, which everybody feels relieved to have settled, however they may disagree as to the manner of settlement.

Those who have studied the history and watched the progress of the so-called "Indian policy" for the last twenty years, will not be at all surprised to learn that a committee of the Senate has agreed to report in favor of a conditional and practical opening of the Indian Territory to settlement, or what in the end will amount to the same thing. The immediate plan is to establish three United States courts, to allow Indian representation in Congress by territorial delegates, and to divide the land among the Indians in severalty. It does not take much of a prophet to foretell that this will soon do away with the "Indian policy" altogether. Those who know most about the subject, and have no pecuniary interest in maintaining the present system, will tell you that the maintenance of separate and entirely different methods of government for the Indians is hostile to the interests of all concerned except those who enjoy the patronage of the Indian bureau. They encourage idleness, vagrancy and crime in the Indians, while they stand as obstacles in the path of civilization and industrial prosperity, even the whites who are forced to live in the neighborhoods of "reservations" being demoralized by the pauper-bounty system there in vogue. Place the Indians upon the roll of citizens, give them the right to hold property, make them earn their own subsistence, and it will be the work of only a few years to rid ourselves of the present "Indian policy." It is not a Christian duty to maintain any race in pauperism; in fact, it is an offence to republican government. Let us give the Indians their lands, with the right to sell what they do not want to use, and a burdensome humbug will be quickly disposed of. The action of the Senate committee will interest all thoughtful men.

Democratic candidates for the offices in the Senate are appearing. Among them is Col. John A. Slocum of North Carolina, for serg-ant-at-arms. He was a confederate officer, and it is said will be urged by the south zealously. It may be said that the thirsting office-seekers are anxious for an extra session, while the "ins" are not. The reason is because the patronage continues in old hands until there is a formal meeting to elect successors.

The old alarm against tacking "riders" on the appropriation bills, comes up as the session approaches a close and so much work remains undone. I think you may look out for larger jobs in that line than ever before characterized the "last days" of a session.

The House yesterday indulged in a long debate on the army bill, many democrats trying to reduce it to 15,000 or 17,000 men. But the number was finally established at 25,000, as reported by the committee. KNOX.

News and Notes.

Harry Hockenbury of Bradford, Vt., was presented by his wife a few days since with three nice boys, weighing in all seventeen pounds.

John A. Barnes of Pittsfield, Me., took from the post office a letter addressed to his wife, opened it, and abstracted ten dollars. He has been arrested, and recognized in $1000 to appear in the United States court for trial.

In East Providence, R. I., Thursday morning, a police officer was about to shoot a vicious dog at the request of the owner, when the animal sprang and caused the premature discharge of the pistol. The ball glanced and entered the lung of Andrew Gray, a young man, who stood partially behind the officer, and the injury will probably result fatally.

A desperado named Quince Gotliff rode into town at McLean, Ill., shooting at every one he met. The Deputy Sheriff attempting to arrest him, was fired upon, whereupon he drew his revolver and shot Gotliff, killing him instantly.

James Webb, a seaman on the gunboat Ranger, killed a Russian sailor in a drunken fight at Nagasaki, Japan, early in December, and has been sentenced to be hanged, subject to the clemency of the President of the United States.

John F. Brown, treasurer of one of the Baltimore tribes of the Improved Order of Red Men, committed suicide Wednesday, by taking laudanum. He was a defaulter to the amount of $2000.

A young John Chinaman at Phillips Academy in Andover finds his head in danger. John had been rather backward in his studies, so that the faculty considered it their duty to make the same known to the Chinese government, at whose expense the young man is educated. This they did, and one may imagine the disgust that was manifested upon reading the reply, which was as follows: "Send him home, and we will behead him." John will stay with the Melican man, and keep his head.

New Hampshire Items.

Domenick Castelilini, a Lebanon Italian, who has been in this country six years, is ordered by his government to return home and serve in the army, and he promises to "to think about it."

Moses P. Page, of Gilmanton iron works, a gentleman eighty-four years old, has recently given to the American Missionary Association for freedmen's education $10,000, through L. D. Stevens of Concord, who on the 3d inst. received a receipt from the treasurer of the society for the same. Mr. Page has previously been a liberal donor to various religious organizations. His fortune has been the result of a life of frugality and industry.

On the 3d inst. Lewis Dimick attempted suicide in the barn near his residence in Lyme, and was found suspended from a beam by a trace chain and taken down just in time to save his life. Family difficulties and liquor the probable causes. He is fifty years old, and has a wife and four children.

It is said that the mysterious young woman who died in Nashua recently, was Miss Emma R. Seavey of Hillsboro' Bridge, twenty years old. Her reputed husband has another wife and child.

The President has nominated N. P. Banks to be Marshal for the District of Massachusetts, and J. N. Patterson to be Marshal for the District of New Hampshire.

At Manchester, Feb. 5th, the trial of liquor indictments commenced. The case of John Hayes being the first, the jury returned a verdict of guilty after a short consultation, and the court sentenced him to a penalty of $100 and imprisonment not exceeding six months. Following the trial some fifty dealers retracted their former pleas of not guilty. Parties indicted for a second offence pay $100 and costs; first offence $50 and costs.

George C. Ward of Franklin, now nearly ninety-three years old, is called the smartest man of his age in the State. Last summer he did an able bodied man's work in the field, and now has a large farm which he manages himself. He has a spirited pair of horses, and takes great pride in driving them.

Senator Rollins has purchased Fort George island in Florida. The island is five miles long and one wide, and has on it two hotels, cotton and sugar fields and orange groves.

Political.

The United States Senate and House of Representatives each sent a committee to attend Senator Morton's funeral. More Senators than Representatives went, but while the Senate committee got along on $291 for transportation, the House committee's car fare came to $467.75. The total expenses of the House committee were $957, of which $419 was paid to G. W. Driver, keeper of a Washington liquor saloon, for whiskey and wine for the trip. The stock was so great that each member of the committee had a basket of wine and demijohn of whiskey sent to his lodgings on his return. The House is a "reform" organization.

In a communication sent to the House the Secretary of War asks a deficiency appropriation of $980,000 for the pay of men in the army, the appropriation having been made on the basis of 20,000 men instead of 25,000.

The newly-elected Senator from Kansas is charged with crookedness, and the legislature has appointed a committee to investigate him.

What Two Boys Did.

Among the first petitions of the Maine Legislature was an act to incorporate the Lewiston and Auburn Telegraph Company. The history of this company is as interesting as the wires have become useful. Last spring two boys, 17 years of age, pupils of the Lewiston High school —one John Leslie, son of John Read, and the other Edwin N., son of ex-Gov. Nelson Dingley, Jr., editor of the Lewiston Journal—became interested in the study of electricity, particularly that part relating to telegraphy. The two boys constructed batteries and instruments, and stretched a wire in the Read House from the parlor to the porch. In a short time they became expert in sending messages back and forth.

Having accomplished this much, they extended their operations. The two dwellings are opposite each other, about eight rods apart. A wire was stretched across the street, connecting the two houses, and messages were readily passed back and fourth. A son of a clergyman, also a pupil in the same class, lived some distance above on the same street, constructed another battery, and connected his house with the other two. From this beginning the line extended from house to house, office to office, until now there are in operation in the two cities nearly five miles of wires, and improved instruments.

Wires run from every law office to the court couse, doctors' offices are connected with apothecary offices, and dwellings are in close communication; one of the proprietors of the Journal has a wire from his residence in Auburn to the office in Lewiston. Compact instruments are had, and everybody becomes an operative. A company has been formed, with Charles Read, a young lawyer, President, and if a charter is granted, the wires will be extended all over both cities. And all this resulted from the playful experiments of two schoolboys.—Belfast Journal.

—"Have you ever been in prison?" asked a lawyer of a witness, whom he was disposed to badger and bully, as the profession are apt to do. "Yes, sir." "When?" "In 1863." "Where?" "In Andersonville." There was a momentary pause for breath, and then a round of applause that shook the court-room.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tarta imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30.

The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 110

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

Gov. Prescott was in town Friday morning.

Mr. Riddle reads "Macbeth" this morning at Miss Morgan's at 11:30 o'clock.

Mr. William H. Akerman, who died on Thursday, had been a member of the Mechanics' Association for twenty years.

Workmen on Friday commenced digging a cellar on Lincoln avenue, where Mrs. Thomas Reese intends building a residence.

Ship Coldstream, Marcy master, before reported damaged by fire at Hiogo, Japan, was advertised by Capt. Marcy to be sold Feb. 5th.

The Times says that "the CHRONICLE puffed from day to day during its continuance" the 400-mile walk of Driscoll. The Times man, at the time he was writing that, was perfectly aware that he was deliberately writing a lie.

As a gentleman of this city was driving over Portsmouth bridge on his way to Kittery, Thursday, the spirited horse he was driving took fright at a train of cars which came up behind, and ran away, doing considerable damage to the sleigh before he could be stopped.

As some people have mistakenly inferred from changes in the old stores adjacent, that Messrs. Charles Robinson & Son have relinquished business, we are pleased to announce that this old and always reliable firm still continues to deal extensively in flour and grain, at the same old location on Bow street.

Hon. Daniel Marcy appeared before the committee on commerce of the national House of Representatives, on the 5th inst., and urged the adoption of Mr. Claflin's bill for improving the regulations for the shipment and discharge of seamen. It is said that the committee were much pleased with the views presented, and will report the bill.

On Thursday afternoon Messrs. Joseph D. Cornelius and Russell Walden, of this city, shot a fox at Dow's woods, Rye, both firing at the same instant, and neither being sure that he fired the fatal shot. This fox we are informed had eluded the pursuit of the sportsmen for several years, and in the meantime had made objectionably free with Mr. Dow's fowls, etc.; and the farmer and the at-last-successful hunters are about equally pleased over Reynard's final destruction. He was a very large animal of the kind, and his fur much greyer than is common.

Several gentlemen who were walking on the Middle road, Friday afternoon, discovered a very dangerous hole in the road-bed, which they plugged up with a large stone taken from the neighboring wall; and on getting into town one of them visited the police station and notified the officers, and before dark the defect was remedied by the workmen of the street department. But for this action it is quite possible a serious accident might have resulted, with perhaps a law-suit against the city, as the hole was about a foot in diameter and very deep—just the thing to snap a horse's leg. Let every person who makes a similar discovery with these gentlemen, go and do likewise.

The Candia correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter says: "The school in district No. 8, Walnut Hill, taught by William F. Gardiner, A. B., of Portsmouth, closed on Thursday of last week. The scholars, by their correct deportment and prompt recitations, reflected much credit upon themselves as well as their teacher. This district has always manifested a good deal of interest in their school, and has generally had a good one. It has been very fortunate, during the past term, in securing the services of so thorough and efficient a teacher as Mr. Gardiner has proved himself to be. It will be a fine thing for nearly all our schools, when they return to the old practice of employing well qualified male teachers for our winter schools. It is better to have a wide-awake male teacher for a term of eight weeks and pay him well for it, than to have a half and half one who will stay in the schoolroom twice that length of time. Mr. Gardiner opened a select school on the hill, Feb. 3d. Any one thinking of attending school an extra term, will not have a better opportunity."

THE VICINITY.

A farmers' meeting, under the conduct of the State Board of Agriculture, was held in Greenland on Friday.

A young woman from Brentwood, driving two yoke of oxen hitched to a wood-sled, passed through Exeter one day recently.

Mr. John French, of North Hampton, recently lost by lung fever a horse that he had a short time before refused to sell for $500.

The hotels and boarding-houses in York and Cape Neddick have cut and stored over three thousand tons of ice this winter.

Ship Philena Winslow, Capt. Cheney, 2117 tons register, built in Kennebunk in 1876, and owned in Portland, has been lost in the south Atlantic.

The officers of Exeter Lodge, No. 766, Knights of Honor, were installed on the evening of the 5th inst. by D. D. Clarence B. Mason of this city.

The Grand Lodge of Maine, Knights of Pythias, on the 5th inst. elected Charles M. Moses, mayor of Biddeford, Grand Chancellor for the ensuing year.

Some thief slipped into the back door of Mr. Joseph Simpson's house at Greenland, at about half-past seven o'clock on the evening of the 4th inst., and stole his overcoat, in a pocket of which was his pocket-book.

The Dolphin Club of Kittery, numbering twenty, Wm. Noyes president, visited the Cape Neddick house on Thursday and had a turkey dinner—and an excellent one it was, gotten up in Mr. Grant's best style and including all the proper fixings, and at such a ridiculously low price per plate that we won't put the price in.

Eagle steam fire engine company, of Exeter, at their last meeting voted to present some worthy poor family with a barrel of flour, and appointed a committee to carry out the vote. Next day the committee left a half barrel of flour with a widow lady who was in need, and groceries enough to make up the balance of the value of a whole barrel.

A horse belonging to Curtice Genell, a Frenchman, was lost at Epping in a curious manner recently. The horse was near the mill-bridge, became frightened, ran across the bridge and on to the ice above the dam of Norris' mill, and finally jumped over the dam into a deep hole beneath, disappearing under the ice. The harness was recovered; the sled had been left on the road during the horse's run.

The selectmen of Hampton have posted notices, notifying all sheep owners who may present claims for damage by dogs, that they must, in all instances, furnish proof that such damage was done by dogs. The people of Hampton think that in consequence of the loose manner in which such claims have heretofore been settled, a good many worthless or inferior sheep have been "sold to the town" at $5 a head.

Thomas Ryan, of Dover, for breaking into Strong & Burt's shoe factory in that town some months ago and stealing a quantity of goods, has gone to jail to await trial, in default of $400 bonds for his appearance at the supreme court. At the time of the robbery he was detected just after leaving the building, and was so hard pressed by the officers that he had to drop his plunder in order to escape. Returning to Dover on Wednesday he was arrested.

The trial term of the supreme court for the county of Strafford begins at Dover on Tuesday next. Hon. Lewis W. Clark is to hold the court. It will be more economical for the jurors to have this judge preside, for he already carries a cane presented by the jurymen of this county, which will be a saving over a new judge who would expect, of course, the customary presentation. It is said that a juror from one of the back towns on being asked at a recent term to subscribe for the usual cane, remarked that he "didn't see what such young men as our judges are want to walk with canes for, but he wouldn't mind paying a trifle toward giving the Chief Justice a new outside coat!"

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Feb. 7; Batchelder, J.

Frank Wendell, accused of an assault on his wife, Francis Wendell, was adjudged guilty and ordered to pay $11.04, fine and costs. A drunken spree was the cause of the family jar.

James Gilchrist, alias "Scotty," not having $11.04 wherewith to pay for his creating a brawl and tumult, was sent to jail in default. Another charge against the same individual, for drunkenness, was placed on file.

GRANGERS' VISIT.

Sixteen members of Portsmouth Grange went to Hampton Falls, Thursday evening, by invitation of the grange there, to take part in a social jollification in the town hall; and they, as well as the visiting Grangers from Exeter and other places, enjoyed a glorious sleighride there and back, and a capital time at the hall, where everything was done by the members of the local grange for their comfort and entertainment. An excellent and bountiful supper was provided, and was duly attended to. Brief remarks were made by Hon. John D. Lyman of Exeter, Charles H. Hayes, Esq., Master of Portsmouth Grange, Hon. Frank W. Miller, Past Master, and others; after which there was singing, dancing, etc., until a reasonably late hour. The hall, which is a very neat and handsome one, was brilliantly lighted, and was much admired by the visitors, though its acoustic properties are rather defective. The sleighride home at about two o'clock Friday morning, in the calm and not too cold air, with "good sleeping" under the runners and a brilliant moon shining out of a cloudless sky, was a fitting end-up to the evening's pleasures.

ODD FELLOWS' SOCIABLE.

On Friday evening Osgood Lodge of Odd Fellows had another of the social gatherings so popular with the members and their ladies, and which they carry out in such good style, the occasion being the return visit of the Rye brethren and their ladies. At 7:30 o'clock the visitors arrived, to the number of about seventy-five, and after the usual salutations all hands repaired to the banquet hall. The tables, which were set four different times to accommodate the company present, numbering about two hundred and twenty-five, were very tastefully arranged, and an abundance of good things were set forth to tempt the appetite. After the feast had been properly honored, social amusements, singing, speech-making, etc., were taken up and continued to a late hour, when the party separated, all feeling that such pleasant reunions strengthen the bond of brotherhood. During the evening very acceptable remarks were made by Rev. Messrs. Bowditch of Kittery, Jones of Rye, Goss of this city, and others. Mr. William Kennedy acted as master of ceremonies to the acceptance of all.

Quicken the Circulation.

Don't let the blood stagnate in your veins. You can prevent its doing so by increasing its volume and purity, by stimulating the digestive organs, and encouraging assimilation, with that matchless vitalizing agent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. People not afflicted with any organic or inorganic disease, grow wan and haggard simply because their blood is thin, watery, deficient in nourishing properties and so meager in quantity that the extremities are very imperfectly supplied with it, and the superficial circulation extremely feeble. Hence the bloodless appearance of the countenance. But when the Bitters are used to enrich and quicken the blood, the rosy hue of health returns to the cheek, the frame acquires sustance as well as vigor, the appetite improves, and no digestive qualms interfere either with its gratification or the subsequent tranquility of the stomach.

Your Voice is gone and it is because you let that cough run when you might have cured it by using D. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

She was threatened with lung-fever, so the doctors said, but a half of a bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup relieved her immediately and in less than a week she was all right.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. feb25

Revolution in the Dressing Room!

By the almost unanimous action of the parties interested,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

has replaced the old worn-out inventions for coloring the hair, which the bitter experience of years had proved to be ineffective and deleterious. Unlike the compounds that upon the health of the hair, and dry up and consume the juices which sustain it, this mild, genial and perfect dye is found to be a vitalizing as well as a coloring agent.

MAKE WAR

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safe card that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 35 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. feb15

Business Failures.

Lack of judgement causes fully fifty per cent. of all business men to fail, earlier or later. Do not an equal proportion of physicians fail to cure from the same cause? At the Grand Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, through the skill attained by his several specialists, each having devoted years to a special department of medical science, is able to cure a large per cent. of cases hitherto considered incurable. Many physicians, in view of the superior advantages of this model sanitarium, bring there stubborn, obscure, complicated, and surgical cases for consultation, operation, and treatment. Full particulars given in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated work of over 900 pages. Price, post-paid, $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

—A man may be a great scholar, and yet a great sinner.

—Now look out, masters of vessels from China to 'Frisco, for if a Chinese lady gives birth to a baby, and there are already fifteen of the nationality aboard, the little almond-eyed creature must walk the plank.—Puck.

—Castle building gives us a habit of admiring fine things without practising them; it intoxicates us with conceit and sentimentality, for did ever any one build a castle in the air, which did not in some way redound to his honor or praise?

—Meek young men grow up in libraries believing it their duty to accept the views which Cicero, Locke, and Bacon have given, forgetful that Cicero, Locke and Bacon were only young men in libraries when they wrote those books.—Emerson.

—A man will sit still in the theatre for three hours and think the play the shortest he ever saw, and yet sit as uneasy in his pew on Sunday as though he was being used for a pincushion, and think the twenty-minute sermon the longest he ever heard.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

ANTI-FAT
ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as testified by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Your bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 159 pounds, and here is a great improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, Mass., says: "Without special change of attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The wholesale Druggists, Messrs. BRIGGS, DOLLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. FOWLE & SANBORN, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N.Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETOR OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'If (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week, until I had lost twenty-five pounds, I hope never to regain what I have lost.' Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, healthy appetite, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for the cure of
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my honest appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases indicated by the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the diseases for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Prostration, Debility, Nervous Irritability, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotence, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exhibit this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state of condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its each version into fat. Taken accordingly to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.

In bringing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure. As attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Enclosed find $2. Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 195 pounds to 162 pounds, and she has a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOGLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Noyes, Cowell & Plimpton, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "To our inquiries of ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT, Genuine, —The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat: It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unrivalled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high approbation of its wonderful curative powers. Some observation, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the cure of many long-afflicted to the organism of woman, that it is not as the elixir or cordial it is of its medical nature. Unlike, then, as a positive, safe and efficacious remedy for this class of diseases, and I one and all, in all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a medical man, that I am confident that I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid who may use it for any of the diseases which I recommend it for. I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see wrapper around bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription is unrivalled: Weak Back, Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Weak Stomach, Nervous Prostration, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Pains, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not claim it to be a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a diagnosis of purpose, being a most perfect specific for the diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats fully of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

CATARRH

NEVER-FAILING RELIEF

AFFORDED BY

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

IT is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimonials, ever offered in favor of any proprietary medicine, that the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH does in every case afford instant and permanent relief. No matter of how long standing, or how severe the disease, the first dose gives such evidence of its value in the treatment of Catarrhal affection, as to confidence to at once fix in its ability to do all that is claimed for it. The testimony of physicians, druggists and patients is unanimous in this respect, and the accumulating evidence is in point of respectability superior to any ever before offered in favor of a popular remedy. It is a compound, therefore, may justly be considered as the Standard Catarrh Cure, has attained and deserves a worthy of its reputation.

10 YEARS A SUFFERER.

From Hon. Theo. P. Bogert, Bristol, R.

BRISTOL, WARREN & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Feeling personally convinced of the efficacy of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh, I am induced to comply so far as to say that although I have been sceptical of all so-called advertising as "radical cures," I have tried everything that promises such relief and cure as that of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. I have been afflicted with this dreadful disease for upwards of ten years, and not until recently could I find any thing which was good. Now, with the letter of Mr. HENRY WELLS, and can cordially say that after using the Radical Cure I am thoroughly convinced of its curative properties. Hoping that others similarly afflicted may avail themselves of the benefit of a remedy which is very truly, etc.

The Unprotected Children.

We are glad to observe of late an increased activity among those who are associated together for the prevention of cruelty to children. The officers of the Massachusetts Society have developed several interesting cases this last week, among which are the following: Complaint was recently made by two influential ladies in Salem, that a consumptive named William Staples was abused and neglected by his mother, who is the sole living parent. Investigation resulted in confirming the complaint, and also in demonstrating the partial insanity of the mother, who refused to allow her boy to go to more comfortable quarters inside or outside the hospital. Society officers of Boston and Lynn were detailed by Dr. Dixwell, the general agent, to complete the case on Saturday afternoon. Due delay was given the inhuman woman to make up her only half-reasonable mind to consent, which failing, a carriage was brought to the door, and to the great pleasure of the sick boy himself, as well as to the witnesses of the undertaking, the patient was properly dressed and placed in the hack, driven to the hospital, and safely lodged there, assured at least of every comfort as long as life lasts. No violence nor disturbance nor breach of peace was committed, but the cruelty to this child was prevented.

A little girl, Annie Barry, who was assaulted a few days ago at house 241 North street, Boston, has been signed off to a respectable stevedore, Frank B. Deering, in East Boston, who is much interested in the girl, by the convict mother at Sherburn, until she can satisfy the Massachusetts Society officers that she can supply a suitable home for her herself.

An intelligent German boy of eleven years has arrived at the home from Greenfield, Mass., whose father is dead and whose convict mother cannot or will not support him. Proper papers will be obtained and a suitable adoption follow.

All the more important cases have been photographed and albertyped, in order to simplify the indentification of the individuals by the different officers through the State, if needs be, at any future date.

Three infants have been disposed of; one new one remains at the home.

In addition to the above cases, the Society's agent, Dr. Dixwell, of Boston, communicates to the Boston Herald the following case of supposed kidnapping. Three years ago last fall a young Italian widow, having two boys aged 14 and 9 years, lived in Boston at the north end. A sailor named Montez, boarding near by, about to sail for Africa as steward in the barque Sea Gull, after inflaming the boy's imagination with stories of sailor life finally obtained his reluctant consent and smuggled him on board the vessel, just as she was about to sail. Nothing was heard from the lad for three years, and recently by the advice of friends the matter was brought by the mother to the attention of the Spanish Consul of the port of Boston, who, in the course of an investigation, became satisfied that the boy had been kidnapped from his home and carried to Africa, for the deliberate purpose of selling him into slavery. The consul became so alarmed at this possibility that he called on Dr. Dixwell, who has accumulated a mass of evidence which seems to fully corroborate the worst suspicions. Montez and other Spanish sailors have since been in Boston, and, while the former has hinted that he has sold the boy, the others have spoken of the sale as an actual fact. That such a sale is possible will be seen, when it is explained that the boy is almost as dark as a negro, and that his features and hair are decidedly of an African type, while it would be quite possible for a steward to carry a boy with him on a voyage without attracting attention or entering him upon the ship's books. It has been developed that there was a scheme on foot to kidnap the second son, Jose, a bright little fellow of 12 years. How complete this plan was, it is impossible to say, but his safety is now assured, as he will be constantly under the watchful eye of Dr. Dixwell and his agents. The mother now lives at 22 Phillips street with her remaining boy.

News and Notes.

Ship Van Dieman, 1347 tons, from Liverpool for New York, collided at sea with an unknown ship, and both sunk with all their men but two, who were landed at Liverpool on Friday.

It is estimated that from 30,000 to 35,000 men are now on a strike at Liverpool, England.

Jeremiah Buckley of Lewiston, Me., has been fined $500 with the option of nine months in jail, by the supreme court at Auburn, for keeping a tippling shop.

The Chinese crew of the Australian bark Kate Waters, from Hong Kong for Foo Chow, mutinied, murdered the officers, and scuttled the vessel.

Joseph L. Heath, a prominent married citizen of Reed City, Michigan, eloped with Miss Thayer. The father of the lady followed, overtaking them at Kalamazoo. Upon the approach of the father, Heath drew a revolver to shoot, but suddenly changed his mind, placed the revolver at his own breast, and fired, the ball passing through his heart.

A silver medal has been awarded to Miss Mary D. McNamara of Clinton by the humane society of Massachusetts, by reason of her bravery last August in rescuing a daughter of Mr. Levi Burk from drowning in the Lancaster mills pond. Miss McNamara had previously rescued two other girls from a watery grave. She is but fifteen years of age.

Thomas Lord, the New York millionaire whose marriage with Mrs. Hicks caused a sensation in "society" a year or more ago, died Friday night, aged eighty-five years.

Salome P. Sanborn of Hill, who a year ago experienced terrible suffering by being accidentally shut into a cold closet nearly a whole day, has died from the effects of her misfortune at that time. She was the widow of the late George A. Sanborn of Gilmanton.

Naval Matters.

The U. S. S. Richmond arrived at Gibraltar on the 5th inst., all well.

First Lieut. E. R. Russell, U. S. M. C., is detached from command of the marine detachment serving at the Paris Exposition, and ordered to the marine barracks at Washington.

Boys and Pistols.

"I never could understand," the Deacon said, "why a boy should carry a pistol. A pistol is a very peculiar fire-arm; it is made for a very peculiar purpose. It is quite natural for some boys to want rifles or shot-guns with which they may kill game; but a pistol is intended to kill human beings, and this is about all it is good for. There are very few boys in this country who could shoot a bird or a rabbit with a pistol, and any one who should go out hunting with a pistol would be laughed at. This being the case, why should a boy want a pistol? What human beings would he like to kill?

It is useless to say that he may need his pistol for purposes of defense. Not one boy in a thousand is ever placed in such a position that he need defend himself with a pistol. But it often has happened that boys who carried loaded pistols thought that it would be a manly thing, under certain circumstances, to use them, and yet, when the time came and they killed somebody they only brought down misery on themselves and their families. And this, too, in many a case where, if no one present had a pistol, the affair would have passed off harmlessly and been soon forgotten.

But the way in which boys generally take human life with pistols is some accidental way. They do not kill highwaymen and robbers, but they kill their schoolmates and their brothers or their sisters, or in many cases themselves. There is no school where boys are taught to properly handle and carry loaded pistols, so they usually have to learn these things by long practice. And while they are learning it is very likely that some one will be shot. I saw in a newspaper not long ago accounts of three fatal accidents, all of which happened on the same day, from the careless use of firearms. One of these dreadful mishaps was occasioned by a lad who carried a loaded pistol in his overcoat pocket, and who carelessly threw down the coat.

And then, again, a boy ought to be ashamed to carry a pistol, especially a loaded one. The possession of such a thing is a proof that he expects to go among vicious people. If he goes into good society, and has honest, manly fellows for his companions, he will not need a pistol. A loaded pistol in a boy's pocket is not only useless and dangerous, but also it almost always stamps him as a bad boy, or one who wishes to associate with bad boys and vicious men."—St. Nicholas.

Good Morning, General!"

When you say "Good morning, General!" in San Francisco, nineteen out of twenty men will lift their hats and reply, "Good morning!"—Golden Era.

How pleasant it is to meet an old acquaintance after long years of separation—especially "those good old bricks that stood the kicks in the days of '49." Lieut. Derby (John Phœnix) relates that some time during those palmy days, he stood on the pier as the steamer was leaving for Sacramento, and waving his hand shouted "Good bye, Colonel!" whereupon the "innumerable caravan" on the hurricane deck raised their hats as if by one impulse, each individual on the deck imagining that he was the party addressed. Since that time the "Colonel" has been promoted, and having braved war's leaden tempest makes his appearance once more, gorgeous in the bright uniform of a "General." Good morning, General!—Oakland (Cal.) Radiator.

—A gossip ought not to rank as the equal of a sugar-coat; for the clam knows to a nicety when to shut up, but the gossip does not.

—Isn't there some body in your church that is always talking about the coldness of the brethren, the divisions that abound, the low state of piety, the conformity to the world, etc.; in other words, who is continually confessing other people's sins instead of his own? My word for it, that man is the cause of much of the evil that he complains of, and magnifies it by his complaining. Those who choose can put "she" and "her" in this last sentence instead of "he" and "his." Tell such grumblers the fable of the "bell clapper." The bell in which it was hung was cracked, and the clapper was always complaining of its fate in being hung in such a bell. A good many unsophisticated people pitied the clapper, and condoled with this sad lot. At length the spirit of Diogenes, the old cynic, who could not endure shams of any kind, came along. He heard the clapper's complaint, and said: "Before you make any more fuss about the bell, remember two things. First, that you cracked it, and second that people would not know that it was cracked if you did not tell them." The moral is obvious, but those who need to ponder it will be the last to see it.

Business Failures.

Lack of judgement causes fully fifty per cent. of all business men to fail, earlier or later. Do not an equal proportion of physicians fail to cure from the same cause? At the Grand Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, through the skill attained by his several specialists, each having devoted years to a special department of medical science, is able to cure a large per cent. of cases hitherto considered incurable. Many physicians, in view of the superior advantages of this model sanitarium, bring there stubborn, obscure, complicated, and surgical cases for examinations, operation, and treatment. Full particulars given in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated work of over 900 pages. Price, post-paid, $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

—Ill temper and smoke are about equal in their ability to drive a man out of the house.

—A new terror is added to death for country editors. Their bodies may be stolen and not returned until one hundred thousand dollars in hard cash is paid out of the estate.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Many doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 11c.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

Rev. Carlton A. Staples, of Providence, R. I., preached at the Unitarian church on Sunday.

Mr. Myers in Congress block is doing a rushing business in envelopes at prices far below the usual rates.

A sleighing party from Newburyport dined at the Rockingham house on Saturday evening, at half-past six o'clock.

The Eastern railroad is testing an invention for lighting the cars with gas, the train from Boston to Newburyport, Friday evening, being so lighted.

Seven hundred bushels of malt were received by the Eldredge Brewing Company from Albany, N. Y., on Saturday, coming by the Hoosac tunnel line.

Among the charters last week in Boston was that of a schooner to take 3500 barrels of apples from this port to Philadelphia, for fifteen cents per barrel.

A concert in aid of the Childrens' Home will be given in Music hall shortly by Miss Edith Wendell, vocalist; Miss Lillian Chandler, violinist; Miss Mary W. Caldwell, reader; and Mr. James M. Tracy, pianist.

Commander Robert F. Bradford reports at the navy yard this morning for duty as ordnance officer, a position he has before filled to the entire acceptance of the department. Comdr. Bradford's friends in this vicinity will gladly welcome him back to Portsmouth.

Mr. Samuel Batchelder, who died at Cambridge, Mass., last week, was formerly treasurer of several of the manufacturing companies at Saco and Biddeford. He was subsequently treasurer of the Portsmouth Steam Factory; and his opinions as a manufacturer were highly estimated throughout New England.

The thirty-third anniversary of New Hampshire Lodge of Odd Fellows will be celebrated in Congress hall on Tuesday evening by a banquet, commencing at half-past six o'clock; singing by the glee club, with Miss Alice Swazey at the piano, speech-making, and other amusements; and a dance, the grand march beginning at nine o'clock.

On Friday night, about midnight, Mr. Albert H. Johnson, who lives on Wibird street near its south end, was awakened by smoke, and found that a closet containing clothing was on fire. Mrs. Johnson fainted on awakening, and her husband carried her out of doors and laid her on the snow, and afterward put out the fire. The floor of the closet was charred, and a couple of coats burned.

The schooner T. J. Trafton, of this port, Hoyt master, which went ashore near Billingsgate light, at the entrance to Wellfleet harbor, Mass., on the night of the 27th ult., while on the way from this port to Baltimore with a cargo of apples, has been gotten off the beach, and was on Saturday towed to Boston by the tug William Wooley, Clark master. The schooner is making no water, and is not seriously injured, almost the only damage being the loss of her foresail, boat, and big anchor and chain; she will be docked in Boston, but will proceed on her voyage in a few days with her original cargo, which has not been discharged.

The Times evidently considers that a falsehood well stuck to is just as good as the truth, for it repeats its assertion that the CHRONICLE "puffed" the long walk of Driscoll, though it knows the statement is false. It refers us to the files of the CHRONICLE issued during the time Driscoll was walking, for proof that its statement is true; we offer the Times the use of the files referred to, and challenge it to find anything in them which can be tortured into a "puff" for the long and useless tramp. We did give daily reports of Driscoll's progress; in the same issues we also gave police court reports, and accounts of murders, shipwrecks, defalcations and burglaries, but we commended neither the one nor the other.

The vicinity of Sagamore creek was largely patronized by coasters during the beautiful moon-shiny evenings of last week—not coasters with masts and sails, and crews of old sailors, but coasters with sleds, and "double-rippers" often manned by pretty girls. Starting from the hill near Mr. Shedd's house, by the time they reached the bridge they would gain momentum enough to carry them nearly across to the other side. Two "double-rippers" were disabled Saturday evening, and several shins and elbows were barked; and one young lad, sliding down on a "clipper," was run into by a double-ripper and thrown against Harry Hartshorn's fence, turning a complete somersault in the air as he went, but alighting unhurt. No serious coasting accidents have as yet taken place either at Sagamore or anywere else in this vicinity, so far as we know.

THE VICINITY.

The session of the Supreme Court will resume this afternoon at three o'clock.

Charles P. Duran, aged eleven years, fell from a load of logs at the Kennebunk depot Friday, badly breaking his left leg.

A danger buoy is to be placed over the sunken wreck on Newburyport bar by the lighthouse board, until such time as the obstruction can be removed.

An inquest was held on the body of Joseph D. Shaw, of York, who died very suddenly last week, by Coroner Junkins of that town. It was shown that heart disease was the cause of his death.

J. Merrill Beckett, of South Newmarket, died of consumption on Saturday, aged thirty-five years. He has written largely for the press, and has been employed all his business life on different Boston dailies.

The schooner Henrietta, of Saco, has arrived at Ponce, after one of the worst passages the captain ever experienced. One man was lost overboard. The schooner sprung a leak and the crew had to heave overboard about half the deck load in order to save the vessel.

In crossing Main street, at Biddeford, on Friday, John Wilds was struck by a runaway horse, and probably fatally injured. One of the shafts of the sleigh entered his cheek, passing into his throat, downwards and backwards about six inches, and was broken off by the force of the blow.

On Thursday, at about six o'clock in the morning, as Dr. Larrabee of Saco was driving near that city, when he struck into a gully in a patch of woods a man sprang out of the woods and stopped his horse. The doctor jumped out and knocked the fellow down in front of the horse, but the animal took fright and ran away, so the doctor was obliged to leave his victim in the road.

The sureties in the case of C. H. Webber of Saco—the "reverend" scoundrel who made use of his opportunity as a trusted friend to ruin a young girl, and then stepped out on his bail—have been defaulted. The bonds were for only $500—just enough to make the "Rev." Webber keep a sharp lookout on the action of the grand jury, and clear out for safer quarters the moment a true bill was found against him.

Etta Parker—not Etta Tasker, as the name was first given—the seventeen-years-old girl who early last week stole articles of clothing and jewelry from Mrs. O'Connor of Great Falls, was caught at her mother's house, in Barnstead, on Thursday, and the property recovered. The girl has been in prison in Massachusetts for stealing, and had only been about two weeks out of Dover jail at the time of her last theft. She is held for trial before the supreme court.

Mrs. Dr. C. C. Trafton of Kennebunkport, recently deceased, after a number of generous bequests to her relatives made the South Congregationalist society of Kennebunkport her residuary legatee, by which the church has come into possession of about $14,000. Mrs. Miriam S. Taylor of Kennebunkport, lately deceased, bequeathed to the Calvin Baptist society of Kennebunkport $900, to be well invested and the income to be used for the benefit of the church; she also gave $600 to the Baptist Foreign Missionary society.

Uri Lamprey of Hampton, agent of that town to conduct the suits against the squatters at the beach, responds as follows to an attack by the Haverhill Bulletin: "There is no truth in the assertion that Hampton is opposed to people coming to the beach; neither by vote has the town shown any such disposition. The town claims to own all of that territory known as the beach, and all records in relation to the same go to prove or substantiate the claim. If the town owns the beach the town has full police control over it, subject only to the laws of the State and those of custom. All the town is trying to do is to have the question of ownership settled by the court. There is no disposition to drive people away, as long as they behave well."

ON TO WASHINGTON.

Capt. F. W. Hilton and wife are at the Riggs house, Washington. This week Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., and wife, Dr. Donaldson, Edward D. Coffin and wife, and others, are to start for the Federal city.

A SUDDEN DEATH, AND A REMARKABLE HOARD.

On Saturday afternoon a lady who called at the house of Mrs. Elizabeth Washington, the old colored woman who for many years lived at No. 5 Sparhawk street, on the Christian shore side of the north millpond, getting no response to her knock tried the door, and finding it unfastened went in. On looking around she discovered the old lady lying in an entry-way leading from the kitchen to the front room, dead, and with her face shockingly mutilated by cats, of which she had seven. The city authorities were notified, and visited the house to investigate the matter. Mayor Sise ordered an inquest, and Coroner Whittier summoned as a jury Alfred F. Howard, Esq., Edwin A. Tilton and Harry G. Tanton, who viewed the body and premises, and adjourned to meet Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

Mrs. Washington will be remembered by the boys who thirty or more years ago used the millpond as a swimming place, as an old lady at that time; her precise age is not known, but is supposed to be about a hundred years. For more than an average life time she has been a regular worshipper at St. John's Episcopal church, and attended divine service there on the Sunday before her death. Her remains were laid in the tomb on Saturday evening, services being held by Rev. Mr. Holbrook, rector of St. John's church.

The coroner's jury met at her late residence Sunday afternoon, when an inventory was taken of the personal property in the house, of which enough was found to stock a respectable pawn shop, including two gold watches; nearly a hundred dresses of all kinds, including several silk ones; about fifty bonnets, of all patterns; a large lot of embroidered underclothing; a large box of ribbons, of all colors, widths and qualities; a bank book, showing that she formerly had between two and three hundred dollars in the savings bank, now reduced to $20.01; about seventeen dollars in money, including a number of ancient coins; two sets of China-ware, one set appearing to be in the original package, and wrapped in newspapers printed in Dublin, Ireland; deeds of property which she owned; six feather beds, white quilts, etc. Many other useful and curious articles were found, and it seems that she had been adding to her hoard year by year for a great while. Of food and fuel she had a good supply. The property was taken possession of by the city authorities, and the valuables put in safe keeping. Among the effects no will was found. It is said she has a brother, a very aged man, living in Boston; but nothing has been heard from him yet.

The jury adjourned to meet this evening at eight o'clock.

THE VETERANS MARCHING ON.

On the first of this month Mr. Geo. T. Patch, of Kittery, died at an advanced age. He was a soldier for three months in Capt. Wm. Marshall's company, stationed at Newcastle in the war of 1812; and was at one time a privateersman.

Mr. Joseph Black, also a soldier in 1812, died last week at Kittery Point. He served in Capt. Thomas Cutts' company, stationed at Kittery, a three months company in 1814, and was in receipt of a pension under the act of Congress passed last spring.

The old soldiers are fast passing away, and ere long a veteran of 1812 will come to be regarded with an interest like that which once centred upon the heroes of the revolutionary war.

AN HONORED SON OF PORTSMOUTH.

The new Assistant United States Treasurer at Boston, Martin Parry Kennard, is a native of Portsmouth, a son of the late Oliver P. Kennard. After receiving an education in our high school, Mr. Kennard one morning in 1836 entered one of the Eastern Stage Company's coaches to go to Boston to seek his fortune, carrying nothing save a few articles of clothing a good character and a determination to make his mark. Arriving in Boston he took service of the well-known and in those days celebrated firm of Jones, Low & Ball, on Washington street. Mr. Kennard continued in the same business, subsequently uniting with Messrs. John Bigelow and his brothers, then leading watch dealers, under the firm of Bigelow Brothers & Kennard. In this firm Mr. Kennard spent many years of business activity, frequently going to Europe to order goods. He was noted for his good taste and excellent judgment in selecting for the American market. A few years ago he retired from active business pursuits. He has a fine estate at Brookline, and has recently returned from a European tour.

Mr. Kennard is one of the men who has done honor to his birthplace. As a merchant of integrity and a gentleman of high social standing in Boston he has been known among her prominent business men ever since he became of an age to take any prominent part in the councils of the city. As a member of the Mercantile Library Association of Boston, with such men as the late Daniel N. Haskell, Whipple, and his fellow-townsman, Fields, he will be remembered by some of the boys in Boston thirty years ago, as prominently useful. He has also been a director in the American Unitarian Association and a member of various societies, charitable and literary. He was a delegate to the Franco-American convention assembled at Paris last summer to consider some plan for a commercial treaty between France and the United States, and a report of his doings has recently been made by him to the Boston Board of Trade.

Mr. Kennard, unlike the man that ordinarily is recommended for office, seems to be of that type of incumbent whom the office seeks. He will bring to the office not the entangling alliances of a political aspirant, but the knowledge and capacities of an experienced business man. He has leisure to attend to the duties, is of urbane and courteous manners, and of the highest integrity. We are glad to note the fact that in assuming this trust, a son of Portsmouth who has never forgotten "the home of his childhood" is sought after to fill a responsible position, and confers a favor on the government by its acceptance."

FREEMAN'S POINT.

The traveller on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad sees the frame of an immense structure, partly boarded, on Freeman's point. That is Frank Jones' new barn.

A neat house is going up upon the land recently purchased by Wm. F. Fernald of John F. Mathes.

The beautiful situation of Freeman's point, its fine prospect and healthfulness, make it a very attractive spot for a residence, especially in the summer season.

Quicken the Circulation.

Don't let the blood stagnate in your veins. You can prevent its doing so by increasing its vivacity and purity, by stimulating the digestive organs, and encouraging assimilation, with that matchless vitalizing agent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. People not afflicted with any organic or inorganic disease, grow wan and haggard simply because their blood is thin, watery, deficient in nourishing properties and so meager in quantity that the extremities are very imperfectly supplied with it, and the superficial circulation extremely feeble. Hence the bloodless appearance of the countenance. But when the Bitters are used to enrich and quicken the blood, the rosy hue of health returns to the cheek, the frame acquires substance as well as vigor, the appetite improves, and no digestive qualms interfere either with its gratification or the subsequent tranquility of the stomach.

Your Voice is gone and it is because you let that cough run when you might have cured it by using D. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. A Dissipated Turkey.

A Glenburn farmer came into the city recently, and among other things purchased some rice and a pint of whiskey. Fearing that the bottle might get broken on the way home, he placed it in the box containing the rice. When he reached home and took the box from the pung he found that the stopper had got out of the bottle, and rice and whiskey were thoroughly mixed. He dumped the contents of the box behind the barn, and in a short time a huge turkey came along and, as he was not as particular as the farmer, gobbled up the medicated rice. Shortly afterwards the farmer was greatly surprised to find the turkey lying out behind the barn "dead as a door-nail," and vowing vengeance on the man who sold him whiskey rank enough to kill a turkey, he carried the bird into the house.

The farmer was soon seen carrying the dead bird—as every feather was gone with the exception of the wings and tail—out behind the stable, where he left it on the snow. The next morning when he entered the stable, being hardly light, he detected what he thought was the ghost of that intemperate turkey, and could almost feel his hair rise; but he made up his mind to investigate the matter and boldly advanced. Imagine his surprise on getting nearer, to discover the bird shivering on the roost, and looking at him with reproachful eyes for having stolen his clothes while helplessly drunk. At last accounts the turkey was doing as well as he could be expected during this zero weather.—Bangor Whig.

—Apropos to the Tribune almanac, they tell the story of Horace Greely that he was once found in a frightful passion, smashing the chairs and making the atmosphere sky blue with profanity. "What is the matter, Mr. Greeley?" asks a friend, and Mr. Greeley played a reply, "Mother? Way, too fast! tells the Inyanoe has made out that Calaveras county, Cal., gives a democratic majority of four, and every fool in the American Union knows that it never went democratic by more than two."

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. Its
Construction AND Equipment
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, all steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of broken stone eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility and safety of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be mentioned,
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE, forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and round-bed, a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 189 pounds to 142 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced my four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOUGLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & FLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Salem, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from five to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Allan's Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, cures dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Sent on receipt of One Dollar in postage stamps.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most efficacious and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation.

Portsmouth Chronicle

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1879.

A New General Ticket Agent.

Mr. Lucius Tuttle, formerly of the N. Y. & N. E. R. R., assumed the duties of general passenger and ticket agent of the Eastern railroad on Monday. Mr. Tuttle has been in the service of the Hartford, Providence and Fishkill and other roads, and is a gentleman who understands his business thoroughly. The patrons of the Eastern road as well as the managers are fortunate in this selection.

A Veteran at His Post.

J. W. Richardson, who for many years has stood at the head of State street in Boston ready to supply passage tickets and staterooms on the Sound steamers, was long ago a traveller through Portsmouth to and from the great "Down East" to Boston. When the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad company opened its road between this city and Portland, in November, 1842, Richardson came in the first train from the east with the money from the Bangor and other eastern banks, en route for Boston. This was in the days when all the eastern State banks redeemed their notes in Boston, and every bank was obliged to send all its foreign money to the Suffolk bank to exchange for its own bills. The carriage of bank notes was a great business, the faithful messengers often having in their charge as much as two hundred thousand dollars, which was a huge sum for those days.

After some years Mr. Richardson became engaged as agent for the sound steamboat lines. For fourteen years he has represented the Stonington line, and in summer the celebrated Providence line. His office is daily visited by a large number of travellers from Boston and the eastern cities and towns, selecting berths on the steamers. The low rates of fares give this line all it can do in the way of carrying passengers, and if one wants a good stateroom it is expedient to write to Mr. Richardson seasonably in advance. On Monday evenings the number of passengers is the highest. In addition to the Boston travel, the manufacturing jewellers of Attleborough and Providence, nearly a hundred strong, go in to meet their western customers in New York, and the steamer's saloons on Monday evenings on the trip to New York present the appearance of a business exchange.

Mr. Richardson insists that the statement of "not a trip missed in seven years by this line," is literally true. The steamers always reach New York in ample season to connect with the southern lines, and the eastern bound train does not vary a minute a month in the time it rolls into the palatial station of the Boston & Providence railroad at Boston.

News and Notes.

Advices from Lebanon, Ky., on the 8th inst., say that the state of affairs in Green county, growing out of the collection of the Cumberland & Ohio railroad tax, is growing worse. The tax collector's barn has been burned and his life threatened, and a reign of terror is inaugurated. The governor will be called upon for assistance.

Prof. D. Hensel having challenged Mr. Ford, editor of the Pittsfield, Mass., Sun, to fight a duel, was on Saturday held in $150 for trial Monday. Jealous rivalry for the hand of a young lady of Pittsfield is said to be the cause of the quarrel.

Six burglars were taken from jail at Seymour, Indiana, Friday morning, stripped and whipped, and warned of a worse fate if ever caught in that vicinity again.

Near Jamaica, Vt., where the Brattleboro & Whitehall narrow-guage railroad is being constructed, a piece of rock was recently thrown by a blast across West river, a distance of fifty rods, and struck a man named Charles Dean of Jamaica on the head, killing him instantly. Mr. Dean was forty years old, and leaves a wife and a married daughter.

The Gospel Banner says that Detective Dearborn has brought a bill against the State of Maine for $3000, for services rendered in making his new revelation of the Dexter tragedy.

Barnard Acethrop of East Haven, Vt., recently lost a $100 mare, and on examination a frog, weighing nine ounces, was found in her stomach.

A poor German at Westfield, Mass., who for years has been grubbing a living out of a one-horse truck wagon, was made happy the other day by the official notice of a $15,000 legacy from a relative in the fatherland. He at once gave his team away and bought a keg of lager.

A suit has been brought against Labine Brothers, proprietors of the skating rink in Worcester, Mass., for not allowing colored men to skate.

William Talbot, of Fall River, Mass., died of hydrophobia, last week, from the bite of a dog last summer.

James Hunter and E. Judson Hunter, father and son, (two of the gang of five that under the firm name of Hunter, Son & Co., of Boston, have been selling "mowing-machine grinders," and "agencies" all over New England,) have been held in $500 for trial at Northampton, Mass., on a charge of swindling Austin Waite, a farmer of Williamsburg. The Hunters visited Waite, offering him an "agency," and he signed a paper purporting to be an agreement to act as agent; but in a few days another man came with a lot of goods and the paper signed by Waite, which proved to be an order for $197 worth of goods.

At McLeansborough, Ill., Friday, Charles and Frank Morris attempted to shoot William Hale and Matthew Craig, their brothers-in-law, but both brothers were shot instead.

The governor of Louisiana has signed the bill preventing cruelty to animals. Under this law the authorities will probably be able to prevent the grand national dog fights announced to take place in New Orleans the last week in February.

The pistol was used freely in Baltimore, Saturday night. In the centre of the city a negro was shot while playing cards in a saloon; in northeast Baltimore John W. Langdon shot John Douglass in the head, and in south Baltimore another shooting case occurred. None of the parties will die.

At Kalamazoo, Mich., one Ward conspired with two burglars to admit them to his house to rob his wife of $500, but her vigorous resistance with an axe foiled them. One has been arrested, but Ward and the other are as yet unfound.

The New Testing Machine.

A new testing machine, the invention of Mr. Albert Emery, has just been completed at the Watertown, Mass., arsenal, after three years of work upon it. Last week it was subjected to a variety of tests in the presence of the United States Commissioners, who came on from Washington for this purpose.

The machine has a testing capacity equal to one million pounds, and its working load is about 400 tons, or 800,000 pounds. Its use is in testing the resisting strength of iron, steel or other metals to be used as armor plates, or for ordnance, or for any one of the many purposes to which metals, or, in fact, any material, is employed.

The merit of the machine is its great power, united with its mathematical accuracy. A five inch bar of iron was pulled apart, and the strain registered in doing it was 722,000 pounds. A horse-hair, submitted to the strain, yielded to a registered force of two pounds. A pine block of four inches thickness and two feet in length was taken and pressed into a board of two inches in thickness. A hen's egg was taken and enclosed in plaster of Paris, with two small holes at each end, and, the pressure being applied, the contents were forced out of these small apertures at a strain of thirty-two pounds, and such is the command over the action of the machine that the pressure was stopped in an instant, and the yolk ceased to be expelled, the shell of the egg remaining unbroken. A nut was also cracked by the machine without crushing the kernel.

New Hampshire Items.

Henry I. Dolby's grocery store, with dwelling and stable attached, in New Durham, was burned Monday morning. Loss $2000; insured.

The woolen weavers employed by the Marlboro' manufacturing company have been cut down a cent and a fifth per yard.

A stock company, with a capital of $1,000,000, has been formed at Hartford, Conn., to work the Surry gold and silver mine at Surry in this State. The mine promises to be a success.

J. R. Beal of Keene has been appointed cashier of the Keene national bank, in place of George W. Tilden, deceased.

John McGowan, a cigar maker of Montpelier, Vt., hired a team Saturday at J. M. Heywood's livery stable in Claremont, to ride around for two hours, and has not since been seen.

The Local Press.

[From the Manchester Mirror.]

There is no more striking evidence of the progress in certain directions, which has been made during the last few years, than is to be found in the number and character of the purely local newspapers of the State. Years ago, in the days of Isaac Hill, it took the whole State to support three newspapers; now nearly every village can boast of a home organ, well-conducted, well printed, and, generally, well supported. Many of these sheets are what are termed "patent outsides," that is their outsides are printed in Boston and are duplicates of hundreds of others which are sold to country publishers all over the country; but they are none the worse for that, being well filled with general news and miscellany, and furnished at a much lower price than those who use them could print them for. The insides, which are printed at the home office, are filled with local news, notes and advertisements, and contain a complete record of even the smallest happenings in the community which they represent. They are, therefore, most interesting to all living or having an acquaintance in their neighborhoods, and they are probably as carefully and thoroughly read as any publications in the country. Confining themselves, as they do, to a small field, they cultivate that thoroughly and reap a living harvest. We have most of these papers on our exchange list, and have been greatly impressed by the excellence of their make-up and the great improvement in many of them.

One of the brightest of the lot is the Rays of Light, published at Fisherville, and devoted almost entirely to the affairs of that live suburb of Concord. Located as it is under the very shadow of the Concord papers, one would not expect it to prosper very well; but it has made itself a necessity to all Fisherville people, and appears to be handsomely sustained. A little further up the river, at Franklin, is published the Merrimack Journal, which represents a half dozen towns. It is edited with much ability, well printed, and well patronized as it deserves to be.

Then at Bristol there is the Enterprise, devoted to the interests of that thriving village, and a little farther north the Canaan Reporter, one of the newsiest and best among our State exchanges. Its editor is capable of managing a much more pretentious sheet, but he gives his patrons the benefit of all his abilities and they seem to appreciate it as they ought. At Lebanon there are two papers—the old and reliable Free Press, which has always been a power in that section, and Kendall's Weekly, a new venture.

Claremont and Newport are supplied with four home papers, which leave nothing to be desired there. From Littleton we get the Republic, which is not only a compendium of local news, but a faithful expondent of Littleton democracy, which is about as unadulterated an article as can be found anywhere; and from Coos come the Republican, the Northern Sentinel, the News and the Independent. Down at Milford, Bro. Foster publishes the Enterprise, which though claiming to be a local paper, is larger and brighter and every way better than many that aim to fill a much larger field. A better local sheet than he gives his readers need not be asked for anywhere. At Lake Village, "Mart" Haynes makes the Times, which is as jolly and true as "Mart" himself; and, hard by, at Laconia, is the office of the Democrat, which under its new management is not only newsy and readable, but is edited with as much ability as any democratic paper in the State. Carroll county has one paper, the News, published at Wolfeborough, which has recently been enlarged and improved, and is a credit to the community. Hillsborough, and the adjoining towns have in the Messenger a large, live and well arranged journal, and Plymouth and its vicinity have the Journal, which has been much improved of late; and at Amherst the old, stanch and reliable Cabinet, which for half a century or more has been a power for good, still lives and prospers. Peterborough is well served and well satisfied with its Transcript, as any sensible community would be, for it is a bright, live and enterprising sheet.

In Strafford county we naturally expect to find a strong list, for there are no better communities on earth than are found in the go-ahead villages of that county, and we are not disappointed. The Rochester Courier, the Farmington and Newmarket Advertiser and the Great Falls Journal and Free Press are all good enough, so good that it must puzzle people to tell the best. Exeter has two strong weekly papers, the News-Letter and Gazette—and a daily published at the Gazette office; but these we do not class as country papers, Exeter being a city in reputation, strength and influence, if not in population and by virtue of a charter. Besides these places, Hinsdale, Hanover, Loudon, New Ipswich, Troy, Candia and several other villages support weekly papers, published by their own citizens. In the five cities the paper list is as follows: In Concord, two dailies—the Monitor and the Local News—and two weeklies—the People and Statesman. In Nashua, two weeklies—the Telegraph and Gazette—and two dailies with the same names. In Dover, the Enquirer, Morning Star, State Press, and Democrat, all weeklies—and the Daily Democrat. In Keene, two weeklies—the Sentinel and Republican; in Portsmouth, two dailies—the Times and CHRONICLE—and four weeklies—Miller's, the Journal, GAZETTE, and States and Union. In Manchester two dailies—the Mirror and Union—and three weeklies—the Mirror and Farmer, Union Democrat, and Times.

Business Failures.

Lack of judgement causes fully fifty per cent. of all business men to fail, earlier or later. Do not an equal proportion of physicians fail to cure from the same cause? At the Grand Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, through the skill attained by his several specialists, each having devoted years to a special department of medical science, is able to cure a large per cent. of cases hitherto considered incurable. Many physicians, in view of the superior advantages of this model sanitarium, bring there stubborn, obscure, complicated, and surgical cases for examinations, operation, and treatment. Full particulars given in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated work of over 900 pages. Price, post-paid, $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

—A lot of boot-blacks sitting on a curb-stone may not be India rubber boys, though they are gutter perchers.

—Diphtheria is never known, according to an observer at Des Moines, where soft coal is burned. The sulphur in it, he thinks, is a preventive.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Many of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by much eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. 116

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

John E. Morrison of this city on Monday commenced a walk in Franklin hall, intending to walk four hundred miles in one hundred and thirty hours.

Any of our readers having a copy of the DAILY CHRONICLE of January 21st, or the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE of January 23d, will confer a favor by sending the same to our counting room.

A large proportion of all the apples now being shipped from this port come from that portion of the State above Concord, the intervening country having been pretty well cleared of its surplus.

An "Advent praying band" from this city held meetings at Beech Ridge, York, Saturday evening and Sunday. The attendance was large, and the closest attention was paid to the exercises.

Messrs. Booth and Smith, the temperance revivalists whose labors have created so much interest in many places in this and other States, will on Sunday, March 9th, commence a series of meetings in this city.

The friends and admirers of Orlando L. Durgin, of Kittery, the amateur pedestrian, who recently walked a hundred miles in less than twenty-five hours, have procured a handsome badge or trophy to present him, and it is on exhibition at Dixon's jewelry store.

At a meeting of the directors of the Portsmouth Gas Co., held Monday afternoon, it was voted that from and after Jan. 1st the price of gas to small consumers be $3 per thousand feet, with a deduction of eight per cent if the bills are paid within twenty days of presentation. A recent item stated the price at $3.75 per thousand feet, a price at which it has not been for years.

The boys of the neighborhood, in their zeal for coasting, run some risk by their practice of sliding down Russel street into Market street. There is a good deal of passing by of teams at that point, and there were several narrow escapes from run-downs last week. To make the sliding better the youngsters have liberally watered the street, thereby making a track which though nice for coasting is not so good for a horse with dull corks.

A new arrangement in the time of running trains on the Eastern railroad will probably go into effect next week. Among other changes will be that of the Banger express, leaving Portland at one o'clock P. M. and Portsmouth at 3:15 P. M., and arriving in Boston in season for passengers to leave for New York by the sound lines. This has before been a most conveniently-placed train for the patrons of the Eastern road, and we trust it will be permanently fixed upon.

One morning recently an English sparrow was hopping about on Congress street, industriously pecking away at nothing in particular, when another sparrow flew down from a limb above, clasped the first sparrow in his claws, flew up into the tree with the captive, placed him on a limb and then flew away, being quickly followed by the other. Nothing appeared to be the matter with sparrow number one, nor was there any fight between the two; and the three gentlemen who saw the occurrence could not conceive of any reason for the action of sparrow number two, other than a desire to play a practical joke on the first one by unceremoniously carrying him away from his breakfast.

THE VICINITY.

Henry P. Warren, supervisor of the Dover public schools, has been elected principal of the State normal school at Plymouth.

On Thursday night of last week a son of James Mahoney of Dover, aged six or eight years, was coasting on Swasey's hill in that town, when his sled was upset by a collision with another, and one of his legs was badly broken below the knee.

Mr. Henry Woodward has rebuilt his saw-mill at "Scituate," York, which was burned about two years ago. The saw-mills in Scituate and vicinity present a business like appearance. The season has been favorable for the farmers to haul their logs, and the huge piles which are placed around the mills promise plenty of work during the coming summer.

Capt. Oliver Bourne, of Kennebunk, is one of the "Dartmoor survivors." In November, 1818, he sailed from Portsmouth in a private-armed schooner called the Portsmouth Packet,—a recent prize from the British,—with a crew of thirty men under command of Capt. John Perkins of Kennebunk. When forty-eight hours out of port, off Mt. Desert island the schooner fell in with two supposed British merchantmen, but on proceeding to capture them they developed into the British men-of-war La Fantome and Epervier, the former of which chased and captured the privateer. Capt. Bourne was first confined at Melville island near Halfax, afterward in a prison-ship at Chatham, England, and lastly at Dartmoor; and he was an inmate of the latter prison when the celebrated "massacre" took place. In 1815 he returned home and went into business at Kennebunkport, accumulating a competence. He was postmaster of the town under Jackson and Van Buren, and has held important municipal offices. He has been nearly all his life a zealous Methodist, and is now eighty-two years old.

RIVER ITEMS.

Yeaton & Hayes have chartered the schooner Rebecca Florence, Capt. Higgins, to take twenty-eight hundred barrels of apples to Philadelphia, and she arrived at this port from Boston on Saturday.

The schooner Jesse Williamson, Jr., is being loaded with apples by Mr. Thomas S. Gay, acting as agent for Baltimore parties.

The schooner Clara E. Simpson, Capt. Talpey, left Boston on Monday for this port, and will load with apples for Philadelphia market, shipped by Mr. Cyrus L. Brown.

The schooner Unison is loading at this port with ice for Laighton Bros. & Co., of the Isles of Shoals.

The schooner E. V. Nichols came in on Saturday afternoon with 43,600 lbs. of fish, the biggest fare of the season.

On Monday morning, as Mr. Jacob Joy of Kittery was having a barrel of pork put into his boat, at Spring market, the barrel got too far on one side of the boat, capsizing it, and throwing Mr. Joy and the pork into the water. Elvin Newton, Jr., and Alonzo Smith, who were assisting Mr. Joy at the time, soon righted matters, but got somewhat moist in the operation.

"MOTHER WASHINGTON."

Samuel Spinney, Esq., whose many years have not yet managed to encroach on his tenacious memory, informs us that the late Mrs. Washington, whose sudden death last week excited considerable interest, and the discovery of whose strange hoard excited still more, was not nearly so old as represented, he placing her age at about seventy-five years, or seventy-six at the limit.

Mr. Spinney says she was born in Cape Neddick, Me., and in 1834 lived at the lower end of Hunking street, with her first husband, a dark mulatto named Carmen, by whom she had two children. Carmen went to sea and never returned, but was seen years afterward by a Portsmouth man in Rio Janeiro. She then married another mulatto named Washington, who also left her after a few years. She then married a very black man named Hopkins, and he too cleared out and never returned; but she was never popularly known by the name of her last husband, having been irreverently called "Old Mother Washington" up to the time of her death. She had lived on Christian shore over forty years, and appeared much older than she really was. She has a brother and two sisters somewhere in Massachusetts, and made a visit to some of them not many years ago.

The coroner's jury met in Dr. Whittier's office Monday evening, and several witnesses were examined, all the evidence going to show that her death resulted from natural causes. The inquest was adjourned to Wednesday evening.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Mr. Editor: I was very glad to see the article in a recent issue of your paper, drawing attention to the movement in Boston for co-operative charity. Certainly something of the kind could be done here, and ought to be. Thoughtful minds all over the country are being turned to the subject of the relief of poverty, and are beginning to recognize it as a fact that careless alms-giving increases pauperism, and therefore does absolute harm instead of good. Our present system of charity (or rather want of system) enables a mendicant to obtain help from five or six different public sources, besides what he may get by private begging; each society giving independently, and perhaps believing that no other has been solicited. No wonder that some families have adopted this as a permanent mode of support, and find it easier than the old way of earning their bread. On the other hand there is danger that deserving people may suffer from want, because every society supposes that some other looks after them. There is no place in town where reliable information regarding the poor can be obtained; no one who knows even how many there are. If delegates from the various charitable societies, from the several churches and from the city and county boards would meet, even in an informal way, and compare notes, some kind of a complete list for reference by all would be obtained, and the foundation laid for more intelligent and useful work. If some one of our societies would make a movement of this kind, it would probably be met by the rest. COM.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Feb. 10th.

The slight snow-falls within the past few days, and the high winds, have combined to fill the roads again in some places.

Coasting on Meeting-house hill during the moonlight nights of the past week has been lively. It is about the only hill in town that can be utilized for that purpose, and until last Saturday afternoon there had not been a serious accident there. At that time a son of Mr. John S. Mowe, the well known proprietor of a grocery and notion wagon, aged about twelve years, was sliding down the hill, and on trying to pass an ox team got so near one of the animals as to cause him to kick, and the cork of one of his shoes hit the boy under his left eye, cutting a gash which bled very freely. He was taken to Dr. Pasrons, who dressed the wound, after which he was taken home. Mr. Mowe has been sick himself with typhoid fever for several weeks, and previous to his own sickness his wife was sick with lung fever; so that take it all together "Johnny" has had a decidedly hard time of it this winter.

A party of thirty persons came to town from Portsmouth on a sleigh ride, on Thursday evening last, and undoubtedly had a nice visit with their friends, Frank M. Marden and wife, at the Center, who entertained them in such a satisfactory manner that they did not leave their hospitable quarters until four o'clock in the morning.

A sleigh ride to Exeter, with a supper at Dumas', by some of the prominent members of the Christian society, and perhaps others, is among the things talked of to take place some evening the present week.

At the life-saving station a new motive power for sending a line to a vessel in distress has lately been received. It is called the "Lyle gun." It throws a conical iron projectile about a foot in length, and is said to be superior in every respect to the mortar which has been used heretofore for the same purpose. In firing either the gun or the mortar, it is necessary, so to speak, to "stand from under," for the things do "kick" vigorously, and turn several somersaults before calming down.

A goodly number of the Rye Odd Fellows, with their wives, and, so 'tis said, some other "fellows'" wives, went to Portsmouth last Friday night, and were entertained by the members of Osgood Lodge there. Queer, ain't it, that a man's wife can go to one of these nice entertainments, while the man himself is barred out, unless he belongs to a lodge?

The first show of the season given by outside parties, was that of "Dick Martz" at the town hall, Tuesday evening. The only thing new he had to show, was the "phonograph," and with the assistance of Dallas M. Foss, Esq., a prominent and eloquent member of the Rye reform club, he managed to exhibit that curious machine to the evident instruction and enjoyment of the audience.

Mrs. M. Parry Jones, at Breakfast hill, has recently had the roof of her cottage raised, and another story put in, making it two stories high. Mr. Moses Yeaton of Portsmouth superintended the work; and any one who has given a passing thought to the state of the thermometer during the past four weeks, will infer that none of the workmen on that job got sunstruck. Quicken the Circulation.

Don't let the blood stagnate in your veins. You can prevent its doing so by increasing its volume and purity, by stimulating the digestive organs, and encouraging assimilation, with that matchless vitalizing agent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. People not afflicted with any organic or inorganic disease, grow wan and haggard, simply because their blood is thin, watery, deficient in nourishing properties and so meager in quantity that the extremities are very imperfectly supplied with it, and the superficial circulation extremely feeble. Hence the bloodless appearance of the countenance. But when the Bitters are used to enrich and quicken the blood, the rosy hue of health returns to the cheek, the frame acquires substance as well as vigor, the appetite improves, and no digestive qualms interfere either with its gratification or the subsequent tranquillity of the stomach.

Your Voice is gone and it is because you let that cough run when you might have cured it by using D. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tfeb25

Success in the Stock Market.

Few people see how large fortunes are amassed so rapidly in stock operations. Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., have just published "two unerring rules for success," and full details, so that any one can operate. Mailed free. Their new combination system of dealing in stocks is wonderfully profitable. By this method thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one immense capital, and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of vast capital and best skill. Profits divided every 30 days. $15 would make $45 profit, $100 would return $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock in the month, and so on, according to the market. A New York Fashion Editress and prominent newspaper correspondent, made over 375 per cent. profit on an investment, Oct. 5th, 1878. Many others are doing as well or better. Large or small amounts can be used with equal proportionate success by this system. All kinds of stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

—A young lady calls her dog Taffy, because "it was given to her."

—The time is rapidly approaching when the lovesick youth, after investing his bottom dollar in a bit of paper running over with soft nonsense, bad poetry and worse pictures, will for weeks be kept on nettles by his inamorata, who most aggravatingly persists in making no sign of having received the afore-mentioned bit of paper.—Boston Transcript.

—Mr. George Rignold has been very successful as Henry Fifth at Melbourne. At the end of the fourth act one evening not long ago, he was presented with a new flag, embroidered by several ladies who are admirers of his acting. When he left the theatre the horse was taken from his cab and he was drawn to his hotel by the populace, attended by torch-bearers, and a chorus singing "The Men of Harlech."

The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a bed of stone or ballast eighteen inches in depth. The Safety Appliances in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, Blotch, Eruption, or Eruptions, Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a healthy complexion result. Tetter, Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellow-blotchy spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, universal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and produced a profound impression in the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and quickens the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of chalk, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are a concentrated purgative. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blocked feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to the Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not as glued or tissue occupying their sensative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in clumsy wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total destruction of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, flushed face, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and thoroughly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprr. ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—For Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle. Another, a physician, writing for a patent from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 32 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." THE WOLFE-WYMAN Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOGMATTS & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me fifteen pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. PEABODY, PALMER & PLAMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady whose son's Anti-Fat. "At the time I took Anti-Fat I had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I have never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity, on our receipt of stamp.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of the most difficult diseases incident to the organism of woman, stands ready to offer as the climax or crowning gem of modern medical science, Dr. Pierce's, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, as some that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act in perfect harmony with the key-note of the physician, and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottles.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, and by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Suppression, when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, Anteversion and Retroversion, Burning-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Nervous Irritability, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not claim this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single class of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the exclusively private nature of woman. I will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

CATARRH

NEVER-FAILING RELIEF

AFFORDED BY

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

IT is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimony ever offered in favor of any proprietary medicine, that the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH does in every case afford instant and permanent relief. No matter of how long standing, or how severe the disease, the first dose gives such evidence of its virtue in the treatment of Catarrhal affections that confidence is at once felt in its ability to do all that is claimed for it. The testimony of physicians, druggists and patients is unanimous in this respect, and the accumulating evidence is the point of respectability superior to any ever before obtained in favor of a popular remedy. The proprietors, therefore, may justly be proud of the position the RADICAL CURE has attained and believe it worthy of its reputation.

10 YEARS A SUFFERER.

From Hon. Theo. P. Bogert, Bristol, R.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Feeling thoroughly convinced of the efficacy of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, I am induced to trouble you a line to say that although I have been sceptical of all so-called patent medicines as "radical cures," I have never found anything that promises such relief and ultimate cure as that of SANFORD'S.

I have been afflicted with this dreadful disease for more than ten years, and not until recently could I be induced to persevere with any until I read the letter of Mr. HENRY WELLS, and can truthfully say that after using five or six bottles I am thoroughly convinced of its curative properties. Hoping that others similarly afflicted like myself will be induced to make the trial I am, gentlemen, very truly, etc.

Daily Chronicle.

Fun in the Senate Chamber.

While the United States Senators were in the hall of the House, the other day, the pages entertained themselves by a mock session, which is described by spectators to have been the most amusing experience of their lives. The tiniest page of their number was elected president, and escorted with due ceremony to the chair. He returned thanks to the august body with a comical assumption of dignity and observance of parliamentary speech, begged to express his appreciation of the compliment bestowed upon him by the dignified body, an assemblage of the greatest minds of the country, and to assure the Senators he felt as high, indeed a higher regard and respect for the gentlemen who did not vote for him than for those who did; he was conscious of the responsibilities entailed upon him by the position, and assured them he would be earnest in his endeavors to administer affairs impartially.

In the galleries were collected five or six hundred people who were unable to get near the House on account of the crowd. They were attentive and enthusiastic listeners to the novel scene in the mimic Senate. Various pages brought motions, introduced bills, vociferated opposition, with such extreme simulation of the peculiarities characterizing every Senator as to call for hearty applause from their audience. One, in the course of his speech, which was pompous and verbose, suddenly called for a glass of water. Half a dozen pages rushed to minister to his want. He than roared for a napkin to dry his fingers. Then there was a hasty exit and a rushed entree, and towels, napkins, and a bright parti-colored tablecloth were offered for his dainty fingers; pointing to the colored cloth, he said in growling tones:

"That belongs to the Senator from Ohio!"

Another speech, in which the capital mimicry placed a prominent Senator in a most amusing light, was suddenly interrupted by the arrival of a message from the President of the United States, which was received, and the reader announced the contents:

"A recommendation from the President that the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States be instructed to appropriate a certain sum to buy a pair of new pantaloons for Dr. Mary Walker."

This was heard in rapturous applause by the galleries, and duly voted upon. As the Senate proper was to return at 11 o'clock, the boys adjourned with all appropriate ceremonies at 10:30, and marched out in a body, whose dignity was somewhat marred outside the door by a lively scuffle with the capitol police, between whom and themselves a continuous war is waged.

—A writer in Vox Humana says the habit of using "Shoo Fly" music in sacred service is profane.

—Kettle-drums, dancing parties and teas are now given frequently in fashionable New York society. Apropos of teas, the newest invitations have a fac-simile of a Dresden teapot stamped on the card, below which is the name of the hostess, her address and the date. "Only this and nothing more."

The Cipher Investigation.

The cipher investigation may be considered at an end, for though the Potter fraud committee will call a few more witnesses, and two reports will be made to Congress—one by the democratic majority of the committee, whitewashing everybody but Pelton, and one by the republican members, probably not so favorable to the coparceners—the further evidence and the reports will not have much weight with the people of the country, who have to a great extent already decided the case for themselves.

Pelton, Tilden's nephew and confidential secretary, confesses that he did try to buy a returning board or an elector for Tilden; he acknowledges the genuineness of the cipher despatches, and the general correctness of the Tribune's translations. But he has lost his cipher key, and in many most important points his memory, though he is sure that Tilden knew nothing at all of what was taking place in his own house, and that he was very angry when he found it out.

Mantle Marble, the author of the wonderful "shekinah" letter, also confesses to the general accuracy of the Tribune's translations, though he too has "forgotten" very many things which it is impossible any person once knowing them at all could forget. He, too, endorses Tilden's rigid political virtue.

Mr. Tilden testifies that he knew nothing of the corrupt schemes which Pelton, Marble et als. tried to carry out, and that as soon as he learned what was going on he interfered to prevent a purchase.

Marble and Pelton contradict each other very squarely on some important points; but they agree to a nicety as to Tilden's absolute purity.

That this would be the line of defence adopted has been plainly foreshadowed ever since the investigation of the cipher iniquity became a certainty. And as people are apt to believe what they wish to be true, no doubt most of the people who voted for Mr. Tilden will accept his defence without question. But there are some ugly facts admitted, which show that if Tilden really was as innocent as he and the coparceners would have us believe, he is the most easily-imposed-on old gentleman who ever breathed.

Smith Weed and Nephew Pelton confess concerted schemes to bribe electors in South Carolina, which only failed for want of money. Both they and Mr. Tilden assert that he was informed of this, after Pelton went to Baltimore to meet Weed, and that he blocked the scheme. Nevertheless, Pelton continued ostensibly to manage Tilden's affairs, and still resided in his house, and from that base managed the later attempt at bribery in Florida; and he continued to be an inmate of Tilden's house until after the cipher despatches were published, while Weed was Tilden's right hand man up to a recent date, in political matters.

As before stated, the accused parties have all destroyed their cipher keys, and carefully neglect to give their own translation of the despatches; they have deliberately forgotten all important details; but to believe in Mr. Tilden's entire innocence it is necessary to assume that he, one of the shrewdest of New York lawyers, a managing politician all his life, at a moment when the crowning prize of his ambition was at stake surrendered the control of his cause into the hands of Pelton, a second-rate man, and remained in ignorance of the despatches which came pouring into his house all through the day and night to the number of hundreds in the aggregate. If anybody can believe this, we have no desire to shake his credulity.

South Carolina "Justice."

At Sumter, S. C., Monday, Sam Lee, a colored republican leader, recently appointed postmaster, was tried by a State court on a charge of unofficial conduct while judge of probate, and convicted. The "unofficial conduct" was the abandoning of his office on election day, when he was driven from it by a democratic mob!

Terrible Disaster to a British Column.

Advices received in England from Cape Town, South Africa, state that a British column consisting of a portion of the Twenty-fourth Regiment, a battery of artillery and 600 native auxiliaries, was annihilated near the Tugela river by 20,000 Zulus, who captured a valuable convoy of 102 wagons, 1000 oxen, two cannon, 400 shot and shell, 1000 rifles, 250,000 rounds of ammunition, 60,000 pounds of provisions, and the colors of the Twenty-fourth Regiment. It is estimated that 5000 Zulus were killed and wounded in the battle. Among the killed on the British side are two majors, four captains, twelve lieutenants and the quartermaster of the Twenty-fourth Regiment, two captains of the royal artillery, a colonel, captain, four lieutenants and a surgeon major of engineers, besides twenty-one other British officers commanding the native corps. It is estimated that 500 white soldiers were killed, besides the officers mentioned. The force was attacked while guarding the camp of the column, during the absence of Lord Chelmsford with a strong force reconnoitring. The guns were spiked before they were captured. The expedition was forced to recross the border, and reinforcements have been sent for to England and Mauritius. The mail steamer for England was despatched from Cape Town one day earlier than usual, with a request for six regiments of infantry and a brigade of cavalry.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 7th.

The town talk is the unblushing confession of Col. Pelton, Tilden's nephew, before the committee in New York, of the authorship of the cipher despatch corruptions, or attempted corruptions. Coming as it does right upon the heels of the dilly-dallying confession of Smith Weed, the public is shocked beyond measure, and nobody now has a word to say for the coparceners. Relative to Mr. Tilden, the democrats assert that there can be nothing wrong, and there is a plausible theory that he was deceived and imposed upon by others. The case of Gen. Grant's "young men" is cited, as showing how any one may be the victim of misplaced confidence under almost any circumstances. Gen. Grant's confidential agents and friends were caught in flagrant acts, and yet it was clear that he was not compromised in the least, except in his lack of judgment in choosing such fellows as his confidants. The whole iniquity of the ciphers is confessed now; the worst is acknowledged, and Pelton, Weed, Marble and several others must go down to infamy. It is remarked here that the exposure will have one good effect. It will curb the unprincipled ambition of many young men who try to serve great leaders in politics, and are not at all careful as to the means so long as the end is accomplished.

Senator Butler has introduced in the Senate a substitute for the Texas Pacific railroad bill. It differs with the other in the fact that it provides for two eastern extensions to the Mississippi river, one at Vicksburg and the other at New Orleans. I believe the substantial features as to the main line are the same, but it is believed by friends of a competing transcontinental line, both in California and the south, that the Texas Pacific project would be more popular with practical business men if the eastern termini were fixed definitely. But after all, what commerce needs is not this or that particular outlet, but some outlet across the continent that shall not oppress it as the Union Pacific monopoly does.

The new census bill passed the Senate yesterday by a significant vote, forty-six to four. It is rather remarkable that one of the few who opposed it was Senator Conkling, was said the law of 1880 was good enough, and the census should be confined to taking the population chiefly to base a new apportionment on. The new bill provides for a wide range in obtaining industrial statistics, but it is said that the machinery will be so improved that more work will be done at less cost than the census has been taken before.

Will Kansas never be relieved of scandal and corruption? For several days there have been rumors here that charges of bribery in the late election of Senator Ingalls would be brought to the attention of the U. S. Senate, and now comes the report that the Kansas House votes to investigate them. Ingalls' friends here profess confidence in his ability to defend himself against these charges, but on the contrary his foes are equally confident.

The Senate committee have agreed to an amendment to the postal bill giving a postal contract to two lines of steamships to Brazil, one from New York and one from New Orleans, each to have $150,000 per annum. Many democrats as well as about all the republicans support this measure in the interest of commerce and trade, and it is believed that it will be adopted promptly. KNOX.

News and Notes.

The officers who are investigating the recent murder of Mr. Elliott, in Bangor, believe the murder was the work of tramps.

The deadly plague is depopulating Russian villages, and appearing in new places; and in addition to this, typhus fever and small-pox are increasing alarmingly. The Siberian plague has also appeared, and the cattle plague is prevalent.

Mrs. Baker of Sullivan, Me., recently killed a wild cat which was making a raid upon her geese. She caught the animal by the back of the neck, held it at arm's length, and plunging it into the deep snow, held it there until dead.

The Bridgeport, Conn., Standard has brought trouble upon itself by a criticism made in its columns of the performance given by the Dickie Lingard combination in that city. Mr. Dalziel, the husband of Dickie Lingard, stated that a suit for libel would be begun, the damages to be laid at $5000. It is proposed, says Mr. Dalziel, to adopt a novel mode of proving the libel, the entire company intending to perform the piece, "Our Wives," to the jury, exactly as given to the Bridgeport audience.

The unknown three-masted schooner which was sunk off Cape Hatteras Jan. 12th, has been discovered to be the Helen A. Hoyt, Capt. Crane, which sailed from Charleston, S. C., for Weymouth, Mass., with a cargo of phosphate rock. She went down in forty feet of water, and all hands were lost.

The city council of Sandusky, Ohio, has expelled one of its members for using profane language.

A woman deposited $400 in gold in one of the Springfield, Mass., savings banks the other day, and after she had gone out the treasurer remarked rather petulantly that he wished people wouldn't bring that "stuff" there, for no one wanted to take it, and he couldn't pay it out again.

Reading as a fine art: Boston; Roberts Bros. Mons. Ernest Ligoune, of the French Academy, gives us this book, (translated by Abby Langdon Alger,) written, as the author tells us, because in France reading aloud is not, as in this country, reckoned as an accomplishment, but is regarded as something unnecessary, even akin to affectation. The author, when he confines himself to the matter in hand, has useful hints and correct suggestions; but when he tells us of his genius as a play-writer, and his means used to bring Mlle. Rachel to an appreciation of his plays, Parbleu! as the Frenchman said of the tiger hunting, "It makes all the difference." The fault of authors who insist upon sending forth books upon this art is that they don't stick to their text, but wander off into personal reminiscences or upon collateral subjects, and our interest ceases at this departure. There are, in this book, however, many good suggestions, and we commend its perusal to our teachers and scholars, as a publication from which valuable hints may be gathered. It is uniform in price (fifty cents) and style with the "Right use of books," by Prof. Ackerman of Boston, published last fall by the same firm.

Representative Blair has presented the petition of Mrs. Breed and sixty-six other ladies in Alstead, for the enforcement of the laws against polygamy.

Our Senators in Congress do not always think alike. On the question of confirming the New York appointees Mr. Rollins voted nay, and Mr. Wadleigh did not vote. On Saturday, upon the bill to relieve certain legal disabilities of women, so as to allow them to talk in the courts, both Senators gallantly voted yea.

Lebanon had a disastrous fire Monday night, when a three-story building containing a dry goods store, Odd Fellows' hall and armory of a military company, was burned, with four smaller buildings. Total loss about $40,000; insurance less than half that amount.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than salaratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ [illegible] of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Dr. [illegible] pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

A delegation from Damon Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of this city, will visit Prospect Lodge, No. 13, of Great Falls, this evening.

The train from Boston due in this city at seven o'clock Tuesday evening was over an hour late, owing to a breakdown of some kind at Newburyport.

Mr. Dennis O'Leary has opened, at No. 31 Daniel street, a tailoring establishment, where he will make clothing, alter misfits, repair and clean clothing, etc., promptly and at reasonable rates.

Congress hall, Mechanics' hall and Franklin hall were all occupied Tuesday evening—something that has not occurred before for a long time, if ever. The Odd Fellows occupied the first named, Prof. Smith's dancing school was held in the second, and Morrison was tramping around in the third on his 400-mile walk. The numerous windows lighted up gave that side of Congress street quite a brilliant appearance.

A friend recalls to mind an incident in the life of the late Mrs. Washington, which shows that whether her Washington could tell a lie or not, he could certainly steal. Mr. Washington went away to sea, and after a somewhat long absence returned, and the customary fatted-calf programme was carried out. Next morning Mrs. Washington went out to do a day's washing, leaving her husband at home to take care of things, which he did so effectually that neither he nor the goods and money he found in ransacking the house were ever seen again. Mrs. Washington, grieved then to think she had not sacrificed the prodigal instead of the fatted calf, at once advertised the affair, offering a liberal reward for the return of the property, and one cent for the return of her husband; but she never recovered either.

THE VICINITY.

In Exeter, Saturday night, three young fellows of that town, the oldest not yet twenty years of age, were in the lockup for drunkenness.

The postmaster at Biddeford Pool has been notified that hereafter the mail service to and from that post-office will be six times a week the year round. The new arrangement went into effect on Monday.

Mr. James M. Beckett, who died in South Newmarket on Saturday morning last at the age of thirty-five years, was the only son of Mr. Joseph L. Beckett, of the Exeter Gazette office. The deceased's last position in Boston, where a large portion of his life was spent, was that of mailing clerk for the Advertiser.

Gilman Grange, of Exeter, and the Exeter Agricultural Society, have decided to hold a fair in that town next autumn. In addition to the usual premiums, $100 will be offered to the person in Rockingham county who shall raise one hundred bushels of corn on an acre of land. A premium will also be given for the best six traces of corn.

Patrick Cassidy of Dover was on Monday held for trial before the supreme court, on two warrants charging him with selling liquor. Two young girls, neither of them over eighteen years old, were found Saturday night in an out-house in a state of absolute helplessness, and were locked up by the police. On getting sober they said that Cassidy sold the liquor that made them drunk.

Mr. John Wild of Saco, who was so terribly injured in that city last week by a runaway accident, the end of a shaft being driven into his head and broken off, died on the evening of the same day. Mr. Wild served in the army through the war, and participated in twenty-one battles, coming unscathed out of them all, to be finally killed in the street of a peaceful city by a horse that took fright and ran away while returning from a funeral.

A correspondent at Newington gives us the following: "The inhabitants living on the border of Great bay in Newington have been much disturbed of late by what seems to be a ghost. The children going to school have in several cases been frightened so that the parents have to see them to school and return. Several parties being out after dark have seen it, and have fled. It seems to be an object about six and a half feet in height; it was seen entering the barn of John W. Towle recently. We understand that there is to be a search party made up to ascertain what this object is. Some think it is a wandering tramp that has taken this mode of scaring people so as to procure something to eat,—as it is said that considerable poultry has been missed of late, and camp fires have been discovered in several places in the woods."

PORTSMOUTH GAS CO.

The annual meeting of the Gas Co. was held at the superintendent's office Tuesday, and was called to order by the president, Ex-Gov. Goodwin. After the annual report was read the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

Clerk, David Kimball;
Directors, Ichabod Goodwin, John Sise, Aaron Akerman, C. C. Jackson, C. A. Shannon; Auditor, A. J. Penhallow.

LODGE ANNIVERSATY.

The members of New Hampshire Lodge of Odd Fellows may well feel gratified at the large attendance present to celebrate the thirty-third anniversary of the organization of that lodge. Nothwithstanding the inclemency of the weather on Tuesday evening, the number present was estimated by members of the lodge at nearly five hundred. The tables, which were set for 180, were re-set three different times. During the evening a handsome bouquet was presented by Piscataqua Lodge through Dr. Curtis, which was received by Joseph H. Gardiner on behalf of the New Hampshire. After the banquet, which was bounteous, the company repaired to the dance hall, where they were treated to some fine music by the quartette, composed of members of the lodge, with Miss Alice Swasey at the piano, which occupied the time until nine o'clock, when the grand march took place with music by Parsons' quadrille band. The festivities were continued up to a late hour, when all who participated departed for their homes more than pleased with the entertainment. Much credit is due the committee who had in charge the arrangements, which were carried out in good shape. Capt. George W. Towle acted as master of ceremonies.

SYSTEMATIC CHARITY.

Mr. Editor: I have been very much interested in the articles communicated to the CHRONICLE regarding the city charities, and certainly it would be a most excellent idea to have a system whereby the worthy poor could be properly cared for, and the imposter exposed. During the past three years I have known a number of instances where strangers professing to be residents have come to the city and obtained various sums, ranging all the way from ten to sixty dollars. I trust the work will be carried forward to a successful issue.

I was suprised, however, to find in Tuesday's CHRONICLE a statement "that there is no place in town where reliable information regarding the poor can be obtained." I think it is generally understood that the Mission Rooms have done and are doing good service in this particular. In the month of January over one hundred different individuals were personally cared for, their cases investigated, and they assisted or their requests rejected, as their circumstances were on investigation found to demand, and the city, and the city charities, saved many a dollar, besides much time being devoted to the general poor; and I shall be glad to investigate any case reported.

After sixteen years of missionary experience I ought to have some idea of catering to the needs of the poor. I shall be glad to do anything in my power towards helping such a useful enterprise, as the systematizing of all our charities, and the Mission Rooms are open as a central place for a general meeting at any time.

W. A. LOYNE, Missionary.

AN OLD ACQUAINTANCE.

A recent letter from Nebraska to a paper published in the interests of the Episcopal church, says:

Mr. Joshua V. Himes, who has been preaching for fifty-three years, and since 1841 has been one of the most prominent leaders of the Adventists, was recently confirmed by the bishop of this diocese, and is now a candidate for orders. Although seventy-three years old, he is in vigorous health and very active, and is already engaged in lay work. It is about three years since Mr. Himes began to carefully investigate the claims of the church, and he expresses deep regret that he was not led to their study many years ago. Mr. Himes made addresses on missionary work at recent convocations in this diocese and western Michigan. He is to enter upon missionary duties in this diocese, doing lay work until ordained.

This Elder Himes is well remembered by many of the older residents of this city, as he preached here and in neighboring towns many times, about the year 1843. He was a prominent coadjutor of Rev. James Miller, the leader in the so-called "Millerite delusion" of that time, speaking constantly, editing a paper in Boston, and being at indefatigable worker generally. That he should become an ardent churchman in his old age is surprising to those who formerly knew him, though if he became a churchman at all he could not help being an ardent one, as there was no half-way about him in anything.

At about the same time that Joshua V. Himes was making a stir, another Mr. Himes, from the interior of this State we believe, created great excitement in this city by his preaching in the Middle street church, of which Rev. Freeman G. Brown was then pastor. This Mr. Himes was a "perfectionist;" he preached for twenty-nine evenings in succession, and had the church packed full, aisles and all, each evening; and the congregations of the other churches were visible thinned out during this period. Mr. Brown in one day baptised thirty-three persons, about this time, mainly, it is said, as a result of Mr. Himes' warnings and exhortations. Himes afterward preached in Stratham, and other neighboring towns.

—One ship lately took from this country to Africa eight hundred thousand gallons of rum and one single missionary.

—After religious teachers have defined the infinite, cornered the incomprehensible, and touched bottom in the unfathomable, it has been suggested that they take up the problem "how to drive horses with humanity and sell cabbages with honesty."—Christian Register.

—The English language is wonderful for its aptness of expression. When a number of men and women get together and look at each other from the sides of a room—that's called a sociable. When a hungry crowd call upon a poor minister and eat him out of house and home—that's called a donation-party.

—Two little children went to church alone in Westfield, Mass. They became tired during the long sermon, and the older one, supposing that school rules held good in churches, led his sister up in front of the preacher and said, "Please, sir, may we go home?" He said "Yes," and they soberly walked out.

—A well-dressed, polite man walked into the police detectives' office in Troy, N. Y., and asked to see some novel tools that had been used in trying to break open a safe. The things brought out, he examined them with care. "Much obliged," he said; "I have just finished five years in Sing Sing, and I wanted to see what progress had been made in my profession."

—A negro porter in a store at Little Rock, Ark., having read Mark Twain's story of "The Jumping Frog," took to filling the pouch of his pet opossum, which accompanied him everywhere, with nickels and pennies from the till, thus taking home nightly a considerable sum. At last he overloaded the opossum, and when he went out the faithful creature tried to follow him, but found herself anchored. Detection followed as a matter of course.

—Marriage notice from the Ludington (Mich) Democrat: "Caught at last. For several years there has been a Koon prowling around this city that has eluded all capturers until Sunday night last, when Miss Frances Groshong followed him to the Methodist parsonage, and, by the assistance of Rev. J. M. Aiken, succeeded in capturing him. When dressed he weighed about 150 pounds. We believe this is the second large coon that has been caught in this vicinity lately."

—At a social party at Ottawa a guest pretended to be a mesmerist, and entertained the company by mesmerizing a victim, whom he compelled to make himself ridiculous for an hour. But when the mesmerist, surprised at his success, tried to unmesmerize the subject, the victim refused to come out of his trance, kissed every woman in the house, poured a libation of ink on the mesmerist's shirt front, and only condescended to recover his senses when the terrified operator had fled for a doctor.

—Bose Patterson and Jimmy Brown were pupils in the public school in Elizabethtown, Kentucky, and their boyish love was centred on Nannie Hobbs, who enjoyed and encouraged their rivalry. They quarrelled over her, and she laughed; they cuffed each other, and she was proud of being the cause of their jealousy; but when they armed themselves with pistols and went out to fight a duel, she ran with all her might to tell their parents. Bose's father arrived on the scene just in time to prevent bloodshed.

—A negro minister, who married rather sooner after the death of his wife than some of the sisters thought proper and becoming, excused himself as follows: "My dear bredren and sisters, my grief was greater than I could bear. I turned every way for peace and comfort, but none came. I serched de Scriptures from Gin'see to Rebelation; plenty of promises to de widder but nary one to de wilderer. So I took it dat de Lord didn't waste sympathy on a man when it was in his power to comfort hisself; and having a first-rate chance to marry in de Lord I did so, and would do it again. Besides, breddren, I consider dat poor Betsy was juss as dead as she would ever be."

A Source of Much Bodily Evil.

If the habit of body becomes irregular, much evil is inflicted on the system. The stomach becomes dyspeptic, bilious symptoms develop themselves, the circulation is contaminated, and the nerves share in the general disorder. It is of the utmost importance that the bowels should be thoroughly and speedily regulated when they grow derelict. The corrective agent best adapted to this purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a wholesome, non-griping vegetable laxative, worth all the rasping cathartics invented since the time of Paracelsus. People who have been in the habit of using blue pill, calomel, and other drugs and cheap nostrums for constipation, should abandon such hurtful and useless medicines, and substitute for them this pleasant and gentle aperient which not only produces the purgative effect naturally, but also strengthens while it regulates the bowels, stomach and liver. It moreover cures and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, gout, rheumatism, debility and urinary troubles.

A Life Saved for Fifty Cents! Fact, for he had a terrible racking cough way down on the lungs and one bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup cured it, (not dried it up) and removed the cause, and lo, a well man, all for fifty cents.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 140 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tfeb25

Your Cough can be relieved immediately by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Honesty is the Best Policy.

The remarkable popularity which the Louisiana State Lottery Company has achieved by the integrity and fairness which have characterized all its operations, has created no little astonishment. When the reader reflects, however, that the valuable franchises which the company have secured last twenty-five years from the date of the incorporation in 1868, and for the security of which the inviolable faith of the State of Louisiana is pledged to a contract upon which the State has already received nearly half a million of dollars, he will see that here at least honesty is the best policy. The drawings will go on as usual for the next fifteen years. For any further information, apply to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La.

The President (of one of our banks,) says: "that Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's reaches the right spot every time."

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Business Failures.

Lack of judgement causes fully fifty per cent. of all business men to fail, earlier or later. Do not an equal proportion of physicians fail to cure from the same cause? At the Grand Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, through the skill attained by his several specialists, each having devoted years to a special department of medical science, is able to cure a large per cent. of cases hitherto considered incurable. Many physicians, in view of the superior advantages of this model sanitarium, bring there stubborn, obscure, complicated, and surgical cases for examinations, operation, and treatment. Full particulars given in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated work of over 900 pages. Price, post-paid, $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Belfast, Me., Age, which has been an influential advocate of the "national" movement, begins to see signs in that party of "a sentiment which favors the screening of debtors from all legal obligations to pay their debts, or even from any annoyance on the part of their creditors." This is the essence of communism,—that the creditor shall not be allowed to reclaim his property, if the debtor prefers to keep it. The "national" idea, that the government is somehow bound to make everybody rich and prosperous, leads straight to that conclusion.

—Decorated boxes filled with gloves or perfumery make handsome valentines.

—If your dinner bell has lost its clapper, you can still have your napkin ring.

—"Do you mean to call me a liar?" asks a ferocious old gentleman. "Well, no; not exactly," temporizes his young friend; "but if I saw you in the company of Ananias and Sapphira, I should say you were in the bosom of your family."

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy cut stone, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an invariable rule that a trip by the Pennsylvania R. R. should form a PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.
Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns. (feb20 79

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 142 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & CO., of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & FLETCHER, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. It (the Anti-Fat) has the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope hereby to regain what I lost in health." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, during dyspepsia, and is a sure and speedy remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity free on receipt of stamp.

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT CHEMICAL AND BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those special ailments peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positively curative remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing the positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of women, singled it out as the chief and crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for the class of diseases, and upon that will, at all times and under all circumstances, I cheerfully stake my professional reputation as a physician, and so confident am I that it will meet the most sanguine and exact expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the alarming ailments for which it is offered, I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are some of the diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with certainty never before attained by any medicines: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Inflammation when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a specific purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of women. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain from THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a work of 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely on Diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

CATARRH

NEVER-FAILING RELIEF

AFFORDED BY

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

IT is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimonials ever offered in favor of any proprietary medicine, that the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH does in every case afford instant and permanent relief. No matter of how long standing, or how severe the disease, the first dose gives such evidence of its value in the treatment of Catarrhal affections that confidence is at once felt in its ability to do all that is claimed for it. The testimony of physicians, druggists and patients is unanimous in this respect, and the accumulating evidence is in point of respectability superior to any ever before obtained in favor of a popular remedy. The proprietors, therefore, may justly feel proud of the position the RADICAL CURE has attained and believe it worthy of its reputation.

10 YEARS A SUFFERER.

From Hon. Theo. P. Bogert, Bristol, R.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Feeling thoroughly convinced of the efficacy of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, I am induced to drop you a line to say that although I have been accustomed of all the nostrums advertised as "radical cures," I have never found anything that promises such relief and ultimate cure as that of SANFORD'S.

I have been afflicted with this dreadful disease for more than ten years, and not until recently could I be induced to persevere with any until I read the letter of Mr. HENRY WELLS, and can truthfully say that after using five or six bottles I am thoroughly convinced of its curative properties. Hoping that others similarly afflicted like myself will be induced to make the trial I am, gentlemen, very truly, etc.

THEO. P. BOGERT.

HER MISTAKE.

"Is he really so handsome?" said Eleanor May, incredulously.

"The handsomest man you ever saw in your life!" cried Olive Satterly.

She was sitting on the back doorstep, shelling peas, with a great cinnamon rose-bush showering its pink petals down on her brown braids of hair, and her hazel eyes sparkling beneath their long lashes, while Maude, the beauty of the family, leaned out of the window, her pretty tresses screwed up in crimping papers, and a gingham wrapper buttoned carelessly at the throat, with no ornamental accessories in the way of collars, frills, or ribbon-bows; for Maude had been to a party the night before, and had slept late, scolded her mother because her coffee was cold, and absolutely declined any interference with the household affairs that morning.

"Exactly like a corsair!" said Maude, suppressing a yawn. "Tall and dark, with such a great diamond ring on his little finger, and eyes like sherry wine. And he was so surprised to think that I recognized him through his disguise!"

"What costume did he assume?" asked Eleanor May, who, not having received an invitation to the fancy-dress ball at Mrs. Pipington's, was exceedingly inquisitive on the subject.

"A pirate," said Maude; "with black velvet cap, you know, and scarlet sash, and a cutlass. And he declared he would disguise himself so completely the next time that I couldn't possibly identify him, and we've wagered a box of kid gloves each on the question."

"I suppose he means at Lizzie Hookers' birthday party?" said Olive.

"Of course," said Maude.

"I wish I could go," said Olive, working diligently away at the peas that dropped like emerald rain into the shining tin pan.

"Well, you can't," said Maude, shortly. "Mamma says she can't afford two fancy dresses, and I'm the eldest."

"Yes, I know," said Olive meekly.

"And Mr. Medlicote danced only once with you last night," added Maude, unable to repress her exultation, "and he waltzed three times with me, besides the German!"

Little Olive looked shyly up at her sister, secretly wishing that Providence had seen fit to make her, also, a beauty.

"I suppose," said Miss May curiously, "that he is very rich?"

"Oh, very!" nodded Maude.

And Olive's thoughts jumped at once to the idea of how beautiful her sister would look in the regulation orange blossoms and white tulle.

"I wonder if I shall ever be married!" pondered Olive, shelling peas faster than ever.

"Who's that coming around the corner of the house?" cried Maude, with some asperity. "One of those everlasting peddlers again? Oh, it's only a scissors-grinder."

"And very fortunate, too," said Mrs. Satterly, a pale, over-worked little woman, with light hair and faded complexion; "for my shears are so bad I can't cut with 'em. And there's the embroidery scissors, and the pair that belongs to the mending basket, and—"

"How much do you ask a pair?" demanded Maude, sailing out upon the garden path, with her pretty feet thrust into slip-shod slippers, soiled wrapper torn down one side, and her hair yet in the loose, tangled curls which had hung like coiled gold down her back the night before.

The man—a swart-browed, stooping foreigner—set his wheel upon the grass, bowed low, with a smile which disclosed teeth gleaming whitely through his thick, silky beard, and held up six fingers in pantomimic gesture.

"That's too much," said Maude.

"He can't understand you," said Eleanor, laughing.

Miss Satterly shook her head, stamped the little, untidy foot, held up six pairs of scissors in various stages of dilapidation, and displayed a silver quarter of a dollar. The scissors-grinder smiled again, made an obeisance nearly to the ground, and asserted the bargain with numerous nods and signs.

"Isn't he funny," said Eleanor.

"Horrid, velveteen-coated fellow!" cried Maude. "To think that he belongs to the humanity with my divine Algernon!"

"He looks tired and thirsty," said gentle-hearted Olive. "I've a great mind to offer him a drink of cool water."

"You'll do no such thing," said Maude, imperiously. "I'll have no slatter of mice running to wait on scissors-grinders! Mamma, is chocolate ready yet?"

"Chocolate?" repeated poor Mrs. Satterly, with a conscience-stricken air. "I declare, Maude, I forgot all about it! I'll run in directly and set it a boiling."

Maude Satterly crimsoned to the very temples.

"Forgot!" repeated she; "you're always forgetting! I never saw anything like you in my life! No; I won't have it now. If you can't prepare my chocolate when I want it, you shan't prepare it at all. I should think you might have thought of it, Olive!"

"I am very sorry, Maude," began Olive, apologetically; "but, for all that, I think you oughtn't to speak so crossly to mamma."

"Hold your tongue!" said Maude, stamping her foot again. "Do you suppose I'm going to be tutored by you? I shall speak as I please, and so I give fair warning. Dear me, that scissor-grinder's buzzing makes my head ache!"

And she swept into the house like a fair fury. When Olive came in a few minutes afterward, with the six pair of scissors all sharpened and burnished up to a scientific state of brilliancy, her sister was lying on the sofa, with her face turned towards the wall, and her eyes resolutely closed.

"Oh, dear me!" thought Olive. "I'm afraid she's in for one of her regular sulking fits, that last twenty-four hours at a time!"

And she took advantage of the circumstances to pour out a goblet of ice water, and offered it surreptitiously to the swarthy Italian, when she carried out the silver quarter that he had so hardly earned.

He bowed low, once more, after the Oriental style, drank it eagerly, and astonished Olive very much by raising her hand to his lips as he uttered the words, "Buon giorno, signorina," and departed.

"I suppose it's his foreign way," said Olive, turning very rosy.

"It's lucky for you that Maudie didn't see him," laughed Eleanor May.

* * * * * *

"Well, what luck?" demanded Guy Mariner, as he sat smoking at his window that evening, and hailed with acclamation the approach of Mr. Algernon Medlicote.

"I've won my wager!"

"No!"

"But, by the shades of Mohammed, I have!" assented Medlicote, sitting down where the cool breeze of twilight could fan his brow.

"How did you manage?"

"I disguised myself as a scissors-grinder, and put the family shears in perfect order."

"Did they suspect?—the young ladies, I mean."

"Not in the least."

"And how does the 'Fair One with the Golden Locks' appear in the seclusion of her own home?"

Medlicote made a slight grimace.

"Like a slovenly virago," said he. "Had it been anything else than the testimony of my own eyes, I couldn't have believed it. But Olive—little brown-eyed Olive—she is a jewel of the rarest water."

"So you have transferred your allegiance from one sister to another!" laughed Mariner. "But isn't it rather hard for the devine Maude to lose both her wager and her lover at the same time."

"It's a rose-bud mouth," said Medlicote, gravely shaking his head, "but the sharp words spoiled its perfect Cupid's bow; the hair was like spun gold, but crimping papers are not becoming to the female face. And upon the whole, Mariner, I have reason to be grateful to the scissors-grinding fraternity."

And beautiful Maude Satterly could not understand why it was that Algernon Medlicote proposed to little brown-skinned Olive instead of her.

"Everybody thought he was devoted to me," said she disconsolately.

"Perhaps he has changed his mind," said Eleanor.

Of course Mr. Medlicote confessed the episode of the scissors-grinding to his blushing and happy little wife after their marriage—well regulated husbands never do keep anything secret from their wives—but Maude never suspected it. For what says the old adage?

"Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."

Another Foolhardy Trip.

Lewis G. Goldsmith, a Danish sailor, about forty years of age, who served in the Union army and navy in the rebellion, proposes to sail across the Atlantic from Boston next summer, accompanied by his wife, in a boat eighteen and a half feet long, on a trip around the world. He will go to Copenhagen, Norway, Sweden, by the North sea to Scotland, by the Mediterranean to Alexandria, through the Suez canal to Aden, across the Indian Ocean to India, through the Straits of Malacca, thence northward to Singapore, Hong Kong and Yedde, and finally across the Pacific to San Francisco, which he expects to make in the fall of 1881. From the Golden Gate he will come east to Boston by rail. The boat is now being built by W. B. Smith at City Point. It is eighteen feet long, six feet beam, with three feet depth of hold, built of oak and hard pine planking. It is so constructed as to be a boat within a boat, having nine air-tight compartment or chambers on each side, which will float the craft, even if the boat ships a sea and is filled with water. It is sharp at both ends, has a shifting bowsprit, and by a unique arrangement is so constructed as to "bail" itself.

News and Notes.

One evening recently two men named Ostrander and Frink, of Mt. Rigs, Conn., were returning from Millerton to their homes. They had been drinking, and were not capable of taking care of themselves. After going part of the way Frink fell down, and not being able to continue his journey, his companion left him, and on Sunday he was found frozen to death where he fell. Ostrander had his hands and feet badly frozen.

Erastus Johns, supervisor of registration in Kansas City, Mo., had an altercation with a negro, and shot him through the head, killing him.

The Kings county, New York, supreme court has confirmed an order that "Shang" Draper, the Northampton bank robber, be handed over to the Massachusetts authorities.

In view of the approaching close of the present decade and the time for taking the census again, speculations are rife as to the largely increased immigration which has already begun. Last month the number of immigrants from Europe was about one-third larger than in the same month a year ago, and for the year closed the immigration was about 20,000 more than the previous year, the total at New York being 82,000. Large estimates are made of the inflow for this year, even double and treble the numbers of last year, owing to the political troubles on the continent of Europe, and the commercial distress in England. The immigrants are of a better class than formerly, and there will be a great contention among the western States for the flood which is looked for. Kansas and Texas are expected to take the liveliest interest in this matter, hoping for a round 100,000 added to their population next season, and the census takers will have a difficult job to gather in all the future citizens of the migratory order.

An embankment at Ziegler's ore beds, fifteen miles from Allentown, Pa., caved in on the 11th inst., burying fifteen persons, instantly killing one man and seriously injuring four.

In a railroad cut at Kansas City, Mo., on the 11th inst., the almost perpendicular walls, ninety feet high, caved in and buried the workmen and their teams under the falling earth. Six persons were killed outright, and several wounded.

Capt. George Prince, of Bath, Me., who pleaded guilty to extensive frauds on the pension bureau, was sentenced in the United States district court to ten years' imprisonment at hard labor in the State prison. The government refused to settle a civil claim against him for $15,000, and will bring a suit to recover the money fraudulently obtained by him.

The plague in Russia is at present limited to the valley of the lower Volga for a distance of one hundred and fifty miles near the Caspian Sea, but is liable to spread over the whole empire unless strict quarantine measures are enforced.

The naval appropriation bill passed both Houses of Congress on the 11th inst. It appropriates $14,029,968.95.

An enthusiastic Massachusetts matron has expended over a thousand dollars in keeping up an amateur dramatic company, that her son, a future Booth, may have an opportunity of developing his genius.

Nathan Murphy, a lad sixteen years of age, who had worked for Dr. C. A. Sperry of West Hartford, Conn., for a year or more, committed suicide by hanging on the 7th inst.

The ship Winged Hunter, of Boston, is having a hard time of it. She was badly damaged some time ago, and put into Bermuda for repairs; having been put in good order she sailed for New York, Jan. 25th, but was knocked on her beam ends on the 29th by a squall which snapped a new fore yard in four places, carried away both foretopsail yards, parted the main and jib stays, and did other damage. The ship put back to Bermuda, arriving on the 31st.

New Hampshire Items.

A pamphlet of twenty-six pages entitled "Records of the President and Council of New Hampshire from Jan. 1, 1679, to Dec. 22, 1686," edited, with notes and an introduction, by Charles Deane, Esq., of Boston, corresponding secretary of the Massachusetts Historical Society, has recently been printed, with a fac simile of the front page of the records. It is interesting to the lover of the early history of our State.

A call has been issued for a prohibition convention, to be held at Manchester on the 19th and 20th of the present month, for the purpose of forming a State league, its object being to see that all laws against the liquor traffic are rigidly enforced.

A house at Twin River, near the base of Mt. Washington, belonging to Edward Weston, was burned on the night of the 10th inst. It was occupied by a French family, who narrowly escaped, four children being thrown from the window in their night clothes.

Political.

W. B. Fleming has been elected to Congress from the Savannah (Georgia) district to fill the place of Hon. Julian Hartridge, deceased. There was no opposition.

The democratic Washington correspondent of the Boston Post, writing to that paper about the river and harbor appropriation bill just introduced in the House, says: "The bill is about the worst specimen of log-rolling ever presented to Congress. Appropriations for unimportant rivers and creeks make up the larger part of it." That's pretty loud talk, for the same appropriation bill last year provided for the stealing of about $4,000,000 of the six millions it called for; and we can hardly credit that this "democratic reform House" has eclipsed its "economical" record of last year by getting up a worse specimen of log-rolling than it then presented.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Remember the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a ℔., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

THE CITY.

Mr. William P. Israel, of this city, is laboring for the Advent cause at Beach Ridge, York. Five persons arose for prayers on Monday night, 10th inst.

The friends of the worthy deputy collector of internal revenue, knowing the interest taken by him in collecting books which treat of the fine arts, have presented him with a valuable work which will be added to his already well stocked library.

The pay-train of the Eastern railroad left this city on Wednesday morning to gladden the recipients of monthly installments between Portsmouth and North Conway; then it returned to Conway Junction, and left for Portland. It is the most welcome train on the road.

In the harbor and river appropriation bill, as reported to the House of Representatives by the committee, on the afternoon of the 11th inst., was an item of $10,000 for the improvement of this harbor. For improving the Merrimack river $5000 is put down, and for the river at Kennebunk, $2000.

On the occasion of the anniversary celebration of New Hampshire Lodge of Odd Fellows, in Congress hall on the evening of the 11th inst., the quarters of the various Masonic organizations were thrown open for the inspection and convenience of the large company. The traditional "goat" and "gridiron" were keenly looked for by the lady visitors, but we believe were not discovered.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE.—The GAZETTE, published at Portsmouth, N. H., the oldest newspaper in America, sends us this week, in connection with its current issue, a fac simile of the same paper published on "Thursday, Oct. 7, 1756." Nothing could mark the wonderful progress in journalism more forcibly than by glancing at the leading newspaper then and now. The GAZETTE is yet as bright and attractive and as full of news as any of its modern contemporaries. Age has not dimmed its eye for news.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Some years ago Hon. John Lynch, then member of Congress from the 1st district of Maine, and a mighty power in navy yard matters, succeeded in getting a bill through which temporarily fixed the name of the establishment across the river as the "Kittery, New Hampshire," navy yard. The next Congress, or the same one at its next session, again changed its name, this time to the "Kittery, Maine," navy yard; and ever since then it has vibrated between Kittery, Me., and Portsmouth, N. H., the department striking a pretty fair general average, and calling it by one name about as often as by the other, while the press generally favors Portsmouth as its designation. Why don't they call it the Piscataqua navy yard? Then there could be no mistake in any quarter, and no jealousy as to names.

THE VICINITY.

On Saturday forenoon Mr. Almon Hanson of Kennebunk Depot was terribly scalded about the face, by slipping while carrying a kettle of boiling water.

A snow plough going east ran off the track at Kennebunk Depot on Monday evening, ripping up the platform at that station for about one hundred feet.

Prof. George E. Foster of New Brunswick opened a series of temperance meetings at Exeter on the evening of the 11th inst., under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

A Saco woman lately sold her furniture by auction, intending to go west, but the sale amounting to but little she used the proceeds in repurchasing some of her things, and has gone to housekeeping again.

Travelling in the adjacent towns is wretched; on the cross roads it is impossible for teams to travel, owing to the rain having softened up the snow so that the teams slump. At least, that was the case on Wednesday.

Deputy Sheriffs Marr and Stuart, of Saco, at about five o'clock on the morning of the 11th inst. captured Anthony Chickwin of Biddeford just as he was leaving the Eastern depot with a five-gallon keg of rum in his sleigh. The liquor was confiscated, and Chickwin was taken before the municipal court, where he was fined $50 and costs for transporting liquor, from which sentence he appealed.

J. K. Patterson at Old Orchard has the "boss" rooster. The bird is a year old, stands about two and a half feet high, and will probably dress ten pounds. This appears to be an educated "bird" and has been named "Jake." It will come when called by his name, and if the children ask him to crow he will stretch up his neck and crow lustily. He will allow the children to tie a string about his neck, and then with a stick may be driven about at will. He is of the white Brahma variety. —Biddeford Times.

John G. Cummings, employed in the sizing department of the Pepperell mills at Saco, on the morning of the 10th inst. looked into one of the sizing vats, using a lantern to enable him to see, when there was an explosion, Mr. Cummings' whiskers, eyebrows, eyelashes and hair being nearly all burned off, and his face, neck, breast and the arm which held the lantern blistered and scorched. His injuries, though painful, are not dangerous.

The remains of John C. Mason of Kittery, late a machinist on board the U. S. S. "Hartford," on the South Atlantic station, arrived in Boston on Sunday, Feb. 9th, per bark D. A. Brayton, and in Kittery on the evening of the 11th inst. Mr. Mason was a young man well and favorably known in this vicinity, and in Portland, Me., where he learned his trade. He was a member of Maine Lodge, No. 1, I. O. O F., of Portland. He died on board the Hartford at Montevideo, Uruguay, on the 19th of May, 1878, at the age of twenty-seven years. The funeral services will be held in the Universalist church in Kittery, on Sunday next, at 2 o'clock P. M.

THE VERDICT.

The inquest into the cause of the late Mrs. Washington's death was concluded on Wednesday evening, when the jury, after hearing the testimony of two witnesses who both expressed the opinion that she died of heart disease, rendered the following verdict:

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, }
Rockingham ss. }

In witness whereof the said persons have hereunto set their hands the day and year first above written.

HARRY G. TANTON,
EDWIN A. TILTON.

In witness of all above written the said coroner hath hereto set his hand and seal the same day and year.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

The Board of Instruction met on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst., on an adjournment from the previous Wednesday, the following members being present:

Mayor Sise, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs Knight, Messrs. Locke, Gardner, Hackett, Hoyt, Sherburne, Knight, May, Vaughan, Pender and Wendell.

Reports of committees on intermediate, primary and suburban schools were received and read.

The reports were accepted and referred to the board of aldermen.

Committee on examination of teachers reported the result of the competitive examination last December.

The committee on rules and regulations of the schools submitted a report which recommended a modification of some of the rules; adopted on a yea and nay vote, by ten affirmatives to one negative.

A proposition to change the half holidays to one day on Saturday in all the schools was rejected.

Committee on salaries made a report as to salaries in one of the schools, declining to recommend an increase asked for, and leaving the matter with the board.

A resolution was passed directing the committee on salaries to see if any salaries can be reduced, and to report such amount as may be needed for the coming year for school expenses.

THE NAVY YARD.

The annual report of the Secretary of the Navy for the year 1878, just issued, contains the following in reference to this navy yard:

During the past fiscal year all the means allotted for repairs and preservation have been expended in the most economical and judicious manner for the preservation of public property Roofs, foundations, and glazing have been repaired, as these objects are of vital importance; painting and more thorough repairs have been deferred for want of funds. Bridges, wharves, and landing-stages have been so far kept in order as to prevent any accidents or damage to persons or property. Hospital building No. 28 has been renovated and improved inside and outside; the grounds have been graded and drains laid to tide-water, to insure a dry cellar in rainy seasons. Improvements have been introduced which have added greatly to the healthfulness of the premises, the comfort of the sick, and conveniences of nurses and attendants. The hospital is now, what it never was before, comfortable in all seasons of the year, and in fair repair.

The dry-dock has been repaired so far as the money allotted would permit; the twenty-four pumps of the dock have been refitted, and in several instances decayed timbers and planks have been removed and the necessary repairs made. The hydraulic and pumping apparatus are all in good order and ready for use when required.

It has not been possible, with the very inadequate allotment under this appropriation, to meet all the calls for repairs; such only as were of the most urgent necessity were attended to, and in numerous other cases which were unavoidably neglected the process of decay and deterioration is rapidly going on.

There has been expended at this yard, under the head of "Repairs and preservation," during the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1878, for materials, $10,305.52; for labor, $3,587.50; total, $13,803.02. The amount allotted under the head of "General maintenance" has been expended, under the various enumerated items, as economically as possible in view of the small amount of the appropriation; there has been expended during the fiscal year, for materials, $8,272.53; for labor, $28,048.14; total, $36,320.67. The expenditure under the head of "Civil establishment" is $4,417.14. The total expenditures at this yard during the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1878, are:

General maintenance	36,320.67
Civil establishment	4,417.14
Total	$54,630.83

The estimates of needed appropriations for this yard for the year ending June 30th, 1880, are as follows:

Yard improvements	$127,450.43
Repairs and preservation	49,500.00
General maintenance	49,725.00
Civil establishment	5,900.00
Total	$232,575.43

The estimates under the heading of "Yard improvements" are for the following specific objects:

For Machinery-building	$12,032.00
Stables	20,927.50
Paving, gutters, drains	12,970.00
Steam-engineering establishment	7,266.25
Timber-shed	30,834 96
Heating apparatus	17,613.50
Foundery	17,262.72
Water-works	7,784.00
Total	$127,450.43

—The devil runs an immense manufactory of excuses. They are of all sizes and shapes, suited to every possible occasion, and such is the demand for them that it is impossible to overstock the market.

—"Its operations are swift, easy and beautiful, pleasant to the patient, like the humming bird as it moves from flower to flower to get the sweet nectar," says a Janesville, Wisconsin, dentist's advertisement of a new plugging machine.

A Source of Much Bodily Evil.

If the habit of body becomes irregular, much evil is inflicted on the system. The stomach becomes dyspeptic, bilious symptoms develop themselves, the circulation is contaminated, and the nerves share in the general disorder. It is of the utmost importance that the bowels should be thoroughly and speedily regulated when they grow derelict. The corrective agent best adapted to this purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a wholesome, non-griping vegetable laxative, worth all the rasping catharics invented since the time of Paracelsus. People who have been in the habit of using blue pill, calomel, and other drugs and cheap nostrums for constipation, should abandon such hurtful and useless medicines, and substitute for them this pleasant and gentle aperient which not only produces the purgative effect naturally, but also strengthens while it regulates the bowels, stomach and liver. It moreover cures and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, gout, rheumatism, debility and urinary troubles.

A Life Saved for Fifty Cents! Fact, for he had a terrible racking cough way down on the lungs and one bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup cured it, (not dried it up) and removed the cause, and lo, a well man, all for fifty cents.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. lfeb25

Your Cough can be relieved immediately by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Honesty is the Best Policy.

The remarkable popularity which the Louisiana State Lottery Company has achieved by the integrity and fairness which have characterized all its operations, has created no little astonishment. When the reader reflects, however, that the valuable franchises which the company have secured last twenty-five years from the date of the incorporation in 1868, and for the security of which the inviolable faith of the State of Louisiana is pledged to a contract upon which the State has already received nearly half a million of dollars, he will see that here at least honesty is the best policy. The drawings will go on as usual for the next fifteen years. For any further information, apply to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La.

The President (of one of our banks,) says: "that Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's reaches the right spot every time."

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Relieve your Cough before it reaches your lungs by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Revolution in the Dressing Room!

By the almost unanimous action of the parties interested,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

has replaced the old worn-out inventions for coloring the hair, which the bitter experience of years had proved to be ineffective and deleterious. Unlike the compounds that upon the health of the hair, and dry up and consume the juices which sustain it, this mild, genial and perfect dye is found to be a vitalizing as well as a coloring agent.

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safeguard that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 33 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. 16eb3

What are the Profits.

This is the absorbing point that is of chief interest in every business transaction. By the combination system of operating in stocks, Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., unite the orders of thousands of patrons, in various sums, into one immense amount, and operate them as a mighty whole, thus obtaining all the advantages of the largest capitalists and best skill. Profits are distributed pro rata among share holders every month. In this way large gains are secured in short periods, and capital from $10 or $15 to $50,000 can be used with equal proportionate success. $20 will make $100 in 30 days. $1.50 will pay $1.000 profit, or 10 per cent. on the stock, and so on, according to the market. D. Stokes, of Troy, made $315.75 on investment of $50. Many customers are doing better. The new circular has "two unerring rules for success," and full details so that any one can operate profitably. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. city.

—Every now and then some chap writes to a newspaper for a receipt to prevent hair from coming out. If men would go home from the lodge before midnight, with their legs sober, their hair would't come out so rapidly. We always go home early, and we have more hair now than the day we were born.

—Curious marriages have recently been consummated by Georgetown, Mass., parties. A son of a widow marries a girl, and a brother of the girl marries the mother of his sister's husband. A child already born to the son looks upon an uncle and grandfather in the same person and upon a grandmother and aunt in one person. The mother is a sister-in-law to her son, and a younger brother is father-in-law to his sister. Should children be born to the lately married couple, their relations then will be still more strangely mixed.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE
GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those who are in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are afforded. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated; have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has established the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Biliousness, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being entirely preserved uninjured for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dirty, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche, which is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried into all nasal passages, and to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant in its action, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Take according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 189 pounds to 152 pounds, and there is general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOLLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWERS & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Allan's Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing cases of dyspepsia, and is a specific for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp. Address, THE BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and invalids' hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for female diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of the good it has worked upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in so large a proportion of invalids, the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical curcus. On its merits, as a positive, safe and speedy remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances be found, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which it is recommended, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For blank form of guarantee, see druggists' circulars.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Suppression from all causes, unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Womb, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Sleeplessness, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it is undoubtedly Julius a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

CATARRH

NEVER-FAILING RELIEF

AFFORDED BY

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

IT is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimonials ever offered in favor of any proprietary medicine, that the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH does in every case afford instant and permanent relief. No matter of how long standing, or how severe the disease, the first dose gives such evidence of its virtues in the treatment of Catarrhal affections that confidence is at once felt in its ability to do all that is claimed for it. The testimony of physicians, druggists and patients is unanimous in this respect, and the accumulating evidence is in point of respectability superior to any ever before obtained in favor of a popular remedy. The proprietors, therefore, may justly feel proud of the position the RADICAL CURE has attained and believe it worthy of its reputation.

5 YEARS A SUFFERER.

From Hon. Theo. P. Bogert, Bristol, R. I.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Feeling thoroughly convinced of the efficacy of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, I am induced to drop you a line to say that although I have been sceptical of all the nostrums advertised as "radical cures," I have never found anything that promises such relief and ultimate cure as that of SANFORD'S.

I have been afflicted with this dreadful disease for more than ten years, and not until recently could I be induced to try remedies with any faith. I read the letter of Mr. HENRY WELLS, and can truthfully say that after using five or six bottles I am thoroughly convinced of its curative properties. Hoping that others similarly afflicted like myself will be induced to make the trial, I am, gentlemen, very truly, etc.

THEO. P. BOGERT.

BRISTOL, R. I., July 24, 1877.

Does He Want Them?

Under the above heading the Boston Post says:

The Florida cipher messages and the key thereof, which passed between William E. Chandler and the republican committee, are reported to be in the possession of John I. Davenport, who will send them to Chandler if he wants them for the Potter committee.

Mr. Chandler is not in charge of the Potter fraud committee, nor of their investigations. If the committee desire the despatches, they are the persons to call for them; it is not Mr. Chandler's duty to force the despatches and key on the committee—which he has more than once, indeed, tried to do, but the committee objected to receiving them.

News and Notes.

The governor of New York has quarantined the great swill milk stables on Long Island. The order forbids cows being taken from or brought into the stables, or the public sales of milk from the 700 cows now confined there, and takes the property and cows out of the hands of the owners.

A startling report is published to the effect that yellow fever still prevails in the southwest in several places, including New Orleans and Vicksburg; that the change of seasons has not thoroughly eradicated the disease, and that it will break out again early in the Spring.

Kitty White, aged fifteen years, and John Dublin, aged twenty-six, employes of Crane Brothers' paper mill in Westfield, Mass., eloped with another couple on the night of the 10th inst., to Suffield, Conn., where the second pair were married by a Catholic priest. John and Kitty were about to follow suit, when her brother rushed in. She flew sobbing to him, claiming that she only acted upon threats. Dublin will be arrested if he returns to Westfield.

A San Antonio (Texas) despatch reports the following murders in Medina county, none of the perpetrators of which are caught or known: William Thompson shot, and his body thrown into the camp fire; his two herders also murdered; a one-armed peddler, body found in the bushes—his driver suspected. The decomposed body of a Mexican, with skull crushed, and two unidentified bodies, have been found. The citizens are organizing for protection.

With a population of three thousand persons, Greeley, Colorado, requires no police or constables, has no liquor shops, and in two years has spent only seven dollars of its poor fund.

The New York Herald finds a sure indication of returning activity in business in the diminution of the number of unemployed mechanics in that city, which now is not half so large as in 1873.

After receiving sentence, Prince, the pension forger, said to a reporter: "Isn't it a queer state of affairs, when one man is sentenced twelve years in the State prison for stealing $18,000 from the government, and another man steals as many millions, and yet, in spite of the fact of his stealing being known, he is afterwards elected to the United States Senate?" Who is the senator referred to?

At Portland, Me., Wednesday morning, the 12th inst., Miss Sarah E. Gilpatrick, a respectable young woman, about twenty years of age, committed suicide by throwing herself off Tukey's bridge. No cause is assigned for the act.

Lorenzo Richmond, Jr., a young lawyer of St. Louis, Mo., and son of Lorenzo Richmond of Woodstock, Vt., accidentally shot himself in bed on the morning of the 8th inst. The ball went through the pillow and entered the back of his head, killing him instantly. His remains were taken to Woodstock and buried.

The British Admiralty announces that it has chartered fifteen steamers to carry troops and supplies to Cape Town. This fleet includes the transatlantic steamers Egypt, France, Spain, Russia, England, China, Olympus, Palmyra and City of Paris.

The strike of laborers at Liverpool is one of the most formidable that has yet occurred in England. All trade is paralyzed and great difficulty is experienced in obtaining crews by ships in port. There are thirty-five grain-laden ships at Queenstown, and the owners do not know where to send them. Meanwhile grain may be heated in the holds and rendered valueless. All attempts to compromise with the strikers have failed.

The Brooklyn Eagle says a man named Charles Dean has sued Theresa Bell, the supposed wife of Tom Bell, the alleged California millionaire, for $5000, for services in accompanying her to Europe as her brother and carrying upon his person and in her constant company, $250,000 worth of jewelry.

Memphis, Tenn., being heavily in debt and disliking to pay, abolished itself as a city, hoping to evade its obligations by that dodge; but the United States court has appointed a receiver to take charge of the effects of the late city, including the taxes unpaid, amounting to nearly $3,000,000, with power to collect the same.

James S. Bond, of Memphis, Tenn., on Wednesday fatally shot his cousin, Frank Bond, in a dispute at an auction sale of real estate which both wished to buy. He then shot himself in the head, but did not succeed in killing himself.

The way some charitable institutions are conducted is really amusing. A New York society for the relief of sailors held its annual meeting the other day, and a report of the year's work was submitted. The receipts were $1,500. The disbursements were $1,476.76, as follows: Secretary's salary, $1,000; stationery, rent, etc., $471.71; relief of destitute sailors, $5.05.

New Hampshire Items.

Mary Jane Wadleigh, of Sutton, keeps 100 cats. It would be better to care for a few poor children.

George Peacock of Wilton has been sentenced to two years in the State prison, by the supreme court at Manchester, for stealing twenty-four salted hides from Samuel Putnam.

The second term of the State normal school at Plymouth closed on the 12th inst. The finance committeee and principal-elect, Mr. Henry P. Warren of Dover, were present and attended the closing exercises. The coming term will begin as usual, and no change will be made at present in the staff of teachers or the existing arrangements.

Naval Matters.

Commander George H. Perkins is detached from command of the Ashuelot, on the Asiatic station, at his own request.

Commander Mortimer L. Johnson is ordered to command the Ashuelot.

Lieut. Herbert Winslow is detached from the Portsmouth, and ordered to the Marion.

A Secret Worth Knowing.

A sort of trade secret among upholsterers is it said is this recipe for riding furniture of moths: A set of furniture that seemed to be alive with the larvæ, from the month it came new, and from which hundreds of these pests have been picked and brushed, was set into a room by itself. Three gallons of benzine were purchased. Using a small watering pot, with a fine sprinkler, the whole upholstery was saturated through and through, with the benzine. Result—every moth was killed. The benzine dried up in a few hours, and its entire odor disappeared in three or four days. Not the slightest harm happened to the varnish or fabrics, or hair stuffing. The carpets were also well sprinkled all round the sides of the room with equally good effect. For furs, flannels, indeed all woollen articles containing moths, benzine is most valuable. Put them in a box, sprinkle them with benzine, close the box tightly, and in a day or two the pests will be exterminated, and the benzine will all evaporate on opening. In using benzine great care should be taken that no fire is near by, as the stuff is fluid or vapor form is very inflammable.

The Women of Cyprus.

The women of Cyprus are quite as peculiar in their costume, wearing pantaloons fastened around the ankles, with fancy-colored boots, a profusion of chains and trinkets around the neck, and a heavy girdle fastened by massive metallic plates. They dye the hair a lustrous brown with henna and they deepen the expression of the eyes by coloring the eyebrows with the same dye. Their dress is of the brightest colors, crimson, blue, etc., and their head-dress is a perfect copy of that seen on Phœnician and Egyptian statues. They seem to take a pride in exposing their charms, which other women conceal; their bosoms are almost entirely uncovered. They are tall and Juno-like in mien and figure, with remarkably handsome and classic features. They are among the most beautiful women of all the islands, recalling the finest faces of the ancient statues. Unfortunately they do not cultivate grace of form, and by thirty they are quite stout and heavy. There is a certain dignity and elegance about the women of Cyprus that is very striking. They probably approach nearer to the ancient type of classic beauty than any other of the modern descendents of Helen. They have but little or no education, but they are not lacking in intelligence nor in a desire for knowledge. I cannot speak as well of the men. They have been so long crushed to the earth by Turkish oppression that they have lost most of the best qualities of their race. They are nevertheless industrious, patient laborers, peaceful and temperate.

Keep Up Family Attachments.

One of the saddest things about a large family, who have lived happily together for years under the old roof-tree, is the scattering to distant homes, which takes place as they grow up, one by one, to years of maturity. It is often the case that in the cares and bustle of business, letters grow more and more infrequent, and finally brothers and sisters will entirely lose sight of each other.

These kindred ties are much too sacred to be thus lightly severed. It takes such a little while to write a letter, and the expense is so trifling, that there can hardly be an excuse for the neglect.

A loving family circle, thus widely severed, adopted a curious but beautiful plan for keeping informed of each other's welfare. The two most remote, on the first of each month, write a part of a page on a large sheet, containing the principal news of the month, and it is sealed and forwarded to the next in order. Some member of the second household adds a little contribution, and sends it on to the next, and so on till the circle is complete. Thus the family letter goes its rounds twelve times a year, and each one is kept well informed of the joys, sorrows, plans and pursuits of the others. Family gatherings are frequent in such households, and the old home attachments never grow cold.

Sons in particular, away from home, are apt to grow neglectful of letter writing. Oh, if they knew how many heartaches such neglect often causes to the loving breast that pillowed their tired heads in childhood, they would not be so thoughtless. If they knew the joy that a letter brought, and could see how its lightest words were dwelt over, and talked over by the fireside, they would not be so sparing of those messages.

Are not some of us sadly in arrears in this particular?—Star in the West.

—When you have a family jar you can't always preserve the peace.

—Two stories are told of a couple of Japanese students at Hartford. One of them was invited to call on a young lady, and he called one afternoon. When he left he was urged to "call again," to "be sure and come" and to "come very soon." The Jap didn't exactly understand what "very soon" meant, and surprised the young lady by calling again in a few hours. He thought it was just the thing. Another Oriental was invited out to dinner, and when the servant passed him a jar of currant jelly he gave the mould a dextrous shake and emptied the whole form on to his plate. He seemed to think that there was a mould of jelly apiece.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine districts of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a ℔., Cream of Tartar over 30. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

THE CITY.

St. Valentine's Day.

A large assortment of valentines, sentimental and comic, can be found at Goodrich's bookstore.

Mr. Riddle reads "Antony and Cleopatra" at Miss Morgan's school this evening, and "Hamlet" to-morrow morning. Tickets at Rundlett's

The Times says: "Henry Huntington, station agent at Newmarket, struck Deputy Sheriff John Smart with a chair a few mornings since, breaking his arm below the elbow."

It is said that twelve hundred persons signed the pledge at Laconia through the efforts of Messrs. Smith and Booth, the temperance advocates who are announced to labor in this city shortly.

Capt. Pike, of schooner Chas. A. Rogers, at New York from Lubec, Me., reports that on the passage he picked up in Provincetown bay a vessel's boat, about eighteen feet long, marked on the rudder and oars "T. J. Trafton." Inside the boat were lashed three water buckets. The boat unquestionably belonged to the schooner T. J. Trafton of this port, now on the railway at Boston for repairs.

Mr. H. E. Chamberlin, superintendent of the Concord railroad, and also of five other lines which are leased by that corporation, has placed in the rules and regulations of the road, as published in the time-table, the following: "The use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage will be followed by immediate dismissal from the service of the company." This is to be a standing rule of the corporation, but it should not be construed as an intimation that the Concord railroad employes as a rule are not temperate and trustworthy men, for the opposite is true.

The reform club held an important business meeting on the evening of the 12th inst., the attendance being large. A committee of five was appointed to prepare a new pledge, constitution and by-laws, revise the list of signers, and procure a new register for names. Committees were also appointed to look after certain matters in connection with the projected temperance revival under Messrs. Booth and Smith, as follows: On reception of the speakers, President Marden and Vice President Randall; on hall, Ex-President Janvrin; on music, Ex-President Martin. A delegation of twenty-two was chosen to attend the legal suasion convention at Manchester on the 19th and 20th insts.

We have received samples of the new grade of pencil, No. 2 1-2, manufactured by the Eagle Pencil Co., of New York, to try; we have tried them, and we are satisfied that for desk work and memoranda they are better than anything previously put on the market. They make a clear, legible mark, run over the paper very smoothly, and stand pointing and wear equally as well as many much harder pencils of foreign make and high reputation. For a newspaper man the Eagle No. 2 1-2 will become a necessity once he has tried it. This company also makes four other grades, No. 1 being very soft, for deep shading and marking, and No. 4 very hard, for fine outlines; but we have not tried either, and shall not, as No. 2 1-2 is good enough for us. J. B. Chadwick, of Portland, Me., is the general agent for the New England trade.

The entertainment in aid of the Children's Home will be given before Lent, which commences this year on Wednesday, the 26th inst., — probably on the Monday or Tuesday evening preceding. The tickets, at thirty-five cents each, which includes a reserved seat, are selling very rapidly—as they should, for independent of the meritorious charity to be benefitted, the entertainment will be a superior one. Miss Edith Wendoll, the vocalist, and Miss Mary W. Caldwell, the reader, are too well known to need mention here; Mr. James M. Tracy comes highly recommended as a finished pianist, and will bring his own piano; and Miss Lillian Chandler, the violinist, has won most complimentary notices from the press of places where she has appeared. Miss Chandler is only about fifteen years old, but the Nashua Telegraph says her performances are "really artistic and wonderful, the music of the masters being executed with an expression and delicacy rarely equalled by old professionals," and the Dover Democrat "don't believe her equal can be found on this continent." Her sister, Miss Lucie Chandler, will accompany her on the piano.

There is a lack of text-books and writing materials in the school kept by Mr. N. K. Raynes in the court house, and many of the pupils are ill able to buy them. Any person having a surplus of them will confer a favor by leaving them at the city marshal's office.

THE VICINITY.

The salary bill has passed the Maine legislature, and fixes salaries of York county officials as follows: Judge of superior court, $500; judge of probate, $450; register of probate, $750; clerk of judicial court, $1350; county commissioners, each $2 per day when actually employed, and eight cents a mile traveling expenses; sheriff, $2 for each day's attendance upon supreme judicial or superior court.

City Marshal Rines, of Dover, having requested the city government to investigate certain matters connected with the police force of the city, a hearing was had on the evening of the 11th inst., which resulted in Assistant Marshal George H. Caverly being allowed fifteen minutes in which to resign. Caverly managed the job in ten minutes. Inefficiency, neglect of duty, sleeping on watch, etc., were charged against him, and cowardice was more than hinted at; and one of the aldermen stated that he actually saw Caverly give the leader of a gang of rowdies who were disturbing a ball, a dollar if he would go out! Caverly's resignation was accepted without opposition, and Reuben A. Libbey was then chosen assistant marshal by a vote of six to one.

SKATING.

The following notice of the most fashionable sport in New York this winter we clip from a New York paper:

Far above all the fashions and the passions, has been the passion for skating. The pretty young married belles lead their parties out to the Park and to Gilmore's for skating, which is pursued, without benefit of clergy, from eleven in the morning until dinner; and now they talk of moonlight parties. The doctors say, "Beware! This physical culture may be overdone." The net result, so far, is a color like the heart of a Jacqueminot rose, brilliant eyes, and high spirits. Ladies hurry away from the luxuries of a ladies' lunch rather than to lose an hour on the ice, and a thaw is more dreaded than a gray hair.

It is some satisfaction to know that we can compete with the denizens of the metropolis in this healthful recreation. The skating on our rink has been excellent all winter, as its numerous patrons will testify; ladies and gentlemen have felt rejuvenated by the exhilarating exercise, and the boys have pronounced it "jolly" and the girls "just splendid." It is but a pleasant walk to the rink, for those who do not join in the sport; go and see the fun.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening:

The resignation of William Stearns as assessor of taxes was received and accepted.

In joint convention the following were elected to fill the vacancies in the board of assessors: Joseph H. Berry and Nathan F. Berry.

A communication from the taxpayers living on Vaughan street, requesting that the street be graded and repaired, and that crushed stone and gravel be used in place of the paving now there, was received.

The committee on city lands and buildings reported that the State had a lawful claim on the arsenal at the south part of the city, and recommend that the committee be empowered to make arrangements regarding repairs that have been made there.

Mr. J. Wesley Rand, who occupies building owned by city on Pleasant street, asked to have a new floor laid. Referred to committee on city lands and buildings with power.

Committee on city land and buildings recommended that a new floor be laid in the police station. Referred to same committee with power.

Committee on city land and buildings made a report on the lots owned by the city near city farm, and presented to the board an appraisal of the same. Report accepted and adopted.

Committee on claims, to whom was referred the subject relating to witness fees and other claims of ex-police officers against the city, recommended that the city solicitor be empowered to carry the matter to the law term of the supreme court. Report accepted and adopted.

Voted, that the request of the Board of Instruction for a partition in the upper room of the Cabot street school house be granted.

Adjourned.

THE SOUTH POND.

With the plague, which revels in filth and noisomeness, approaching from the far east, and the yellow fever, which equally delights in unwholesome places, threatening to spread this way from the south with the advent of warm weather, added to typhoid diseases, which we have always with us, the present condition of the former south millpond becomes a matter of concern to many thoughtful citizens. The old tide-gates have been removed, and as matters stand now there is nothing to prevent the bed of the pond, with its century's accumulation of foul matter, being exposed to the rays of the sun for a large part of each day; and the probable results when the heats of dog-days arrive are not pleasant for dwellers on its borders to contemplate. If the sediment is to be removed, cold weather is the time to do it; if nothing more than has been already accomplished, is to be done, the residents at the south end will blame their unlucky stars for having been tempted to growl at the former comparatively harmless condition of the pond. What are you going to do about it?

RAILROAD CHANGE.

On and after Monday trains will leave this city for Boston at 4:10, 7:15, 8:23 and 11:00 o'clock A. M., and 3:00 and 5:30 P. M.; and will arrive from Boston at 9:55 A. M., 12:25, 2:54, 5:40, 6:58 and 9:12 P. M.

SUPREME COURT.

THURSDAY, Jan. 13th; Foster, J.

No. 134, John T. G. Haley vs. Samuel J. Colcord, was given to the jury at the coming in of the court in the morning. This was an action of trespass for entering plaintiff's land in 1877. The trespass consists in passing over the land with horses, etc., taking down a piece of stone wall placed by plff. to prevent the passage of the deft. The question is one of damages. The deft. said he had the right of passage over the plff.'s land, and the acts done were in the exercise of a right of way. He claimed a right of way by necessity, and a right by prescription. The court said that if he had the right, the wall could have been properly removed by him. The land is situated in Exeter, about two miles from the court house on the Kingston road. Judge Foster gave the jury a lucid explanation of the nature and extent of these rights, and as to the manner of acquisition, the continuance and termination of such rights, as affecting either party, and what constituted a right of necessity. The case has occupied the court since Monday afternoon. The jury found for defendant. Leavitt for plff.; Hatch for deft.

The next case heard was No. 135, Amoskeag National Bank of Manchester, appellee, against John W. Noyes and Greenleaf C. Bartlett, administrators of the estate of David Currier, appellants. This is an appeal from the decision of the commissioner of insolvency upon the estate of Mr. Currier, late of Derry. The appellee (the bank) claims to recover the amount of two notes, one of $1000, dated Jan. 4th, 1875, and one of $800, of same date, signed by one Nathaniel Swet, payable to order of J. S. Lamprey and endorsed by J. S. Lamprey, J. P. Eaton and said David Currier. The amount in dispute, inclusive of protest fee and interest, was when appeal was entered, $2055.06.

The payment of the notes was refused by the maker on demand made and the notes protested. Mr. Chandler, the cashier of the bank, testified that the notices of non-payment were delivered to Eaton at his residence, and notices to the other endorsers were sent by mail. Notices to Currier were sent to the estate of David Currier at Derry depot, May 8th, by the first mail after receipt of such notices. He said he knew of no administration upon the estate of said Currier at the time the notices were sent.

It was shown subject to the exception of the appellants that Lamprey and Currier were engaged in lumbering business together. The bank had previously discounted paper for these parties. The notes were sold Feb. 12th to the Amoskeag savings bank, and bought back on the 29th day of the same month. The savings bank proved the notes against the estate of Mr. Eaton in bankruptcy, and they were withdrawn. Cross of Manchester, and Marston, for the bank; Hatch, H. S. Clark and G. C. Bartlett for adms.

Application was made by Mr. Hatch in behalf of one Wm. Coombs, confined in jail, his term of imprisonment having expired. Coombs furnished his affidavit that he had no means with which to pay costs, and his counsel contended that as no costs were taxed when he was committed to jail, none could be held against him. The county solicitor said he knew of no reason why he should or should not be released. The court intimated that this was the ordinary case of inability to pay fine or costs, and as the term of imprisonment had expired, ordered the discharge.

Daniel Sanborn, Esq., representative-elect from Exeter, was on the jury in the bank case. He is a lumber merchant, and if he is for any Exeter man for United States senator he will be for the General.

The foreman of the jury in the bank case is John Dow, of Atkinson, who many years ago in the legislature was chairman of the committee on the yeas and nays, and was celebrated for his prompt and unmistakable responses at the roll call.

Samuel Hall, Esq., formerly proprietor and publisher of the News-Letter, was foreman of the jury in Haley vs. Colcord.

Frank Horrock and Atwood J. Adams, from Portsmouth, were drawn as jurors on Thursday in case bank vs. Currier's adms. Saml. D. Foye had an engagement at the navy yard, and declined to serve at Exeter, and the court excused him. Wm. H. Allen by the effort of Sheriff Kent was also excused.

Aaron Mellows, Esq., the senior lawyer in Newmarket, enters the greater number of actions at this term. There are seventy-six new entries.

The evidence on the trials is reported by Shurtleff, who reported in the United States Circuit Court in Portsmouth last spring.

A Source of Much Bodily Evil.

If the habit of body becomes irregular, much evil is inflicted on the system. The stomach becomes dyspeptic, bilious symptoms develop themselves, the circulation is contaminated, and the nerves share in the general disorder. It is of the utmost importance that the bowels should be thoroughly and speedily regulated when they grow derelict. The corrective agent best adapted to this purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a wholesome, non-griping vegetable laxative, worth all the rasping cathartics invented since the time of Paracelsus. People who have been in the habit of using blue pill, calomel, and other drugs and cheap nostrums for constipation, should abandon such hurtful and useless medicines, and substitute for them this pleasant and gentle aperient which not only produces the purgative effect naturally, but also strengthens while it regulates the bowels, stomach and liver. It moreover cures and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, gout, rheumatism, debility and urinary troubles.

A Life Saved for Fifty Cents! Fact, for he had a terrible racking cough way down on the lungs and one bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup cured it, (not dried it up) and removed the cause, and lo, a well man, all for fifty cents.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. ttsb25

Your Cough can be relieved immediately by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Honesty is the Best Policy.

The remarkable popularity which the Louisiana State Lottery Company has achieved by the integrity and fairness which have characterized all its operations, has created no little astonishment. When the reader reflects, however, that the valuable franchises which the company have secured last twenty-five years from the date of the incorporation in 1868, and for the security of which the inviolable faith of the State of Louisiana is pledged to a contract upon which the State has already received nearly half a million of dollars, he will see that here at least honesty is the best policy. The drawings will go on as usual for the next fifteen years. For any further information, apply to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. BOX 692, New Orleans, La.

The President (of one of our banks,) says: "that Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's reaches the right spot every time."

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Relieve your Cough before it reaches your lungs by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Snuffing a Candle on the Stage.

Dumaine, as a pirate in "Le Fleau des Mers," was wont to excite the wonders of the spectators by extinguishing a candle with a pistol shot. The trick was done by placing the light on a table near a small round hole in the "cloth" behind it, through which the prompter blew out the candle as Dumaine discharged the pistol. Actuated by jealousy or a love of mischief a fellow-actor one night covered the hole with a gold-beater's skin, and when the pirate fired and the prompter blew, the candle flared away in triumph. Dumaine drew another pistol from his belt, but before he could pull the trigger, the malicious joker had torn away the skin, and by blowing through the hole made the candle go out, apparently of its own accord, while Dumaine was mentally abusing the innocent prompter for his pet point not coming off as usual.—Chamber's Journal.

—The oldest employee in either of the departments in Washington is Lindsey Muse, the well-known and faithful messenger at the navy department, who was first appointed to the position by Secretary Southard during the administration of John Quincy Adams in 1828, and has served there continuously to the present time—a period of half a century.

—It is a breach of etiquette for a member of the bar to address a court while wearing an overcoat. Recently Mrs. Lockwood, the female lawyer of Washington, having removed her hat but not her circular, proceeded to read to Judge Humphrey the petition of a writ of habeas corpus in the case of John Davis, colored, asking his discharge from jail. The judge called: "Mrs. Lockwood," and the lady responded inquiringly, not knowing what was coming: "Your Honor." The court to one of the bailiffs; "Mr. Marshal, assist Mrs. Lockwood to remove her overcoat." The bailiff advanced, but the female lawyer divested herself of the garment before he could take three steps, and continued her reading.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while unusually safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrate the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE, forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and well-ballasted roadbed a system of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the Far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior accommodations are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial Diseases, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and perfect health and a strong constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goiter or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the early stages of Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and many physicians prescribe it as the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their searching influence. It does not impair the properties of these Pellets, they are sugar-coated and medicated in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping of nose, obstruction of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which nasal douche can be carried RIGHT UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and air chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which catarrh generally exists, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is a vegetable preparation and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 193 pounds to 132 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SHUTTS, DOGGETT & SHUTTS, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a more decisive and positively remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have the witnessing of positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, implied in not as the sole crowning gem of my medical curesy. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, do good, I feel is willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which it is recommended, if she will give it a FAIRTRIAL UNDER A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle).

The following are some of those ailments in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration, unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Depression, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, of Sexual and Female Weakness. I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it unmistakably fulfils a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system, and will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Many diseases require further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of these diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

CATARRH

NEVER-FAILING RELIEF

AFFORDED BY

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

IT is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimonials ever offered in favor of any proprietary medicine, that the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH does in every case afford instant and permanent relief. No matter of how long standing, or how severe the disease, the first dose gives such evidence of its virtues in the treatment of Catarrhal affections that confidence is at once felt in its ability to do all that it claimed for it. The testimony of physicians, druggists and patients is unanimous in this respect, and the accumulating evidence is in point of respectability superior to any ever before obtained in favor of a popular remedy. The proprietors, therefore, may justly feel proud of the position the RADICAL CURE has attained and believe it worthy of its reputation.

10 YEARS A SUFFERER.

From Hon. Theo. P. Bogert, Bristol, R.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Feeling thoroughly convinced of the efficacy of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, I am induced to drop you a line to say that although I have been sceptical of all the nostrums advertised as "radical cures," I have never found anything that promises such relief and ultimate cure as that of SANFORD'S.

I have been afflicted with this dreadful disease for more than ten years, and not until recently could I be induced to persevere with any until I tried the effect of Mr. HENRY WELLS, and can truthfully say that after using three or six bottles I am thoroughly convinced of its curative properties. Hoping that others similarly afflicted like myself will be induced to make the trial I am, gentlemen, very truly, etc. THEO. P. BOGERT.

Business Failures.

Lack of judgement causes fully fifty per cent. of all business men to fail, earlier or later. Do not an equal proportion of physicians fail to cure from the same cause? At the Grand Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, through the skill attained by his several specialists, each having devoted years to a special department of medical science, is able to cure a large per cent. of cases hitherto considered incurable. Many physicians, in view of the superior advantages of this model sanitarium, bring there stubborn, obscure, complicated, and surgical cases for examinations, operation, and treatment. Full particulars given in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated work of over 900 pages. Price, post-paid, $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

—An old farmer comes into a newspaper office to pay his subscription, and remarks as he produces a well-filled wallet: "Everything's got cheaper now, an' ain't you goin' to put down the price of your paper?" He is informed that the price of the paper is not only the same as before "everything" advanced in price, but that several columns have been added to its size. He looks dissatisfied, pays his subscription under protest, and then goes out, drives over to a grocery and sells ten dozen of the same size eggs for thirty cents a dozen that could be purchased before the war for ten cents a dozen.—Norristown Herald.

A Source of Much Bodily Evil.

If the habit of body becomes irregular, much evil is inflicted on the system. The stomach becomes dyspeptic, bilious symptoms develop themselves, the circulation is contaminated, and the nerves share in the general disorder. It is of the utmost importance that the bowels should be thoroughly and speedily regulated when they grow derelict. The corrective agent best adapted to this purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a wholesome, non-griping vegetable laxative, worth all the rasping cathartics invented since the time of Paracelsus. People who have been in the habit of using blue pill, calomel, and other drugs and cheap nostrums for constipation, should abandon such hurtful and useless medicines, and substitute therefor this pleasant and gentle aperient which not only produces the purgative effect naturally, but also strengthens while it regulates the bowels, stomach and liver. It moreover cures and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, gout, rheumatism, debility and urinary troubles.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. A Needed Society.

We are in receipt of a ninety-page (octavo) report of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, showing the work in this line performed in New York city to be prodigious. Ten hundred and eighty-five complaints were investigated, and six hundred and nineteen children relieved and placed in homes or institutions. Nearly all of these cases are described, at a greater or less length, in the report before us, and we wish every one interested in humanity could read this record of depravity and brutality,—which bad as it is cannot cover half the truth, as there must be many cases that the society cannot or has not reached. We give the following as a sample of ill-treatment disclosed in this report:

A flashily dressed woman calling herself Rebecca Long, carrying in her arms an infant, Thomas, fourteen months old, came to 1st District Police Court requesting Justice Morgan to issue a warrant for the arrest of a woman with whom she had been stopping, for beating and abusing baby Thomas. Justice Morgan directed an officer of the society to investigate the case, and cause the arrest of the guilty party. The body of the baby was covered with discolorations, and its face black and blue; its ears looked as if an attempt had been made to pull them off. The mother was found to be a disreputable character, and very high tempered. Officer also learned that the child was an illegitimate one, and that she, on various occasions, had expressed her wishes that she might kill it. He also ascertained that the mother had served a term in Kings county penitentiary. She had been seen repeatedly to ill-use the child, and the guilt of this last outrage could not be fastened upon anybody but the mother, and the officer placed her under arrest. She was held by Justice Morgan in $500 bail, and on the 30th tried in Court of Special Sessions, before Justices Duffy, Flammer and Smith, and sentenced to six months in penitentiary. Child was sent to nursery on Randall's island.

News and Notes.

A boarding stable in New York known as "Tattersall's" was burned Thursday night, and sixty-three horses were lost.

A startling report is received from South Africa that the native levies serving with the British have risen en masse and massacred the officers. The report is not credited.

Editor Nichols of the Picayune writes to Mr. Berh that there will be no national dog fight in New Orleans, as a law was passed last week prohibiting such affairs in Louisiana. The man Jennings who took a hundred dogs from New York has arrived there, but was being closely watched.

An opinion prevails among the best informed persons in vicinity of Red Cloud's and Spotted Tail's camps, as well as the surrounding country, that there will be an Indian war in the Spring in the vicinity of the Black Hills, against the settlers of which locality the Indians swear vengeance.

The schooner Estella of Portland, Me., bound from Yarmouth to Antigua, capsized Jan. 5th, Charles Cosman, one of the seamen, alone of the crew of five being then on deck. Capt. Hersey, mate Foote and the cook reached the deck, however, and with Cosman got on her side. The cook fell off three hours later, and the captain soon after. The vessel finally righted herself, and Foote and Cosman lived fifteen days on a barrel of apples and a box of salt mackerel which floated from the hold. They were finally rescued by the Spanish brig Dorotea, which landed them on Thursday at Falmouth, Eng.

Detective E. D. Wiggin, who "worked up" the Dexter bank robbery case, had a hearing on Thursday before the committee on claims of the Maine legislature, on his claim to be reimbursed some $3000 for services rendered. He explained each item of his long bill, and stated that his charges of $10 a day and expenses were no higher than made by all experienced detectives. He said that it cost $50,000 to ferret out the celebrated Northampton bank robbery.

The Rogers Locomotive Works at Patterson, N. J., were partially destroyed by fire on Thursday; loss $210,000; insurance $25,000. One hundred hands are thrown out of employment. The fire spread to the flax mill of Barbour Brothers, which also was consumed, throwing thirty hands out of work; loss $35,000; insured.

The second trial of George M. Finney, before the United States district court at San Francisco, resulted in a verdict of acquittal. The court ordered the remaining indictments against Finney, Hanscom and others dismissed.

On Thursday sixteen houses, owned by miners in Shenandoah, Pa., commenced sinking into the ground. Some settled two or three feet, and as they kept still moving the inmates also removed. The sinking was caused by the robbing of the coal pillars in the mines directly under that section of the town.

Mrs. Tyler of Newport Centre, Vt., whose daughter died a few weeks since, is going to try and get damages from the village school district, she claiming that her daughter's sickness and death were caused by the dampness of the schoolhouse.

A deceased Brattleboro', Vt., manufacturer, who it is said had numberless pecuniary perplexities during life, is shown through his administrators to have been the possessor of quite a large sum of money, which long before his death he had deposited in one of the local banks subject to check. He seems to have entirely forgotten the fact, however, and consequently lost all use of the money in his business.

John Colburt, of Westfield, Mass., aged eighteen years, is charged with trying to outrage Mrs. Minnie Egerton, aged forty-three, and her daughter, aged twenty. He drove to the elder woman's house Wednesday night, took her off on the pretext that her daughter was ill, and in a quiet road attempted the outrage, but the woman jumped from the sleigh and escaped. Early Thursday morning he drove to the house where the girl was visiting, told her a similar story, drove into the woods, injured the girl somewhat and tore her clothing, but was frightened off.

The jewelery store of M. B. Wright at Kansas City, Mo., was entered Thursday morning by a negro burglar named Parker, who was confronted by Albert Marty, a clerk sleeping in the store, and after a struggle was stabbed twice with a dirk by Marty, and fell dead as the policeman arrived to arrest him.

Maggie Roche, a fifteen-years-old Huntington, Mass., girl who was crossing the Westfield river upon the footbridge in that village on Wednesday, was swept away with the bridge and drowned. She worked in a paper mill.

Mr. Dennis Towne of Ware, Mass., is arranging plans for an immense bonfire on the next Fourth of July night on the highest mountain peak in Ware, where he intends to burn a hogshead or two of kerosene oil.

Political.

In the United States circuit court at Richmond, Vt., Thursday, Alexander Vaughan, judge of election in Petersburg, charged with ballot-box stuffing at the November election, was convicted. Several judges at the late Congressional election in Baltimore were also convicted on the same day of hindering and interfering with the United States supervisors.

New Hampshire Items.

William H. Pepper's machine shop and Horace Wood's hosiery mill were destroyed by fire at Lake Village on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst. Loss about $15,000; insurance about $9000.

As J. H. Moore and W. Hayward of East Plainfield were chopping, they cut into a birch tree that contained a swarm of bees, and took out fifty-six pounds of honey. Peter Dominique of Dover, while chopping, also cut into something which surprised him—his thumb, which he cut clear off.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council on Thursday the matter of commutation of sentence of John Q. Pinkham of New Durham for the murder of Mrs. Berry in that town came up. Three councillors voted for commutation and two against, and it was left to Gov. Prescott to decide whether it shall be allowed. Pinkham is now in prison awaiting execution, which was fixed for March 14th.

American Authors.

Messrs. Sheldon & Co., of New York, are issuing a series of personal literary and anecdotal biographies" for popular reading, which include Irving, Bryant, Poe, Hawthorne, Prescott, Motley, Cooper, Longfellow, Emerson, Whittier and others.

The design is to supply in a cheap and popular volume, the biographies of leading American authors who have attained a celebrity. The publishers, in the belief that our people know too little, but would and ought to know more, of our eminent writers and scholars, have projected this series, and doubtless many will read these books who would not spend the time over more elaborate biographies.

The life of Washington Irving has appeared, written, as will be the others of this series, by Professor David J. Hill of the University of Lewisburg. It is accompanied by a fine steel engraving of the genial author of the Sketch Book, and is a book of 234 pages with an index of the persons and books mentioned in the volume.

While to the lovers of the writings of this Father of American Letters there is much to enjoy in this book, it will especially commend itself to the perusal of those who have, while occupied in reading the works of more modern writers, as yet failed to appreciate and enjoy the works of Irving. To us who, in school days, delighted to read the Stout Gentleman, Rip Van Winkle and the Legend of Sleepy Hollow, the sketch of the writing of the first-named in England, the delight of Sir Walter Scott at "Brown Bones," and the appreciative recollections of the gunner of the Catskill mountains, first published sixty years ago, bring pleasant memories of the delights of our earliest reading of those pleasant and admirably-written sketches. In our public libraries and upon the tables of our homes these books will find a welcome. The publishers have certainly made a most judicious selection in the character and design of this series. The books meet a want, and arouse an interest in our appreciation of American authors, while they will do much to elevate the standard of the reading of our young folks. The books are prepaled in an attractive form and are sold at the reasonable price of one dollar per volume. Mr. Myers, at the Congress block bookstore, has them.

Episcopalianism.

The abstract of the last Parochial Report of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of New Hampshire shows that there are twenty-six parishes in this State. There are twenty-eight clergymen besides the Bishop in this Diocese, the roll including the clergymen connected with St. Paul's school in Concord. The whole number of communicants is 1832 as against 1883 in 1877. This small decrease in communicants was caused by an unusually large number of deaths and removals. The growth of the denomination, however, in this State is shown by reference to the report of the Diocesan Convention in 1862, when the whole number of parishes was eighteen and the number of communicants 938. The contributions of the denomination in 1862 for missionary and other religious purposes amounted to about $2200, while in 1878 the church raised for missionary work, the Orphans' Home at Millville and for other religious objects, including parochial purposes, more than $15,000. The increase of the denomination in wealth in this State has been very rapid since 1862. During the last year the church has received from Miss Ballard of Maine the sum of $500, to be added to the fund for the support of the episcopacy.

The denomination is working earnestly to raise a permanent fund whose income shall be sufficient to support the Bishopric without levying the annual assessment upon the parishes. Almost $10,000 have already been raised and securely invested for this purpose. During the past year St. Paul's society in Concord has become the Bishop's church, Rt. Rev. Mr. Niles becoming its rector and Rev. D. C. Roberts vice rector. Among some of the large parishes of the diocese are St. John's of Portsmouth, 292 members; Grace of Manchester, 217 members; Trinity of Claremont, 182 members; St. Paul's of Concord, 180 members; and Church of the Good Shepard of Nashua, 100 members. The wealthiest church is St. John's of Portsmouth, which pays more than one-fifth of the general expenses of the diocese.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so far in further and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Be sure the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; it costs but 2c. a lb., Cream of Tartar over 36. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York; Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. All Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorates upon exposure to the atmosphere. (16.

E. G. PIERCE, Jr., P. M.

THE CITY.

The entertainment at Music hall for the benefit of the Childrens' Home, will be given on Tuesday evening, Feb. 25th.

Counterfeit silver dollars are in circulation. They are thicker and lighter than the genuine, and can be detected by imperfect lettering.

The Boston Museum Company, the original producers in this country of "H. M. S. Pinafore," the most amusingly ridiculous musical absurdity put on the stage for a long while, will present the piece to a Portsmouth audience at Music hall on the evening of Monday, the 24th inst.

The annual meeting of the Children's Home was held on Wednesday afternoon, the 12th inst. The number of children cared for during the year was thirty; present number in charge, seventeen. Amount raised during the year by subscriptions and for board, $1,730; expenditures, $1,700.

The Granite State News says that Mrs. J. H. Ferguson, formerly of this city but now of Brookfield, was recently surprised with the gift of two handsome silver castors presented by the boarders who were at her house during the summer of 1878, as a slight testimonial of their appreciation her unfailing kindness and courtesy.

The report of the committee on examination of teachers, which was submitted to the board of instruction at its last meeting, shows that at the competitive examination in December, of eleven applicants seven were graduates of Portsmouth high school, and that four of them lead on the list of merit, as follows: Ida Blaisdell, Emma L. Hayes, Flora Lydston, Lizzie M. Flagg.

We regret to learn that there is a probability of our city losing one of its live men, Henry A. Yeaton, Esq., through his removal to Detroit, Michigan, to go into business there. No city can well afford to part with business men of the vim, enterprise and integrity of Mr. Yeaton, and the departure of such an one from Portsmouth is a double loss, as we have none of the kind on hand to spare.

At a meeting of Rockingham Lodge, No. 37, of Good Templars, held Thursday evening, the following-named persons were chosen delegates to the temperance convention at Manchester on the 19th and 20th insts.: James Janvrin, J. Herbert Martin, Charles S. Dodge, Frank E. H. Marden, Edgar O. Haddock, Albert L. Stringer, Robert O. Monroe, Mrs. Louise White, Mrs. Rebecca Dixon, Mrs. Amanda S. Holbrook.

At noon on Friday the schooner Rebecca Florence, Higgins master, bound for Philadelphia with 2600 barrels of apples on board shipped by Messrs. Henry A. Yeaton and Charles H. Hayes, was towed to sea by tug Clara Batemen. Her berth at the wharf was immediately occupied by the schooner Cocheco, Seawards master, which will take on board 2000 barrels of apples for the same parties, for a destination not yet decided upon. The schooner West Dennis, with 2800 barrels of apples shipped by Messrs. Yeaton and Hayes, arrived at Baltimore on the 12th inst., with her cargo in excellent condition. Another of their shipments was 1100 barrels of apples by the schooner Arcilla, to Dorchester, New Brunswick, two hundred miles above St. John, where the vessel took on board 5000 bushels of potatoes on same shippers' account, sailing from Dorchester for New York on the 7th of December and arriving at her destination on the 30th ult., with her cargo in good order notwithstanding her long passage.

THE VICINITY.

The Exeter paper mills are obliged to run on short time at present on account of a scarcity of water.

Parties in Hampton who have been buying fish on the beach and sending them to Boston, have paid $1 per hundred pounds for large fish and seventy-five cents for small ones.

The grand jury of Strafford county closed its business at Dover on Thursday, bringing in thirty-five indictments. Eight are against liquor sellers, twelve for breaking, entering and stealing, one for arson, one for fornication and the remainder for assaults and minor offences. The list is smaller than usual.

The inner fishing grounds off Rye beach, within a mile or two of the shore, have been worked by the fishing schooners to some extent recently with fair success, after being neglected for many years.

The house of David T. Moulton, of Saco, was burned on Thursday, with most of its furniture; insured. Mrs. Moulton was alone in the house at the time of the fire, which is supposed to have caught from a defective chimney.

Edwin Prescott of Hampton Falls has just received a diploma, in addition to the silver medal awarded him for his patent door hanger at the late Mechanics' Fair in Boston, Mass. The hangers are made by Gen. W. Green, of Exeter.

Postmaster Leavitt, of Exeter, on the 12th inst. sent to the assistant United States treasurer at Boston, subject to the draft of the postmaster general, $129 in coppers, $28 in three-cent pieces, and $65 in five cent pieces—15,133 pieces in all.

Hon. Thomas B. Reed, representative in Congress from the 1st district of Maine, has presented the petition of A. L. Scott and others for the abrogation of the treaty of Washington relating to the fisheries, and the renewal of the duty on fish as it existed before the treaty.

Two fellows giving the names of John Connor and James Riley, and hailing from St John, New Brunswick, at about two o'clock Friday morning forced an entrance into the jewelry store of Charles P. Hill in Biddeford, by removing a pane of glass in the rear door and prying an inner door open with a bar. A watchman heard the noise made by the burglars and at once reported at the police headquarters. While one officer stood at the front entrance another officer entered in the rear and found the burglars secreted under one of the counters, and threatened to blow them to pieces if they moved. They surrendered and were taken to the station. The burglars had filled their pockets with jewelry, all of which was recovered.

THE EARLY MEMBERS OF THE MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION.

In glancing from one to another of the pictured faces of the mechanics and manufacturers of Portsmouth of by-past years, that seem to look down upon visitors from the walls of the Mechanics' reading-room, it is pleasant to those who, from the standpoint of their own early youth, can recall them in their prime of manhood as they walked the streets, while on the way to and from their places of business, or wherever else they might be seen. Earnest, honorable, well taught men were they as could anywhere be found in their several pursuits, and besides performing well their duties as members of their own especial association, and others formed for mutual good and deeds of charity, there was much of social intercourse among them both in a body and as individuals; included in which latter was a happy custom of meeting at each other's houses for chat and other modes of passing the hours most happily away. Good singers there were at these gatherings who would be called upon at intervals to enliven the time by some old song, such as "Begone, dull care," "Hark, the goddess Diana calls out for the chase," "In the downhill of life," "Friendship to every willing mind," "The knight-errant," with others it would be difficult now to find except in some collection of old ballads; and that would be worth volumes of many of the more modern ditties that lumber up the shelves of music dealers, and were got up, like Peter Pindar's razors, to sell, more than for any music there is in them. The face of the host of one such occasion comes back in fancy as he caroled forth the first of these antique melodies referred to, while all joined heartily in the chorus. A snuff-box there was, well-filled with rose-scented rappee, with the name of the association engraved on a silver plate upon the lid, from which refreshing pinches were taken by those inclined to indulge in that species of stimulant. A plentiful supply of refreshments wound up the enjoyments of the evening, when the party returned home with the memory of hours most happily spent, and, individually, the contemplation of a time when it would be their turn to give such a season of recreation to the more intimate of their friends among the members of the association. Of four young boys, who, with the writer, were, from a room adjoining, allowed to enjoy the singing until they fell asleep and were sent to bed, one found an early resting place beneath the ocean waves; another is a dweller in far-off California; a third has a home in the modern city of Chicago; the youngest has his at South Boston; and all who survive do credit to the places of their adoption, as did their father to his and their birthplace.

That the same kindly feeling towards each other among the members of the association has not died out in these later years, was evidenced in the gathering of December last, numerously attended as it was, and in which the gentler sex mixed so largely, though on one of the stormiest nights of the winter; than which nothing of the kind could have been more heartily enjoyed, or similar events looked forward to in the future with happier anticipations. Mr. Edmund M. Brown is among the last that remain of the earlier members of the time-honored institution, and it is to be hoped that he may long survive to recall the past, and enjoy the present among his later associates.

Most pleasant times the members of bypast years were wont to have, it would seem, in celebrating their anniversaries, as appears by their records and the newspapers in noticing them as they occurred. A much-enjoyed event must also have been their celebration, Feb. 23d, 1815, of the return of peace when the war of 1812 was over; as may be seen by the following programme which survives of the occasion:

"The brethren of the Association, formed in procession under the direction of Brothers John Locke and Abner Greenleaf, Marshal and Deputy Marshal, and preceded by the Light Infantry Company, belonging to the First Regiment of N. H. Militia, with the Exeter band of music and Major Henderson's band from Fort Washington, (on one of the islands in the harbor) proceeded through Court, Pleasant and Water streets, and from thence to the North meeting-house, where the exercises were as follows:—1st, an ode was sung by several of the brethren, aided by young ladies. 2d, prayer by Mr. Daniel Poor. 3d, an ode. 4th, an address by Bro. Benjamin Akerman. 5th, an ode. 6th, benediction by Mr. Poor. The procession then again formed and proceeded through Court, Broad, Middle, Congress, Vaughan, Deer, Fore and Market streets, to Treadwell's hotel, where a sumptuous dinner was provided. After the removal of the cloth, toasts were drank, accompanied by music and the discharge of cannon. The brethren then retired in good order and friendship, highly gratified with the day's celebration."

It would be curious to know of what the two bands consisted in that far-off time. The Light Infantry, or what there was left of it, was merged in later years in the Rockingham Guards, of which Capt. Robert Lafavour was the first commander; and a fine, soldierly-looking corps they were in their uniforms of grey, with full-breasted coats and bell-buttons, as many will recall among the memories of their youth.

One Week in Wall Street.

October 7th, 1878. Western Union Telegraph stock sold at the New York Stock Exchange for 96 1-2 per share; October 14th, 1878, it sold at 86 3-4, a fluctuation of 9 3-8 per cent. in seven days; 12,500 shares sold on a margin of one per cent. required an actual capital of $12,500. The same delivered at 86 3-4 gave a profit of 9 3 8 per cent. on the stock or $937.50 per 100 shares. On the whole 12,500 the actual profit was $117,187.50 or 9 3-8 times the capital used, in one week. This is a single case taken from the official record of the Stock Exchange, and shows how money is made so rapidly in stocks. Few people, however, have the necessary cash to put in order to realize such immense profits as these, but capital in any amount from $10 to $50,000 can be used with equal success by the new combination system of operating in stocks which Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, New York, have established. By this method of pooling thousands of orders in various sums and operating them as one immense capital, shareholders realize large profits which are divided pro rata monthly. New circular contains two unerring rules for success, and full information, so that any one can operate profitably. Stocks and Bonds wanted. Government Bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 58 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

—Proverb—People who live in glass houses should pull down the blinds.

—A corset-maker out of work thus vented her complaint: "Shame that I should be without bread—I who have stayed the stomach of thousands."

—The Cunard steamship company has for many years taken precautions against color blindness on the part of men who are kept on the look-out at night. These men are tested by the display of colored lights at the longest possible distance, and a single error is regarded as a disqualification for their service.
